QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $250 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 92 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

½ OFFERED THEIR SKIN

Members of Congregation Respond to Plea of Pastor—Grafting to Save Man's Life

A request for one hundred inches of human skin made by Rev. Dr. Herbert Symonds before his sermon at Christ Church Cathedral rather startled the members of Montreal's most fashionable congregation.

Dr. Symonds explained that a very difficult operation was to be performed within a few days at the General Hospital. William Thomas two weeks ago fell on a red-hot stove at his house while attempting to fix a stove pipe. He was terribly burned, and the doctors now declare that only a new skin can save the man's life.

Dr. Symonds said one hundred square inches were required. He asks for thirty members of the congregation to volunteer each to part with a piece of their skin three inches long and one inch wide.

By noon the next day fifteen members of the congregation had volunteered to contribute toward a new skin for Thomas.

STRINGENT AUTO LAW

Manitoba's New Code Regulating the Running of Motor Cars

The amendments proposed in the automobile law of Manitoba are fairly drastic. In place of the present license fee of $5 the future license will be based upon horse-power, the $5 remaining for all vehicles of twenty-five horse-power or less; between 25 and 35 h.p. the fee is fixed at $10; from 35 to 50 h.p. $15; and 50 h.p. and above $25. To secure a chauffeur's license the applicant must be twenty-one years of age and supply proof that he has passed a satisfactory examination. In case of accident full responsibility is cast upon the owner although he may not be the driver. Stringent provisions deal with joy riders and tampering with autos without the consent of owners. No engine is to be left in motion while standing on the highway. Chains and metals are only to be used on tires when there is ice or snow or the pavements are slippery. Drivers must slow down when passing street cars letting off passengers, and must also slow down to six miles per hour at cross roads in the country.

FINDS A NYE PASS

Holder was to "Pound His Feet" All the Evening

In overhauling some old memoranda, Judge C. A. Nye, of Moorehead, Minn., discovered a pass admitting himself and family to a lecture delivered in Fargo, Sept. 18, 1890, by his brother, the famous humorist, Bill Nye. On the back of the pass was written in Bill Nye's own hand: "The conditions of this pass are that the holder must mirthfully pound his feet on the floor during the entire evening, whether he wants to or not."

SWORD SHEATHED FOR A CENTURY

What Some Canadians Say as to Proposed Centennial in Honor of Peace

The anniversary of a great national achievement, namely peace for a century between Canada and the United States, is proposed for this year. Here is what some Canadians say of it:

Hon. A. G. MacKay

"If two nations can, with ease and with advantage to both, live at peace for the one hundred years next succeeding the War of 1812, with all its somewhat exasperating recollections," said Hon. A. G. MacKay, Owen Sound, "how many century marks may they not pass with no other result than ever-increasing friendship and good-will? The celebration of a century's peace between these two great Anglo-Saxon nations means more in prospect than in retrospect. Who can estimate the momentum of the force that would make for the peace of the whole world if the British Empire and the United States of America, two of the greatest of national world-forces, were unambiguously to signify their joint and unalterable determination to accept, nay, to enforce, the message with which the Prince of Peace Himself has heralded: "On earth peace, good-will toward men." If two nations such as Canada and the United States, with practically an ungarrisoned and non-fortressed four thousand mile frontier, make the Century mark as brother nations should, such an event should be fittingly celebrated in order that, if possible, certain other nations may learn and realize the fact that public moneys might be better spent on that which would work for the longevity of the people rather than in costly preparations for their immediate destruction. The time seems fast approaching when, by the force of public opinion the world over, international differences must be submitted, not to the arbitrament of the sword, but to that of an unbiased judicial tribunal. When this is accepted as international law, then, and not till then, will the nations act as if they really believed and realized the undoubted fact that 'War is Hell.'"

HON. A. G. MACKAY

Hon. Richard McBride

"After living peacefully side by side for a century," said Hon. Mr. McBride, Premier of British Columbia, "it is inconceivable that any international question should arise between Canada and the United States that cannot be solved by peaceful means. Recalling the success that has attended the submission to arbitration of important questions affecting both nations, it does not appear with the range of possibility that war should ever again be waged between the Empire and our kindred nation the United States. Our countries stand as an example to the world of the highest type of civilization yet attained. Our ideals, our love of true freedom and desire for the advancement of mankind, are similar and our friendly relations so interwoven, that wisdom, moderation, and a sense of our tremendous responsibilities can be relied upon to settle our difficulties by peaceful means. We Canadians have no warlike aspirations; we desire to live alongside the United States as good neighbors and friends; and the proposed celebration of one hundred years' peace between the two countries should be an object lesson and an example to the world at large."

ANTI-SOCIALISTS MAKE AN APPEAL

They Want a Half-Million Dollars as a War Chest for Fighting Socialism

The Anti-Socialist Union of Great Britain is issuing an appeal for $500,000 as a war chest for fighting Socialism. The appeal for $500,000 is in the following terms:—

At this moment of crisis in our history when, through the Cabinet, Socialist schemers are foisting on the nation a single Chamber Government, the Anti-Socialist Union appeals to the loyalty and patriotism of the British people.

The main bulwarks of freedom in the past have been the common sense, self reliance, discipline and probity of the people. To destroy these, an incessant and systematic campaign has been waged by the Socialist leaders. We would remind the public of some of the features of that campaign:—

1. The Crown has been threatened and the Monarch insulted.

2. The House of Lords has been misrepresented and ridiculed; judges, for the fearless performance of duty, have been attacked on the platform and in the press; efforts have been made to pack quarter and petty sessions with Socialist J. P.'s.

3. Boards of bureaucrats, from whom there is to be no appeal, have in some cases, been substituted for the courts of justice.

4. Large numbers of civil servants have been converted to Socialism. There has been a steady increase in the number of public officials; competitive examinations for many of the new posts have been dispensed with, and the number of new officials have been withheld.

5. There are at least 1,000 Socialists helping to administer the Local Government and the Poor Law. Councils have taken to trading in opposition to private enterprise; their accounts have often been inefficiently audited; in thirty years the local debt has risen from 193 millions to 588 millions.

6. Socialists are making strenuous efforts to capture the support and sympathy of those responsible for the education of the country. Socialist schoolmasters, dons, and professors are busy proselytising.

7. The funds and administration of trade unions have been captured by the Socialist conspirators, and men have been expelled from the unions for opposing the Socialist policy.

8. Attempts have been made to stir up mutiny in our Army and Navy.

We have already successfully established twenty-five schools in different parts of the country. At least one hundred schools are necessary in order to compete effectively with the Socialists, who hold 2,000 meetings per week.

In this country there are seven organizations, backed by a powerful Press, constantly spreading Socialism. One of these organizations alone expends over $600,000 a year on its activities.

We ask from the public a contribution of $500,000. That is not a large premium for an insurance against a revolution.

THE RARE CARIBOU

Unique Specimen to be Placed in the Museum of British Columbia

The first and only specimen of the rare caribou of the Queen Charlotte Islands to be exhibited in any country of the world will be given a place of special distinction in the British Columbia provincial museum, one of the three animals secured by the Indians on Graham Island, not far from Virago Sound, almost three years ago, having been successfully mounted by Curator Francis Kermode—more successfully than he had dared hope could be accomplished in view of the atrocious skinning of the animals by the native hunters and the condition in which the carcases were ultimately received in Victoria. The unique specimen is notably small as contrasted with the caribou of the mainland, being not larger than a fully grown mule deer, and would weigh approximately 225 pounds or less. It is exceptionally light in color, and carries the right horn only, the left—as in two-thirds of the specimens secured—being an absent quantity, a general deterioration or frequent malformation being attributed to prolonged inbreeding. The head is also much shorted than that of the mainland caribou, and the conspicuous frontal plough in the horn formation is missing, all of which stamp the Queen Charlotte Caribou as a distinct and separate species. That the specimens at the museum are fully grown is attested by the teeth, the front teeth being entirely missing, while the back bear every evidence of age.—Rod and Gun.

A PET MOOSE

Wanders About New Brunswick and Visits Barnyards

A pet moose is said to be wandering in the neighborhood of Plaster Rock, N.B., and making the lives of dogs a misery to them, says Rod and Gun. During the close season, three moose, a bull, a cow and a calf, wandered around feeding with the cattle and using their salt boxes. When the open season came on the bull and cow left for the wilds, but the calf remained and visited various farmyards. The abundance and variety of food evidently suited the calf, and having a malformation of one of its spikehorns it is easily identified. The farmers have become quite used to it and are taking measures to ensure its protection from any hunter who wishes for fresh meat without [illegible] to the woods in search [illegible]

Did Not Ring.

The sweet music of the dear old bell of St. John's, which for so many years has called the people to their devotions, was not heard yesterday. Its voice was hushed, as if in death, and the people were left to their own inclinations in regard to worship That the bell was missed, there is no doubt, for nearly all church-goers "went by the bell." It has been a faithful worker, pointing all who came within the sound of its voice, heavenward.

Peterborough Baptists Convene.

The Peterborough Baptist Association will hold their one hundred and ninth annual convention in Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, Smith, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Special addresses will be delivered by Dr. J. L. Gilmour, of McMaster University, Toronto; Rev. R. C. Cameron, B. A., Toronto; Rev. J. Galt, Picton; and Rev. A. A. Scott, of India.

Rural Schools.

It will be good news to the pupils and teachers alike of the country schools to learn that the term for these schools has been made the same as in the towns and cities. When it is considered that the term in country schools opened in the middle of the harvest season, and that there was a very scanty attendance of pupils until that busy period was over, it is a wonder that the step was not taken very much sooner.

A Record Drive.

Mr. John Thompson, of the Peterborough Lumber Company, returned on Saturday from a visit to the drives, the first of which is now passing into Little Lake. This drive consists of 120,000 pieces and is regarded by rivermen on these waters as having made the fastest time on record. The drive started from Jack's Lake about May 1st and reached from Buckhorn to Young's Point. It was divided into four sections, each with its own foreman. Too much credit cannot be given Mr. John Dwyer, the company's walking boss, whose knowledge of lumbering is unsurpassed. The foremen are Messrs. Joe Wilson, Ed. Wilson, Ab. Milligan and Wm. Dwyer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ST. CATHARINES' LADY TO WED DE CRESPIGNY.

Canadian Girl is Engaged to Son of a Famous English Sportsman.

London, June 9.—The betrothal is announced of Capt. Vierville Champion-DeCrespigny, fourth son of Sir Claude Champion-DeCrespigny, and Nora, the eldest daughter of Mr. James Augustus McSloy, of St. Catharines, Canada.

LADY A SOCIAL LEADER.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 9.—The McSloy family, which is to be united with that of the DeCrespigny's is one of the best families here, and very much thought of. Miss McSloy is a social leader. Has been abroad a great deal lately.

The father of the bride-groom-to-be (whose surname is pronounced De Creppiny) is a famous sportsman, of whom it has been said that he can hunt like a hound, swim like a fish, run like a hare, and box like Jack Johnson. He is the only European who ever swam the narrow gut of the first cataract of the Nile, he has crossed the North Sea in a balloon, escaped from the coils of a python, cheated the sharks of Bermuda, and broken an extraordinary number of bones without doing his health any permanent injury. "Champion" is part of the surname, and is derived from the fact that the family were champions to the Dukes of Normandy and Brittany.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof—A Solemn Statement From a Four Years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well to-day—have been well for 4½ years."

CURED 4½ YEARS

VOL XXXIV NO. 135 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY JUNE 13 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

IT'S TIME THE QUESTION OF DIVERTING DOWNIE ST. CREEK WAS SETTLED

A COMMUNICATION IN THIS CONNECTION RAISED QUESTION AGAIN LAST NIGHT.

The Board of Works in Business Session—Will Recommend That They Be Invested With Authority to Advertise Local Improvements as Occasion Demands. This Course Would Effect Much Saving in Time—The New Local Improvements Act Causes Considerable Delay in Prosecution of Sewer and Sidewalk Work.

The City Board of Works met last night, Chairman Ald. Metheral presiding. There were also present Mayor Morrow, Aldermen Graham, Anderson, Duncan, Buller and Brown.

The Board considered the Gas Company's request for permission to extend their gas mains this season.

The requested was granted in such cases as reported on by the City Engineer. The laying of service pipes along Downie and Rubidge streets, not yet reported on by Mr. Hay, was allowed subject to the Engineer's approval.

The company is to leave the roads excavated in as good condition as found.

A concrete sidewalk will be laid on the market square from the rear of the Dominion Bank to Charlotte street; the City Trust Commissioners to defray the cost thereof.

FORMAN OF SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

Wm. Ball, Martin Neary and Thorndyke applied for position as foreman over sewer construction.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Duncan.—That Mr. Thorndyke be appointed.—

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Anderson, in amendment.—That Martin Neary receive the appointment.

The motion carried, and Thorndyke received the appointment.

SIX MILES OF WALKS.

The City Engineer reported on six miles of concrete sidewalk construction. This work will be advertised and proceeded with at once, under authority of the local improvement Act.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

The Engineer also reported on sewer construction.

The Board of Health will be asked to recommend all this work, when the Council will pass a by-law, advertise and proceed with the work at once. In this case no petitions against the work will avail. But a two-third majority vote of Council will be needed to pass the by-law. This power is vested in municipalities under the new local improvement Act.

MORE POWER FOR BOARD OF WORKS.

A by-law will be prepared and submitted to Council, authorizing the Board of Works to advertise sewer and sidewalk without waiting for Council's authority from month to month. The object of this is to effect a saving in time.

Moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by Ald. Brown.—That the Board recommend that hereafter the matter of giving permission for erection of Bell telephone poles be left with the Board of Works with power to act, thus avoiding inconvenience and unnecessary delay.—Carried.

DIVERSION OF DOWNIE CREEK.

Mr. D. W. Dumble wrote that the question of diverting the Downie street creek through the Wellington Tamblin property must be adjusted through him, the property having changed hands.

This diversion would close a part of Donegal street, still leaving a 66 foot street. The strip of land cut off by said diversion the two property owners through whose lots the creek would run ask proprietary rights thereto.

The Chairman and Engineer were instructed to report on this matter.

HADLY CONSTRUCTED SEWER.

The Chairman reported that Mrs. Grant, of Bolivar street, had been put to considerable expense last winter and spring owing to the sewer connection with her home having been badly constructed by the city's contractor.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by [illegible] Chairman report [illegible] last liability in connection.—Carried.

[illegible] Duncan, seconded by [illegible] Mr. William Jackson [illegible] of $2 on the [illegible] owning out an obstruction in the sewer connection.—Carried.

[illegible] OF A NEW STREET.

[illegible] and Shields's offer to [illegible] City 40 ft. street, south of Smith, [illegible] the street as required by [illegible] and [illegible] and was [illegible] Board will notify Mr. Dumble [illegible] acceptance of the proposition [illegible] 66 foot street as given [illegible] Council [illegible] to petitioned [illegible] the usual way.

LOAN OF HOSE.

[illegible] Ald. Duncan, seconded by [illegible] old hose, through which to [illegible] Lindsay [illegible] the north of the [illegible] City Fire Station [illegible] Carried.

F. P. HOSKIN SEWER.

The City Engineer was instructed to report [illegible] the proposed sewer connection with the new Protestant Home.

SEWER PIPE.

Moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Duncan.—The purchase of sewer pipe was left in the hands of the Chairman and Engineer with power to act.

JARDINE HAS SYMPATHIZERS

Goderich, June 12.—A great deal of dissatisfaction is being expressed in town against the execution of Edward Jardine on Friday next. At present public feeling is opposed to the carrying out of the sentence of the court, and threats have been uttered against the safety of the executioner.

Jardine is losing his nerve, and fears are expressed that he will collapse entirely. His mother visits him regularly, and the scene is pathetic.

No person could be found in Goderich to erect the gallows, and an outsider was engaged. Executioner Ellis will officiate. The execution will take place at 8 o'clock and only six people will be admitted. All jail officials and newspaper men will be barred.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST DOCTOR

Prominent Hull Physician Said to Have Performed a Criminal Operation Which Ended Fatally.

Ottawa, June 12.—Dr. J. A. Ouimet, the prominent Hull physician, was arrested on Sunday morning charged with the murder of Mrs. Frank Spain of Ottawa, who died on Friday last from the effects, it is alleged, of a criminal operation performed a day previous, appeared in the police court this morning and was remanded without bail for one week, pending the outcome of the inquest next Friday.

Counsel for the prisoner endeavored to have trial of the case remitted to Hull where it is alleged the operation was performed, but as the warrant simply reads "murder in Ottawa" and no evidence was taken to show that the operation was performed in Hull the magistrate declined to interfere at present. Counsel also presented arguments for bail, but these, too, the magistrate declined to consider and the doctor went back to the jail in company with a wagon load of other prisoners.

The case is the most sensational in the criminal history of this section of Ontario or Quebec in many years.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

SHOULD GO SLOW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would ask your permission to trespass on your valuable space, while I try to explain a point regarding the matter of industries that may not have been thought of:

In the first place, I would say that the members of the City Council and Board of Trade should not forget that conditions in regard to power have completely changed during the past few years. A short time ago Peterborough was regarded as one of the most favorably situated towns in Canada on account of its splendid water power. Our people were conscious of this fact, quite forgetting that modern methods of handling electric power has placed Niagara Falls at the door of scores of towns and cities far removed from the cataracts and that were only a few years ago, regarded as anything but suitable localities for industrial plants.

But this is not all: There are at least 100 or more places that "expect" to develop power and secure industries. Where all these "industries" are to come from, or where they will dispose of their product, is a point that probably never occurred to most of them. In this mad race I fear many towns will go bankrupt, or next thing to it. Promoters are busy these days in "working" these towns for bonuses and loans. Peterborough has had samples of this already. That it will become increasingly difficult to secure legitimate industries, I am positive.

Under the above conditions, I think it would be well for our Council to move slowly in regard to purchasing power for industries. Let us secure enough for street and domestic lighting only, and leave the rest to the power companies, who are naturally the parties mostly interested in getting industries, and thus securing a market for their product.

Veritas.

A COMPLAINT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would call the attention of the electric light people to the fact that the street lamp, in the rear of the Court House is often not working. As this is a dark and "shady" place, numbers of doubtful characters gather there after nightfall. I hope there will be no further cause for complaint.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Barns of Mr. Hugh Fife, Otonabee, Were Totally Destroyed.

During early Sunday morning the barns owned by Mr. Hugh Fife, con. 3, Otonabee, were struck by lightning and totally destroyed, together with their contents, which included a driving horse. Eighteen pigs and a veal calf were also destroyed. Mr. Fife and his sons were away at the time. The two barns and stables were close together and all were totally destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

PARKS' COMMITTEE HAS OPTIONS ON PROPERTY FOR WARD PARKS

THE ACREAGE OF SOME LOTS UNCERTAIN AT PRESENT.

Committee Will Report Again—Old McAllister Property at the River's Edge, Together With Adjoining Lot Would Make a Desirable Recreation Ground for East City.

The Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow, Chairman Ald. Buller, Aldermen Anderson, Bradburn, Edgar and Brown.

Mr. C. H. Clementi waited upon the committee, with a view to securing a page advertisement, at $20 a page, in a book of charts of the Trent Valley Canal and all waters connected therewith, from the Georgian Bay to Trenton. This book is a much needed work, is very concise, and includes navigation charts of Rice Lake and the Kawartha waters. It also embodies instructive and interesting descriptions of the various water powers on the rivers and canal adjacent to the lakes in question. Such a work is much demanded by prospective tourists from the States and abroad. one application last week arriving even from St. Petersburg, Russia. Mr. Clementi qualified the book as an excellent advertising medium for a city like Peterborough, looking for industries.

Moved by Ald. Anderson, seconded by Ald. Edgar,—That the city take a page of advertising in this book of charts.—Carried.

WORTH HAVING.

The matter of taking 3000 copies of a map of the available water powers for Peterborough, and giving brief, but concise information as to Peterborough's industries, population, public utilities, public buildings, etc., was left in the hands of the Mayor and Chairman. 3000 copies of this map would cost the city $100. As an information medium to manufacturers seeking location it would be a valuable enclosure for Industrial Commission Department to use.

PROPERTY FOR PARKS.

The committee had options on the following properties for Ward Parks:

The Evans-Carruthers property down by the river; three acres more or less. (While no option was to hand on the latter lots, a fixed price was understood by the Committee.)

The matter was referred back to the Committee to report, some uncertainty existing as to acreage in one or two instances.

The Evans-Carruthers property. East City, is an ideal spot for a park. It includes the old McAllister property adjoining the river, with beautiful sward and desirable shade trees. Immediately opposite is a picturesque island, over to which a rustic bridge could be constructed. The channel between this island and the main land offers natural bathing facilities, of which at present we have none. It is to be hoped this property especially will have the committee's earnest consideration.

FIVE PERSONS WERE KILLED AND FIVE ARE MISSING

New York, June 12.—Five dead, five missing, and a property loss of nearly $1,000,000, is the result of a two days' storm which has raged intermittently in New York and environs. Weather predictions indicate that the storm may continue to-day. The torrential down-pour has been a boon to the depleted reservoirs, ten days' supply having been accumulated.

The lightning played a strange prank at Clason Point on the Sound last night, striking a revolving ferris wheel. The big wheel, which carried several passengers, was thrown from its axis and stuck fast. The lightning blinded the passengers and there was a panic. Several women attempted to leap from the wheel, but were restrained. Passengers were taken down on ladders rigged together.

Several silk mills in Paterson, N.J. were unroofed. Streets were flooded in several New Jersey towns, trees uprooted and cellars filled with water.

Three thousand men will be under canvass.

WOMAN MURDERED AND BURIED IN BACK YARD

Farmington, Maine, June 12.—Not in years has this part of Maine been so aroused over a crime as it is today over the discovery of the mutilated body of Mrs. Etta Taylor which was found buried in a shallow grave in her own back yard yesterday. While the authorities are working to unravel the mystery, the woman's husband, Marshall Taylor, a professional guide, sits stolidly in his cell. During the weeks his wife was missing Taylor declined to talk during the search of the countryside made for her, and when he was confronted with her body he displayed no emotion, merely remarking: "That's her all right."

There is also under arrest Ouida Searles, a comely woman of 26, who entered Taylor's employ as house keeper shortly after his wife's disappearance. She is the sister of a notorious murderer, now confined in Thomaston Prison, and has herself been behind bars before for a statutory offence.

FAVORABLE SEASON FOR THE FIELD CROPS

Ottawa, June 12.—A bulletin of the census and statistics office states that the season this year has been favorable for field crops in all parts of Canada, and excellent reports have been received from all Provinces. The lowest percentage of condition is made for fall wheat, which suffered from inadequate protection in the winter months, and also to some extent from spring frosts. The areas of fall wheat are greater than last year by 4.50 per cent. and of spring wheat by 13.70 per cent.

The total area in wheat is 13,563,400 acres, as compared with 9,294,800 in 1910, and 7,750,400 in 1909. The per cent. condition of fall wheat at the end of May was 80.03, and of spring wheat 96.69. The area in oats is 10,279,600 acres and its condition is 94.76, as compared with 9,864,100 acres and 93.95 per cent. condition last year. Other crops are satisfactory.

In the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the area in wheat, oats and barley was 3,491,413 acres in 1909, 6,009,389 acres in 1905, 11,952,000 acres in 1909, and 13,809,300 acres in 1910, and it is 15,356,500 acres this year. The increase of these crops from 1900 to 1911 was 2,603,600 acres in Manitoba 7,364,315 acres in Saskatchewan, and [illegible] acres in Alberta.

AN ENGLISH-SPEAKING PROTESTANT CANADA CAN COME ONLY FROM CHURCH UNION

Toronto, June 12.—"If some people who see how easy it is to upset a boat or canoe would not rock the boat it would be a good thing, and if some knew their wagging tongues would interfere with a great cause they would keep their mouths shut. I say this on the spur of the moment and I say a good many things here, but I don't think I'll ever take this back. I earnestly hope to see the churches united, but I have been dubious this last week. I am disappointed with the progress church union has made.

"If you men have any influence with parsons who are meditating on this subject let them know where you stand.

"Church union would mean one great Protestant Church in Canada that could cope with aggression whether Papal or otherwise. It's the only way to get one great English-speaking Protestant Canada."

Rev. Byron E. Stauffer used the above words yesterday morning in addressing the Orangemen of the East Toronto District at Bond street Congregational Church.

The Orangemen began to signify their approval of the preacher's last remark above quoted, but he stopped them. "Don't do that, it's Sunday morning," he said.

The sermon was an exhortation to live up to the original principles of the Orange order which was brought into being to maintain the fruits of the Reformation.

"The responsibility is on you who are to be an improvement on the mediaeval manhood of the Roman Church.

"Is our religion what it should be? Are you sure our religion is not merely a Roma-phobia, a hatred of Catholicism? Do you train your children better than the Catholics do? Do you go to church as regularly as they do?

"It is sometimes said that the Orangemen should not go into politics—that they should not lay hands on the ark. You cannot keep a large body of men like that out of politics. You might just as well tell the Orangemen not to breathe the air, not to walk the streets, not to live, as not to take part in politics.

"You can't stay out of politics and reform anything. You can't stay out of politics and reform a school board or anything else that is not what it should be. But you must go in with pure motives and for pure purposes.

"It would be all right to tell the Orangemen to stay out of politics if the Catholics stayed out.

"The Orangemen can't be in politics for the offices, and traffic in offices, but always as a force for good. We can't be solicitors to support a man for office because he is regular in attending the lodge. He may not be regular at Church or at getting home after the lodge. What he should have is honesty and respect for government and a good clean record.

BIG DEMONSTRATION IN TORONTO BY THE HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Toronto, June 12.—On Sunday next June 18, a monster demonstration is to be held by the majority of the male portion of the Roman Catholic Church who are members of the Holy Name Society.

Next Thursday is known on the church calendar as the feast of Corpus Christi. As is customary, feast days when falling on a week day are generally celebrated on the Sunday following, and as Corpus Christi is one of the greatest feasts in the Roman Catholic Church year, it is planned to observe it in Toronto this year on a somewhat similar scale to the gorgeous demonstrations held in Catholic countries.

In Montreal Corpus Christi Sunday never passes without the holding of a procession in which the Sacred Host is carried through the streets, and is followed by the faithful. This will not be done here, however, as it is thought better to simply have a procession from St. Michael's Cathedral to the College Campus, and then have the service of benediction in the open. Even this is something that has not been attempted in this city for a great number of years. The last occasion on which the benediction was given in the open was about 45 years ago in the time of the late Archbishop Lynch, and it was followed by such dire results that it was thought advisable to discontinue the practice. One old resident of Toronto who was present on that occasion stated to-day that during the procession around the cathedral the Archbishop and priests were made the butt of many insulting remarks, and after they had entered the church the crowd took to throwing stones, and left scarcely a window intact in the cathedral. After the ceremony, Archbishop Lynch found it necessary to leave the building by the rear entrance, and his carriage was speedily driven away.

The Toronto of to-day is vastly different from the Toronto of 45 years ago, and anyone who would suggest such a proceeding as then took place would be sure to meet with adrm rebuke from Protestant as well as Catholic.

LEGENDS OF ST. PATRICK

It is wonderful how many Irishmen there are in Canada on the seventeenth of March! Everyone who has the slightest strain of Irish blood displays it on that day, and so many boys and girls come to school decorated with a bit of Paddy green ribbon or a shamrock-leaf in memory of the patron saint of Ireland.

St. Patrick was born about 372, and was of noble parentage, but when 16 years of age he was carried off by pirates who sold him into slavery in Ireland. There he was employed for seven years as a swineherd, and learned the Irish customs and language. He escaped from captivity and reached the continent where he prepared for the priesthood and was ordained bishop. He then with the authority of the Pope, returned to Ireland to preach the gospel to its inhabitants. It is said that St. Patrick made use of the shamrock-leaf to illustrate the Trinity of God, and since then it has become the emblem of that saint.

The principal enemies that St. Patrick found in Ireland were the Druid priests whose enmity was so great that St. Patrick was obliged to curse their fertile lands so that they became dreary bogs; to curse their rivers, so that they produced no fish; to curse their very hatches so that with no amount of fire could they be made to boil; and at last to curse the Druids themselves so that the earth opened and swallowed them up.

A popular legend relates that the saint and his followers were one cold morning upon a mountain without fire to cook their breakfasts or warm their limbs. Patrick told them to collect a pile of snowballs which he breathed upon, and they instantly became a pleasant fire.

The greatest of St. Patrick's miracles was that of driving venomous reptiles out of Ireland, and rendering the Irish soil for ever after hateful to the serpent race. Some historians relate that St. Patrick accomplished this feat by beating a drum, which he struck so hard that he knocked a hole in it. This would have endangered the success of the miracle had not an angel appearing, mended the drum. The patched instrument was long exhibited as a holy relic.

In 1831, an Irish gentlemen being anxious to learn whether the climate or soil of Ireland was destructive to serpents, brought half a dozen harmless snakes from England and turned them loose in his garden. A week later one was killed and the idea that a "rale living sarpint" had been found near the burial place of St. Patrick caused a great sensation among the country people and somewhat shook their faith in their beloved saint, but they have quite recovered it, if one can judge by the number of people throughout Ireland that on the seventeenth of March are wearing the green. —Canadian Farm.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

A REEL JOKE

It was the elder's day at the plate, and he was shaving himself prior to church time, when he made a slight cut with the razor on the extreme end of his nose. Calling his wife, he asked her if she had any court-plaster.

"You'll find some in my sewing basket," she said.

At church, in assisting with the collection, he noticed everyone smile as he passed the plate. Very much annoyed, he asked one of his assistants if there was anything wrong with his appearance.

"I should say there was," answered the assistant. "What is that upon your nose?"

"Court-plaster," was the reply.

"No," said his friend. "It is the label from a spool of cotton. It says, 'Warranted 200 yards.'"

AN AMAZING APPARITION

In connection with one of the parties given by the widowed Countess of Ancaster a strange story is told. It was in 1893, and one of the guests, a lady who had just arrived, said, "I've just seen Sir George Tryon on the stairs. He looked very strange and white, and did not speak." But Sir George Tryon was then in the Mediterranean engaged in manoeuvres, and the lady was so informed. She persisted, however, that it was Sir George whom she saw, for she knew him extremely well. The next day came the terrible news of the Victoria and Camperdown, and the Admiral's tragic death.

Cuban Grape Fruit Groves Pay Enormous Dividends

A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

Ninety miles west of Havana lie the beautiful Manhattan Estates in the heart of Cuba's most profitable and bountiful section. We intend, with your co-operation, to develop 502 acres of this wonderful sandy soil into a prosperous and self-sustaining institution of rich agricultural products.

It requires a large amount of money to go into this business properly, and it takes considerable time for the grape-fruit trees to mature.

When they are three years old they will each bear on an average one box, which is worth not less than one dollar on the tree. The fourth year we average three boxes per tree, which means $4.00, and this continues until the seventh year, when the average from a tree amounts to between seven and twenty crates; retailing in the Canadian and American markets as high as $10 a crate.

But bear in mind that these trees in full bearing will not have cost more than five dollars each, consequently once maturity is arrived at the profits are continuous and tremendous.

As we intend planting over 40,000 grape-fruit trees, you can readily see that 100 per cent. annually is a conservative estimate.

We Pay Our Way As We Go.

During the past year I have placed many dollars' worth of stock, mostly amongst my relatives, personal friends and business acquaintances. I HAVE TOLD THEM WHAT I HERE REPEAT TO YOU, that I am giving the affairs of this company, and will continue to give them, as careful attention as if I owned the whole company, and I AGREE NOT TO RECEIVE ONE CENT OF SALARY for my services until after I have made the company pay you DIVIDENDS OF TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. ON EVERY DOLLAR YOU INVEST WITH ME IN THIS ENTERPRISE.

When you and I receive twenty-five per cent. on our investments, I will not need a salary, and right here I want to state that we have agreed that NO SALARY SHALL BE PAID TO ANY OFFICER until at least twenty-five per cent. dividends have been earned and paid to all our stockholders.

Further—we have no bond interest to meet; we do not even have to pay any taxes until we have an income. EVERY DOLLAR RECEIVED WILL BE USED FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY.

I want to draw a check to your order for 100 PER CENT. DIVIDENDS EVERY YEAR, and I not only want to do it, but expect to do it.

I have thoroughly investigated the possibilities for profit in growing grape-fruit on a large scale, and have seen the actual results accomplished.

YOUR MONEY SHOULD WORK FOR YOU AS HARD AS YOU WORK FOR IT, and I am desirous for this reason that you know the grape-fruit industry as I know it, and I want you to send for our booklet de luxe, fully illustrating and describing this wonderful and prosperous industry.

LONG SPEECHES IN PARLIAMENT

Some of the Orators of the Past Who Sometimes Occupied Hours in Important Debates

"Never in the history of Parliament," Mr. Balfour once exclaimed with clenched hands and flashing eyes "has such a proposal been made in so brief a speech." Such was the right honorable gentleman's surprise and indignation when Sir William Harcourt sat down after a five minutes' speech introducing the Evicted Tenants Bill.

Indeed, any speech less than an hour in length on an occasion like this would almost have seemed an insult to the House.

In 1642, after hours of dreary oratory, a member rose and exclaimed, "The House is empty, and so be our stomachs. I pray ye, therefore, adjourn the debate for one hour." But Speaker Long would not listen to the pleading. He could sit as long as Legislators could talk; and sit he did, until he fell off his chair in a dead faint.

In the Stuart days, when it was no uncommon thing for a parson to turn his hourglass three or four times before he arrived at "Lastly, my brethren," the man who could not and did not keep on his legs at Westminster for three hours at least was thought as little of as the squire who could not carry his three bottles of port. Any prosy legislator, it is said, spoke for seven hours; and another for six, without leaving the perpendicular.

In later years Sheridan, speaking on the Begum case, held the floor and his audience for five solid hours at a stretch; and Sir Robert Peel apologized for the "shortness and inadequacy" of a speech on the Corn Laws which fell just short of four hours. Lord Palmerston once orated four hours and a half on Don Pacifico and five minutes later was on his feet again, as fresh as when he started. And did not Mr. Biggar, that loquacious Irishman, once "hould the flure" from half-past twelve to half-past five on the thrilling topic of the Devon Commission?

No matter how trivial the subject, an hour was a very modest limit, as when proved when one honorable gentleman spoke for eighty minutes on undersized fish, and another took up sixty minutes with a learned harangue on bog in the Hebrides. Mr. Gladstone, who, when wound up, "could go on all day without turning a hair," spoke for five hours without a pause when introducing his first Budget; and such was the magic of his tongue that he kept his auditors entertained and breathless to the last word. He made dry figures as fascinating as romance.

There have been many attempts to curb this oratorical flow since, in 1849, Mr. Milner Gibson proposed a new Standing Order directing "that the speeches of members be limited in duration to one hour"; but the weight of opinion has been fatal to them. Mr. Gibson's motion was negatived by 96 to 62, and a much more recent motion by Major Rasch, imposing a twenty minutes' limit, by a majority of 40.

ABOUT GLASSWARE

When washing glassware, put a few drops of blueing into the soap-suds. The glass will sparkle and look much better. To men any glass ornament, melt a little isinglass in spirits of wine, add a small quantity of water, and warm the mixture gently over a moderate fire. When mixed thoroughly by melting, it will form a transparent glue, which will unite glass firmly, and scarcely show.

DRY-CLEAN LACE COLLARS

Mix together a handful each of white flour and bran. Stretch the collar out on a table, dip a clean piece of flannel into the mixture, and rub the collar gently with it. Beat out the flour with a little stick, and if the collar is not quite clean repeat the process.

PLACE THE NOOSE ON THEMSELVES

Most Murderers Are Careless as to Some Detail or Other—Clues That Led to Identity

"Four murderers out of five place the noose round their own necks," was the startling statement made by a Scotland Yard official. "No matter how clever the criminal is he is almost certain to do some stupid thing, or to omit taking some elementary precaution, which is his undoing; and the cleverer he is—as was proved in Crippen's case—the more and bigger blunders he often makes.

"And it has always been so. I could give you scores of cases in which a murderer, however, cautiously and cleverly he has planned his crime, has by a single foolish act played straight into the hands of justice.

"Poucet, the notorious French murderer, was a very clever man; but he was mad enough to be seen driving with his victim on the very day of the crime, and the same evening hawked his watch about at a public ball. Eddson, the Bodmin murderer, went straight from the scene of his crime to have his hair cut. The barber noticed that, while his beard was brown, his hair was quite grey. The murdered woman was found to have a handful of brown hair in one hand and of grey in the other.

"Jarvot, a notorious French murderer, after killing and robbing a man and his wife, went straight to the savings bank in his native town, where he was known as a pauper, to lodge the exact sum his victims were known to have saved. A man called Wolff, who murdered his master, appeared immediately afterwards actually wearing a well-known suit of his victim; and Troppmann, who killed an entire family, would not even have been suspected had he not in his vanity described with such minute knowledge how the man he accused had probably done the deed that he was himself arrested on suspicion and forced to confess that he was the murderer!

"In our own country it has nearly always been the same. The Muswell Hill murderers were brought to the gallows by a toy lantern they had carelessly left behind them at the scene of the crime, and which was identified as his own property by the young brother-in-law of Milsom, one of the murderers. Mrs. Dyer, the notorious baby-murderer, was undone by an envelope which formed part of the packing of one of her victims' bodies; and Hudson, the wife-murderer, might have gone scot-free if he had not placed a sheet of blank paper in an envelope and addressed it to himself under one of the pseudonyms, with the object of throwing the police off the scent.

"James Canham Read would have proved an alibi, and thus escaped the gallows, if he had not stupidly sent a telegram which conclusively disproved this defence; and when Franz Muller murdered Mr. Briggs on the North London Railway a good many years ago he was fool enough to leave in the railway carriage his straw hat, which easily led to his identification.

"Even excess of care often proves as fatal as such acts of carelessness. Thus, one murderer, after cutting his victim's throat, arranged everything so as to point conclusively to a case of suicide—with one exception. He hid the fatal knife, a precaution which no suicide, for obvious reasons, takes. Several murderers with a similar object have placed knife or revolver in the victim's hand, where it has been found loosely held. After a suicide the weapon is always clutched tightly.

"Wainwright thought he had effectually destroyed all trace of his victim when he buried her remains in chloride of lime. Chloride of lime, however, instead of destroying, preserves; and the body was found in an excellent state of preservation."

PREHISTORIC MONSTERS

Some Interesting Information About Galapagos Islands

The Galapagos Islands, which the United States is leasing from Ecuador for ninety-nine years for $35,000,000, are of extreme interest to naturalists, since they form a connecting link between the animal life of the twentieth century and remote prehistoric times.

Here, and here only, are to be found the giant tortoises, survivors of the reptilian age, when there were as yet no mammals, and all sorts of huge reptiles held sway upon the earth.

The islands lie in the Pacific Ocean, some 730 miles west of the coast of Ecuador, and are so inaccessible, rugged, and mountainous, that they were until quite recently very little visited and comparatively unknown. It is owing to this fact, no doubt, that these monster tortoises have survived there, although they and all their relations became extinct everywhere else in the world probably thousands of years ago.

Some of these reptiles weigh nearly a quarter of a ton, and they are remarkably long-lived, many of them being three and four hundred years old. They are, however, almost extinct in their wild state, owing to their having of late years been so persistently hunted for natural history collections.

The last great haul was made in 1898, when an expedition organised by the Hon. Walter Rothschild, visited the islands and brought away sixty tortoises of ages varying between 100 and 400 years.

Since then there have been other minor raids made upon them, and it is estimated that there are probably not now more than about a score of the giants left on the islands.

M. Seguin, of Marvajeles, France, has been awarded $10 damages against the railway company because a train by which he intended to travel started out of the station two minutes too early.

New Car Barns.

The Street Railway Company, under the energetic management of Mr. J. H. Munro, propose to erect new car barns, as the present building is not nearly large enough to store the cars in. Plans are now being prepared and as soon as they are ready, tenders will be called for their construction. It is needless to say, the new barns will be up-to-date in every particular.

SOME HEROINES FROM REAL LIFE

My Pretty Jane, Annie Laurie, and the Lass of Richmond Hill

The majority of people regard the heroes and heroines of popular songs as purely imaginary creations, says Mr. J. Cuthbert Hadden, in "The Scotsman." They often are, but not always. "My Pretty Jane" was a girl far gone in consumption whom Edward Fitzball met in a country lane. "The Lass of Richmond Hill" became the wife of the man who sang her praises. "Sally in our Alley" was a Cockney girl whom Henry Carey encountered on Hampstead Heath on a Bank Holiday, and Annie Laurie was the descendant of Stephen Laurie, who early in the 17th century was a flourishing merchant in Dumfries. About the year 1620 he bought the estate of Maxwelton, beautifully situated on the banks of the valley of the Cairn, in Dumfriesshire. When he died he left the lands to his eldest son, John, who, in 1636, married a daughter of Sir Robert Grierson of Lag. The next head of the house, Robert, was created a baronet in 1685. He was active in support of the King and Claverhouse, and was made baronet "for his merits." Sir Robert was the father of "bonnie Annie Laurie." He was twice married, and it was his second wife who was the mother of the song heroine, one of the most beautiful Dumfriesshians of her day.

That ardent lover who laid at her feet, so to speak, the poetical tribute which makes the basis of the popular song, was William Douglas, of Fingland, in Kirkcudbright. In old records he is celebrated as one of the best swordsmen of his time, and his son, Archibald, rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Army. Annie Laurie's beauty had captivated poor Douglas, but unfortunately he was unsuccessful in his wooing. If she really gave him "her promise true," it seems more than a poetic injustice that he did not have her. At any rate, Annie Laurie married another—an Alexander Fergusson, of Craigdarroch, Dumfriesshire.

That Annie Laurie was a beauty there is no doubt. Portraits of her are preserved at Maxwelton. She is described as "slender and graceful, with large blue eyes and brown hair, which was never powdered, in spite of the fashion of the times. Her face seems to have been rather long, and her features followed the Grecian type." The portrait is from an oil painting at Maxwelton. It almost shocks one to learn that this fascinating creature took snuff, but the shock is lessened if we remember that many fashionable ladies of that period primed their noses with the tittilating powder. The Rev. Sir Emilius Laurie, a retired Church of England clergyman, now permanently resident in the old home at Maxwelton, is a living representative of the family.

It was not until the late Lady John Scott, who died at Spottiswoode in the spring of 1900, conceived a fancy for Douglas's verses, and remodelled them, that "Annie Laurie" started on her career of world-famous popularity.

Lady John does not give the date of her recasting of the song, but it was in 1835. Three years later the new version, with the now familiar tune, appeared for the first time in "The Vocal Melodies of Scotland."

RADIUM ERRAND GIRL

A Special Corps of Them Organized in Paris

A special corps of girls is being organized in Paris to carry radium to and fro between the laboratories where it is manufactured and stored, and the hospitals, and the consulting-rooms of the physicians who use it.

They receive good wages, $40 and $50 a month, and the risks attendant upon handling the mysterious mineral and carrying it constantly about with them are considerable. They have to be very careful, and take elaborate precautions, otherwise they are liable to be burned by the radium emanations—and such burns develop very quickly into nasty, spreading ulcers, which are exceedingly difficult to heal.

Each tiny speck of radium—worth many hundreds of dollars—has been in a sealed glass tube, from which the air has previously been extracted, and this again is placed in a small leaden box before being handed to a messenger for conveyance anywhere.

The girls wear gloves lined inside with lead sheeting, and their waistbelt, inside which is fastened the thin flat box containing the tube of radium, is also lead-lined.

The reason for this is that it has been found that the tiny particles which are constantly being given off by the mineral—its emanations—will not easily penetrate lead, although they readily pass through glass and most other metals.

Still, even after taking every precaution, the fact remains that an errand girl, while actually conveying radium, is continually being bombarded by its emanations, the particles travelling at a rate of several thousand miles a second. So, perhaps, after all, she is not over-paid.

A BOON TO STOCK RAISERS

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner and stock raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick.

The letter of Mr. Frank F. Fullerton, which we print below, gives information of inestimable value, and tells of his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years:

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

"Several years ago when my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne Pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only did it help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Someone told me of the success Mr. Wendling, of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with "Nerviline," so I laid in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1,000.00. This horse was taken with colic, and would have died, had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand."

Mr. Fullerton is one of the best known residents of Stormont, and his recommendation as an experienced and practical horseman proved beyond question how valuable Nerviline really is.

Give Nerviline a trial. It's good for man or beast, internally or externally. 25c per bottle or five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

LIBERAL PAPERS REVOLT.

The Montreal Witness has condemned Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude at the Imperial Conference. Other Liberal newspapers which hesitate to approve the Prime Minister's policy hope that he has been misquoted in the cable despatches. The editorial comments of the London papers, however, show that he has rejected practically every proposal made for joint action and co-operation on the part of the King's dominions. He has even refused to have Canada consulted by the Imperial Government regarding Imperial treaties for fear that such consultation would carry the obligation of participation in the wars of the Empire.

The Winnipeg Free Press, the chief Government newspaper in the West, declares that the views attributed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by the cables are simply nonsense, and that Canada is at war when the Empire is at war. The Free Press approves the British Government's proposal to consult the dominions regarding treaties in the making, and states that once these are ratified the whole Empire must stand together in seeing them carried out.

The Toronto News thinks that as these two Liberal journals recognize, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has emphasized in London the truth of Mr. Taft's statement that Canada is "at the parting of the ways." The Dominion is going to remain a part of the Empire or it is not. If the Government leader is allowed successfully to pursue his present course for long, the separatists will triumph. Since he crossed the ocean this time he has taken the bit in his mouth as never before, and has misrepresented English-speaking Canada in a manner, and to an extent quite unprecedented. It may be that he is sacrificing Imperial interests for the sake of the Nationalist vote but there is no doubt that the sacrifice itself is being made.

British Liberals in Canada will note that two of the chief proposals rejected by the Canadian Prime Minister were put forward by the Liberal Government of Great Britain. One was the declaration in favor of Imperial consultation. The other was the plan for a standing advisory committee brought in by the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Harcourt's idea was that such a body, representative of the self-governing sections of the Empire, would facilitate the transaction of business between its different Governments, and lead to more effective co-operation. The Premiers of Australia and New Zealand fell in with the suggestion, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier carried the Dutch Prime Minister of South Africa with him and the motion was withdrawn. Evidently the First Minister of Canada thinks that if he can carry the West on reciprocity and Quebec on the anti-Imperial cry he can depend upon the blind partisanship of his followers in other parts of the country to overlook his preference for Washington as against Westminster.

THE STORAGE OF GASOLINE.

With the increase of automobile traffic, the question of the storage of gasoline becomes one of considerable importance to those who use the machines, and to the public generally; and it is well that those concerned should be alive to the possibilities of danger arising from gasoline storage.

According to a recent technical article the danger from gasoline stored at low temperature is comparatively slight, says the Ottawa Journal. In its liquid condition, it differs little more than coal oil. The specific gravity of gasoline ranges from .56 to .90. The higher qualities of gasoline are with difficulty confined in barrels, as even in the coldest weather it will find its way through wood. Hence the commercial article is usually a few degrees further from a gas.

But the vapor given off from gasoline, even at very moderate temperature, constitutes its danger. Gasoline vapor mixed with air, is an exceedingly powerful explosive; and that principal is utilized in the gasoline engine in all its various forms. The vapor of gasoline is heavier than air, hence, when gasoline is exploded in a building the vapor does not rise and pass out of the building, but forms a stratum close to the floor, and settles at the lowest point in corners unless air circulation carries it away. A gas light, a match, cigar or pipe may thus ignite it, and lead to a serious explosion and conflagration. The higher the temperature of the gasoline, the more vapor is given off, and the greater the danger incurred.

Wherever gasoline is stored, care should be taken to have the container built of metal, and, if possible, placed underground. The recent Winnipeg garage fire illustrates the necessity of this. There is also gasoline stored in Ottawa under conditions that do not insure complete safety. In all cases of storage a vent pipe from the tank should be provided to carry away any gases and discharge them high in the air where they will be dissipated and rendered safe. Those having to do with drawing the liquid for use should never lose sight of the fact that danger is ever to be guarded against. Smoking and lighting matches in the vicinity of gasoline supply should no more be tolerated than in a powder magazine. Gunpowder may be handled with safety. So may gasoline; but the conditions necessary to secure that safety must never be relaxed. Perhaps the law of storage, as regards this city, is fairly effective. The question here and elsewhere, is one of strict enforcement.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' EXAMPLE.

The ovation tendered by over 15,000 citizens of Baltimore to Cardinal Gibbons on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the Cardinal chair, and the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination in the priesthood, was a signal and well-earned tribute to a national figure. President Taft, Roosevelt, Ambassador Bryce and a host of prominent men lavished their eulogies upon the venerable prelate.

The key to the Cardinal's long-continued popularity throughout America was touched upon by Senator Root in these words: "Cardinal Gibbons illustrates the union of service to God. The doctrine of the separation of church and state does not mean a separation of the people from all religious belief."

As Cardinal Gibbons is the first and still the only Cardinal on this continent, and ranks higher than any Canadian ecclesiastic in the Roman Church, we may safely hold him forth as an example for the dignitaries north of the 49th parallel. If the Baltimore primate has found it possible to father the millions of communicants of his faith, and to advance the best interests of his Church, without meddling in politics, it is not too much to expect Canadian ecclesiastics "to go and do likewise."

ASSAULT CASE DELAYED BY WOMAN

New York, June 12.—(Special).—Delay in the trial of Harry A. Ulrich for "beating up" Booker Washington eminent colored educationalist and leader of his race, who, eight months ago, was highly honored by the King of Denmark, has caused Ulrich and his counsel, James I. Moore, to wonder what mysteries are being performed in this case.

Ulrich entered a plea of "not guilty," on April 4th, to information lodged against him, and requesting a speedy trial. Assistant District Attorney Smith said he would communicate with Booker Washington and have a day set within next week."

"Next week" has not come. District Attorney Whitman explained yesterday that "the case is on the special sessions calendar." With this calendar the district attorney has little to do except to recommend that cases of those in prisons shall be tried before those out on bail. The rest remains with the special session judges. Booker Washington's attorney, Wilfrid Smith, of Nassau street, was asked if the complaint was not to be pressed—if, in popular terms, prosecution was to be dropped. He responded with twinkling eye: "We are ready to offer testimony any time the court asks us to."

By testing many sources of information the motive and the occasion for a hushing-up of the case were quite definitely traced.

It was an astounding tale. It involved the self-interest of a city official. His interest is not in Washington, but in a mutual friend—a woman.

When news of Mr. Washington's misadventure came to her she is said to have hurried to the city official, who was her friend and implored that all efforts be used to settle case tase without publicity. Before the arraignment of Ulrich in the West 54th street court there was a long conference of philanthropists, who were trustees of the Tuskegee Institute, whose excellent work it was desired not to injure with the attorneys for both sides. Chief Magistrate McAdoo also took part, although the arraignment was to be before Magistrate Cornell.

In New Jersey, a woman was discovered, who claimed to be Ulrich's real wife, and that the woman, the negro educator, was declared to have accepted was not legally Mrs. Ulrich.

"The conference, in which I participated, decided that the case against Ulrich would not be pressed," said W. J. Gibson, the volunteer attorney for Ulrich.

The charge of felonious assault has been modified by the Washington side to simple assault, which is only a misdemeanor, and the bail reduced from $1500 to $500. The bail was furnished forthwith on behalf of Ulrich.

GROWING

THE VILLAGE OF YESTERDAY — THE TOWN OF TO-DAY — THE CITY OF TO-MORROW

WATCH WELLAND GROW

The Canadian Pittsburg. The Great Steel City.

WELLAND is to-day Canada's Greatest Manufacturing Town. will be to-morrow Canada's Greatest Manufacturing City.

THE STORY IN FIGURES:—Population, 1906 had 1,700; 1911 has 6,500; 1912 should be 12,000; 1915 should be 15,000. Factories, 1906 had 1; 1911 has 25; 1915 should have 40.

No.	NAME	Estimated Capital Invested	Estimated Employees
	American industries who have built Canadian plants in Welland in the last four years:
1	Canadian Billings & Spencer Co., Ltd.	$ 150,000 00	100
2	Quality Beds, Limited	50,000 00	50
3	Supreme Heating Company	100,000 00	75

14	Chipman Holton Knitting Company	50,000 00	200

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

THIS YEAR

"Love, Laughter and Life"

TRY TO BE HAPPY

"It's a singular thing," writes a modern author, "that in so many homes golden opportunities of happiness are lost, which, by a slight effort, could be so easily seized and enjoyed to the full."

It does seem a curious thing, almost against reason, but it is none the less a fact. An astonishingly large number of people are not happy mainly because they have never seriously tried to be, or have not tried long enough in the right way.

The light-hearted, affectionate, generous folk are always the happiest. They have their trials and troubles just like other people; only instead of sitting in their chairs of an evening, and marshalling their woes in a long line for inspection, they think of them as little as possible, firmly and resolutely refusing to allow themselves to get in any way depressed. Neither will they indulge in the selfish habit of making other people miserable by talking of their woes. Instead, they cultivate their sense of humor and that "genius for fun" which goes so far in making homes and families strong and well.

Let the members of a family unite and have their fun together. Maybe you are often tired after your day's work, and, truth to tell, a little grumpy; but don't let that stop the fun. Rouse yourself and join in it heartily. It may be an effort—but it is worth it!

EFFECTIVE AFTERNOON GOWN

It would seem that the makers have endeavored to use every shade and color on one gown, judging from the waist and bordure materials for summer gowns, but they are mighty pretty. We are showing a lovely model to-day for a summer afternoon gown. It is embroidered white marquisette—the embroidery done in lovely shades of brown, blue, green and black, and is truly beautiful. The ribbon so uniquely arranged on bodice is black satin, veiled in a soft shade of green chiffon.

HOLES IN SKIRTING BOARDS

To stop up the unsightly holes at the top of skirting boards that have shrunk from the wall, take some old newspapers, soak them in boiling water, and mash them to a pulp. Put this well in at the back of the boards with a putty knife. When dry, it will be as hard as the wood and can be painted the same color as the skirting.

CHIC STRAW BRAID TURBAN

Straw braid was never so beautiful as it is this spring. Our sketch to-day was taken from a model turban in burnt orange straw braid, which was wide enough to drape in the manner shown above. The trimming for this jaunty bit of millinery was a band and wing bow of brown velvet.

DAINTY DISHES

How to Make Potato Salad—Marmalade Pudding

Potato salad is at its best when young potatoes are in season. Slice them in a dish, scatter a little parsley over, and dress liberally with oil and vinegar.

A Simple Tapioca Pudding

Soak two tablespoonfuls of tapioca in a pint of milk for an hour, then put it on to boil, stirring it to prevent sticking. Mix in (off the fire), one egg, and a tablespoonful of sugar. Bake in a greased piedish till nicely browned.

A Dinner Drink

A great improvement to the water for the dinner-table is a little lemon-juice. Put the water on to boil, and when just on boiling point pour it into a jug. To every quart of water add the juice of one lemon. This takes away the dead taste of boiled water.

Rhubarb Charlotte

Butter a piedish and cover the bottom of it with crumbs. Then put in a layer of rhubarb, the pieces to be an inch long, add brown sugar, a little grated lemon-peel and powdered ginger. Continue in this way till the dish is full, having breadcrumbs last. Put a few pieces of butter on the top and bake in a moderate oven for an hour.

Rice Patties

Boil one cup of rice, and let it get cold; then add salt, pepper, and thyme to taste, and two well-beaten eggs. Put some dripping in a frying pan; when it boils, put in the mixture, a tablespoonful at a time, and fry a nice brown. These make a very nice supper-dish, served either hot or cold, and they are tasty and inexpensive.

Fish Toast

Wash and trim a dried haddock, put it in a tin with a few bits of butter on the top, and bake it for about ten minutes; then take away all bones and skin, and chop the fish finely. Put it into a saucepan with one ounce and a half of butter, season to taste, and heat thoroughly. Have ready seven fingers of buttered toast or fried bread, put a heap of fish on each, and garnish with chopped parsley. This makes a nice dish for breakfast.

How to Clarify Fat

Save all your scraps of fat, cut into pieces, put them into a saucepan, and cover with cold water. Stir until the water boils, and skim the surface well, then let it boil fast until all the water has boiled away. When the liquid is the color of salad oil, it shows there is no water left in it. Strain and put into jars, covering tightly. Fat so clarified makes a splendid substitute for lard or butter; but do not keep the fat too long before clarifying it. It should be perfectly sweet.

Family Cake

Take two pounds of flour, three-quarters of a pound of margarine, three-quarters of a pound of sugar, half a pound of currants, four ounces of candied peel, two ounces each of ground ginger and carraway seeds, and four teaspoonfuls of carbonate of soda. Mix all these well together, and moisten with a pint and a quarter of milk. Melt the margerine before mixing it with the other ingredients. This is a very economical cake for a large family.

Marmalade Pudding

Make three-quarters of a pound of stale bread into crumbs; mix with them four ounces of finely-chopped suet, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda. Then add half a pound of marmalade, two eggs, well beaten, and as much milk—or buttermilk, if you can get it—as will wet the whole. Butter a basin, pour the pudding in, twist a greased paper over the top, and steam for two and a half hours. It is very nice eaten alone, but a little boiled custard served with it is a great improvement.

For Vegetarians

Boil about one pound and a half of potatoes, and the same quantity of preserved French beans. Mash the potatoes, melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, put in the potatoes, and stir over the fire for a few minutes. Season with salt and pepper, then shape into a border on a hot dish. Heave ready three hard-boiled eggs, cut them in slices, and put them inside the potato border. Melt another ounce of butter, add the cooked beans, season nicely, and make them very hot. Heap them up on the slices of egg, and garnish with small tomatoes, baked until just tender. Serve with some good gravy or sauce.

BARRIE GIRL GETS A MILLION DOLLARS

Not many millionaires are numbered among the graduates of Barrie Collegiate Institute, but there is one at least, and that is Miss Eleanor Peregrine, who has been left a million dollars as areward for her faithful attention to duty. Miss Peregrine was a student at Barrie Collegiate about fifteen years ago coming here from Aurora where she and her family were acquainted with Principal Redditt. At school she was a clever student and when she decided to discontinue her school course and take up nursing it was a disappointment to her teachers, who predicted a bright scholastic future for her.

Entering Roosevelt Hospital New York, it fell to her lot to wait upon Walter Duryea, son of a millionaire starch manufacturer, who had been rendered a helpless invalid through an accident. This happened 12 years ago at his summer home where, diving into too shallow water, he broke his neck and completely paralyzed his body. So well did Miss Peregrine discharge her duties that Mr. Duryea secured her as his permanent nurse as soon as she was graduated. For four years she nursed him and for the last seven years has been his private secretary and had charge of his business and his magnificent home at Mont Clair, New Jersey.

Mr. Duryea' inherited a large amount of means from his father and this was augmented by careful investment. According to the New York papers, the success of these investments was to a large extent due to the exceptional business ability of Miss Peregrine.

The exact amount of Miss Peregrine's fortune is not yet known, but it is thought the amount will be over a million. After a number of large grants to charities and relatives, Miss Peregrine is made the residuary legatee as "an expression of gratitude to my faithful friend."

THE YOUNG WIFE AND ECONOMY

A Lot of Things She Can Save, and How to Utilize Them Profitably

The very first thing Mrs. Harrington did was to draw up a list of "How to save." She had a book hanging by the kitchen dresser, and whenever she saw any little hints on saving in a magazine or newspaper she jotted them down.

If you come to look into it, there are quite a lot of things you can save. Let me mention a few of them. 1. Apple or pear or lemon or orange peels. 2. Potato peelings. 3. Water potatoes or rice have been boiled in. 4. Bacon rind and fat. 5. Scraps of parsnips, onions, carrots, turnips, etc. 6. Porridge left over from breakfast. 7. Meat bones and fish bones. 8. The water meat or suet puddings have been boiled in. 9. Sour milk. 10. Scraps and crusts of bread. 11. Tiny scraps of meat left over from a meal and often thrown away because they seem too small for use. 12. Bits of butter left on the plates. Perhaps in reading over this list of a dozen ways of saving you have smiled because it seems to be so ridiculous to save water vegetables are cooked in, and even you may be a little disgusted to read of saving butter left on the plates. But why? The butter is quite clean. It has simply rested on a clean plate and has been touched with a knife. People do not spread butter with their fingers. So, before you turn up your nose, please read over the little helps on saving which follow.

First we will take number one—apple, pear, orange, or lemon peels. These four lots of peels can be treated in several ways. For instance, if you provide yourself with a nice new enamel saucepan, some cooking sugar, some fruit peel and some sheet gelatine, I can tell you how Mrs. Harrington made nice wholesome jellies. You first put some cold water, and sugar to taste, on the fire in the new saucepan and add the fruit peel, either lemon, orange, apple, or pear, whichever you happen to have. Simmer the water and the peel very gently for half an hour, and then strain through a flannel jelly-bag. When the liquid is clear, add the gelatine, the quantity varying with the size of the jelly you are making, and pour into a basin to set. The gelatine must be dissolved in the saucepan; heat the liquid again to the required heat to melt the gelatine, but do not let it boil.

Then orange and lemon peel can be dried in a slow oven when you are baking something else, and chopped very finely, afterwards being put in a jar and used to season cakes or puddings. I wonder how many wives whose husbands are fond of baked custards have tried ringing the changes, and giving them chocolate custard, raspberry custard, apricot custard, orange custard, coffee custard, etc.?

Well, number two is potato peelings. Now the potato peelings Mrs. Harrington saved were clean ones. You must keep a little nailbrush specially for scrubbing potatoes, and the skins must be a nice light brown, with every bit of dirt scrubbed off with your brush and cold water. These potato peelings are excellent to add to soups.

You will see number three on the list is water rice or potatoes have been boiled in, and number five is scraps of vegetables. You know how often how often a quarter of a carrot and the end of a turnip seems hardly worth using. Now, just suppose you have saved your scraps, and when the end of the week comes you find you are rather hard up for housekeeping money. You have nothing in the house but potatoes, and that would make a poor meal for a hungry man. Not if you have kept your scraps! Boil your potatoes first, and put them aside until wanted. Then put on a pan of the water the potatoes were boiled in, having first strained it, add salt, pepper, all the scraps of the vegetables, and a quarter of a cupful of rice. Simmer gently for an hour, put in a large bowl with the potatoes, and you will have a most tasty broth.

You have been wondering what is the use of bacon rind and fat. Well, get small beans and soak them for twelve hours. Then simmer them until they are quite soft and put the water aside for stock. Put the beans in the oven with a bit of butter and all your bacon fat and rind. Make a little gravy of some of the water in which the beans have been cooked, with a pinch of gravy salt and a little browning, and a pinch of savory herbs. Pour over the beans and bake in the oven until the beans are quite soft, and the bacon flavor has had time to reach them. Usually an hour in not too hot an oven is long enough. This is really a very tasty dish.

Cold porridge sounds a very uninteresting thing to save, but try the following pudding. Mix the porridge with a well-beaten egg, sugar, and a tablespoonful of raspberry jam. Put in a pie-dish and bake for twenty minutes in the oven. Serve with hot milk or cream.

Cream is not such a great luxury as you think, you people who must consider every penny. Don't stint your milk bill. It would be better to save on the butcher's bill. Directly the milk arrives, set a certain amount for cream, and the skimmed milk left over will do for general use in the house.

Meat bones and fish bones make excellent broths. The water meat or suet puddings have been boiled in can be allowed to cool and the dripping skimmed off the top. Sour milk makes much lighter puddings than fresh milk. Scraps and crusts of bread should be baked in the oven and then crushed into raspings. Butter left on the plates should be melted down and run into a jar, and used for cooking or the top of potted meats.—Budget and Journal.

PROPOSED THE BOUNDARY

In 1910 the number of persons who crossed the international boundary line to the United States was 94,486, distributed as follows: United States citizens, 24,282; Canadian citizens, 66,285; other aliens, 3,919. In the year ending June 30, 1910, the United States commissioner's report showed that 110,977 persons left the United States to come to Canada. Of the number 19,697 were returning native-born Americans, 14,201 were Canadians and 80 Japanese were citizens of other countries.

FLOWERS AS FOOD

Rosebuds Boiled in Sugar, and Many Other Beauties of Nature, are Candied and Eaten

The usefulness of flowers as food is but little known in this country, but abroad they are used as ingredients in many dishes.

Rosebuds boiled in sugar and made into a preserve are eaten by the Turkish ladies. In China, the species of lily known to botanists as "thunbergi" is one of the choicest delicacies of the native kitchen. It is dried and used for seasoning ragouts and other dishes. The lilies are grown for market in many provinces of China, and are usually plucked just before they begin to open, then cooked as a fresh vegetable, much as we cook spinach; they have a most agreeable taste and fragrance. In China, dried rosebuds are candied like violets, and so is the jasmine. The common yellow lily growing in ponds and marshes makes a most delicious preserve; and in Turkey it is utilized in preparing a cooling drink. Owing to its flowers having a perfume like that of brandy they are often called by Europeans "brandy bottles."

Candied violets are now a staple product of some parts of France. At Grasse, for instance, in which neighborhood immense quantities of them are grown, all the old and stale violets are sold to the confectionary manufacturers, who steam them, dip them into pans of boiling sugar, and sell them at a high price as "comfiture of violets."

In Roumania, roses, lime flowers, and violets are much used for flavoring preserves of different kinds; while at the present day, in Turkey, Persia, and Arabia violets are utilized in the preparation of sherbet. This violet sherbet is of a greenish color, and is called the "Grand Signor's sherbet." Again, in India violets and their roots are gathered, dried, powdered and used as a very effective yet pleasant emetic.

By far the most remarkable of the plants bearing edible buds is the butter tree of India. The blossoms of this tree are the chief sustenance of the Bhils and other hill tribes. Bell-shaped and pulpy, the flowers are gathered in hundredweights off the trees during March and April. When fresh they have a peculiar and luscious flavor, but their odor to a European is not very agreeable and is best described as being "mousy." They are dried in the sun in great heaps, and then are prepared for food by boiling, or are used in sweetmeats. As they produce more than half their weight of sugar, a large yield of that necessary substance is obtained from them for domestic uses, together with a strong alcoholic liquor, much resembling Irish whisky in taste.

The flowers of the banana are eaten in India, also the bud of a species of sorrel, which has a pleasant tart flavor; both being used in flavoring jellies, pastries, and sweetmeats. In Mexico, Central America, and various of the West Indian islands the blossoms of the shaddock are employed to impart a distinctly agreeable flavor. Banana blossom pickled in vinegar is a favorite preserve with the Japanese housewife, and, oddly enough, with the natives of Yucatan, Central America.

BRAID-TRIMMED COAT SUIT

Braid trimming is tremendously popular for coats suits this season, and especially is this so on serge, where invariably one sees braid of some sort. A modish example of this is given in to-day's model, which illustrates a suit for a young girl. The material is dark blue diagonal serge, with rather wide black silk soutache braid, generously used on coat and skirt in connection with braid-covered buttons. The front of this coat is particularly pretty and the length ideal for a young girl.

Methylated Spirits will clean spectacles and make them beautifully clear. Rub them with a clean cloth dipped in the spirit, dry them, then polish with a clean chamois leather.

Work on the Chimes.

Mr. Billingshurst, who has charge of the erection of the chimes in St. John's Church, is making splendid progress. Several of the larger bells have been placed in position, and he hopes to have them all in their places by the end of the week. The old bell has not yet been taken down to All Saints, but will be installed there by Mr. Billingshurst next week. At present it is doing service at St. Paul's in hoisting down the wreckage.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hooma River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Hooma River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hooma River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 92 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

An Incident in Which Ellis, the Hangman, Figured

A ragged little urchin was torturing a young sparrow at the corner of Elizabeth and Elm streets the other morning. He had a string tied around its leg and was pulling it along the road.

A man walking down the street saw the poor bird pitifully fluttering in its efforts to escape. He approached the child. Placing his hand on its head, he said:—

"Now, sonny, don't you know that it is only heathen people that torture anything. You should be kind to everyone and they will be kind to you."

The kindness of his voice reassured the urchin, and taking a five-cent piece from his pocket he gave it to the boy, saying: "Now, give me the bird and promise not to do such a cruel act again."

The boy willingly did so, and the man climbed a neighboring porch and placed the little sparrow so that it was beyond capture by any boys again. He then went on his way whistling merrily.

That man was Arthur Ellis, the official executioner for the Dominion of Canada, spoken of more familiarly as "the hangman."

WHY A HORSE ROLLS

Mr. E. T. Daubeny, writing on this subject in "The Selborne Magazine," says: "Horses are fond of rolling on the ground, and no animal more thoroughly shakes itself than they do. After a roll they give themselves a shake or two to remove anything adhering to the coat. The habit is of much service to horses living in open plains. On being turned loose, at the end of a journey, an Arab horse rolls in the sand, which acts as blotting-paper, absorbing exudations from the body. A shake removes the sand, the coat soon dries. Cavalrymen in hot climates sometimes put sand on their horses as the simplest and quickest way of drying them."

"LOUD LAUGHTER"

When Paddy's Wit Has Made the Rafter's Ring

Pat, for instance, has usually a clear idea of the meaning of an alibi, but he is rarely able to express himself in very lucid terms.

"Yes, yer honor," said Pat. "It's just like this—it's to be afther provin' that ye wasn't where ye was whin ye committed a crime that, shure, ye niver committed at all."

On another occasion, when a prisoner was trying to convince a judge and jury of his innocence of a certain crime, he said:

"It's not meself as is afther trying to deceave yer honors; I didn't hit the dead gintleman at all. It was him that shtruck the blow; an' the exartion killed him; an' what's more, I wasn't there at the time!"

"I see. You are trying to prove an alibi," said the judge.

"An alefbo!" exclaimed the prisoner.

"Yes," said the judge. "Can you tell me what a good alibi is?"

"Faith, yes!" said the prisoner. "It's a lot bet which the prisoner gets off!"

"What passed between you and the complainant?" another Irishman was asked.

"I think, sor," answered Murphy, "about six bricks an' a piece of paving-stone!"

"Two policemen, sor," was the reply.

"Drunk, I suppose?" queried the magistrate.

"Yes, sor; both av thim."

"Are you married or single?" asked a Cadi of a prisoner before him.

"Single, please, yer honor."

"Oh, then it's a good thing for your wife!" said the magistrate.

Even some Irish judges are not above showing their acquaintance with their native Blarney-stone. Recently, while one was delivering judgment in an action brought by two ladies, he remarked:

"Everything in this case is plain, except Mrs. Murphy and her charming daughter."

"Were you ever up before me?" asked a magistrate.

"Shure, I don't know," was the reply. "What time does your honor git up?"

"But the evidence," said a judge, in another case, "shows that you threw a stone in this case."

"The prisoner hit you with a brick, did he?" asked another judge.

"Yes, yer honor," was the reply.

"No, bad 'cess to him," said the complainant; "but it's wishin' he had, Oi do be."

"Why?" asked the judge.

"Begorra, then I'd have seen the scoundrel hanged for murther!"

"Why didn't you go to the assistance of the complainant?" was asked of an Irish policeman.

"Shure, Oi didn't know which of thim was goin' to be complainant," answered the man in blue.

"And so I understand that Patrick Blarney was your uncle?" said a counsel in the course of cross-examination.

"He was, till the bull killed him," was the reply.

An Irish barrister, defending a prisoner who was the father of a large family, wound up his speech by saying:

"And, gentlemen of the jury, think of all the little ones at home depending on this man for bread—their daily bread; remember he is their father—their only father!"

A DARING LADY AERONAUT

It is a curious fact that the Hon. Mrs. Assheton Harbord, who recently placed another long balloon voyage to her credit by making an aerial voyage to France, became a balloonist by accident. In 1906 she went to see some friends off who were making an ascent, and at the last moment they suggested that she should go with them. She went, and returned to earth an enthusiastic aeronaut. Since then she has made more than a hundred voyages, owns her own balloon, and has been entertained by the members of the Aero Club in token of their appreciation of her pluck. She has made four voyages across the Channel, and on one occasion, when making a descent in France in a storm, was pitched out of the car as it bumped on the ground. "I can claim, therefore," humorously remarks Mrs. Harbord, "to be the only woman who has landed in France on her head."

WOMEN POISONERS

The Dalkeith poisoning mystery, which had such a sensational termination, is in some respects akin to a tragedy which, in 1815, created a most painful sensation throughout England. On April 11th of that year a servant girl, Eliza Fenning, was charged at the Old Bailey with having poisoned the family with whom she was in service. Arsenic, the poison employed, had, so it was ever ed, been mixed with the flour of which certain dumplings were made, with the result that Orlibar Turner, a law stationer of Chancery Lane, his son Robert, his son's wife, and Roger Gadsden, an apprentice, had been seized with violent sickness, to the no little danger of their lives.

The prisoner vehemently protested her innocence, of which, indeed, regarding the evidence dispassionately, there can be little doubt. She was, however, found guilty, and, although the weight of evidence went to prove that the real culprit was Robert Turner, who was subject to fits of dementia, during one of which he had been heard to declare he would poison the family, ultimately executed. Public indignation rose to fever heat, and for many nights the Turners' house in Chancery Lane was besieged by an enraged mob that was with difficulty prevented from wreaking summary vengeance on the objects of its wrath.

A Glasgow Sensation

"Not proven" was the verdict in the case of Madeleine Smith, who, in 1857, was accused of having poisoned her lover, Emile l'Angelier, that she might marry a rich Glasgow merchant named Minnock. The case created general interest, and much sympathy was felt for the prisoner, a girl of great beauty, while but little commiseration was expressed for the victim, who at the best was but a mean rascal and blackmailer. Although the evidence for the prosecution was very strong the judge summed up in Madeleine's favor, and the consequent verdict was received with tumultuous applause in court.

Catherine Wilson was a wholesale poisoner who suffered the extreme penalty for her crimes, in 1862, before a crowd of over 30,000 people. For nearly ten years she escaped detection, during which period she is known to have poisoned a Mr. Dixon, a Mrs. Soames, a Mrs. Jackson, for the sake of £130, and in 1860 a Mrs. Atkinson, of Kirkby Lonsdale, a milliner, who, with £100 about her person, was on a visit to town to buy goods. Besides these callous crimes there were other attempts at murder, one that of a Mrs. Connell, to whom she administered—fortunately without fatal result—oil of vitriol. For this, indeed, she was charged at the Marylebone Police Court, but for want of reliable evidence balked justice for the time being.

Coffee and Arsenic

Very similar to the career of Catherine Wilson were those of Anne Swanniger and Helene Jegado. The former after an adventurous life, during which she was by turns confectioner, doll-maker, cook, housekeeper, and schoolmistress, took service with a certain Judge Glaser, whose wife, her first victim, she poisoned with arsenic in the hope of marrying the widower. Her design, however, coming to naught, she passed to the household of Herr Grohmann, who succumbed to her fatal administrations, as did also the wife of her next master, Herr Gebhard. From this situation she was at length dismissed, and left one morning, having previously doctored the coffee with powdered arsenic, with which also she filled up the salt-box. Soon after her departure the family were taken violently ill, and suspicion being directed against Swanniger, she was finally arrested and, after a protracted trial, sentenced to death.

The career of crime of Helene Jegado, a native of Brittany, was of longer duration, extending over some eighteen years, during which period thirty victims at least may be placed to her account. "I am a wretched creature; wherever I go people die," she exclaimed, previous to entering a convent, whose inmates soon experienced the fatal influence of her presence. From convent to convent, from family to family, she passed, leaving everywhere death in her wake, until at length, in 1851, retribution overtook her. She was accused of having poisoned a fellow-servant at an inn where she was employed, and, the crime having been fully brought home, she was convicted and executed.

STREET TELEPHONES

A new system of street telephones is to be tried in Rochester, N.Y., and it ought to be somewhat of a convenience.

Standards will be erected at various points and equipped with telephones which are cut into the general wires. But these telephones are unique in that they have no receiver or transmitter; these are to be supplied by the user. The person desiring to use these telephones comes along and takes out of his pocket a compact transmitter and receiver and attaches them to the telephone, thus making a complete instrument. Then he can use it as he would any other telephone. Thus is created a new system devised to meet special wants.

The idea is that street telephones are often a necessity to a large number of persons engaged in street traffic of one sort or another, such as taxicab drivers, teamsters, and so on, who may want to communicate with headquarters in cases of accidents or other emergencies. This system provides the way.

An Italian has invented an automatic ballot-box. The machine registers the total number of voters and the figures for and against. All the voter has to do is to drop a disc into the slot corresponding to his decision.

Rural Schools.

It will be good news to the pupils and teachers alike of the country schools to learn that the term for these schools has been made the same as in the towns and cities. When it is considered that the term in country schools opened in the middle of the harvest season, and that there was a very scanty attendance of pupils until that busy period was over, it is a wonder that the step was not taken very much sooner.

Lights to be Changed.

We understand the lights which are suspended from poles at the sides, are to be changed to the centre of the streets. This will be a great improvement, as the foliage of the shade trees bury the lamps.

The New Baptist Church.

Work on the new Baptist Church is progressing very nicely. The excavation for the foundation has been completed, and the south walls of the basement are approaching completion. The Church will be a handsome addition to the fine buildings in the vicinity of Central Park.

Joined Mounted Police.

Mr. Clifton Kidd, eldest son of Mr. R. J. Kidd, the well known and popular insurance agent, has joined the North West Mounted Police. He left for Regina on Thursday last, where he will report for duty. His many friends in Peterborough will join in wishing "Clif." all kinds of good luck.

Had Her Hand Injured.

A young girl employed by the Chick Co., had the misfortune to have her hand drawn into the machine on which she was working, and the bones crushed. The patient was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in an ambulance, where her injuries were attended to.

Caught in the Gale.

The gale that passed over this part of the country also struck Stoney and Chemong Lakes, where it lashed the waters into foam. Several boating parties had narrow escapes. Two local young men were out in a canoe in upper Chemong Lake, and were swamped, but managed to reach the shore.

Farmers Wearing Smiles.

Taken to the Asylum.

Edward Robbins, who has been confined in the county gaol on a charge of being insane and dangerous to be at large, has been taken to the asylum. He was examined here twice by physicians, and pronounced insane, and as a result, was transferred to the asylum.

Steamer Stoney Lake.

The Y. W. C. A. has secured the splendid excursion steamer Stoney Lake for their annual moonlight excursion, which will take place on Thursday evening. This in itself is a guarantee that the trip will be a thoroughly enjoyable one.

Will Run to Toronto.

The work on the C.N.R. is progressing nicely and it is stated that a train will run from Port Hope to Toronto on Dominion Day over the new line.

Postponed Till Friday.

The standing broad jump and the quarter mile run which were to have been run off at Riverside Park last night in connection with the Stratton Trophy, have been postponed till Friday night, owing to the bad weather conditions.

Tennis.

Last night the Y.M.C.A. tennis team succeeded in beating the Golf Club by two straight sets—6—3 and 6—0, on the "Y" Court.

Mr. Henderson and Mr. W. H. Clarkson represented the Golf Club, while B. H. Myers and F. C. Cressman represented the winning team.

Back From the Coast.

The Times had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. Alex. Gibson, who left Peterborough 23 years ago, for British Columbia, where he has since resided. He "grew up" as it were with Vancouver, and has become wealthy as a result. He is accompanied by Mrs. Gibson, who is also a former Peterborough lady. They are the guests of Mr. John McDonald, Queen street, while in the city. Mr. Gibson sees wonderful changes in the old town, which he still regards as home.

Valuable Barn Destroyed.

The electric storm on Saturday night did considerable damage in Smith Township. A new barn, said to be the best in its neighborhood, the property of Mr. Wm. Pearson, Con. 12, Smith, was struck and burned. Some hay in the barn was also burned. The building was partly covered by insurance. Three head of valuable cattle, the property of Mr. Bruce Fitzgerald, also of the 12th Con. of Smith, were killed also. Other damage of a minor nature, such as breaking down of trees, etc., is reported, but fortunately no loss of life.

Would Walk to City.

Port Hope Guide: John Cummings appeared in the police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy and pleaded guilty. John has reached the good old age of 80 years and he came here yesterday from Cobourg. He was desirous of reaching Peterborough, where he intended to enter the house of Providence. When asked how he would reach Peterborough the old man replied that he could walk there in two days. The magistrate allowed him to go, but first furnished him with a ticket to Peterborough.

Bill Bailey Fined.

Wm. A. Bailey was fined $2 at the Police Court yesterday morning, for abusing officer Newall. It appears that Mr. Bailey had been warned by Detective Newall that his dog tax had not been paid, and requested a settlement. "Bill" immediately entered into details as to his opinion of Mr. Newall and his associates on the police force. He grew so eloquent in his denunciation of the bunch that the officer decided to run him in. His eloquence did not, however, appeal to the Police Magistrate who promptly imposed a penalty of $2 or ten days.

Football.

There were two very interesting football matches played last night. The first was between St. John's and Park street, which resulted in a victory for the former. The game was played on Park street grounds and the final score was 3—2.

When Coldsprings clashed with All Saints' they gave them a bad rubbing on the Brinton Carpet Company's meadows. The final score being 3—1 in favor of the out-of-town bunch.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

VOL XXXIV NO. 134 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY JUNE 14 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS ARE TAKING PLACE TODAY

THE LIBERAL GOVERNMENT'S HAVING THE FIGHT OF ITS LIFE.

Halifax, N.S., June 14.—The electors throughout Nova Scotia are today expressing their political preferences and on their verdict depends the fate of the Liberal Government, which, under the leadership of Premier Murray, has been in office for many years. The campaign has been hotly contested in all the eighteen constituencies. Both sides express confidence in the outlook, though the prejudiced opinion inclines to the belief that the Liberal Government is practically certain of five years more in office. It can be truly said that outside of extreme partisans nobody expects the Murray Government to be defeated. This is due to many reasons, the main fact being that since 1867 only one Conservative Government has been in power in Nova Scotia, and that was twenty-nine years ago. Four times has Premier Murray appealed to the people, and four times has he been returned to power with overwhelming majorities.

On the other hand, the Conservatives profess confidence that, even if not defeated, the Government's majority will be reduced very close to the vanishing point. The Conservatives have attacked the Government with a general criticism of their policies and with the declaration that it is time for a change.

From a broad viewpoint the results of the election will be of interest as indicating Canadian opinion on the reciprocity pact. It is not a direct issue between the local contestants, yet there can be no doubt that the proposed agreement, if it is disapproved in Nova Scotia, will notably diminish support of the Murray ministry, since the ministry not only favors the agreement but procured an assembly vote of approval for the Laurier ministry's course in negotiating it. The present election is the first important election held since reciprocity came to the fore. From it wide and influencial inferences will be drawn all over Canada. If the Murray Government is notably weakened the result will be attributed in Ontario, Quebec and the West, to Nova Scotian dislike of reciprocity. A triumph for Mr. Murray on the other hand, will undoubtedly comfort and reassure all Canadian friends of the cause. For this reason the results of the election are awaited with unusual interest by politicians and the public generally all the way from Charlottetown to Vancouver Island.

PUT BULLET IN HIS HEAD

Niagara Falls, N.Y., June 12.—A man supposed to be Clark Jones, 25 years old, of Decatur, Ill., was found early this morning in Prospect Park on the river bank near the Ohio Island Bridge and the brink of the falls with a bullet wound above the right ear and a wound on the left side of the head. By his side was a revolver.

The man was still conscious when he was found and gave the name of Clark, when questioned by Park officer Knapp. There were no letters in his pockets or marks on his clothes. There is no hope of his recovery.

LAURIER'S STAND IS ENDORSED

HE IS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF CANADA AS A PEACEFUL NATION DEVOTED TO PROGRESS.

No Changes Demanded—What Ones Are Necessary Will Come Without Strain or Loss—Cable News.

London, June 12.—Dr. J. A. Macdonald of Toronto, speaking at Whitfield Tabernacle, said Canadians are surprised at the nervous anxiety with which certain circles in London seem to regard the Canadian situation. Canadians are not disposed to talk much about war, and when Sir Wilfrid Laurier stands apart from the jingles and refuses to be drawn into the circle of European militarism, when he stands for the development of Canada as a peaceful nation devoted to industrial progress, social justice, and ideals of civil life, he speaks for Canada. His stand is endorsed by the solid body of intelligent, progressive Canadian opinion. Canada is not only hopeful but confident for the Empire, and Canadians are content with the position and prospects of their country within their Empire among the nations of the world. We are satisfied with things as they are going. We do not demand any violent change either in the administration or in the trade policies of the Empire. Such changes as may be necessary will come without strain or loss.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

PETERBOROUGH WANTS THE DAMS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice that Mr. R. R. Hall, of the Otonabee Power Co., stated at a Council meeting held a short time ago, that his company is negotiating for the establishment of an industry in the city that will employ 250 persons. Mr. Hall has about as much chance of succeeding in inducing an industry to come to Peterborough as a snowball has in hades. An industry that would locate in this city, paying $20 to $25 per horse power for power, when power in other places may be obtained for from $10 to $12, is absurd. We do not even possess the shipping facilities that Welland for instance possesses. We have no water communication, which is the great competitor of railways, or are we in close proximity to any raw material whatever. We have the electric works, because we happened almost providentially, as it were, to get them at a time when there was little competition in securing industries. Had the C.G.E. Company to do it over again, they would not come within a hundred miles of Peterborough.

If Mr. Hall is so sure of his industry as he appears to be, let him finance his proposition through them, or in some other way. Instead of asking the city to help a greedy corporation to develop dams on the river, the city should fight them and try to secure these dams for the people.

One Who Knows.

BELFRY TOO SMALL?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have been informed that the belfry of St. John's Church is much too small for the 13 bells which compose the chimes, with the result that the bells have to be placed in tiers, one above the other. The cause queried is that the apertures for letting the sound out are not in line, hence the music will not be heard as far as most people were led to believe. As this report has gone abroad, it would be well to answer it through The Times and oblige.

A Chimes Subscriber

Reply—The whole matter regarding the size and strength of the tower was thoroughly gone into by the wardens of the church, with the result that it was ascertained, beyond any doubt whatever, that the tower is in every way suitable for the purposes of chimes. The walls are strong enough to bear many times the weight of the bells, while there is ample room also. Just how such a rumor gained currency, it is hard to determine. Rev. Canon Davidson, Mr. G. C. Wainwright and those associated with them on the Chimes Committee went thoroughly into the matter at the outset. We trust this statement will put an end to further stories of the kind.—Ed. Times.

DON'T KICK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If the good men of a party or riding, have so little care and so much laziness as to let the party conventions go without attending, they need not grumble at the result. Moreover, such men are just as much harm to the country as those of worse character.

Attend.

A CASE LIKE SCHENK TRIAL

MRS. J. B. WAY-HENKLE CHARGED WITH POISONING HER 21 YEAR OLD STEP DAUGHTER.

Arsenic Poison Used?—Police Say It Was Served in a Glass of Grape Juice—Given an Overdose.

Delaware, Ohio, June 13.—With the securing to-day of details of the alleged poisoning case in which Mrs. Jessie R. Way-Henckle was arrested charged with administering arsenic poisoning to her pretty twenty-one-year-old stepdaughter, local officers mention the case as one somewhat parallel to the Laura Farnsworth Schenk case at Wheeling, Va.

It was learned to-day that Mrs. Henkle was a friend of Mrs. Schenk, and during the trial of the case in which Mrs. Schenk was charged with the poisoning of her millionaire husband, read all the reports. Mrs. Henkle, however, expects her innocence of the crime.

Miss Henkle, the victim of the poison, is known as the town's "College widow." A month ago she returned from a house party, suffering from a nervous breakdown. On June 2nd, after her stepmother had cared for her at home for some time, she was taken to the Jane Case Hospital and an hour later three physicians had pumped two drachms of arsenic from her stomach. The doctors stated that it was the over-dose alone that saved her life.

The detectives assert that the poison was served in a glass of grape juice, which was given to the girl the day before she was taken to the hospital.

J. D. Henvle, father of the victim, and husband of the accused, has taken no side in the matter. He is a travelling salesman, prominent here.

AN AMERICAN BOAT SEIZED BY THE CANADIAN OFFICIALS

Ottawa, June 13.—Word has been received at the Department of Marine and Fisheries, that the American schooner J. R. Attwood, owned by J. A. Young and Company of Boston, has been seized by the Canadian Customs authorities at Shelburne A year ago during the close season the vessel slipped into Wood Harbor and took on eighty lobster traps. For this she was blacklisted, and when she towed up at Shelburne this season she was promptly seized. The owners of the vessel have entered a protest and Mr. J. A. Young will be in Ottawa to-morrow to see the officials of the Department.

AN EFFORT BEING MADE TO SECURE PARDON FOR DYNAMITERS

Montreal, June 13.—That a determined effort is to be made to secure the pardon of two Irish-Catholics, political prisoners and former citizens of the United States, who have now served almost twelve years in the Kingston Penitentiary, was decided at a meeting of all the Irish-Catholics societies of this city.

The prisoners in question are Jas. Nolan and Luke Dillon, alias Carl Delman, convicted on an attempt to blow up the lock of the Welland Canal. The first step is the drawing up of a letter to be sent to all the Cabinet Ministers asking them to use their influences to secure the pardon.

The letter sets forth that the evidence on which the men were convicted was purely circumstantial, and that by their eleven years of imprisonment they have explained their alleged crime, which did little damage. It further states that Coronation week is celebrated by the issue of pardons throughout the Empire, and that it would be a peculiarly fitting time to release the man and thus "earn the gratitude of the Irish-Catholics of Canada and the United States."

TIMES CARRIER BOY EJECTED FROM HOTEL

Gus White of The White House, Shows His Fangs.

Mr. Gus White, of the White House, evidently has no love for The Times. The other morning the boy who has been delivering his paper for the past couple of years, was ejected from the hotel, and the paper pitched out after him. He was told not to bring the "rag" there any more, and used language of the vilest kind, and totally unfit for publication.

The management is laying the matter before the Board of License Commissioners, and it is altogether likely Mr. White will be asked to explain. Further action may be taken later of a different nature. It will only need one guess to explain the cause of Mr. White's sudden antipathy to The Times.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and cool.

THOMAS, THE LINDSAY PROMOTER, ARRESTED

Man Who Caused Big Commotion Is Now in the Toils.

D. B. Thomas, the stock swindler, who operated in Lindsay several months ago, when he promoted the Thomas Shoe Factory bubble, has been arrested in Breckenridge, Minnesota, where he was also seeking to "do" the people. This morning Acting Chief Constable Short received the following letter from the County Attorney E. H. Elwin:

Board of Trade or Chief of Police, Lindsay, Ont.,—

Gentleman,—We have one David B. McCain, in jail here for forgery; he tells us that he operated in your town as a shoe manufacturer and that the people put up a bonus for him in starting the project; that he operated there under the name of D. B. Thomas, and that he forged some notes at the Home Bank of Canada, in Lindsay. I wonder if you can give us any information as to his doings there if any. He is about 28 to 30 years old, 5 foot 10 inches tall, weight about 160 or 170 pounds, dark complexion, smooth spoken and good appearance.

Very truly,
E. H. ELWIN,
Co. Attorney.

Breckenridge, Minn., June 4, 1911.

IN REAL ESTATE.

Enclosed in the letter was also the following clipping from the Breckenridge Telegram, which explains the matter of Thomas' swindle in the States:

David B. Myers, representing himself to be a resident of Freeport, Ill. but registering at the hotel as from St. Paul, was arrested here on Tuesday afternoon or attempting to swindle Burrows and Shepherd, of this city, out of $11,000 and also for forging a warranty deed. He has agreed to plead guilty to the charge and appears the latter part of this week.

Mr. Myers arrived in town last week and informed the Plaisted Bros. land firm that he was about to buy a half section of land south of Foxhome which he wished them to show him. They therefore took him down and showed him the land. He then began negotiating with Burrows & Shepherd to buy the land from him, finally coming to an agreement where he was to get $4,000 cash and property to the value of $7,000, the papers for which were drawn up and signed.

TORONTO METHODIST CONFERENCE OPPOSED TO "MIXED MARRIAGES"

STANDING, THEY CONDEMNED DECREE, THEN SANG "GOD SAVE THE KING."

Revs. Dr. Speers and Dr. Hincks the Only Speakers and They Were Constantly Applauded.

Toronto, June 13.—"We declare ourselves as ever in the past opposed to any lowering of the standards which apply to the marriage contract.

"That we most strongly discountenance what is known as mixed marriages between Protestants and Roman Catholics, as almost certain to lead to confusion and serious damage to the faith and training of the families of such wedlock.

"We hereby denounce in the strongest terms the persistent activity of the Church of Rome to under either by pressure of law, personal or ecclesiastical influences, those who have been married by ministers who have been authorized by the Government of our land to perform such office, and in conclusion we pledge ourselves to do everything in our power by lawful means, to have placed upon our statute books, where necessary, such laws that it shall be an offence and criminal, for anyone, under any pretence, to put asunder that which God and the laws of our land have united in the holy bonds of matrimony."—Resolution presented to the Methodist Conference yesterday afternoon.

I do not think it necessary for us to have any comment on this resolution," said Rev. Dr. Speer, of Toronto, in opening the discussion. "It seems to me that we would do well simply to carry the resolution by a standing vote."

ROME SOWING SEEDS FOR 25 YEARS.

"I think from my study of this question which will not soon disappear. I think we are face to face with a problem which will not be solved in the near future," he said. "This is simply a symptom of the condition of things which has been maturing in this country for the last 25 years.

"The Ne Temere decree is only one of the points of the seeds which the Church of Rome has been sowing through all these years.

LIKE A SNAKE'S EGG.

"The French Kings of old never gave the Roman Catholic Church in Canada any authority to over-ride the civil law in the Province of Quebec or anywhere else. This decree—I hold it in my hand—is a very innocent looking thing indeed. And there are those who would have us believe that it is an innocent thing. But it reminds me of a little egg I found in the country when I was a boy. I thought it was a song-bird's egg, but when I opened it a little snake came out—it was a snake's egg.

"You will discover that if this decree is let alone it will grow mighty, it will grow dangerous to this country. I think that all Protestantism should rise up and declare that this decree should not be enforced in this country. (Applause.)

MACHINATIONS OF THE POPE.

"These machinations of the Pope of Rome and the College of Cardinals them shall not be permitted to overthrow our civil, law and [illegible] our marriage to machinations. They have been doing this in Quebec, in Kingston, in Hamilton and [illegible] reasonable men cannot be content.

"Union of [illegible] there is no ugly thing to [illegible] than other-wise are monstrous. But there is an uglier word. This 'No Temere' means that the fruits of mixed marriages performed by Protestant clergymen are illegitimate."

"I move Mr. President that this resolution be carried," (Prolonged applause.)

Cries of "Hincks, Hincks."

"I never felt so much like being an Orangeman," said Rev. Dr. Hincks. "But what I am going to say I am saying simply as a Christian citizen of this young country.

"This thing has grown up ultra vires of the British North America Act," continued Dr. Hincks, "and we think we are going to win even under the existing laws of Quebec. That is the opinion of our best lawyers here and of our best lawyers there. (Applause.)

"This is not a question affecting Quebec alone. It is a question affecting the entire country. I think it is one of the most important questions with which the Conference has had to deal.

"I second the motion of my friend Speer," said Dr. Hincks, in conclusion.

President Ferguson—"Any further discussion?"

President Ferguson—"I will ask for a standing vote."

Thereupon everyone in the church rose to his feet. The entire conference while standing enthusiastically rendered "God Save the King."

THE RURAL MAIL ROUTE ORGANIZED

Through the efforts of the member for West Peterborough, the new mail route through North Monaghan has been completed, and tenders will at once be enacted for carrying the mails.

The route will commence at Mr. Bradburn's corner and proceed along the Gravel Road, past Mr. Dobbin's and the North Monaghan town hall along to what is known as Scott's Corners, returning along the Gravel Road, to Mr. Stinson's corner, past Mr. Williamson's farm, to what is known as Brailey's School House, thence west to the boundary line between Emily and North Monaghan, then along the boundary line between Smith and North Monaghan, thence to Peterborough.

Following is a description of the route by lots and concessions:

Commencing on the west boundary of Peterborough, between Concessions 13, and 14, lot 13, and running in a westerly direction about ¼ of a mile; thence southwesterly 3 1-16 miles (as the crow flies) to the 11th Concession; thence westerly 1 ¼ miles along the 11th Concession Road, to the boundary line between North Monaghan and Emily; thence northeasterly about 1¼ miles to the 12th Concession; thence easterly along the said concession about 1 9-16 miles to the road between lots 6 and 7; thence northerly, about ¾ mile along said road to the 13th Concession; thence westerly 2¼ miles along the said concession at boundary between North Monaghan and Emily. Thence northerly 1 mile along said boundary between North Monaghan and Smith; thence easterly about 4 13-16 miles along said boundary to West boundary of Peterborough, making a total distance of about 17 miles.

GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE COUNTY COURT

The general sessions in the County Court opened yesterday afternoon with Judge Huycke presiding, and four cases on the docket.

The following was the Grand Jury empannelled: Ben. Caldwell, H. D. Coon, Thos. H. Crowe, J. Elliott, R. Hoskin, W. H. Hemler, W. J. Kidd, Robert H. Leary, W. E. Loch, A. McPherson, T. Murphy, J. Sargeant and T. Webster.

The civil action of the Bank of Ottawa vs. John Haggart was commenced first, Mr. G. W. Hatton is appearing for the complainant, and Mr. E. L. Goodwill for the defendant.

The other civil action is the Peter Hamilton Co. Ltd., vs. Cummings and Cummings.

There are two criminal cases, in which will be heard three charges of theft.

The grand jury and petit jury were called, and R. H. Leary was selected as foreman of the grand jury, after which they were sworn.

In his address to the grand jury, His Honor congratulated them and the county on the comparatively light duties to be performed. These duties he said were of importance to themselves, the municipality and to the interests of the citizens of the county.

"It is not your duty to try a prisoner, but to see if there is some reasonable ground for putting him on his trial. If you do come to the conclusion that there is sufficient evidence to put him on trial, then it is your duty to find a "True Bill," but, if after hearing the evidence, you find that there has been a mistake some place—that there is not sufficient evidence to justify his being placed on trial—then it is, your duty to find "No Bill."

His Honor explained the duties of the grand jury as to making an inspection of the public institutions, and referred to the fact that whereas at this time last year, the occasion was one of national mourning, in the death of King Edward, the present time was one of rejoicings at the coming acclamation of his son, King George V. The signs of the times were those of peace, and it was a matter of congratulation that while the Empire had been great in the past, it would be more so in the future.

NEGRO BLOOD IN CLAMORGANS

DIVORCE SUIT BASED ON DISCOVERY THAT BRIDE IS NOT "WHITE."

Said They Were Spanish—Leading Southern Family Shown to Have Negro Blood, Although They Look White—Divorce Suit Will be Opposed.

St. Louis, June 13.—As the direct result of the arbitration of the Collins-Clamorgan miscegenation six members of the senior class at the Christian Brothers' College have notified Brother Justin they will refuse to accept diplomas or participate in the commencement exercises, June 22, if a diploma is given to Albert Wilkinson, a negro.

Brother Justin announced yesterday that Wilkinson will receive his diploma publicly on that date, and that the others of the class may attend or stay away, as they please.

Mrs. Louis P. Clamorgan vows that she will resist to the last John B. Collins' suit to annul his marriage to her daughter Cora because he has discovered she had negro blood in her veins.

Mrs. Clamorgan, who never would be taken for a negress, and her husband have offered for sake their home. They will use the money thus obtained to fight the annulment suit in the courts.

Mrs. Clamorgan says she will resist the annulment because if Collins wins it Cora's baby will be left fatherless. The baby looks as white as any Caucasian baby. The parents eloped and were married on August 16, 1910.

SAID THEY WERE SPANISH.

Heredity, atavism, the reappearance of racial characteristics after even more than two or three generations, all have part in this remarkable case. White as she looks, Mrs. Clamorgan's maiden name was McDougal, and she is said to be of a family well known in negro circles.

Her husband is employed at the City Hall. He is light complexioned and could pass for a white man were one not unduly suspicious. But he is known as a negro to his fellow employees and to the Board of Public Improvement which pays him. He insists that there is not more than one-thirty-second of negro blood in him.

Mrs. Clamorgan and her daughters had told everyone that they were of Spanish nobility, and were claimants for a vast estate granted their ancestors many years ago by the Spanish Government in recognition of valiant services rendered by some of the earlier Clamorgans.

This accounted satisfactorily enough for the unusually dark complexion of the Clamorgan girls, and for their wavy hair, which bears but little resemblance to the "kinky" hair of the full-blooded negro.

CARS BURNED IN MONTREAL

Two Men Arrested on Suspicion—Could Not Explain Their Presence.

Montreal, June 12.—Another blaze was discovered yesterday morning in a line of old Grand Trunk Railway freight cars on the guard piers, and two men who were caught coming away from the burning cars were taken into custody by Wm. Rowan, a foreman in the employ of the G.T.R. They were taken to the G.T. street police station, where they were locked up on charge of loitering. They gave their names as Alfred Wilkie and Walter Ballantyne.

They are not charged with having started the blaze in the cars, but were unable to explain their presence in the vicinity before the fire was extinguished by the firemen and [illegible] ty of the cars were destroyed. [illegible] damage.

FUTURE OF CANADA

The British Weekly's Forecast of the Destiny of the Dominion of Canada

The future of Canada is illimitable, and it is strange to think that it was only about 1870 that the vast possibilities of the North-West were at all adequately realized. Since then the impression of the physical greatness and resources of Canada has steadily grown. There have been difficulties of a great kind. The nation has seemed to halt at times. But whatever temporary checks may come, there is no doubt as to the rapid and certain increase of the wealth, the population, and the power of Canada. As Principal Grant powerfully and convincingly argued, a nation so conscious of its strength and its future will not consent to be merged in and dominated by the United States. At present there is no comparison between the population of the two territories, and annexation by the States would mean the suppression of the potent individuality of the young nation. Goldwin Smith never took full account of the depth and power of popular sentiment, and we believe that Canada will be more and more content to reckon herself with the Motherland and her other Dominions. But obviously the place of Canada by-and-by will be wholly altered. In the nature of things our little island cannot develop as Canada must develop, and we look forward to the day when Canada will obtain a relative importance which will deprive Great Britain of her claim to a metropolitan position. Of course, in a sense, Great Britain must always be the metropolis of the English-speaking race in general, and of the British Empire in particular. But as no limit can be set to the increase of Canada, readjustment must follow, and when the time comes it will be adjusted on the lines of greater equality. The form of connection will change, but the change will merely strengthen it. We may cease to be alarmed by the spectre of an inevitable disruption of existing ties. Canada has before her the high destiny of the chief place in the British federation.—British Weekly.

DIAMONDS IN CANADA

Gems May be Found, but Mineralogist Not Hopeful

"But whether diamonds could be extracted as to render the find commercially important is quite another matter," added Mr. Johnston.

Mr. Johnston has been working for the past few weeks on the samples of rock in which the first Canadian diamonds were discovered by Mr. Charles Camsell, of the survey in British Columbia.

"The discovery is of no commercial importance," he said. "I have found it impossible to separate the diamonds from chromite and other varieties of rock in which they appear in the specimens found, without necessarily breaking them up into small pieces.

POUND BUFFALO CARCASS

A curio which it is hoped will eventually find a resting place in the British Museum, has been acquired by James Fleming, of the American Hotel, Medicine Hat. It is a perfect head of a buffalo, preserved in an alkali formation for twenty-five years. The entire carcass was found by Sam McKay in a dried up alkali lake, sixty miles from Medicine Hat. He chopped off the head and brought it in to Mr. Fleming.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-so-much as tons of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

A DAINTY SET

Daintiest of all bedroom sets for a young girl are those made of hand-embroidered handkerchief linen of finest quality broad satin ribbon and delicately tinted silk.

Near the left end of the scarf, which is precisely the size of the bureau top and does not project beyond its edge in any direction, is embroidered one of those quaintly shaped flower baskets with deeply curved brim and semi-vase base seen in the patterns of old-fashioned carpets and wall papers and among the accessories of women's portraits painted during the early Victorian era.

The handkerchief case, of the usual oblong form, precisely matches the design of the bureau scarf, but its underside is plain and the two free edges are joined with strips of wide ribbon which tie into big ornamental bows.

The oblong pin cushion cover, finished similarly to the scarf and handkerchief case, carries the same embroidered design, but its beading runs across the upper long side and its hanging bow of ribbon is set diagonally above the lower right corner.

Cuban Grape Fruit Groves Pay Enormous Dividends

A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

Ninety miles west of Havana lie the beautiful Manhattan Estates in the heart of Cuba's most profitable and bountiful section. We intend, with your co-operation, to develop 502 acres of this wonderful sandy soil into a prosperous and self-sustaining institution of rich agricultural products.

It requires a large amount of money to go into this business properly, and it takes considerable time for the grape-fruit trees to mature.

When they are three years old they will each bear on an average one box, which is worth not less than one dollar on the tree. The fourth year we average three boxes per tree, which means $4.00, and this continues until the seventh year, when the average from a tree amounts to between seven and twenty crates; retailing in the Canadian and American markets as high as $10 a crate.

But bear in mind that these trees in full bearing will not have cost more than five dollars each, consequently once maturity is arrived at the profits are continuous and tremendous.

As we intend planting over 40,000 grape-fruit trees, you can readily see that 100 per cent. annually is a conservative estimate.

We Pay Our Way As We Go.

During the past year I have placed many dollars' worth of stock, mostly amongst my relatives, personal friends and business acquaintances. I HAVE TOLD THEM WHAT I HERE REPEAT TO YOU, that I am giving the affairs of this company, and will continue to give them, as careful attention as if I owned the whole company, and I AGREE NOT TO RECEIVE ONE CENT OF SALARY for my services until after I have made the company pay you DIVIDENDS OF TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. ON EVERY DOLLAR YOU INVEST WITH ME IN THIS ENTERPRISE.

When you and I receive twenty-five per cent. on our investments, I will not need a salary, and right here I want to state that we have agreed that NO SALARY SHALL BE PAID TO ANY OFFICER until at least twenty-five per cent. dividends have been earned and paid to all our stockholders.

Further—we have no bond interest to meet; we do not even have to pay any taxes until we have an income. EVERY DOLLAR RECEIVED WILL BE USED FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY.

I want to draw a check to your order for 100 PER CENT. DIVIDENDS EVERY YEAR, and I not only want to do it, but expect to do it.

I have thoroughly investigated the possibilities for profit in growing grape-fruit on a large scale, and have seen the actual results accomplished.

YOUR MONEY SHOULD WORK FOR YOU AS HARD AS YOU WORK FOR IT, and I am desirous for this reason that you know the grape-fruit industry as I know it, and I want you to send for our booklet de luxe, fully illustrating and describing this wonderful and prosperous industry.

LONG SPEECHES IN PARLIAMENT

"Never in the history of Parliament," Mr. Balfour once exclaimed with clenched hands and flashing eyes "has such a proposal been made in so brief a speech." Such was the right honorable gentleman's surprise and indignation when Sir William Harcourt sat down after a five minutes' speech introducing the Evicted Tenants Bill.

Indeed, any speech less than an hour in length on an occasion like this would almost have seemed an insult to the House.

In 1642, after hours of dreary oratory, a member rose and exclaimed "The House is empty, and so be our stomachs. I pray ye, therefore, adjourn the debate for one hour." But Speaker Long would not listen to the pleading. He could sit as long as Lenthall could talk, and so he did, until he fell off his chair in a dead faint.

In the Stuart days, when it was an uncontested right for a person to turn his hour-glass three or four times before he arrived at "Lastly, my brethren," the main point could not and did not keep on his legs at Westminster for three hours at least was thought as little of as the squire who could not carry his three bottles of port. Any prosy legislator, it is said, spoke for seven hours; and another for six, without leaving the perpendicular.

In later years Sheridan, speaking on the Begum case, held the floor and his audience for five solid hours at a stretch; and Sir Robert Peel apologized for the "shortness and inadequacy" of a speech on the Corn Laws which fell just short of four hours. Lord Palmerston once orated four hours and a half on Don Pacifico and five minutes later was on his feet again, as fresh as when he started. And did not Mr. Biggar, that loquacious Irishman, once "hould the flure" from half-past twelve to half-past five on the thrilling topic of the Devon Commission?

No matter how trivial the subject, an hour was a very modest limit, as when proved when one honorable gentleman spoke for eighty minutes on undersized fish, and another took up sixty minutes with a learned harangue on bog in the Hebrides. Mr. Gladstone, who, when wound up, "could go on all day without turning a hair," spoke for five hours without a pause when introducing his first Budget; and such was the magic of his tongue that he kept his auditors entertained and breathless to the last word. He made dry figures as fascinating as romance.

There have been many attempts to curb this oratorical flow since, in 1849, Mr. Milner Gibson proposed a new Standing Order directing "that the speeches of members be limited in duration to one hour"; but the weight of opinion has been fatal to them. Mr. Gibson's motion was negatived by 96 to 62, and a much more recent motion by Major Rasch, imposing a twenty minutes' limit, by a majority of 40.

ABOUT GLASSWARE

When washing glassware, put a few drops of bluing into the soap-suds. The glass will sparkle and look much better. To mend any glass ornament, melt a little isinglass in spirits of wine, add a small quantity of water, and warm the mixture gently over a moderate fire. When mixed thoroughly by melting, it will form a transparent glue, which will unite glass firmly, and scarcely show.

DRY-CLEAN LACE COLLARS

Mix together a handful each of white flour and bran. Stretch the collar out on a table, dip a clean piece of flannel into the mixture, and rub the collar gently with it. Beat out the flour with a little stick, and if the collar is not quite clean repeat the process.

TO LIVE TO A HUNDRED

World-Famed Doctor Gives Rules for Attaining Old Age—Marriage an Invaluable Aid to Mankind

In his book, lately published in the Hungarian language and translated into almost every modern tongue, Dr. Lorand says that from recent reports of the registry offices of Austria, Germany, France, and England, it appears that we are justified in assuming that, though life is usually limited to fifty-five or sixty years, it may occasionally be prolonged to 100, or even more, by the operation of certain internal and external agencies.

By studying these we may eventually be able to prolong the lives of many individuals beyond eighty or even ninety, and to lengthen our term of youthfulness by ten or twenty years. We need no longer grow old at forty or fifty. This can be brought about by improving the functions of a certain few of the glandular structures of the body, providing one or more of the main organs have not already been too gravely compromised by incurable organic disorders.

To prevent old age coming on too soon the first condition necessary is the possession of healthy ductless glands (chief among these being the thyroid, the adrenals, the pancreas and the liver), and this depends upon heredity.

Marriage is an invaluable aid in the struggle against old age. If married life is one of the best means of resisting the approach of old age, on the other hand it is positively certain that unhappy marriages are the surest means of hastening its oncoming.

To avoid premature old age and early death, we have to follow these rules:—

Do not take too much meat, because abundance of meat alters the ductless glands.

Take large quantities of milk, this being the extract of various glands and especially that of the thyroid.

Be as much as possible in the open air, and especially in the sunshine, and take plenty of exercise, taking care to breathe deeply and regularly.

Take a bath daily, and, in addition, once a week or every two weeks take a Turkish or vapor bath.

Wear porous clothing, light hat, and low shoes.

Sleep in a very dark, very quiet room and with a window open, and do not sleep less than six or more than seven and a half hours.

Have one complete day's rest in each week, without even reading or writing.

Avoid mental disturbances or worries.

Be temperate in the use of alcohol, and also in the use of tea or coffee.

Avoid places that are overheated, especially by steam, and badly ventilated.

Replace or reinforce the functions of the organs which may have become changed by age or disease by means of the extracts from the corresponding organs of healthy animals. But, of course, the application of this precept must always be adapted to the individual case.

COOK'S STIRRING ASSISTANT

Mechanical Agitating Apparatus on the Lid of the Saucepan

There are some viands which the cook is compelled to prepare frequently which must be stirred constantly while they are on the stove or else they will burn. This is particularly true of some cereals, and the temptation is strong on the part of the cook to divide her attention with other articles also in the course of preparation, with the result that one or the other often suffers.

The automatic stirring saucepan is a new invention which is likely to meet with great popularity.

A rod fitted with transverse blades runs through the centre of the saucepan, and is fastened to a clockwork attachment on the lid of the pan. When the spring is wound up, the rod moves around, and the two blades agitate the contents of the saucepan far more effectively than an ordinary spoon would.

WASHING VELVET

Velvet or velveteen things will be as good as new if washed in the following manner: First soak in tepid water, then wash without soap, and rinse in tepid water to which has been added one small cupful of brown sugar. Do not wring; dry out of doors. Get two people to hold the velvet out straight, and let a third person iron it on the wrong side. This raises the pile. If ironed flat on a table, the pile would be crushed.

Must Be Vaccinated

Compulsory vaccination is now the law in Quebec Province.

The Marmon made only four stops during the entire run, each time to change tires on the four wheels. Each time the oil and gasoline tanks were filled, to prevent stopping for fuel.

Harroun was born at Spartansburg, Pa., and is 30 years of age. He holds a long list of records.

At the Police Court yesterday morning two young men were assessed $4.00 each for their offence.

A LITTLE LECTURE ON PLEASING MEN

They Expect Perfection, but are Satisfied with Much Less—The Best Wives

Some things, like recurring decimals, are always cropping up, and one of these things is the old, old question: Which women make the best wives? Do you know?

Many think they do, and they compliment themselves on the exact that they, at least, possess some power of discernment; whereas those poor objects of men who vacillate and say they do know and they don't know all in one breath are fit subjects for pity, and at times even for scorn.

Mark you, they think they know. To think you know and to know that you know are two totally different things. In the first case, the people are simply suffering from hallucinations; they are a prey to their own imagination. In the second, the man can only know the best kind of wives for themselves, and not for anyone else.

Some men think they can choose wives for other people. Poor other people! We can shed a silent tear of pity for them, for to be saddled with a wife who has been chosen by someone else is like having to wear a pair of boots made for someone whose feet are two sizes smaller than your own—'tis very, very painful.

Some men tell you exactly what kind of woman they think will make the best wife—and go and marry just the opposite! And then for ever try to model her into something she never could be and something they never could have fallen in love with, however blind or silly they may have been. In this respect, some men are very true to type.

Nearly every married woman in the world knows what it is to put up with this sort of thing, until sometimes she wishes her husband had found his ideal in the first place and lived unhappily ever after. Life can be very trying at times, an dat this period they are almost unbearable.

"Men are such difficult creatures, gran; I don't know how to please them. Do you?"

"My dear," she said, "if a girl wishes to please a man she must be retiring and modest; she must never attract attention by her dress or her hats. False teeth and false hair displease most men; and falsehoods will do more than anything else to annoy them. She should never use powder, yet her complexion must always be faultless, otherwise men become disgusted; and the only way she can keep a good complexion is by keeping healthy and taking plenty of fresh air exercise, so it follows that she must go out a good deal. Yet she must stay at home to help mother, because a man likes to think that his wife will be able to take care of his house for him. You see, my dear, men are not easily pleased. Some of them expect us to do impossibilities. If you do your best, you will please most men; but don't attempt impossibilities, for you are bound to fail."

Gran had learned something in her life; among other things, that men expect perfection and are satisfied with much less.

There are men who are searching for an ideal such as the old lady pictures, and they get so appallingly sentimental and romantic over their secret that they quite overlook the dear little girl who has fallen deeply in love with them, and who would make them an excellent wife.

'Tis generally this type of man who finishes up by falling head over heels in love with a girl who wears striking clothes and talks slang. The girl who attracts attention is the girl that every young man is after. He overlooks the modest little violet, and goes after the brilliant rose.

Is he wise?

Well, of course, he may be. But if you think a moment you will recollect that roses have thorns—and violets have not!

The best wives are the best housekeepers. You may not be a witty woman, yet you may still be able to look after a man. And that is what men want. They want looking after.

A BABY'S CRY

Sort of Esperanto That Should be Understood by Mothers

The cry of a young baby is really one of the most marvellous things in creation, says a leading English doctor. For coercive and defensive power it has no equal, and well it is that the voice does not increase in power and volume with the growth of the child.

Yet, what is this cry? The mother even after a few days can tell at once if it is only the healthy scream of a child disturbed in some way or other, or if anything is wrong. The baby has "no language but a cry." It is a sort of universal Esperanto that should be understood at any rate by those who have charge of them. It is worth noting that a baby cries without tears. This is because the tear glands are not working at birth, and the tears do not flow until about three months of age.

While speaking of a child's cry it is well to remember that while crying may mean nothing but a sense of mild discomfort, its total absence always means something wrong and generally something serious.

OVEN CLOTHS

Get a flour-sack from your baker, unpick it, and have it washed. When dry, cut into three, stitch round, put a loop of tape to hang up by, and use to take things out of the oven with. You can make three cloths for two pence, and they save many a burnt finger.

Reports from London are to the effect that Queen Mary is personally managing the arrangements for the coronation and positively refusing to permit any interference with her motions concerning it. The size of the hoop which the king jumps through is not mentioned.

ENCOURAGE FLOWER GROWING

In the East Side of New York persons interested in social service sell plants to children at cost price or less—a child for instance gets a geranium in a pot for two cents. "We don't try to make money," said one of the workers. "Indeed, we always lose on these sales, but we are able to gain our object—that is, we are able to introduce a love of plants into the houses of the neighborhood—much more satisfactorily than if we simply gave the plants away. Everybody pays a little for what he or she takes away, and it fills them with the pride of ownership that they would never have if the plants were given to them for nothing."

The New York Post makes a strong argument for school gardens. It is a big mistake says the Post, to argue that the more hours a day a child gives to its book studies, the more it will learn. To add gardening to the curriculum will mean that a large amount of study will be done outdoors instead of indoors. This will not only fill the lungs of the children with fresh air, but will stimulate their minds. A child who could not be interested in study through books may have his interest awakened by flowers and other tangible things. "Once the interest of the children in flowers and vegetables is aroused, they will devote to them hours that would otherwise be spent on the streets, often amid demoralizing surroundings."

In this country the horticultural societies are turning their attention from competitions which give glory to a few to the improvement of gardens. Even the growth of flowers in parks is hardly as important as the wide distribution of flowers, the cultivation of hundreds of thousands of little plots which adorn the homes, stimulate the sense of beauty and give healthful occupation to mind and body. The desire to plant something and see it grow is universal; the jokes about the eager study of the seed catalogues have a serious basis. A little encouragement will convert not only the wider spaces of the country, but the little city yards and windows, into blooming gardens.

FIGHTING COMBINES.

It is within the British Empire that the most rapid advances are being made in social reform and democratic legislation. In the United Kingdom progress along these lines has aroused the wonder of the world during the last two or three years. New Zealand leads the way in such legislation and radical ideas has made remarkable headway in Australia, though there is a stronger conservative element there than in the smaller island.

Recently the Australian Government came forward with a drastic measure for dealing with trusts and combinations. It was in the form of a constitutional amendment, providing that when the Parliament of the Commonwealth resolves that any manufacturing or distributing business is a monopoly, "the Parliament shall have power to make laws for carrying on the industry or business by or under the control of the Commonwealth, and acquiring for that purpose on just terms any property used in connection with the industry or business."

At first sight this has a socialistic appearance, calculated to scare the conservative into a panic. But, as it is examined, it is found that it does not interfere with, but tends to promote, free competition and individual enterprise. So long as there is free competition, the State does not interfere. But when a monopoly exists, the old argument against State control is destroyed. It is no longer a question of State against the individual; it is a question of State and the individual against corporations which menace the authority of one and the liberty of the other.

The adoption of such a rule, might or might not, lead to agreat extension of the activities of the Government. In the case of enterprises, which are best conducted by individuals, its effect would be regulative. It would prevent monopoly and oppression by holding up constantly the whip of nationalization. If it were found that the industry or business could not be worked under free competition, it would fall naturally under the head of enterprises to be conducted by the State as a whole.

The remedy seems to have been regarded as rather strong medicine. The result of the referendum was 440,000 for the amendment and 682,000 against. But this was partly due to the raising of the question of State rights as against the centralizing of power in the Commonwealth Parliament and Government. "The Worker," the official organ of the trades unions and labor organizations, published a cartoon in which the friends of vested interests were satirized as sudden converts to home rule.

THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF THRIFT.

"There is nothing more admirable than thrift, and there is nothing more pitiable than when the accumulations of thrift are pocketed by the rapacious harpies who prey upon the small investor," says the London (Eng.) Economist.

It is not only desirable and absolutely necessary that the individual should take care to put aside a reasonable proportion of his income for investment, but that he should shun the mainstream of improvidence that inevitably leads to the pestilence and no further relief of imprisonment could be offered him than that which is provided by the Canadian Government Annuities Act. It is not only absolutely safe, but the benefits to be derived from an investment in the purchase of an annuity are far more beneficial than those which may be derived from any other safe investment, the annuity representing a return to the investor of a portion of his capital as well as the interest thereon in periodical payments calculated upon the number of years he may live, and he gets full benefit of every dollar he invests, not one cent being charged him for any expense. If he lives the number of year from and after 60 which he may be expected to live, he will receive back all that he pays in with compound interest at 4 per cent. If he should survive his expectations, the income will not cease, but will be continued in regular payments every quarter should he live to be 100 or longer, and this fact will probably concern him more than the possibility that he might die before he had received back all that he had paid in. Starting at 60 to receive an annuity, he would in 14 or 15 years get back all that he had paid in with the interest thereon.

Gossip from the dressmakers reports that the Queen's Coronation train is sixty feet long. They ought to run that train in sections.

Making Members Attend.

From the Kingston Standard.

A correspondent writing to The Toronto Star opposes the idea of introducing the element in Parliament as seems threatened by the Speaker at the next session. His advice that instead of the absentee there should be a rule passed insisting that members shall stay at Ottawa and listen to the debates! Of course the suggestion is a joke; but there is some wisdom in it just the same. Undoubtedly if the members were forced to listen to all the debates they would soon cry down the man whose speech es were taking up needless time.

GROWING

THE VILLAGE OF YESTERDAY THE TOWN OF TO-DAY THE CITY OF TO-MORROW

WATCH WELLAND GROW

The Canadian Pittsburg. The Great Steel City.

WELLAND is to-day Canada's Greatest Manufacturing Town, will be to-morrow Canada's Greatest Manufacturing City.

THE STORY IN FIGURES:—Population, 1906 had 1,700; 1911 has 6,500; 1912 should be 12,000; 1915 should be 15,000. Factories, 1906 had 1; 1911 has 25; 1915 should have 40.

No.	NAME	Estimated Capital Invested	Estimated Employees
	American industries who have built Canadian plants in Welland in the last four years:
1	Canadian Billings & Spencer Co., Ltd.	$ 150,000 00	200
2	Quality Bolt, Limited	50,000 00	50
3	Supreme Heating Company	100,000 00	75
4	Canada Forge Company	100,000 00	75
5	Robertson Machinery Company	25,000 00	25
6	Plymouth Cordage Company	1,000,000 00	450
7	Ontario Iron and Steel Company	600,000 00	300
8	Page-Hersey Iron and Lead Company	400,000 00	250
9	Electro Metals, Limited	150,000 00	125
10	Dain Manufacturing Company	150,000 00	125
11	Rail Joint Company of Canada	25,000 00	40
12	Builders' Lumber and Supply Company	25,000 00	85
13	Hamilton Tube Company	25,000 00	25
14	Chipman Holton Knitting Company	50,000 00	200

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

THIS YEAR

WELLAND NEEDS 5,000 MEN

WELLAND NEEDS 2,000 HOUSES

Common Sense

If you have money to invest why not invest it in real estate in a fast growing town? Why not pick a town with a good Past, Present and Future?

MANNERS FOR BOYS

"If certain boys lack manners it is altogether the mother's fault," was the reply given to a woman who complained that a man had talked to her in a room and had kept on his hat in her presence. "A boy who has been allowed from his infancy to wear his hat in the house when his mother and sisters are present cannot be expected to realize that it is an unsightly abrupt mode of behavior when he grows up.

"Boys should be taught to wait upon their mothers. Don't rush wildly to wait upon him. Let him button your shoes and perform little acts of service for you. Train him to go on errands to your friends, give him messages and notes to carry in order that he may learn to be at ease when he has to meet strangers.

"A boy who has been early inculcated in the practice of manners that should spring from real consideration and thoughtfulness will find himself provided with a valuable asset in after life. There are few women who do not appreciate the small courtesies of life. And as woman's influence is subtle and far-reaching, it may often happen that the young well-bred man may realize practical benefits from his manners.

"Teach your boy to have a standard of his own. Show him that courteous manners help him to keep his own self-respect, and that when he is boorish and rude, he, too, suffers spiritually from his own lack of politeness.

"'In my business life,' said a woman wage-earner, 'I meet two types of men. One makes me feel like a duchess; the other like a woman of no importance. In the first instance my self-respect is maintained; in the second there is a sense of real pain and hurt.'

"If all boys were trained in the art art of manners from their childhood, no woman would ever have to lament the lack of chivalry in the present-day young man."

HINTS FOR THE ENGAGED GIRL

Don't be jealous if he casually admires another girl.

Don't expect all your friends to think as much of your fiance as you do.

Don't always have your own way. Allow him to have his once in a while. It will break the monotony of the thing, if nothing else.

Don't let him spend his money too freely on flowers and sweets for you. These may be trifles in themselves, but they mount up in the long run.

Don't fail to try your hardest to win the favor of your prospective mother-in-law. Let her very soon see that her son has chosen a girl after her own heart for his wife.

BRIGHTEN THE CHILD'S LIFE

Home may be rendered a very happy or a miserable place to the child. Mothers very often neglect this, with the result that we have so many weary-looking, unhappy, sad little children. An hour spent in the evening in a thoroughly romp with some little friends is one of the best methods of producing good health, as well as a cheerful temperament, in the child.

TO WEAR OR RUST OUT

Man Who Retires From His Life Work Often Retires From Life—Proper Way to Live

Have you ever noticed that when a man, who has long worn the harness of business, finally retires from his work, he often retires from life altogether? asks an English writer.

He may have looked forward throughout his working career to the time when he might lay down his tools and rest a while in the sunset of life; but the breaking of a life's habit is too much for him, and, like an old horse, so soon as he is taken out of the cart he has dragged so long, he falls down.

In losing his work he has lost his interest in life; in losing his interest he loses his grip altogether, and it is time for him to die.

To live and to live strongly, a man's life must be full of interest, and to put one's soul into one's occupation is to put all one's eggs into one basket. Wherefore, it behoves us all to get, in addition to the interest of our occupation, as many interests as possible.

We all dig our ruts with our own hands, and often, when some change comes which tears us from our familiar surroundings, we complain bitterly. It is only in the light of after knowledge that we realise that the change has benefited us.

Perhaps the most direct escape we may find from our own lives is to live in the lives of others, for the man who tries to live within the bounds of his own life makes but a sorry business of it.

Take, for example, the man in good circumstances, who says to himself, "I have sufficient for one, but I have not enough for two. I will not marry, for love must always bring sorrow. Therefore, I will keep my troubles under my own hat, and Fate shall have no power to strike at me through wife or child!"

This scheme of life, admirable though it may appear, and assuring, as far as possible, at least a placid existence, fails to work. The man, left alone to enjoy his easy circumstances, becomes flabby and self-indulgent. His health, as he grows older, becomes his constant care, and it often occurs that he becomes a broken, depressed half-invalid 'long before his brothers, who have taken the chances of life, and have stood the bracing buffets of sorrow and responsibility.

He has rusted out. The steel of his life, unburnished by the rubs and scrubbing of circumstance, has lost its brightness and its pliability.

Every fairy-story tells us that they married and lived happily ever afterwards in their barley-sugar palace, but the true story of life has no such ending.

Far better is it written that they married and made the best of their lives, toiling, rejoicing, and sorrowing, doing what they could for the world they lived in, and finally were out, full of honors, instead of rusting out in ignoble peace.

HOME HINTS

When keeping fish, never lay one on the top of the other. Wring a cloth out of clean salted water, wrap them separately in this, and lay on a dish. Keep in the coolest place possible. After washing a teapot, dry thoroughly, and leave the lid off, so that the air may enter. If you close the pot, it is very likely to smell musty, as it is impossible to dry the spout.

Most People find it rather difficult to prevent the mats at sitting-room or bed-room doors getting kicked out of place. Try this plan. Sew a small brass ring firmly to each corner of the mat, and screw two tiny rounded cup-hooks into the corners of the doorway close to the floor. If the rings are hung over the hooks they will hold the mats firmly in their place, and, as there are rings at all four corners, each mat may be turned frequently, so that it may wear evenly. The hooth must be very small and rounded, so that dresses will not catch in them.

NATIONAL LABORATORY,

To Be Established in the City of Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 12.—A national laboratory is to be established in Ottawa, under the auspices of the health committee of the Conservation Commission. The proposal, which was made by the Commission, has been approved by a sub-committee of the Cabinet Council, and it is expected that it will be given effect to very shortly.

The plan was evolved by the Health Committee, the idea being the creation of a permanent national council of health under the conservation commission acting in an advisory capacity to Federal and Provincial Governments on questions affecting public health and hygiene.

A national laboratory was part of the plan and it is proposed that it will manufacture toxins, anti-toxins, sera, etc., while conducting analyses. These products, it is believed, will be purer than the common run and cost less.

Protecting Food.

From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review

The Toronto Board of Health has passed a by-law providing that all meats, fruits, and other foods, including dressed animals, poultry, fish game, berries, cut fruits, milk, bread and pastry, must be properly protected from dust, flies, animals, and other contaminating influences. This applies to such articles when conveyed from place to place in the process of delivery, as well as, when they are exposed for sale in doorways and windows. The astonishing thing is that it should be necessary to pass such a by-law. One might think that the sight of an article of food exposed to the contamination of germ-laden dust and filth-carrying flies would be enough to destroy the sale of it. It should certainly be enought to destroy one's appetite for it.

We infer from the frequency of the rainstorms that the weather man has been deceived into thinking that the Sunday school picnic season has opened.

HISTORICAL MARYS

They Have Played an Important Part in History

The name of Mary has played an important part in history. In Scotland the first royal Marie was the daughter of Duke Arnold of Gueldres, who married James II., and afterwards became Queen Regent. Then we have Marie of Lorraine, who married James V. after refusing Henry VIII. Their daughter was the famous Mary Queen of Scots, the most romantic and fascinating figure in the whole history of the olden Marys. The Mary who is best known by her forbidding title on account of her cruelty to Protestants had best be passed over. Henrietta Maria became the ill-fated wife of Charles I. Mary of Modena was the second wife of James II. Mary, the daughter of James II. by his first wife, by her marriage with William of Orange invested their joint reign with a glory which is even now undiminished. Since then we have had several princesses named Mary—one the daughter of George II., another of George III., while the mother of our late Queen was Mary Louisa Victoria. But the most essentially English of all Marys in the history of the country is our present beloved Queen.

GOOD-LOOKING COAT SUIT

WHEN MAKING PILLOWS

To prevent feathers working through the ticking take a pound of flour, two pennyworth of beeswax (dissolved into a thin liquid), and three pennyworth of gold size.

Make the flour into a thick paste, mix in the beeswax, and then add the gold size. Turn the ticking inside out, spread it on a table and paste the ticking all over, using a clean brush to apply the mixture.

When the ticking is covered hang it in the open until the paste is quite dry. Then put in the feathers and sew up the ticking in the usual way.

USES FOR OLD SHEETS

Old cotton sheets make good bags for covering up gowns and coats in the wardrobe, one large sheet being enough for two bags. An old sheet will cut up into several slips for use on pillows over the ticking. Another plan is to take the best parts for making sheets for the children's cots and cribs; the very thin parts come in for dusters. In the sick-room there is no end to the possibilities of an old sheet. One half laid across the bed under the patient will serve as a draw-sheet. When sheets begin to wear, sew the sides together, cut through the middle, hem up again, and they will last a long time.

A GOOD PLAN

Take a piece of washing material, and make as many bags as you have gas-globes. Allow about half a yard for each bag, and run a string through the top. When you are sweeping a room, place these over the gas-globes, and tie the string underneath. They will keep out all dust, and you will be saved the trouble of washing globes; they will prevent moths and flies falling in the burners, and, of course, there is always a better light when no dust is allowed to get in the mantles. The bags can easily be removed when the lights are needed.

THICK MILK

Make a tablespoonful of flour into a smooth paste with a little cold milk; pour on to it one pint of boiling milk, add a pinch of salt, and boil for ten minutes, stirring all the time. Serve with brown sugar. This is very nourishing for children, and much liked by them.

Currant Loaf

Beat into two pounds of dough when ready for baking six tablespoonfuls of well-washed currants, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and one ounce of butter. Bake like an ordinary loaf.

Valuable Barn Destroyed.

The electric storm on Saturday night did considerable damage in South Toronto. A new barn, said to be the best in its neighborhood, the property of Mr. Wm. Fahrner, Con. 12, South, was struck and burned down by the fire fiend during the storm. The building was partly covered by insurance. Three head of valuable cattle, the property of Mr. Bruce Fitzgerald, also of the 12th Con. of South, were killed also. Other damage of minor importance was done to the property of other residents, but fortunately no loss of life.

NEW STRAINER SPOON

Is Only Partially Meshed and Has Variety of Uses

A strainer spoon for which many advantages are claimed by the New York man who devised it, is shown herewith. The secret of this spoon's versatility lies in the fact that it is only partially meshed and that the bowl has enough straining, for skimming jelly or soup, poaching eggs, whipping cream, or for any of the myriad uses to which spoons are put in the kitchen. As will be noticed, the bowl has a wide strip of metal around the edge, only a comparatively small portion in the centre having the wire meshing. The consequence is that this implement can be used either as a spoon or a strainer, and the cook need not go to the cutlery drawer a dozen times while preparing a meal to get just the utensils needed for a particular task.

CLEANING HINTS

Oak Trays which are badly marked rub with warm beer till the stains have disappeared, when they may be polished as usual.

To Free the Hands from disagreeable odors, such as that of onions, cod-liver oil, etc., mix a little ground dry mustard with warm water, and wash the hands well with it. The saucers of scales or vessels used in cooking can be freed from odors by the same method.

Crumpled Chiffon or artificial flowers may be made quite fresh again by holding them over the steam of a kettle for a few minutes; then pull out into shape and shake in the air until quite dry. This treatment is particularly satisfactory in the case of velvet flowers.

When Paint Brushes have been laid aside for some time they become very hard and dry. To remedy this, heat some vinegar to boiling point, immerse the brushes, and allow them to simmer for about fifteen minutes or more in strong soap-suds, and they will be as new again.

To Erase Grease Stains from wall-paper, mix two ounces of powdered pipeclay with a little cold water to the consistency of cream, lay it thickly on the stains, and leave until the following day. Brush off with a stiff whisk; if the stain is of long standing, repeat the operation several times.

Every Blanket, unless new, should be washed during the annual spring cleaning. Soak them in a pail of water containing one tablespoonful of ammonia and some suds. Rub all little as possible, work them round with a wooden stick until they are clean. This prevents shrinking.

An Excellent Idea for pantry shelves is to give them two coats of ordinary white paint, and then a third finishing coat of white enamel. As soon as the enamel dries wash it over with cold water, and then it will harden quickly. Do not cover the shelves with oilcloth or paper, but leave them bare. The enamel is easily wiped clean with a damp cloth.

Grained Wood should be washed with cold tea, a small part of the surface at a time, and rubbed well with a flannel cloth before it becomes dry.

Laundry Tubs should always be made quite clean after they have been used. Wooden tubs are best preserved by leaving a little cold water standing in them; zinc tubs may be cleaned with ammonia, and must be thoroughly dried to prevent rust.

The Simplest Method to get a glass stopper out of a decanter or bottle is to take a feather, dip in salad oil, and paint the mouth of the bottle with it. Put close to the fire. As soon as the glass is worm tap the stopper very gently with a wooden spoon, first on one side and then on the other, and try to remove it. If the first treatment fails a second is almost certain to be effectual, even in the most obstinate of cases.

KNOWN IN EVERY HOME

Sir William Hartley of "Jam" Fame, a Great Giver

Sir William Hartley, the head of the famous jam firm, whose system of profit-sharing is proving so beneficial to his employes, started life at the age of thirteen by helping his mother in a small grocer's shop at Colne, Lancashire. In three years the business had prospered to such an extent that he urged his parents to take larger premises. At first they set their faces against this enterprise, but at last gave way, and in a surprisingly short time their son was employing a staff of about fifty men. Then he started manufacturing jam, and soon Hartley's jam became known in every home. A deeply religious man, Sir William was the first layman for forty years to be appointed President of the Primitive Methodist Connexion. He has given thousands of pounds to the funds of his denomination. A short time ago he said, "Giving away the Lord's money has been my chief hobby and recreation. I try to do it on the same systematic lines that I use in business: and, in fact, to distribute my money is a harder and more arduous task than making it."

A Reading youth who stole a bicycle offered it for sale to a stranger in the street. The stranger was a Reading detective.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 62 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

A BROWNING COURTSHIP

By Alice L. Fairweather, in The Westminster

January 1st, 19—. I have decided to keep a diary. It is to be no mere record of events, but my own impressions and opinions of books, people and places. I wish to be able to judge whether my character is improving or otherwise, whether I am broadening, or growing narrower in mind. "The mind, whether regarded or not, makes great the life." What an inspiring meaning is. I will try to read more good books and poetry, as I promised dear Miss Riddel when I left school last year.

January 3rd.—One resolution broken already. I meant to write in you, my diary, every day, but the many interruptions to-day prevented me. How my social life interferes with the more studious, earnest life I would lead, and yet one cannot withdraw from the world. I might have stayed at home from Madge Hunt's tea this afternoon, but after all, one owes a certain duty to one's fellow creatures. (I am trying to avoid too many I's, but that impersonal pronoun is hard to manage.).

January 5th.—Meant to read "A Soul's Tragedy," but felt too tired to-night, so have just finished "True Till Death." It may not improve my mind, but it is a beautiful portrayal of the brightest emotion the human breast is capable of: Love. I wonder if I could love as that man and woman did, and if I could be true through long years of waiting.

"I wait for my story, the birds cannot sing it.
Not one as he sits on the tree.
The bells cannot ring it, but long years,
oh, bring it,
Such as I wish it to be."

January 11th.—I feel I will not tie myself down to writing every day, but only when I have something important to record.

January 12th.—Last night Harold brought a college friend to dinner. He has come from a small town in the West to practise law in our city. Rather a handsome man with fair, curly hair, gray eyes and a strong chin. He seems determined to win recognition in his profession, and one feels that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes. He is well educated, very well read and intensely musical. I have devoted almost a page to Mr. Hamilton, but my diary was to record my impressions of people as well as of books and events.

January 16th.—Have been reading Tennyson with Mr. Hamilton. He does not care for Browning as I do, but I hope to lead him to the nobler poet. Tennyson is very musical and appeals to that side of his nature, but Browning reaches the soul. Mr. Hamilton reads aloud very well.

January 19th.—Have begun to read letters between Mr. and Mrs. Browning. What ideal lovers they were. Harold makes such unkind remarks about passing the library door and hearing Mr. Hamilton say "my dearest." It was in the "Letters" of course, but a brother never does understand. It seems odd that a stranger seems to appreciate one's finer feelings better than those who have known one all her life.

February 7th.—We have finished the letters and gone to the poems themselves. Jack feels that he will understand the poems better now that he seems to know more of the poet, so one cannot help but feel after reading those outpourings of the soul which he sent his beloved.

February 14th.—I am proud of my convert. He is able to explain many passages I could never grasp the meaning of. He thinks deeply and seems to feel deeply. In the box of violets he sent for a Valentine, I found his card, "Violets blue as your eyes" written on it. My eyes are gray and the violets are purple, but the thought was beautiful.

March 21st.—

"Be a god and hold me
With a charm
Be a man and fold me
With thine arm."

Jack did!

March 22nd.—I will paste in this clipping from "The Times," for I am too happy to write.

We're going to Florence on a Browning Pilgrimage for our wedding trip.

A FAMILY GATHERING

Heavy rain was falling. The noise it made on the iron of the roof and the tick of the old-fashioned clock on the mantelpiece seemed to possess the room. It was a large room, the low ceiling stained with many rain-marks and already damp in a few places. Vivid wall-paper and gilt-framed oleographs shone in the intervals of shadows cast by a group seated about the fire. A kerosene lamp, with a paper shade, was turned so low that it lit only a small circle of the worn tapestry of the tablecloth and made a dim moon on the murky ceiling. The group by the fire consisted of two women and three men. For the most part they sat in silence; but now and then, weary of the strain, one of them would make some trivial remark. Apart, in a large old chair, a grey, withered woman rocked softly to and fro. Her lips murmured and her hands twitched nervously. Suddenly she ceased rocking and all the others turned towards her.

The door was thrust open, and an old man came in, streaming with water. He fumed, and tore off his oilskin hat.

"What's up with you, mother?" he cried. "Can't we afford kerosene now? Bring in your ignorance, Dick; they're all here."

"Dick, oh, Dick!"

The grey, withered woman threw herself into the arms of a young man who had followed his father.

"Mother—how are you, mother? All right? Not been fretting too much, have you?"

"You're mother's all right," said his father. "Let her cry a bit; it'll do her good. Here's the rest of the family glad to see you."

"No," he said, in answer to a question. "I'm not very wet. I rode inside. I'll slip off this overcoat and we can have a talk. Where are you off to, mother?"

"She's going to get you some supper," said Jane. "She's always feeding someone up. I thought they used to shave your head. Why, you've even got a moustache."

"They give you time to grow a bit of hair before they let you out," said Dick. "They're not too bad."

"I reckon so," said his brother Harry. "You're a regular swell. Where'd you get all that tailor-made clobber from? A honest man's a fool, I think."

"My word!" said Bill. "It's a great thing to be a swell. It's a great thing, ain't it, Harry?"

"It's a great thing to earn your livin' honest," said Harry; "that's the great thing."

"It is that," said Jim; and Jane said it was noble, and Mary said: "Indeed, it is."

Then they all sighed and looked at Dick, who nodded approvingly, and said they were right.

"It's not every one that's able to do hard work," said the mother.

"Nor every one that's willing," granted Bill.

"What's that there hard labor they give yer?" said Jim.

"I was workin' with the mascons," said Dick. His mother wiped her eyes.

"Don't snivel, mother," said the old man. Jim got up and had a look at Dick's hands.

"You've been doin' a bit o' graft all right," he said. "Yer best come with me, an' I'll break you into the farmin'."

"What wages do you pay?" asked Dick.

"Wages! Pay!" Jim opened his mouth in astonishment, and then shut it severely and sat down.

"What do yer purpose doin' then?" said Bill.

"I'm goin' back to Sydney to look for work," said Dick.

Jim laughed. Bill was surprised.

"Why," he said, "you ain't got no friends in Sydney. Now, don't be a fool; I can do with a man on my bit of a dairy. It'll be your keep, anyway."

"I'm sure," said Jane, "Robert 'd give you a chance on the cart. Of course, it'd be hard on him havin' to keep a closer eye on the money."

"I won't trouble your husband, Jane," said Dick.

"Oh, you needn't be so high and mighty," said Jane; "it's not everyone'd trust a convicted embezzler."

"Shut up, Jane," said the father.

"Well, if Dick wants honest work," said Harry, "he can have a job with me keepin' the tail race clear. It ain't hard work once you get used to it, an' I'll stretch a point for his sake. I'll give him three bob a day. There, now."

Harry stood up four-square to the world and began to refill his pipe.

"Harry," said the old man, "you know you can't get men to do it for nine."

"He don't want work—that's my opinion," said Mary.

"Let Dick alone," said the father; "you're like a pack of dingoes."

"Never mind, dad," said Dick; "it's like old times."

"Not able to hold up our heads in the town," said Jane.

"But he can give himself airs an' set himself above the honest members o' the family," said Bill with deep pathos.

Then the little grey woman took the floor.

"Bill," she said, "you did honest work, duffin' cattle from old Robertson's run—enough to earn you seven years if you had your due. Jane, the biggest disgrace this family has suffered was you havin' to marry in such a hurry. Harry, you never robbed them Chinamen's sluices, did you. An' Jim never swindled the Coopers over that dummyin' business! An' Mary an' her husband never burnt no store down when 'twas empty an' got the goods and the insurance, too! No, none of you ever did anything bad at all, an' your old wizened mother don't regret bringin' a bad-hearted, evil, lying, lot o' hypocrites into the world. God help her!"

"The storm's over," he said. "The stars are out. I never seen 'em so bright, nor the air so fresh an' sweet. I'm glad you all came along to welcome your brother. The road's dirty, but you're used to dirt. Good night."

Fire in Emily.

The reflection of a fire in Emily on Saturday night could be distinctly seen in the city. It was caused by the burning of a barn belonging to Mr. S. Carew, about four miles east of Omemee.

SUCH IS LIFE

By A. T. Owen

When I was thirteen years of age I was very much in love. She was a year my junior, with lovely dark eyes, and a wealth of glorious, glossy black hair. To me she was very beautiful. Her name was Lily. Looking back on the years that are past, I find food for reflection in my partiality towards sweethearts thus named. The Lilys outnumber the Ethels, Mabels, Roses, and Florries by nearly two to one. There was only one Beatrice, and she—but to return to Lily, this Lily.

I remember how proud and happy I used to feel walking by her side on our way to the Board school which we attended. People, it seemed, singled us out for their especial gaze; other boys glared at me enviously. My imagination was rather vigorous as a child. Sometimes—and oh, what splendid times they were—I had money. Then would we march importantly into the cosy little general shop near the school, and I would buy goodies for my lady love. And she, dear girl, would offer me the bag so graciously. I believe I was sufficiently moderate in my acceptances; I know I tried to be. I remember her preference was for a frosty sparkling confection called "snowdrop creams," and that one only got six, or, at the most, seven for a penny.

In the evenings, after tea, I would wend my way with all possible speed to the house in which she lived. She would come out sometimes. Often, however, I tarried for many weary minutes, and was only rewarded with a glimpse of her fair features when it was nearly eight o'clock and a fond parent at home required my presence indoors. I have pondered, and do so even now, on the suspicion which sometimes entered my head, that she was not always so busy helping mother as she made out to be; but indulged her feminine instincts so much as to keep me waiting purposely. I knew I used sometimes to think I saw the curtains at the window of the dark front room twitch slightly.

On Saturday mornings, after she had finished what she grandiloquently called her housework, she would come to the park to meet me—mud-stained and lightly clad—returning from the football match. Usually I had a tale of victory to tell, of splendid and heroic charging, of science, and skilful play. Now and again, a beating having been her team's portion, I would be gloomy and monosyllabic. But on whatever occasion, her words and presence always cheered, raising my triumphant joy to greater heights, lightening the darkness of defeat.

In the evening we would go shopping. Advice, serious and very wise, I would give her, and warm with inward pride when it was noted upon. The joy I experienced when a pair of quiet black boots which I had recommended were bought by her in preference to a costlier pair of gorgeous high-legged brown ones to which her own fancy inclined, cannot be expressed in words.

Sunday crowned all. With what loving care I polished my boots that day—the compulsory weekday clean, imposed by a strict schoolmaster, received nothing near the same amount of attention—brushing them till they shone resplendent in the morning sunlight. How feverishly I unfolded my suit of Sunday best, with a coat cut like a man's, and looked carefully over each garment to see that nothing the moths; that there was no specks of fluff, no bits of clinging cotton, no little bursts at seams, no stains. And oh, the attention lavished upon the bow which finished off the spotless white collar encircling my throat. How many times I tied and untied and re-tied it were impossible to count.

Then, when all was finished, I would sally forth in all my sartorial glory, arrayed, in vulgar phrase, "to kill"—and succumb in the first moment of our encounter. For she, always beautiful, was on Sundays inexpressibly so. She would wear—but there, how can I say what she wore? I was blinded, dazed in her company, and only recollect that it was something that became her wonderfully, as a gilded frame a beautiful picture.

In the mornings Sunday school was neglected. We walked out instead, "the fields" being honored by our presence on their shady paths. We talked a good deal, about flowers and grass and trees. Indeed, Sunday mornings, it seems to me now, were our most loquacious times. Not so the evenings. Afternoon Sunday school separated me from my goddess for a few hours, and tea, a prosaic meal, had to be endured before we met again. Once more "the fields" would receive us; this time less talkative. As the dusk deepened we would speak in whispers; so as not to disturb the slumbering flowers it may be. I would hold her hand. She used to thrill deliciously when I called her "dear." The gloaming made me bold. Sometimes I would muster up courage to put my arm around her waist, and once—once, when there was nobody in sight—I kissed her. . . . .

All this was many, many years ago. . . . . .

I saw her again last night. It was raining thinly, and she did not see me, her attention being otherwise engaged.

She had changed. Her eyes, instead of glowing softly, burned with a bright fire. Those lips, which once, full and ripe, had met mine in an ecstacy of bliss, were now bloodless and tight drawn. Her hair, that had been her greatest pride, was unbrushed, hanging about her face in tangled, untidy masses. She was not dressed, her clothes merely hung on her, a shapeless, draggled heap.

I recognized her by her voice, which, although harsh and shrill, yet retained something reminiscent of her girlhood tones. She was saying—but there, why repeat it? What she said has been said many times before in similar circumstances. The being whom she addressed lurched along before her, head bent, hands in pockets, mumbling blasphemously. He heeded her not at all, so, following at a little distance, she poured out the vials of her wrath upon him. . . . . .

Spellbound, I stood for a moment listening, while scenes from the years gone by crowded back into my brain. Then she swore. . . . . .

Had Her Hand Removed.

A young girl employed by the Chick Co., had the misfortune to have her hand drawn into the machine on which she was working, and the bones crushed. The patient was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in an ambulance, where her injuries were attended to.

Dying of Cholera

What is it that keeps down cholera, cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the sores, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4672

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our house was without "Nerviline." In the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. My father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensible around the home as Nerviline."

This letter, written by Mrs. N. C. Butcher, a well-known resident in Battersea, shows the high opinion entertained of Nerviline by those who have used it constantly for nearly half a century.

You'll never regret using Nerviline. Get it to-day, keep it on hand for an accident or sudden case of sickness in your home. Refuse anything else offered you instead of Nerviline. 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

He is charged with obtaining a diamond ring by false pretense. Some time ago Chief Thompson received a letter from the Toronto Chief asking him to be on the lookout for the culprit.

Must Carry Lights.

We understand the marine authorities will strictly enforce the regulation regarding the carrying of proper lights on all motor boats and other crafts on the water this season. With the number of pleasure boats out at all hours in the evening it is positively dangerous without the proper lights. Let the law be enforced, for the safety of human lives should not be endangered by the carelessness of a few.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Petitions urging a reprieve are being circulated in many Canadian and American cities. A LAWYER THREW OFF HIS GOWN AT CAMORRIST TRIAL

Lawyer Jumped to His Feet and Shouted "Liar"—As Usual, the Court Suspended Business.

Viterb, Italy, June 14.—Something of a sensation was occasioned at the Camarrist trial by the testimony of several women witnesses, who declared that they had been offered money by the wives of some of the prisoners and also by Alexandro Loyioe one of the lawyers for the defence, to deny depositions previously made by them and swear falsely. One witness added that she refused to see Loyioe and notified police officials of attempts made to have her commit perjury.

The president of the court ordered the police officials to the witness stand and instructed him to tell what happened. In the meantime the prisoners from the cage inveighed against the woman, calling her a spy. The police officials said that mothers and wives of the accused Camorrists had tried to take several of the witnesses to Loyioe, who was highly indignant and asked the official if he knew of anything against him, to which the official replied that he knew Loyioe had spoken with Erricone's mistress at an inn in Viterbo. The president of the court ordered the proprietor and chamber maid to be interrogated on this subject.

At this point Loyioe became furious and said that he would not permit himself to be made the constant object of inquiry. He preferred to abandon his post. Loyioe then took off his lawyer's gown and left the court room, and the president suspended the sitting.

AN AUTO CLUB.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think an effort should be made to form an Auto Club in Peterborough. There are over 50 autos in the city, and if the owners will only get together, they could make their voice heard at the Council in regard to the use of oil on the streets.

I would suggest that a meeting be called at once, not only of autoists, but also of bicyclists.

THE BEST CITIZEN.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was pained the other day to hear a citizen, who is looked upon as rather a model business man, say in the presence of two or three acquaintances, that the English emigrant is not a desirable one for this country. I was pleased to notice, however, that this sentiment was not that of the others, for one of them at least, vigorously defended the English.

We hear altogether too much of this kind of talk. I say, without fear of successful contradiction, that the Englishmen are the most desirable settler that is possible to get into Canada. They are, as a rule, good workers, steady and probably more than anything else, they are loyal to the flag.

At this time, when there is so much talk about annexation and all that, it surely is wise to be on our guard as to the class of emigrants that comes to our shores.

I have been a constant reader of The Times since coming to Canada from Manchester, nearly nine years ago, and on more than one occasion have defended my fellow countrymen from cautmny and insult by men who should know better, any who do not like us because of our principles.

GOVERNMENT RETURNED CONS. GAIN SIX SEATS

(Special to The Times)

Halifax, N.S., June 14.—The result of the elections here today brought many surprises. The Liberals who have been in power for 29 years were again returned, but with a smaller majority. In many of the ridings their candidates narrowly escaped defeat. The Conservatives gained six seats. The result being: Liberals elected 27; Conservatives elected, 11.

SENTIMENT CHANGING.

Immediately preceding the last Provincial election, the Liberal Party had 36 of the 38 members of the Legislature. The Conservatives had only two representatives—two out of 38—in the Legislature, and not one at Ottawa.

In the Parliament that was dissolved, the parties stood in the House of Assembly 32 Liberals, 5 Conservatives and 1 Independent.

JARDINE WILL HANG FRIDAY

Ottawa, June 14.—There is no hope of saving Edward Jardine, the Goderich murderer, from the gallows. It was stated that he was appealing to the king for clemency, but as communication has been received for transmission through the usual channels, and even if there were, it would be referred back here. Jardine is to be executed on Friday.

BURIED HIS MURDERED WIFE IN A GRAVE IN THE WOODS

Farmington, June 14.—With the tears streaming down his bronzed and furrowed cheeks, Michael Taylor, of Freeman, held vigil in the county jail since the finding of his wife's body in a forest grave Sunday near the Taylor home, confessed that he murdered her with a shot gun on the evening of May 12. He will be arraigned on a charge of murder. In the next breath he told the county attorney R. S. Blanchard, and Sheriff W. B Small, that the motive for the crime was his great hate for the woman who for years had been his wife.

His body shaken with sobs as his iron nerve gave way, Taylor told the county officials how he led his wife to the grave that was already prepared for her reception, and, there, just as the sun was sinking behind the great pines to the west, shot her in the back of the head.

He took down the shot gun and called her to follow him. Without a halt the little procession moved to the woods behind the Taylor home, in Freeman; then a shot was fired and Mrs. Taylor fell.

Then, Taylor said, he tumbled the body into the rough grave he had prepared and hurried to pile dirt, boughs and stones over it.

THREE MEN KILLED BY GAS

TWO BROTHERS OVERCOME IN WELL NEAR LONDON LEAVE FAMILIES.

London, June 14.—On Munro's farm, concession six, Westminster, yesterday, Warren and Elias Hicks were suffocated in a well. They came here two months ago from Tillsonburg, and bought the property known as the London View, south of the city. They took a contract to deepen a well for Mr. Munro. The wife of the hired man saw them go to the well, and noticing their absence at dinner investigated. One of the men was seen suspending on a beam. The first body was down a depth of 18 feet, and the other was down 70 feet. There were no bruises on either body and the conclusion was reached that they had been overcome by poisonous gas.

The older brother, Warren, leaves a widow and seven children. The other was a widower and leaves two young children.

Jarvis, June 14.—William Miller, aged 34 years, was asphyxiated in a well on the farm of his father, James Miller, at Varency, about three miles from this place, yesterday. His brother, Edward, 20 years old, who tried to rescue him, was overcome by gas, and was with difficulty saved by the neighbors. William had been making repairs near the top of the well, when he slipped and fell down almost to the bottom.

RECIPROCITY BEFORE UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, June 14.—With the prospect of daily sessions, beginning at noon and continuing as long as the various Senators who wish to be heard have anything to say, the Senate to-day began the long discussion of the Canadian reciprocity bill. Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, took the floor immediately after the Senate assembled and vigorously opposed the measure. Not more than a dozen Republicans were in their seats, while only half as many Democrats were present. The galleries were deserted.

Most of the Senators who have indicated their intention of speaking are opposed to the pact. Comparatively few speeches are expected from Senators favoring the measure. They say they do not want to delay the vote by talking.

TURN DOWN ROOT AMENDMENT.

After a conference with President Taft at the White House to-day, Majority Leader Underwood, of the House declared he thought the Root Amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill would not be adopted by the Senate. "If it should be," he added, "there would be a serious hitch between the House and the Senate as the Democrats in the House are pledged against it."

Senator McCumber of North Dakota opposed the reciprocity treaty in the Senate to-day on the ground that it would injure the American farmer.

"I believe this treaty," said Senator McCumber, "if enacted into law, would not only postpone for many years the consummation of a hope indulged by the farmers of the country, a hope held out to them by every speaker and writer who sought to secure and hold their votes for the protective policy of the country, but that its logical result would be to destroy the policy itself. I must therefore, either repudiate all I have advocated for many years or oppose the consummation of this agreement.

"Even if we admitted," the speaker continued, "that the American market is now no better than the Canadian market, still we must answer that as soon as consummation overtakes production in this country we will reap an advantage, and that advantage is what we have earned and what we have been promised as a compensation for our sacrifices for the general principle of protection during the last forty years."

After stating his fears that the President does not realize the enormous possibilities of the Canadian country and declaring that it is time enough to open Canadian sources when the food supply of the United States is really threatened, Senator McCumber considered the political effect the measure would have. He declared that it was neither Republican or Democratic, but a hybrid measure which inherits none of the good qualities of the others.

THE ARDIEL-GOODING NUPTIALS

A very pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday, June 14th, at Strathcormond, the beautiful residence of Hon. J. R. Stratton, when his niece, Miss Alberta Louise Gooding, daughter of Mr. A. F. Gooding, Kenora, was united in marriage to Mr. L. T. Harris Ardiel, of the Dominion Bank, Toronto, son of Dr. Ardiel, of London, Ontario. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Little, B.A., pastor of the Knox Presbyterian Church, Kenora, assisted by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The large number of guests were received at the drawing room entrance by Mr. and Mrs. Stratton and Mrs. Gooding.

The wedding was celebrated in the yellow drawing room, which was in festal array for the occasion. The bridal pair stood under an arch of spingheri and white peonies, looped with white satin bows and banked at the rear with palms. The other decorations of the room were in white and green—foliage and flowers—very effectively placed.

The bride entered the room escorted by her uncle, Hon. Mr. Stratton—who gave the bride away—to the measures of the wedding march from Lohengrin, performed by Mr. Charles Ackerman, and followed by her bridal cortege. The maid of honour was Miss Ione Heintzman, of Toronto, and the bridesmaids were Miss Florence Stevely, London, Miss Eileen McFaul, Collingwood, and Miss Muriel Rogers, Peterborough. The ribbon bearers were Miss Jessie Matthews and Miss Rosamond Huycke. The groomsman was Mr. Lorne Ardiel, of Windsor, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Keith Leeh, Peterborough, Mr. P. M. Anderson and Mr. Carston McCormack, Toronto. At the conclusion of the ceremony, and while the bridal pair were signing the register, Miss Helen Davies sang "Love's Coronation," and while the newly wed were receiving the congratulations of the assistants, she sang "O Fair, O Sweet, O Holy."

The bride was charming in a gown of ivory satin with garniture of chiffon, bordered with point de Venise lace, studded with seed pearls—the lace being that worn by the bride's mother on the occasion of her own marriage. The long square train was caught from the shoulders with large satin bows. The bridal veil of tulle was arranged, with cap effect, of orange blossoms. The bride wore the groom's gift, a dainty necklet of pearls, and carried a Marie Antoinette shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, also his gift.

The maid of honour, Miss Ione Heintzman, was gowned in white marquisette with deep border of pink roses worn over ivory satin. Her large white hat was of tegal straw with band of pink velvet and pink roses tied with cell blue ribbon with long streamers. The three bridesmaids wore gowns of white marquisette over ivory satin, with geisha sashes and bows of cell blue satin and large white tegal straw hats, trimmed with blue satin and pink roses, and blue satin slippers to match. All carried shower bouquets of pink roses tied with cell blue satin streamers. The flower girls were dressed in white lingerie and lace with blue sashes, Juliet caps of lace with pink rosebuds and blue ribbons, and carried baskets of rose petals to be scattered before the bride.

The maid of honour and the bridesmaids wore the gifts of the bride—gold necklaces, with pendants, and set with baroque pearls and turquoises, and the flower girls were given signet rings. The gift of the groom to the ushers were gold pearl-set tie pins.

Among the numerous guests there were many exquisite toilettes. Mrs. Stratton, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of robin's-egg blue marquisette, with raised white silk embroidery, over white satin, large black lace hat with plumes, and carried a bouquet of Richmond roses, tied with blue ribbon. Mrs. Gooding, mother of the bride, was dressed in Dresden net over pink satin, and wore a black hat with willow plumes. Mrs. Ardiel, the groom's mother, wore a handsome gown of black and white satin foulard, with trimmings of lace, and black and white picture hat, with plumes.

After receiving congratulations the bride and groom led the way to the marquee erected upon the beautiful lawn, where the bride's table was done in white and silver, the decorations being lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bride's cake was surrounded by unique novelty silver slippers, filled with silver confetti, afterwards presented as souvenirs to the bridesmaids and flower girls. The buffet table, from which refreshments were served was decorated with a large centre basket of pink Killarney roses and asparagus fern, tied with blue ribbon, and at either end were placed low baskets of syringa and roses. Suspended over the central basket was a flying Cupid, carrying a wreath of orange blossoms under a canopy formed of festoons of blue baby ribbon, mounted at intervals, with miniature silver wedding bells, and reaching to the several baskets. In addition roses were profusely scattered over the table.

After the toast of the bride had been heartily honoured and she had cut the wedding cake, she slipped away to don her travelling costume of coronation blue rajah silk and Panama hat, trimmed with white satin ribbon.

The wedding presents were numerous and of great variety, and beauty. The out-of-town guests included many from Toronto, Collingwood, Hamilton, Windsor, Kenora, Oklahoma, U. S., and towns in the vicinity of Peterborough.

The bridal party were driven to the C. P. Railway station in Mr. Stratton's four-in-hand Victoria and amid showers of confetti from their numerous escorts, they took train for Toronto, where they will embark on the steamer for a wedding journey down the St. Lawrence. On their return they will take residence in Toronto.

TORONTO POLICE TO PROSECUTE BANDS THAT PLAY SUNDAYS

Toronto, June 14.—It looks to-day as though the sacred band concerts that have been featured Sunday attractions at Hanlan's Point and at Scarboro Beach were about to be suppressed. The Morality Department have issued summons to the 65th Regimental Band of Buffalo, at present holding forth at Scarboro Beach and the organizations of Italian musicians with the boy leader at the Island, to appear in the Police Court to-morrow morning for alleged breaches of the Lord's Day Act.

"We love music, but our duty is clear, as police, to enforce the laws," said Staff Inspector Kennedy this morning.

The complaints seems to arise not so much out of the admitted fact that the musical selections rendered by these bands on Sunday are not exclusively "sacred" themselves, as that the bands themselves are composed of professional American musicians, hired by the local amusement corporations to play in their parks. It is a case of pursuing their usual vocation on the Sabbath day, the same not being works of charity or necessity."

Although Sunday concerts by Toronto regimental bands have been allowed in the parks in the past, and may be allowed to continue, it is claimed that they come within the law, from the fact that their members are not professionals, but are engaged in other branches of work.

There is just a possibility that the pending action against the two American bands at present engaged in the city may be enlarged into a charge of infringing the Alien Labor Law.

NO ONE WINS FLYING RACE, LAST RACER TERRIBLY HURT

Rosciglione, Italy, June 14.—Hart Frey, the only competitor in the Paris-Rome-Turin aviation race to attempt the final leg of the course, lies in the hospital here with his right arm and right leg broken and his lower jaw fractured. In periods of delirium he fights again the battle with the fog that was his undoing yesterday.

Strangely enough he does not appear to have been injured internally and the physicians believe that he will recover, though some six weeks will be required for the mending. The airman's wife came from their home in Florence during the night and is with him to-day.

The time limit for the race will expire to-morrow and yesterday the German aviator decided to take one more chance with the elements, hoping to reach Florence and thence accomplish the perilous flight over the Apennines to Bologna from where it should be comparatively easy going to the goal at Turin.

Starting from Rome he soon ran into a heavy fog and lost his bearings. Approaching Lake Vico his machine was rendered helpless in a fierce rain and hail storm and hurtled to the ground in the mountain forests near here. Hours later the injured man was found in the wreckage of his aeroplane by Red Cross searchers. He had covered about 35 miles when he fell.

CONCERNING ACCENTS.

Lieutenant-Governor Gibson advises Canadians to cultivate a distinctly Canadian accent. The Kingston Standard says that the Canadian accent is unpleasant.

The tendency among Canadians is to flatten the vowels and not give them the full open sound noticeable among English people. This is the case especially in such words as calm balm, father, etc. It would be well if the teachers in our public schools made an effort to correct this pronunciation of the vowel "A."

It is contended by some that there is only one correct accent, and that all variations from it are simply errors. But experience does not bear this out. There is a difference between the pronunciation of the educated Englishman, the educated Irishman and the educated Scotchman. Nicholas Flood Davin, for instance, was an educated Irishman. But he could not speak half a dozen words without revealing the fact that he was Irish. Nobody would have taken Goldwin Smith for a Scotchman, or Principal Grant for an Englishman. It is likely, therefore, that there will be developed ultimately a Canadian accent. But that does not mean that positive inaccuracies are to be tolerated.

Persons who are trying to exchange a Canadian accent for an English accent commonly lay too much stress on the difference between the flat and the broad sound of the letter "A," which they also make too broad. They neglect errors which are more glaring a combination of such a pronunciation as pawse with such pronunciation as bar'l, before, and Toronto, produces an odd bizarre effect like that of a silk hat crowning a suit of Scotch tweed.

The slurring of unaccented syllables and the pitching of the voice somewhat too high are errors which may be corrected without any appearance of affectation or servile imitation. The struggle with the broad "a" may be left to the last. A little difference in this respect is quite consistent with substantial correctness of speech.

WOMEN AS PROFESSORS.

Wellesley College, an institution for the higher education of women in Massachusetts, has been considering the question whether a man or a woman shall preside over it, and has finally chosen Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, its dean and acting president. The other side was presented in this way:

"Buy why not a man? Vassar and Smith and Goucher lead the way. Radcliffe and Barnard are presided over by Dean Briggs and Dean Brewster, but have begged the question, or, rather, compromised, to the extent of appointing to a place of but secondary importance women who shall particularly look after the life of the girls. Bryn Mawr, Wellesley, and Mt. Holyoke are the three that give their chief offices to women. would it not be broader if they followed suit and recognized the advantages of the wider point of view that men are gifted with?"

The appeal for breadth of view would, perhaps, have had greater force if it were customary to give women a fair share of the appointments in colleges for men, or for men and women together. Pure this is notoriously not the case. In recent years it has been conceded, in Canada as well as in the United States, that girls and women shall have equal educational advantages with men. But in the case of women, education is its own reward; and the posts of honor and emolument, few enough as they are in education, have been almost monopolized by men. It is not unnatural, therefore, that in a college intended for the education of women alone there should be a disposition to favor women as teachers. Of course the ambition of teachers must be subordinated to the interests of students and of education. But to say that this consideration necessitates the great inequality which now exists is to beg the question at issue. There has been no fair test of the relative capacity of men and women as teachers: and this is especially true of higher education. There should be a disposition at least to make a fair test, and to seek the truth in the fearless spirit that ought to characterize scholarship. In this country we are probably less advanced and liberal in this respect than our neighbors.

MURDER TRIAL WITNESS CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Cobourg, June 13.—Henry Hicks of Colborne, who was the chief witness for the defence in the trial of Henry Matthews, who was acquitted of the murder of Jessie Brimacombe, the deaf mute, at the Bristol Hotel, was lodged in jail here last night to answer the charge of perjury. Hicks is alleged to have sworn falsely at the trial. He is an auctioneer and widely known throughout the district around Colborne.

The arrest of Hicks explains the activity of Provincial Inspector John Miller, of Toronto, in Colborne and this section since the trial. From time to time he has been at Colborne obtaining evidence to base a charge of perjury.

PICKLE FOR OTTAWA.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tons of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

THE RUBY RING

By Dora Martin

The jeweller's shop was almost full of customers when Celia McCarthey entered it. She looked quickly round, and saw that she would have to wait some time before she could be attended to; but she did not mind that much, for there was always plenty to look at and admire there. She sat down on a vacant chair to wait her turn, when suddenly her attention was riveted by the sound of a voice at her elbow. She turned slightly and saw a tall man leaning over the counter. His face she could not see—a group of bronze statuary was between them—but his voice she recognized in a moment.

"It's Harold Sawtell," she thought; "and it is quite evident he has not seen me, or he would not be standing there so indifferently." And she felt a flutter of excitement and wondered how long it would be before he discovered her presence.

Then Harold spoke again to the shop assistant.

"No, this won't do at all," he said. "It's too heavy and old-looking a ring for a girl."

"That's no good; she chose rubies."

The man hurried away, and Harold Sawtell sat down and hummed a tune impatiently. He never turned and saw the girl who was sitting close behind him in a minute the man returned.

"I think any of these three would suit you," he said, laying them on the counter before Harold.

"Yes, any of these would do exactly. How about the price? Oh, yes, that's all right. I'll take—let me see—yes, that one. You've measured it by the other one, have you?"

At this moment another assistant stepped up to the waiting lady, and asked her to come to a farther counter. She followed him silently, and Harold had no suspicion that a lady friend of his had listened to all his shopping.

Celia did her business mechanically; her thoughts were more with that ruby ring of some other girl's than with the repairs of her own gold watch.

"Harold told me only yesterday that he was the last of his name, so he can't have any sisters. Besides, his uncle adopted him when he was quite little. Oh, I wish I had not been so friendly! He must be engaged to some girl. I hate men who get engaged and say nothing about it. Never mind, next time he meets me he will not find me too gushing, and as I'm sure he never saw me this morning, he'll never guess why."

These and a hundred similar thoughts flashed through her mind, and she soon had a chance of putting her intentions into practice, for, half an hour after she left the shop, she met Harold face to face.

He stopped at once for a chat.

"I'm in luck this morning, Miss McCarthey," he began; but she interrupted him coldly.

"I am sorry I cannot stay, Mr. Sawtell; I have an engagement directly. Good-morning!"—and sailed past.

He stood crestfallen, looking after her.

"I wonder what on earth is up!" he thought. "I've never seen Celia bad-tempered before. But she looks charming, anyhow!" And he went on his way, determined to ignore the matter next time they met, and be just as friendly as ever.

But it is impossible to be friendly when you are met by blank unfriendliness in return. So after a few weeks, during which Harold vainly tried to find out his offence, the two former friends hardly met.

It was two months later. Celia had been visiting various friends, and now she had joined her aunt and cousins, and gone with them for a few weeks' change to the seaside. In all those eight weeks she had never returned home or seen anything of Harold.

The summer season was quite over, and the hotel where Celia and her friends had gone was nearly empty. Celia was glad of it; she had taken a strange aversion to strangers lately, and it was all her cousins could do to prevent her turning hermit. But Constance and Percy Helme were of a sociable nature, and they soon knew all there was to be known about their new hotel acquaintances. On the whole, they voted them slow and uninteresting; but there was one exception, a pretty girl called Vera Duthie, and they both agreed in calling her charming.

Miss Duthie was staying with an elderly aunt, and she was only too glad to go about with her new friends, so the four young people saw a great deal of each other. Celia and Constance soon found out that instead of adding to their number by making this new friend, they had diminished it; for Percy and Vera had so remarkable a number of topics in common, that the two other girls often left them to finish their interminable discussions, and walked on alone. The sight of the happiness of the two of them often caused Celia a pang of envy, though she never grudged them a moment's pleasure. Another thing about Vera reminded Celia of her troubles—she always wore a very handsome ruby ring.

"You're looking at my ring, Miss McCarthey," she said one day. "Would you like to try it on? Isn't it pretty? My eldest brother gave it to me."

Celia duly admired it, and handed it back again.

"I did not know you had a brother," she said.

"A brother! Why, I have three! The youngest is only ten; he's such a little rogue. The eldest is much older than I am; he's perhaps coming over for the week-end."

Then Percy came up and suggested a stroll on the front, so their talk ended.

It was on Friday that the Helmes and Celia went off for a long day's motoring. Vera and her aunt could not join them, as they were expecting friends. The drive was not a great success. Percy was depressed, and the strong air made Celia's head ache, and none of them were sorry when they reached the hotel once more.

Vera was sitting under the verandah, with a tall young man by her side. She ran down the path to meet them.

"I hope you've had a nice time," she cried. "But you do look tired, every one of you! But do just come and be introduced to my brother before you go indoors!"

But at that moment she was interrupted by the sound of her brother's voice.

"Vera never told me you were here, Miss McCarthey," he said, as he shook hands with Celia.

"I said Miss Helme's cousin was here, Harold," said Vera. "Didn't I mention her name? And you never told me you knew Harold," she added, turning to Celia.

"I don't understand," she said. "This is Mr. Sawtell, and I naturally supposed your brother to be called Duthie."

"Of course you would, Miss McCarthey," said Harold quickly. "And I don't suppose you knew that I had a sister; but I have, you see, and a whole lot of young step-sisters and brothers. But I was adopted, when my mother married again, by my uncle, and my mother and step-father went straight abroad. So I have never seen any of them since till about three months ago, when Vera came over with her aunt."

"I think having a different name makes it sound all the more romantic," said Vera wisely. And Celia agreed.

She got to her room somehow, and refused to come to dinner, pleading her headache as an excuse. She did not often felt miserable during those three months, but never had she suffered as at this present moment. How she repented her unjust suspicions of Harold! Why had she let her pride spoil her life.

When Harold Sawtell entered, half an hour later, and found her sitting there, he was startled by the change he saw in the girl he had once hoped to make his wife. She had grown painfully thin during the last two months, and what little color she now had left had been dispelled by her headache and her recent emotion. He crossed over the room to ask anxiously about her health, then, suddenly remembering his probable reception, he turned to one side and sat down by her cousin.

Celia saw the action, and guessed the very thoughts in his mind, and she longed to tell him everything, but her pride forbade. There was always the hideous possibility that Harold's feelings might have altered; in that case, to be pitied would be too dreadful for words. Somehow that awful evening dragged itself to an end.

The whole party were tired, and ready to retire early. Good-nights were said in the hall, and the five ladies stepped into the elevator to be carried up to their rooms.

"Do go straight to bed, Percy!" called his anxious mother, as the man closed the door. "You know you always sit up smoking half the night if you once start."

"I'm going straight away, mother," he replied—"at least, as soon as you'll let us have the elevator down again. I'm too tired to climb up all those steps!"

"I'll see he comes, Mrs. Helme," said Harold Sawtell, laughing.

The ladies stood talking for a minute on the corridor upstairs, and the elevator went down again.

Suddenly they were startled by a tremendous thud and a shriek from below. A woman's voice screamed "The elevator! The elevator has fallen!"

They looked at each other in horror for a minute; then Mrs. Helme cried out:

"And Percy is in it!"

They rushed wildly for the stairs, but Celia outstripped the others. Her feet hardly seemed to touch the ground; it seemed but a moment, and she had passed down the long flight of stairs and reached the ground floor.

"I'm quite safe, Celia, dear," he said. "No one is hurt except the man, and he is only shaken. He was alone in the elevator when he lost control of it, and luckily it was near the ground."

She burst into a flood of hysterical tears, and he led her out through the open door into the darkness of the night without.

"Celia," he said, when she had somewhat recovered her self-control, "you have almost made me hope again."

"Hope what?" she asked.

"Hope that some day you will be friends again. No, not friends," he added; "I shall never be content with mere friendship."

"Did you mind my being unfriendly, Harold?" she asked.

"Mind? Does a man generally mind when the only woman he has ever loved suddenly ignores and snubs him? No one can ever guess the misery I have suffered these last three months."

"Oh, Harold, I am so sorry. It was my fault, my miserable mistake. I will tell you all about it."

But Celia Sawtell never told any of her friends why she chose a ruby engagement-ring.

AN AMAZING APPARITION

In connection with one of the parties given by the widowed Countess of Ancaster a strange story is told. It was in 1893, and one of the guests, a lady who had just arrived, said, "I've just seen Sir George Tryon on the stairs. He looked very strange and white, and did not speak." But Sir George Tryon was then in the Mediterranean engaged in manoeuvres, and the lady was so informed. She persisted, however, that it was Sir George whom she saw, for she knew him extremely well. The next day came the terrible news of the Victoria and Camperdown, and the Admiral's tragic fate.

[illegible]'S TOUR

Mr. R. L. Borden will leave for the West in July to make a political tour over the ground which the Prime Minister traversed last year. It is understood that the speakers whom Mr. Borden will take to help him set the prairies on fire will be Judge Doherty, Chief Whip George Perley, and Mr. R. B. Ames.

WHEN A HORSE ROLLS

Mr. E. T. Daubeny, writing on this subject in "The Selborne Magazine," says: "Horses are fond of rolling on the ground, and no animal more thoroughly shakes itself than they do. After a roll they give themselves a shake or two to remove anything adhering to the coat. The habit is of much service to horses living in open plains. On being turned loose, at the end of a journey, an Arab horse rolls in the sand, which acts as blotting-paper, absorbing exudations from the body. A shake removes the sand, the coat soon dries. Cavalrymen in hot climates sometimes put sand on their horses as the simplest and quickest way of drying them."

Flour absorbs all odors, so should be carefully covered.

Low Rooms will look higher if the curtains hang straight down without being tied up.

Screws should be dipped in oil before use. They will slip into the wood far more easily thus treated.

Mouse Traps should be thoroughly scalded and aired after two or three captures, or they will be practically useless.

Soak Linen in warm water the night previous to washing, for it facilitates the operation and less rubbing is needed.

When Cooking Onions set a tin cup of vinegar on the stove, and let it boil, and there will be no disagreeable odor from the vegetable.

Glass Tumblers should be first rinsed in cold water and then washed. If put straight into hot water the glass may be permanently clouded.

To Freshen a Carpet, especially during house cleaning, try this method: Put a tablespoonful of ammonia into half a pail of warm water, and wipe the carpet over with a cloth wrung out of this.

Moth in Carpet. If you can locate the affected parts, dip a cloth in very hot water with a little ammonia in it. Spread it over the carpet, and then go over it with a hot iron. The steam will kill the pest.

To Clean Linoleum. Nothing gives even it better than regular cleaning with benzene and turpentine, but if this process makes it dangerously slippery, try wiping it over once a week with skim milk, and then drying with clean cloths.

ONLY WOMAN FREEMASON

Authentic Facts as Given in Masonic Historical Directory

There have been many reports current of the initiation of the only woman Freemason, and the authentic facts appeared in an account given by Brother Condielock, editor of the Scottish Masonic Historical Directory, who made a most careful investigation. The only woman admitted into the fraternity was the Hon. Miss Elizabeth St. Leger, daughter of Lord Donerailo, and afterward the wife of Richard Aldworth. She was initiated under Warrant 44 of the Lodge Donerailo, Ireland (now dormant), in 1725.

The Hon. Miss Elizabeth St. Leger had been reading in the library of their house near Donerailo and fell asleep. When she awoke she heard conversation in the next room, and as the house was undergoing repairs she found that by removing a brick from the wall she could see what was happening in the room. It was a meeting of the Masonic lodge. Prompted by curiosity, she removed several bricks from the wall and was thus enabled to witness the whole proceedings without hindrance. When the meeting was over she attempted to escape, but the tyler on guard arrested her. Her father, Lord Donerailo and the brothers of the lodge were immediately summoned by the tyler. On hearing the circumstances of the case the brethren demanded the young lady's life. Others were more lenient. The members of the lodge reassembled and the option was given of submitting to the Masonic ordeal or death. Being asked to decide, acting on her father's advice, she gladly and unhesitatingly accepted the offer, and was then duly initiated and became a Freemason.

The story of a woman hidden in a shock and all its romantic details thus vanishes and the true history is told.

SILK AND LACE

Lace will be extensively used this season, and some stunning gowns made for spring weddings use lace profusely. One that impressed the writer most forcibly had a skirt foundation of old gold satin, over which was a skirt of ecru Russian lace. Shirring lace was used for a V front and back of bodice and for sleeves, which were made over soft tulle net. The bodice in surplice effect and the tunic, which opens on left side, as sketch, were made from dark blue satin, corded infinite, and the buttons are

CROSSED THE BOUNDARY

In 1910 the number of persons who crossed the international boundary lines to the United States was 94,856, sub-divided as follows: United States citizens, 51,561; Canadian citizens, 40,370; other lands, 27,295. The annual report of the Commissioner's report showed that 114,977 persons left the United States to come to Canada. Of the number 71,297 were American citizens, 24,680 were Canadian citizens who had resided there, and 19,000 were other nationalities.

OLD ENGLISH GENTLEMAN

Sir Oswald Mosley is a Type of Old Times

A living copy of the familiar figure created by artists to represent John Bull is Sir Oswald Mosley, who is endeavoring to popularize wholesome bread. And not only has Sir Oswald earned for himself the title of John Bull by reason of his appearance, but also on account of his characteristics. He is a country gentleman of the old school, a keen agriculturist, a great breeder of short-horns, an extensive gardener, and possesses a fine museum of British birds. But he takes to modern pleasures gaily, judging by the fact that he is as keen a motorist as he is a lover of horseflesh. He owns a number of cars and is a prominent member of the Automobile Club. It is because he considers that present-day indigestion and decay of teeth is due to fancy white bread that Sir Oswald is encouraging the villagers of Rolleston, Staffs, of which place he is squire, to use wholemeal bread.

Making Members Attend.

From the Kingston Standard.

A correspondent writing in The Toronto Star opposes the idea of introducing the closure in Parliament as seems threatened by the Liberals at the next session. He advises that instead of the closure there should be a rule passed insisting that members shall stay at Ottawa and hear the debates! Of course the suggestion is a joke; but there is some wisdom in it just the same. Undoubtedly if the members were forced to listen to all the debates they would soon cry down the long winded speakers who were taking up needless time.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 32 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

SOIL FERTILITY

Some experiments have been made by Drs. Russell and Hutchinson, at Rothamsted Station, in England, which are of more than ordinary interest to agriculturists, and which may prove to be of great value in future farming. The experimenters found that when soils are sterilized by heat, or by an antiseptic, such as toulene, there is a large increase in productiveness. Soon after the treatment it is found that plant food is being formed by bacteria at an increased rate, and the bacteria themselves increase with unusual rapidity. This improvement, however, is not owing to greater vigor of the bacteria, as that is really lessened by the treatment, but it seems to result from the destruction of organisms which check bacterial growth. If this theory be found to be correct and the injurious organisms can be destroyed or effectively kept in check, then the fertility of the soil can be increased to a degree which is now impossible of attainment. Further developments in this direction will be eagerly awaited by the agriculturists of both continents. The day of unintelligent farming has passed away, and now agricultural problems are receiving the attention of some of the brightest minds which the country can produce. This is surely as it ought to be, and it will help to introduce an era of more profitable and more intelligent farming. In our Canadian agricultural sections the value of thoroughly scientific farming is being understood as never before, and the improvement is due mainly to our excellent agricultural schools and our up-to-date farming journals.—Christian Guardian.

G.N.R. IN CANADA

J. J. Hill, the United States railway magnate, who controls the Great Northern System, proposes a further extension of his lines into Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta. Mr. Hill, who was associated with some of Canada's railway kings in the early days, has immense faith in Canada's future, and desires to link his system in the States with all the main Canadian lines.

IT WAS WORTH IT

A street singer was singing in front of a Sixth Avenue department store when the manager came out and asked how much he made. "About ten cents a block," replied the singer. "Well," said the manager, "here's a dollar; move up ten blocks."

PRESENCE OF MIND AVERTS A TRAGEDY

Little Girl Was Playing With Nitro-Glycerine, Which She Thought Was Water

A Pittsburg dispatch is as follows: Tripping along gayly with four quarts of nitro-glycerine, which she thought was water, eleven-year-old Mildred Anderson narrowly escaped death along with her father and six oil well shooters, at the Cameron farm, in Washington county. Only the presence of mind of John Anderson, the girl's father, averted a tragedy.

Oil well shooters had gone to the Cameron farm to shoot a test well. Finding their explosive had been affected by the cold weather they placed it in two cans of hot water to thaw it. Little Mildred, who thought the cans contained only water, seized them in a spirit of playfulness and began to run about with them.

Circling away from the house, the child was unnoticed for a few minutes. Then she turned her course toward the group of men, who, with blanched faces and wildly beating hearts, realized suddenly that Mildred was carrying nitro-glycerine—enough to blow them all to atoms.

It was fortunate for the well shooters that they were too startled to make an outcry. As it was, Mildred heared them before they could utter a sound, then Anderson came to the rescue.

"Hello, Mildred, be careful of the water, dear. Come slowly and show daddy how to put down cans without spilling any," he called with a smile and in kindly, even tones.

"Oh, I won't spill any, daddy," the child replied in merry accents. "See how careful I am."

"See, I didn't spill one little, teeny drp," cried the child, clapping her hands, while the oil shooters and her father began at lastt o breathe more freely.

So completely unnerved were the oil men that they refused to shoot the test well that afternoon. They said they were afraid they would bungle the job and not escape as fortunately as they had in the morning.

CONVICTS MAKE FURNITURE

Central Prison Inmates Will Thus be Kept From Idleness

Now that all the prison labor contracts have expired the Ontario Government is confronted with the problem of keeping the prisoners at the Central Prison employed, and in order to do away with idleness and the evils which naturally follow when several hundred men are kept in prison doing nothing, all those prisoners who have to remain at the Central Prison have been put to work making furniture, several excellent samples of which have been sent to the Parliament Buildings for inspection.

At the new Central Prison at Guelph several hundred men are employed in building operations, but those who have to remain in Toronto, until the completion of the new buildings, will make furniture. The samples which have been sent to the buildings for inspection compare very favorably with any furniture which could be purchased in any store. The prisoners will make desks, chairs, tables, filing cabinets and other furniture, which will be placed in the various public institutions in the province, as well as the new Central Prison at Guelph.

Maybe those who are calling for economic management in the kitchen do not know that already the freshest cooking allows one to visit with the neighbors and still have a warm supper for dad.

CANADIAN CURRENCY

Prof. Shortt Gives a History of Our Coinage

In a lecture on "The History of Canadian Metallic Currency," Professor Adam Shortt said that copper coinage was very meagre in Canada in 1825, and even brass buttons were recognized as tender. In fact so many scraps of value were used as coppers that it became an intolerable nuisance, and in 1830 a number of Canadian banks issued copper bank tokens. About this time $10,000 of American five and ten-cent pieces were brought into Canada, and this no doubt helped to popularize the American specie.

In 1836 and 1837 the United States introduced the gold dollar, and issued shin-plasters at 25, 20 and 10 cents, and even as low as 2 cents.

In Lower Canada at this time French money was most commonly used, while in Upper Canada English currency predominated. No Canadian silver money had been issued, and money from all parts of the world was freely circulated throughout the Dominion, so that now Canada is recognized as the richest collection ground in the world for old coins. This mixture of the money of so many different countries became objectionable, and an agitation was started for the use of one kind. At last, through the efforts of Sir Francis Hincks, one of the leading Canadian statesmen of the day, the British Government became convinced that the decimal system would be suitable for Canada. January 4, 1858, marks the day when Canada received her first consignment of decimal coinage from the British mint. It consisted of $100,000 in twenty-cent pieces, $75,000 in ten-cent pieces, and $50,000 in one-cent pieces. Some surprise was expressed that no twenty-five-cent coin was issued, but the British shilling was intended to take its place, and this required the shilling to be somewhat overrated. The coining of the Canadian coins became very profitable to the British mint, and Canada was given a share in the profits. At last, however, the Canadian Government came to the conclusion that it would pay Canada to have a mint of her own, and a mint at Ottawa was established. It was owing to the great profits in making her own silver money that Canada went to such an expense to rid the country of American silver in 1870.

SIMPLER SPELLING

Professor Hume Says That Modifications are Necessary

Dr. J. G. Hume, Toronto University, who is president of the Society for the Improvement of Spelling, says the increase of volapuk and esperanto prove the need of a universal mode of communication. "Is it practicable to make English such universal medium?" he asks. "In its favor there is the enormous advantage of the world-wide commerce of two of the greatest trading nations of the world. In the second place English has the simplest grammar of any important language. Thirdly, it is the treasure house of the largest and finest literature in the world and it has extraordinary power of assimilating from other languages. On the other hand, its very richness making it capable of expressing the same thought in so many ways, it makes it difficult for foreigners to understand the spoken language. And its inconsistent and irrational spelling makes it so difficult for foreigners to write and read, that it has been declared the hardest language to learn. The regularity of German and Spanish spelling makes these languages most formidable rivals of English as languages of commerce. It is in order to ameliorate the latter difficulty that the simplified spelling societies have been organised.

"The measures they propose are moderate and must commend themselves to every one who can divest himself of prejudice long enough to consider them, beginning with the elimination of irregularities that cannot be defended on any ground.

"In the interests of the children, it is not impracticable to begin reading in a reasonably phonetic representation of words and subsequently making a transition to the conventional literature. The gain to literature and civilization and the best that the Anglo-Saxon stands for, makes the simplification of English spelling a matter of incalculable importance."

A GOOD WINTER SEASON

Customs Revenue at St. John Port Shows Increase

In spite of adverse trade conditions, the winter port season at St. John, which has just closed with the filing of the manifest of the last steamer, shows an increase in the Customs House of exports over last winter amounting to $732,769. During the winter 135 steamers arrived with cargoes, and of these 113 were given return loads. The Customs House export figures show Canadian goods, $15,232,437; American goods, $6,246,636; total, $23,669,873. In addition to this there were express shipments of Cobalt ore and Hudson Bay furs amounting to $1,000,000. During the season two new services to Australia and Hamburg were inaugurated.

A New Jersey woman was sent to jail for thirty days for smoking a cigarette on the streets. Had women the ballot in that State, it might have been different.

INVALUABLE TO EVERY FARMER

Its Wonderful Power in Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth Its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that doesn't know of the thousand and one uses of "Nerviline" around the stable has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of locking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of 'Nerviline' on hand. I always bet a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth in the same class as 'Nerviline.' Last summer I had a $250 horse that got the scours, and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a full bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nerviline. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast, internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got Free Home Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $30 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Can't Beat Nature

Her way is slow, but sure!

"Bad food does not kill the next day—it does not work that way. It does not even cause positive and violent illness at once. It does systematically rob your bony and your brain of a little vitality today and a little tomorrow."
—Pearson's Magazine

Grape-Nuts

—the "perfectly balanced" food, made of wheat and barley, may not show full results in a day—Nature does not work that way.

But it contains the vital food elements that steadily and surely build body and brain—a little day by day—

NATURE HINTS
When the Food Is Not Suited.

"Ever since boyhood I have been especially fond of meats, and I am convinced I ate too rapidly, and failed to masticate my food properly.

"The result was that I found myself, a few years ago, afflicted with ailments of the stomach and kidneys, which interfered seriously with my business.

"At last I took the advice of friends and began to eat Grape-Nuts instead of the heavy meats, etc., that had constituted my former diet.

"I found that I was at once benefited by the change, that I was soon relieved from the heartburn and indigestion that used to follow my meals, that the pains in my back from my kidney affection had ceased.

"My nerves, which used to be unsteady, and my brain, which was slow and lethargic from a heavy diet of meats and greasy foods, had, not in a moment, but gradually, and none the less surely, been restored to normal efficiency.

"Now every nerve is steady and my brain and thinking faculties are quicker and more acute than for years past.

"After my old style breakfasts I used to suffer during the forenoon from a feeling of weakness, which hindered me seriously in my work, but since I began to use Grape-Nuts food I can work till dinner time with all ease and comfort." Name given by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Windsor, Ontario.

MR. HUGH DARK MEETS WITH FATAL ACCIDENT

A sad accident occurred [illegible] 10 and 11 o'clock last night [illegible] the C.G. E., when Mr. Hugh D[illegible] Towne-end street, [illegible] in a large drive belt [illegible] was so [illegible] injured that [illegible] on the way to the hospital.

The unfortunate man in some manner got caught by the heavy belt and whirled around until his head came in contact with the pulley and was badly crushed. His fellow-workmen ran instantly to his assistance, and the large belt was thrown off and the injured man released. Dr. Frederick was at once sent for and the Dan Spence ambulance. The injured man was carried into the ambulance and taken to the hospital as fast as the horses could be driven, but his injuries were of such a serious nature that he expired before reaching the hospital.

Mr. Dark was about 54 years of age and had lived in Peterborough for many years. He leaves a wife and grown up family.

OLD MICHAEL FRAZER AN IMBECILE COMMITTEE TO MANAGE ESTATE

Toronto, June 15.—Judgment was handed down by the Divisional Court this morning in the celebrated case of Michael Frazer of the Midland octogenarian bridegroom. The court holds that the old man is practically a lunatic, and while it does not set aside his marriage to Margaret Robertson, it stipulates that he is incapable of handling his own affairs, and appoints two committees, one the Toronto General Trust Company, to administer his estate, the other, his wife, to look after his person until further order."

The action was brought to have determined whether the old man was of unsound mind. Mr. Justice Britton held it was, and the appeal to the Divisional Court was from that decision.

The marriage to Margaret Robertson took place on Jan. 13, 1910, and shortly afterwards he transferred to her all his moneys, securities, etc., valued at about $40,000 except another $40,000 or so which came to him under the will of his brother John.

In his judgment Chief Justice Mulock defends the Court's action in paying a visit to the Fraser home, to which exception was taken by the lawyers.

Mr. Justice Teetzel summed up the finding of the Divisional Court on the Michael Fraser case in his judgment as follows:

"I find that the proper conclusion upon all the evidence is that Michael Fraser at the beginning of the proceedings herein at the present time, although not a lunatic in the popular acceptation of that term, was and is a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself or his affairs, within the meaning of the Lunacy Act, and that the Toronto General Trust Company should be appointed committee of the estate, and that Margaret Fraser should, until further order, be appointed committee of his person.

"His child-like submissiveness under the extraordinary circumstances of his alleged marriage, when he further expressed surprise at the unexpected and violent methods of his invaders, or a word of condemnation against those who are alleged to have kept him from pursuing his fiancee, the improvident disposition of substantially all the property under his control to his alleged wife, the absolute obliviousness of his mind to every business transaction he has had since the death of his brother John, his complete lack of knowledge or appreciation of the property he had at that time or since, and of the fact that he had divested himself of his property, demonstrate to my satisfaction that he is no more fit to manage his own affairs or to act as executor of a large estate than would be a child of tender years.

"As the consequitant result of old age, accelerated probably by his habits of life or diet, his mind and memory have become so impaired that, in my opinion, this court would be recreant to its duty if it did not appoint a committee to protect him and his estate, not only against his own acts, but against the efforts of dishonest persons, in which hands he would be an unresisting victim. The costs should be disposed of as indicated by my brother Middleton."

VESSELS SWAMPED; FORTY MEN LOST IN HURRICANE

Trieste, Austria, June 15.—A storm of hurricane force [illegible] during the night caused [illegible] deaths and much damage [illegible] shipping. Early to-day the bodies of twenty victims had been recovered at this point alone.

It is feared that fishing smacks with crews totalling forty men, which were at sea last night were lost. The [illegible] in the roads were severely damaged. A Greek vessel, with its crew of twelve foundered. Minor damages to [illegible] are reported from other points [illegible] the Adriatic Sea.

SPORTS

Coldsprings Again Defeated.

On the Park street football grounds last night the Coldsprings eleven met defeat at the hands of the Park Sts. aggregation, by the lob-sided score of 4—1, the half-time score being 2—0 in favor of the south enders. Mr. Paget refereed very satisfactorily.

A picked team from the Church Football League, will play the champion C.G.E. eleven, on the exhibition grounds next Saturday evening, and the proceeds will be handed over to "Bob" Irwin, who early in the season, while playing for the St. James team, was [illegible] injured so severely that he has been unable to do anything since.

Such an exhibition should be a big drawing card, and the All Stars will no doubt make the Electric Boys go the limit.

Mr. Harris Referee St. James' Match.

At a meeting of the Church Football League in the Y.M.C.A. parlors last evening, the referees for Saturday's football matches were chosen.

The first game which will take place on the Hunter-Linton Carpet Co's Meadows, between All Saints and St. John's will be refereed by Mr. Paget.

Mr. Harris was chosen as referee for the Holy Trinity-St. James game, and should he be unable to attend another referee will be agreed upon by the two teams.

Two Ball Pitchers.

On Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park there promises to be one of the most interesting games of the season, when the Port Hope Crab Catchers cross bats against the undefeated Petes in the Midland League fixture.

Each team has unearthed a new kid pitcher, who will make the game extremely interesting. Young Piper will pitch for the Lake Shore nine, while Stan Crossen, the south-paw wonder, will do the twirling for the local team.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see the Board of Health has said that no more ice is to be taken from the Little Lake. Surely the members of the Board have not fully considered what this will mean to the people. If ice is to be brought from a distance, it will naturally cost more, and in many cases at least, put it beyond the reach of the working people. Where will the supply be procured? Not in the river below the locks, for there is no ice to be had there. Not in the stream above, for the supply would be too meagre and uncertain. The only other place where a reasonably pure supply could be obtained would be at Chemong Lake. To haul it to town would mean a very large expenditure.

I think, instead of taking this course, the Board should endeavor to protect the water of the Little Lake from contamination, and thus we would have ice at least pure enough for cooking purposes.

MRS. JARDINE'S LAST VISIT TO HER CONDEMNED SON

Goderich, June 15.—At an early hour to-morrow morning Ed. Jardine will be led to the scaffold to pay the penalty of the law for the murder of Lizzie Anderson last September.

His last good-bye was said to his mother and brothers yesterday, the mother taking it [illegible] as a matter of course. She took him by the hand and said "Good-bye Ed." No emotion was visible, and no tears were shed by either.

SCAFFOLD IS READY.

The scaffold was erected some days ago. It is of the usual kind, 12 feet square, enclosed below to shut out a view. There is a railing round the platform above.

No members of the press will be admitted, but an official report of the hanging will be handed out.

Sheriff Reynolds has been very highly commended for taking this position, and is daily receiving many letters of congratulations, even from members of the press, at his refusal to have the gruesome details of the hanging made public.

Jardine is now pleading that he is innocent and trying to implicate Anderson, the father of the murdered girl, and a chum.

TRIAL JUDGE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE RECOMMENDED COMMUTATION OF DEATH SENTENCE

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special)—It is understood that the trial judge of Mrs. Neapolitano, under sentence of death at the Soo, has recommended commutation, but the matter being confidential, it could not be confirmed to-day.

MINISTER SHOWS SYMPATHY.

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., June 15.—A letter has been received here from the Hon. Sir. Allen Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, in regard to the case of Mrs. Angelina Neapolitano, under sentence of death for killing her husband. The letter is sympathetic, it intimates however, that it will be impossible for the woman to know the result of the petitions on her behalf before the 22nd inst. takes place.

The date of the execution is set for early in August.

A very determined effort is being made to secure a commutation of the death sentence. American papers, mostly of the lurid kind, have been trying to work up sympathy for the woman. Various charitable and women's organizations in Canada are also actively [illegible] sentimental reasons.

All of the petitioners lay stress upon the condemned woman's condition as warranting an immediate intervention on the part of the authorities.

The petitions draw a pathetic picture of a mother being torn from her newly-born babe and led to the gallows. They dwell upon the fact that yet unsue to the luckless child coming into the world under such sombre surroundings. Pre-natal influence is called into question and urged as an additional reason why the Royal prerogative should be exercised.

Curiously enough, the citizens of Sault Ste Marie were among the last to make [illegible] themselves in securing a commutation of sentence for the prisoner. For over a week a petition remained in the post-office at that place, and the only signatures it received were those of members of the legal profession, whose attention had been especially called to it. Now however, the office of the woman's counsel, Mr. Uriah Paddon, is being overrun with petitions.

OIL BARREL EMBLEM OF POWER

Washington, June 15.—Making a direct demand for the criminal prosecution of John D. Rockefeller, Senator Pomerene (Democrat, Ohio) delivered a powerful arraignment of Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust magnates in the Senate this afternoon, saying of Rockefeller:

"His pathway is marked by a greater number of victims than those business careers has been blighted by his unlawful methods than of any other man in the industrial history of this court and yet he [illegible] goes unwhipped of justice.

"Speaking for myself," he continued, "I think it high time that the American people should understand whether the Stars and Stripes are to be the emblems of their power and authority, or the emblems of oil barrel and tobacco tag."

NEGRO BLOOD FAILS TO DAMPEN ARDOR

St. Louis, June 15.—Cora Cl[illegible]more Collins, the beautiful young Ellendale wife who is said to have negro blood, still loves her white husband in spite of his renunciation of her in a suit brought by his father to annul their marriage. She is convinced he still loves her, and John B. Collins, the husband, admits it.

Mrs. Collins declared yesterday that her husband visited her the night his father first approached him of the rumor that the Clamorgans were of negro blood, and she further asserts he remained at her home throughout the night. He again swore his love for her declares, and admonished her to ignore the suit. He pledged that his affections never could cool, and when he attained his majority he would make her his wife again should the present union be annulled.

"I have never denied that I love my wife despite the disclosure that she has negro blood," said Collins. "I do not deny it now. I cannot make a statement as to my intention toward a reconciliation until I am twenty-one and my father demanded the separation. I have quit my position, and I have heard the neighbors blame me for leaving my wife. That is right."

"The night before John left me," said Mrs. Collins, "his father came to our home and played for several hours on the porch with the baby. I recall a remark: 'I'm just waiting for the time to come when this little lady will pull my coat tails and call me grandpa.'" Then he kissed our child, pressed a ten dollar bill in its hand and departed.

"My husband went to his father's home to thank him for the gift to the child. When he returned I knew something was wrong. He didn't say a word until he had kissed me and the baby. Then he told me what his father had learned, and of his family's decision that we must separate. Next morning he kissed me good-bye and repeated his promise of fidelity. I believe in his promise, and will carry it in my heart always."

Will be Given a Great Welcome Along the Line of Route—Many Cities Plan Municipal Welcome.

Ottawa, June 15.—Mr. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, left to-night for the West to [illegible] which promises to be a particularly strenuous and interesting campaign. He will be accompanied by Ottawa by George H. Perley, M.P., Chief Whip; Andrew Broder, M.P., and will be joined at Sudbury by T. W. Crothers, M.P., and C. Clarke, M.P.P.

FORTY-FIVE MEETINGS.

He will have forty-five meetings in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This will necessitate speaking three times a day on many occasions, and it is doubtful if any political leader ever entered upon a campaign so exacting in its character.

In Winnipeg, Mr. Borden will be the guest of Hon. R. Rogers. He is to be banqueted there on Saturday night, and on Monday will hold the first meeting of the campaign. Arrangements have been made for excursions to the principal points, where Mr. Borden will speak and the meetings promise to be of mammoth proportions.

A special train will be made up in Winnipeg for the tour.

BATTERY OF WRITERS.

A corps of newspaper correspondents are going along with the leader. He is in fine condition physically and is looking forward to the trip with much interest. The most optimistic accounts come from the west concerning Mr. Borden's reception. People of all shades of politics are planning to hear him and several cities will extend him a municipal welcome. For many weeks reports have been coming from the west that the reciprocity sentiment previously manufactured, is waning, and after the Conservative leader's tour along with the subsidiary meetings which are to be held incidental to it, it is believed the Western country will be won over to the patriotic policy advocated by Mr. Borden.

HOLD-UP MEN ARRIVE IN AN AUTO; ROB THE HOTEL

New York, June 15.—An automobile containing eight men pulled up in front of the Hotel Rossmore, 35th Street, near Broadway, this morning, and the men all lined up before Charles Simmons, the night clerk. Each of them held a revolver and their leader ordered the clerk to stand back while he exploded the cash drawer of the open safe. There was nothing for the clerk to do but obey, and the intruder quickly scooped out $160 in bills. Then the men walked out, the last one covering the clerk with his revolver, all were outside.

As soon as he was free the clerk grabbed his own gun from adrawer and fired five shots to call the police. It was so quick about it that he got no response from a Broadway patrolman before the robbers could crank their automobile and get started. The police captured the last two of the men and found in the pockets of one of them a roll of bills twice the size of that which the hotel clerk had lost.

CREW AVERTED A TRAGEDY

Ohio River Boat Loaded With Excursionists Burned, But Passengers Escaped.

Paducah, Ky., June 15.—Quick work on the part of Capt. John L. Lowry, of the river steamer John L. Lowry, saved the lives of 65 persons early to-day, when the boat burned opposite Smithland, Ky., in the Ohio river. Crowded with 50 excursionists and the crew of the craft was slowly making its way up the river in mid-stream when fire broke out near the engines.

Roused from their sleep, the passengers crowded on the decks in a near-panic and only the coolness of the boat's crew averted a heavy loss of life. Several barrels of oil exploded but no one was hurt.

Capt. Lowry made for the Illinois side with all speed, and the passengers got off without injury.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE.

It is not the legal difficulties which the promulgation of the Ne Temere decree in Canada may produce, so much as the social and personal evils, that make its promulgation a cause for regret. It is sure to sow the seeds of prejudice, bitterness, bigotry. The best remedy, says the Hamilton Herald, for it is a law which would give effect to the principle that marriage is, legally, merely a civil contract—a law making civil marriage compulsory throughout this country, and leaving the parties free to have their nuptials religiously solemnized in any way and by any priest or minister that they may choose.

THE ENCOURANGEMENT OF THRIFT.

"There is nothing more admirable than thrift, and there is nothing more pitiable than when the accumulations of thrift are pocketed by the rapacious harpies who prey upon the small investor," says the London (Eng.) Economist. Thrift is both a private and a public virtue, and as a private virtue it gives that feeling of independence and courage which springs from the sense of security, and which are not only virtues in themselves, but are an almost indispensable basis of character. As wages, salaries, and profits grow in all ranks of society, there is a natural tendency for the standard of living to rise, luxuries become comforts, and comforts become necessaries, and although different views may be held as to the lavish habits of wealthy individuals, there is a general agreement as to the need of thrift among persons of small incomes. It is not only desirable and absolutely necessary that the individual should take care to put aside a reasonable proportion of his income for investment, but that he should shun the maelstrom of improvidence that inevitably leads to the poorhouse, and no better plan of investment could be offered him than that which is provided by the Canadian Government Annuities Act. It is not only absolutely safe, but the benefits to be derived from an investment in the purchase of an Annuity are far more bountiful than those which may be derived from any other safe investment, the Annuity representing a return to the investor of a portion of his capital as well as the interest thereon in periodical payments calculated upon the number of years he may live, and he gets full benefit of every dollar he invests, not one cent being charged him for any expense. If he lives the number of years from and after 60 which he may be expected to live, he will receive back all that he pays in with compound interest at 4 per cent. If he should survive his expectation, the income will not cease, but will be continued in regular payments every quarter should he live to be 100 or longer, and this fact will probably concern him more than the possibility that he might die before he had received back all that he had paid in. Starting at 60 to receive an Annuity, he would in 14 or 15 years get back all that he had paid in with the interest thereon. We do not know of any institution which could possibly afford to offer terms so advantageous, and if the people of Canada were able to realize the favourable conditions on which Annuities could be secured from the Government, there would be very few among the thrifty and thoughtful who would not take advantage thereof. If you will write to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, he will furnish you with all the information desired as to cost, etc. Give him your age last birthday, and state the age at which you desire the Annuity to begin, but do not forget that it cannot begin until you are 55, though you may have it begin at any later age you desire. It will demonstrate to you the tremendous earning power of moneys at compound interest.

PROGRAM FOR BIG METHODIST GATHERING

Toronto, June 12.—Knights, Baronets, and one Cabinet Minister (Runciman) from great Britain will be among the delegates to the Ecumenical Conference of Methodism to be held in Toronto this fall, as reported by Rev. Dr. Briggs at the Toronto Conference this morning. Dr. Briggs is a member of the programme committee.

This is to be the fourth world conference. The first was held in London, England, thirty years ago, the second in Washington, twenty years ago, and the third in London again ten years ago.

"The Ecumenical Conferences," said Dr. Briggs, "is not for legislation. Neither is it to discuss doctrinal differences, for, according to the prospectus, there are no doctrinal differences in Methodism. This is in printer's ink, but some of us may think differently."

Some of the subjects to be discussed are Methodism in the last ten years, young people's movement, the child and the church, Sunday school, laymen's movement, evangelization of cities, minister's support, and education.

"Academic and merely historic subjects will have no place in the conference," said Dr. Briggs.

There are a number of committees to arrange for the services in Methodist churches already are at work. Metropolitan Church is to be the official place of meeting, and the public meetings will be held in Massey Hall.

It is worth while to use any medicine internally for chronic rheumatism. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition—mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

The Canadian Pittsburg. The Great Steel City.

WELLAND is to-day Canada's Greatest Manufacturing Town.

14	Chipman Holton Knitting Company	50,000 00	300
15	H. B. Peters Company	25,000 00	175

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

THIS YEAR

WELLAND NEEDS 5,000 MEN

WELLAND NEEDS 2,000 HOUSES

Common Sense

If you have money to invest why not invest it in real estate in a fast growing town? Why not pick a town with a good Past, Present and Future?

ARABS AND HORSES

How They Treat the Animals From Colts Up

Although the Arab considers the education of a colt should begin at eighteen months old, it begins in reality at an earlier age. No sooner is a foal born than it is made to swallow two or three eggs. A bystander then takes it in his arms and walks it up and down in the midst of an almost inconceivable din, which is supposed to accustom it to terrible sounds so that ever after it will be impervious to fright, no matter how terrifying the noises that assail its ears. To teach it to suck, a rag or date soaked in milk slightly salted is put into its mouth, and, when possible, it is given camel's or cow's or ewe's milk, which is supposed to make the coat more soft and sleek. At eighteen months old, the colt is mounted by a child, who takes it to water and to pasture, guiding it with a soft mule's bit but it is not saddled until it is quite accustomed to the bridle. Careful owners, before allowing a colt to be mounted by a grown man, have it led up and down for a fortnight with a pack saddle on its back, carrying two baskets filled with sand. A most important part of a horse's education is to teach it not to break loose when its rider dismounts. For this purpose a slave stands beside it ready to put his foot on the bridle whenever it attempts to steal off, which gives an unpleasant shock to its mouth. After a few months of this training, the horse will stand stock still and wait any time for its master. An Arab arrives at market, dismounts in the midst of a score of horses and mares, passes the bridle over his horse's head, and lets it fall to the ground, then placing a stone upon it, he goes off to transact his business, returning at the end of several hours, finds his horse in the same spot. The first thing an Arab does after killing his enemy, if he covets his horse, is to pass the bridle quickly over his head.

BURNING OLD PAPERS

Burning papers in a grate is very likely to cause the chimney to catch fire. To prevent this accident, make the papers into bundles and put some wire around them. They may then be safely burned, for they will burn slowly in the grate, almost like a log of wood. The same wire may be used again and again.

AN EASILY ERECTED SHELF

How useful an extra shelf would be in the kitchen, where one is often harrassed for room. To erect a good shelf without using a single nail or damaging the wallpaper, is only a few minutes' work. Get two pieces of thin wood, place against the wall where the ends of your shelf or shelves are to fit, measure the length of the shelf between the pieces of wood, which should be six inches or so long, and allow an eighth of an inch to the length, so that when fixed in its place the shelf will be quite tight. It will be safe to carry any ordinary, even the heaviest, kitchen utensil, and can be taken down and refixed in a moment at any time if not required permanently.

MAKE WINDOWS MOVE EASILY

If windows are difficult to move, melt a tablespoonful of lard and pour a little between the window-frame and casing, also a little on the roller and rope. It will work like magic. This is a good thing to know when the frames are swollen from being closed during rainy weather.

NEW BRUNSWICK GAS

Another two million cubic feet gas flow per day has been struck by the Maritime Oilfields Company, at Latchey's, near Moncton, N.B. The latest well is No. 16 which looks promising at a depth of 1,410 feet. Mr. Shaw, the superintendent at the wells, without making a test estimates the new well to be good for between two and three million feet a day, but it is the intention to go a little deeper before capping it.

POWER IN PORCUPINE

Work has been started on the development of a hydro-electric plant on the Mattagami River at Sandy Falls in the Porcupine district, six miles from the Timmins Mine. Three thousand (3,000) horsepower in generators has been ordered, and turbines of like capacity. This plant will be in operation by June 1st, 1911. Current will be generated at a pressure of twelve thousand volts and a frequency of twenty-five cycles per second.

A WESTERN HIGHWAY

A beginning has been made to establish Manitoba's section of the proposed western highway, but, beyond informal discussions of the project, little action has been taken. The idea is to construct a first-class roadway from the great lakes to the Pacific coast, and it is understood at Winnipeg that the scheme is already under way in Alberta and British Columbia. It is proposed to call a conference of various public bodies to push the scheme along.

TELEPHONES IN ALBERTA

By the completion of the summer's programme of work by the Alberta government telephone department, which has now been wound up, the government lines which connect those two extreme points in the north and south ends of the province, have been extended and the connection is now complete. The circuit is made from Wainwright to Medicine Hat, via Edmonton, Calgary and Lthbridge. Furthermore the completion of the department's programme means that practically every town and city on a line of railway in that province, save the lines west of Edmonton, have long distance connection.

BEARS IN MANITOBA

Tennessee Hunter is Surprised at Big Game in Canada

As a result of a recent visit to Manitoba, Mr. J. M. Avent, of Hickory Valley, Tenn., announced his intention to bring his pack of bear dogs north and organize a hunt. "I never saw such country in my life," he said. "Why you do not need to shoot them, you can rope them. I have run bears for years in the Mississippi bottoms and never saw anything like it. I do not see where the brutes hide, for the country is as open as a park." Mr. Avent has a pack of from fifty to sixty bear dogs, all experienced in the work, and proposes to bring three dozen of them north. The hunting will be done on horseback in a similar manner to an English fox hunt. As the bears have been doing considerable damage the inhabitants of the district have offered all facilities for the hunt."

SAWDUST IS NOT SO OBJECTIONABLE

Uses Being Found for this Form of Waste at Mills—Double Economy Now In Progress

Sawdust is usually regarded as an objectionable product because it increases the danger of fire if deposited near mills of lumber piles and "necessitates either carriage with accompanying expense or the construction of a "burner" and the use of conveyors or carts to transfer it from the saws.

A double economy, however, is now in progress. As a result of the use of band saws instead of the old circular and gang saws, a log that under the old system produced eight boards, will now produce nine, a very substantial increase in product with a corresponding decrease in the amount of sawdust produced.

Owing to its chemical and mechanical properties, it has an ever increasing field of usefulness. Used as an absorbent for nitro-glycerine it produces dynamite. Used with clay and burned it produces a terra-cotta brick full of small cavities that, owing to its lightness and its properties as a non-conductor, makes excellent fireproof material for partition walls. Treating it with fused caustic, alkali produces oxalic acid. Treating it with sulphuric acid and fermenting the sugar so formed produces alcohol. Mixed with a suitable binder and compressed it can be used for making mouldings and imitation carvings; while, if mixed with Portland cement it produces a flooring material. It is an excellent packing material for fragile articles and for dangerous explosives, sawd can be used as packing in walls to make them sound-proof and cold-proof.

MAKING FRIENDS

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love her. Yes, and let her know
That you love her ere life's evening
Tinge her brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words not be said
Of a friend till she is dead?

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song,
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait his well-earned praise too long.
Why should one that thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

If you hear a prayer that moves you,
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it. Do not let the seeker
Bow before his God alone.
Why should not your brother share
The strength of "two or three" in prayer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching as you go;
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver.
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until its happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

BONNETS ARE BEST

For very small babies, close-fitting caps or bonnets are best in the winter time. There is a distinct prejudice among many mothers with regard to baby boys wearing bonnets. There is no foundation to the idea, yet it remains that mothers will persist in disclaiming them as out of place.

The sensible mother, however, will not allow her judgment to be governed by such opinion. It is obvious that an article which covers at once the head and delicate membranes of the ear is infinitely more practical, serviceable, convenient, and in most cases will save the tiny wearer considerable discomfort, and even pain.

A NOVEL IDEA

Three colored candles for a birthday cake may take the place of the larger number indicating a person's age, and this is a prettier idea to carry out when the years begin to accumulate. Take a yellow, a green, and a white candle for the cake. The yellow one represents the past, the white the present, the green the future. As the cake is cut, let somebody tell of a happy birthday in the past, another offer congratulations on the present birthday, and a third express a loving wish for the future.

YOUR SEWING MACHINE

If you want your sewing-machine to do satisfactory work remember that it needs to be kept clean. After every ten hours' work it needs oil; but all surplus oil must be carefully wiped off afterwards. Always work it steadily, and never start or stop with a jerk. The best way to finish off a machine seam is to turn the material round and stitch back for about an inch. This saves tying the ends of cotton, which is fidgetty work, and takes up a lot of time if there are many seams.

MOCK TRIAL RECALLED

Was Re-Enacted in Fact at the Vanstone Trial

Away back in the early seventies in Goderich grammar school, a mock trial was held, with various officers and court officials. A prisoner was on trial for murder. George Tate Blackstock was the prosecuting attorney, the acting sheriff of the affair was R. J. Reynolds, and the counsel for the accused prisoner was M. O. Cameron. A coincidence presented itself when George Vanstone stood his trial for the brutal murder of his little six-year-old son, Freddie. George Tate Blackstock, now K.C., prosecuted; M. O. Cameron was the prisoner's counsel, and R. O. Reynolds was the sheriff indeed.

CANADIAN MONEY

There are millions of good Canadian money invested in Mexico, Brazil and Central America that could, to the general advantage of the country, be better invested at home. Recent happenings in our Latin-American countries should prove an object lesson to our capitalists that few safe and profitable investment of their money there is no occasion to seek foreign fields where life and dividends are both uncertain.—Monetary Times.

RECORD HUSKERS

What Constitutes a Big Day's Work in the Corn Field

An Amherstburg despatch says: Since the publication of a story that a Kent County corn husker had established a record by husking 169 bushels in a day, there has been a good deal of discussion about what really constitutes a big day's work in the corn field. Though 60 to 75 bushels is considered a good day's work, day in and day out, there have been men who average 100 bushels. The story is told that James Mason, now at Alberton, was a great husker in his day, shovelling out 140 bushels in ten hours. Robt. Clark, of Manitoba, son of the late Thomas Clark, of Colchester South, has a record of 111 bushels in nine hours, while Sol. Baltzer, Sylvester McLean, of the same township, and Albert Wilson, of Amherstburg, were all 100-bushel men, so it would seem that the Kent County man's 169 bushels wasn't such a big record after all.

A NOVEL CURE

Medical Man Effects Remarkable Cure of Dipsomania

A new and remarkable cure of dipsomania has just been effected by a medical man. The patient was an apparently hopeless case. His doctor prescribed ——— to be taken in minute doses to begin with.

"It is a violent poison," the latter explained, "and can be absorbed only gradually. In time the system becomes inured to it. The drug must be mixed with your wine or spirits at the rate of one drop the first day, two the second, and so on until your system is able to assimilate a whole glass of it. The drug will discover your wine."

The dipsomaniac dutifully did as he was told, increasing the dose very gradually. He noticed that, as the doctor had said, the color of his wine grew paler as he added more of the drug. He observed, also, that he became accustomed to drinking less and less wine as he increased the proportion of the drug. At last he drank with pleasure a glassful of the latter with only a dash of wine in it. He is now absolutely cured, and feels no craving whatever for wine or spirits. He went to thank his doctor, and said:

"Now, doctor, tell me what that marvellous drug was which has made another man of me."

"Water!" said the doctor.

KING HAS NEW BARBER

Why His Majesty's Beard is Trimmed by a New Man

King George of England has changed his barber. For many years past the late King Edward and King George himself always had their beards trimmed and their hair cut by a certain celebrity, who is known to all the peerage as "Charles." This individual's full name is Charles Taschke, and his establishment is in Regent Street, where the youth of London are attended to by a large staff.

The trouble arose through Sir William Carrington, the comptroller of the royal household. Sir William also patronized "Charles," and ran up a rather large account, which he omitted to settle. "Charles," rather curiously, as his friends say, pressed for payment in no unmistakable terms.

Sir William was furious, and, taking King George's bills to his Majesty, who is very economical, pointed out that "Charles" had been overcharging disgracefully. King George promptly turned his back on the unhappy "Charles," and a new royal barber—W. M. Lee, of Curzon Street—will reign in the place of M. Taschke.

SOUND ADVICE

"My boy," he said, "before I was married my wife inherited $500 from her grandfather. The whole town knew it. When I built a shop they smiled.

"'His wife's money,' they said.

"When I built a house the same smile went round:

"'His wife's money.'

"'Ah,' said the treasurer, 'I see you are investing some of your wife's money.'

"All my life that poor little $500 has received the credit for everything I have been able to achieve.

"As a matter of fact, my wife spent the money the day she got it for a diamond ring and a piano. She lost the ring a week later, and I think some of the neighbors have wished heartily that she would lose the piano!"

GOOD ROADS AND LAND VALUES

Increase Estimated at Between Two and Nine Dollars an Acre

While it is impossible to assign an arbitrary, per cent. or amount to represent the increase in land value by reason of road improvement it is safe to estimate that the increase per acre within the zone of influence of an improved road would be from $2 to $9 per acre. As there are about 850,000,000 acres of farm lands improved and unimproved in the United States, the possibilities of aggregate increase in value are enormous, says H. B. Harper of Detroit.

In the crop moving season the railroads that traverse the great agricultural sections are taxed far beyond their equipment. For many months, while the country roads are impassable, much of this equipment is idle, and thus the railroads suffer a double loss.

CROSSED THE BOUNDARY

In 1910 the number of persons who crossed the international boundary line to the United States was 64,197, and to Canada 123,158; other aliens, 27,220. In the year ending June 30, 1910, the United States immigration authorities' report showed that 134,277 persons left the United States to reside in Canada. [illegible] remained 74,897 were Americans by birth, 15,242 were Canadians, and the balance were citizens of other countries.

TO WASH SCARLET FLANNEL

Mix a handful of flour in a quart of cold water, and boil for ten minutes. To this add some warm suds, and then wash the flannel, gently rinsing rather than rubbing it. Now rinse in two or three waters comfortably warm to the hands—no better—and hang to dry in the shade. By this method the color should remain good after many washings.

A REMINDER

The witness looked youthful, and appeared to be rather uncomfortable, too. Consequently counsel assumed his most imposing manner.

"You describe yourself as a writer?" he began.

"Yes, sir."

"What kind of a writer—a sign writer?"

"Not an author?"

"Partly, sir."

"What do you mean by 'partly'?"

"I'm in father's office, sir. He's a money-lender, and I'm the author of all the sharp letters to backward borrowers. If you remember, I sent you one last week, sir."

Hiring Members Attend.

From the Kingston Standard.

A correspondent writing to The Toronto Star opposes the idea of introducing the closure in Parliament as seems threatened by the Liberals at the next session. He advises that instead if the closure there should be a rule passed insisting that members shall stay at Ottawa and listen to the debates! Of course the suggestion is a joke; but there is some wisdom in it just the same. Undoubtedly if the members were forced to listen to all the debates they would soon cry down the man whose speeches were taking up needless time.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are posttively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $100 to $225 as soon as the 20 lots have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realise that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

ACRE OF PEPPERS

E. E. Adams, Essex, Ont., Writes of the Crop

E. E. Adams of Essex raised upwards of an acre of green and red peppers last season. In a letter to The Farmers' Advocate he says in part:—

"The soil is a sandy loam natural drainage (being 42 feet to water), kept in good fertility by the use of barnyard manure, as well as by applications of pulverized sheep manure, purchased from feeding companies in Illinois, and applications of 200 pounds of sulphate of potash and 400 pounds of acid phosphate per acre each season, and in dry season watered by Skinner system of irrigation, which consists of a series of iron pipes, seven feet above ground, taken from a main at one side of the field, and lateral pipes 45 feet apart, each lateral throwing a fine shower 35 feet, and shifted to throw two ways by a patent union near the main, and the water pumped into the system by a gasoline pump and engine, combined. Small nozzles are placed four feet apart in the lateral pipes.

Plants are started under glass about first of March, and when in the fourth leaf are transplanted into flats 1 x 2 feet in size, and the plants run about 60 to the flat. About the first of June, flats are taken to the field, and the earth is cut each way of the flat, and plants are planted in shallow furrows made by a small shovel attachment to a cultivator, which is run over the ground previously marked out in rows three feet apart. I plant about 20 inches apart in the row, and the varieties used are Chinese Giant Ruby King, Neapolitan, and a small variety, the name of which I do not know, is used for red stock for pickling purposes, the others sometimes being grown and sold green, and are used mostly by Italians and Syrians, who know how to prepare them for use. Canadians have not taken to them as yet to any great extent.

About once a week these are cultivated with a fine-toothed cultivator, and hoed about every two weeks during the growing season, up to August 1st, when no further hoeing is required.

I have not taken the trouble to figure up the average yield in baskets or bushels per acre, but the usual cash returns will run from 200 to 500 dollars per acre, depending largely upon how the business end of the matter is handled.

The market for peppers in Canada is not large, and during the last month I have found difficulty in disposing of them. Apparently, August and September are the only two months in which any profit can be made from them.

STARCH THAT LASTS

After using a bowl of starch, do not throw away the remains of the mixture, but place it aside. When the starch has settled, pour off the water and place the basin in the oven for a few minutes. The starch will then be found to be a hard cake and can be put away for use another time, when it will be found as good as that bought recently.

SAVE YOUR ASHES

Saucepan lids and tin kettles may be cleaned by using a piece of damp newspaper which has been rubbed in wood ashes. Polish with a piece of dry newspaper, and they will look as bright and as nice as if they had been cleaned with metal polish.

TO WHITEN KITCHEN TABLE

Take equal parts of white lime and sand, and sprinkle on the top of the table, then take a wet cloth and rub well in the same direction as the grain of the wood is running and then rinse with clean cold water, and a beautiful white top will be the result.

EMPIRE GIFT BY MILLION MARYS

Lady Bute to Search Empire for Women of Same Christian Name as Queen—Coronation Scheme

Lady Bute's search for Marys is now explained as a scheme for a novel Coronation gift for the Queen.

The idea is that all persons of the Empire whose Christian name is Mary shall offer a gift to Queen Mary, either in the form of a personal ornament, or of a sum of money, to be placed at her Majesty's disposal.

In order to permit the poorest Mary to participate, sums ranging from one penny to £1 may be given. Persons named Maria, May and Marion will be included in the scheme.

Over three hundred years ago a Scottish Queen Mary was surrounded by four Marys—known to history as

LATEST FROM APSLEY

During a heavy thunder storm which passed over this section Saturday, 10th, a number of the private telephones on the east road were put out of business for a time. A fence near Mr. Geo. Bullied's house was struck by lightning, which tore up the ground for quite a distance, slightly damaged his ice house and killed a collie dog. The worst electric storm was on Sunday evening, 11th, accompanied by a deluge of rain. The wind did considerable damage to shade trees in the village and milk drawers report quite a number of trees across their routes Monday morning. Mr. Wm. James' house was struck. The electric fluid came down the chimney and tore up the floor. No other damage was done. The rain was very welcome, and crops are looking splendid, especially hay.

I noticed an item in The Times lately that a number of carrier pigeons had been brought to your city from a distance. Mr. E. Wigg reports having seen one for several days at the Jack's Lake dam, where the last of the drive is going through, and it is quite tame, feeding near the men, but won't allow anyone to catch it. There is a tag on one leg so no doubt it is one of those mentioned that has got astray and finding Jack's Lake an ideal summer resort, has concluded to stay for the season.

Rev. H. C. Garbutt delivered his farewell address Sunday evening to a large congregation. Mr. Garbutt has made many warm friends during his four years service in the Apsley mission. The members of his congregation at Eden appointment South Burleigh, presented him with a well-filled purse, accompanied by the following address:—

Eden, June 10th, 1911.

Dear Pastor:—

We your friends at this appointment would like to express our gratitude to you for the deep interest you have taken in your work amongst us during the past four years. May you long be spared to direct wanderers in the narrow way, and may many respond to the call wherever you may be placed. We ask your acceptance of this small gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your work amongst us. We earnestly hope that temporal blessings may be yours in this life, and in the end, life everlasting.

Signed on behalf of your friends,

CHAS. LAUDER,
Steward.

Jim had quite an adventure Monday morning. Coming home from a trip north he thought it would be a good act to drive through the creek about a mile above Apsley and let the pony have a drink. After so much rain the water was rather deep and the pony having ideas of its own, concluded to take a roll and get rid of the flies. Jim was too quick and had it up and out of the water before it accomplished its object. Also must not teach his pony too many tricks.

The police magistrate should warn those young men who drive recklessly Sunday evenings. Two young men had driven their young ladies to church and in turning near Dr. Bell's residence one of them backed his buggy against the telephone pole and the Doctor says judging from the crash the top must have come to grief. Drive easy boys.

Messrs. F. Young, Alex. Woods and J. McCauley have gone to Peterborough, being on the jury.

The chief occupation among the farmers to-day is rebuilding fences, after Sunday's storm. People were remarking how early Jim gets up lately. From an interview we had with him this morning he explained how he could not sleep and listen to things growing.

CHEST INFLAMMATION

"NERVILINE," CURED QUICKLY.

"Anyone who goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Van Hayden, the well-known violinist of Moncton. 'My work kept me out late each night, and playing in cold, damp places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a terrible hacking cough and severe pains through my chest and settled in shoulders. I used different liniments but none broke my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my back, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. I use using Nerviline I have had no colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large 25c bottles, five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

Band Leaders Summoned.

In view of the fact that summonses have been issued against the bands for playing at Scarboro Beach on Sunday, it may mean that the 57th Regiment band may not fill their week's engagement. Should Provide More Work.

A prominent citizen yesterday drew the attention of The Times to the fact that an official of this city, who is supposed to devote his whole time to the duties of his office, was doing service for the Government as a census enumerator. He had already completed considerable work in one district, and was now engaged on a second. He thought that if our city officials had a little to do as to be able to perform tasks of this kind in their spare hours, they should be provided with other duties that would keep them employed. This idea might be worked out by some of the members of the Council, who are uneconomically inclined in the interests of the taxpayer.

Can This Be Our Old "Dinny?"

Can that be our old friend Dinny Dobbin that Sam Hughesky has signed to play goal for his Remounts? Dinny was a star in the days when Orillia and Peterborough were storm centres, and the game between the two was a trifle more warlike than a Central American revolution. He also figured on the lacrosse timbers contemporaneously with Tom Davis, Billy Kelly and some more, and may have been there during that famous season in which the total gate receipts figured up to almost $700. He afterwards played with Beaverton intermediates. So you'll see, Dinny has the experience and if lacrosse players (like wine) improve with age, he should be the equal of them all.—Toronto Telegram.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Miss Violet Moore, the bride's cousin, played the wedding march and Miss M. Dunlop sang "Because."

The Grand Trunk Railway System announce that on Tuesdays, June 13th and 27th, July 11th and 25th, August 8th and 22nd, September 5th and 19th, 1911, Homeseekers' Excursions will be run from all Stations in Ontario and Quebec to Western Canada, via Chicago and Duluth or via Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis, at reduced round trip fares.

The well-known double track line of the Grand Trunk from the East to Chicago appeals to the traveller, and with the superior train service that is offered by this line, including the famous "International Limited" from Montreal daily at 9.00 a. m., and which is the finest and fastest train in Canada, many passengers will be attracted this way. The route via Chicago is a most interesting one, taking passengers through the principal cities and towns in Canada and in the States of Michigan and Indiana. In addition to this a choice of seven lines between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis is offered.

Owing to the great number of Canadians who reside in Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and other cities en route, there is no doubt that the Grand Trunk will find many patrons who will take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded them for a brief visit at the stations with their friends.

Canadian citizens are exempt from so-called Immigration Examination, and there is no detention at any point.

Baggage is carried through the United States in bond without requiring any special attention on the part of the passenger. Inspection is not necessary at any of the points at the Border.

Another feature that will appeal to the homeseeker is the comfortable transfer at points like Chicago, St. Paul and Duluth into freshly ventilated clean cars, avoiding the necessity of travelling a long distance in the same car.

In addition to the above routes, the sale of tickets is also authorized via Sarnia, and the Northern Navigation Company's magnificent Steamers across Lake Huron and Lake Superior.

For further particulars apply to any agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System, or write to Mr. J. Quinlan, District Passenger Agent, Bonaventure Station, Montreal, or Mr. A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto.

FRUIT GROWING IN THE KOOTENAY DISTRICT

As I sit in my office writing this article I feel as if I would like to have a talk with the thousands of ambitious men who I know are fighting a helpless and hopeless battle for prosperity. I am addressing myself more particularly to men who are compelled through circumstances over which they have no control to labor at a business or profession which is not suited to their qualifications or desires, and which will leave them at the end of twenty or thirty years in a worse position than they are at present. There are many such men who would gladly welcome an opportunity to engage in a profession where a reasonable amount of work will bring returns that will place them beyond the necessity of worrying about old age pensions, etc.

It was my privilege and good fortune some time ago, to visit the Kootenay District, of B. C., and it was there that my eyes were opened to the great possibilities of those engaged in the profitable and pleasing occupation of fruit growing.

I was travelling on one of the palatial steamers of the Canadian Pacific down the Lower Arrow Lakes, and by chance got into conversation with two intelligent and cultured gentlemen, who were going to attend to the shipping and packing of fruit on their orchards. One of these gentlemen was a qualified Medical Doctor, and the other a lawyer, both of whom had given up large and profitable practices in London, England, in order to engage in Fruit growing in British Columbia. During the course of our conversation, an invitation was given me to spend a few days with them at their ranches, of which I gladly availed myself. After a delightful trip down the lakes, we arrived at the town of Edgewood, a young and promising town. We put up at the Local Hotel over night and early in the morning the autos were got out and we drove for a few miles up the beautiful Fire Valley. The Fire Valley is becoming rapidly famous as the most fertile and delightful Valley of British Columbia. The soil is rich and fertile and adaptable to the production of almost anything. The climate is as near ideal as one could possibly expect it, and there is sufficient rainfall to insure the success of the crops without the necessity of an expensive and troublesome system of irrigation.

I visited a number of ranches in the vicinity and secured from the owners facts and figures which, together with what I saw with my own eyes, gave me sufficient evidence to prove beyond any possibility of doubt, that here is one place at least where a family can live in perfect health and happiness, and where a reasonable amount of work will produce splendid results.

I visited the ranch of Mr. Fauquier This gentleman's orchards are run on truly business principles and everything of importance is noted down in a proper set of books kept for the purpose. I found an acre of strawberries on this ranch bringing in a net return of from $500 to $600 per annum.

I found Mr. A. Johnston growing 8 tons of potatoes to the acre and receiving an average price of $35 per ton.

I found an old gentleman 75 years of age, growing 3½ tons of hay to the acre and receiving from $25 to $30 per ton for it.

After I had found out these facts, I naturally came to the conclusion that such profitable land as this must be very high, but on investigation I found that such was not the case, excepting where the orchards were fully developed. The average price of land, I found, is from $100 to $200 per acre in small tracts of about 10 or 20 acres, although quite a few large tracts of land have been turned over recently at a price ranging from $40 to $50 per acre.

The past few years' history of the Fire Valley makes an interesting story. The next 15 or 20 years' history will be still more remarkable.

The opportunities for future developments and profitable returns for both labor and capital are glowing and enticing. A striking proof of the great importance of the Valley, and of the quality of the fruit now being produced there, is the success which a number of the growers had at the recent National Apple Show held in Vancouver. In proportion to the number of exhibits, it is estimated that this District took more prizes than any other district represented, and it must be taken into consideration that fruit growing in this particular valley is still in its infancy. A few years ago this part of the Kootenay District was considered to be unsuitable for the purpose of fruit growing owing to the fact that the average rainfall in this district is not more than 30 to 32 inches per year. Past experience, however, and Government experts now agree that the best kind of apples and fruit in general, requires only 22 inches of rainfall per annum for ideal conditions. It can be readily seen, therefore, that there is quite sufficient rainfall in the Valley, and it is also noted that the Provincial Government have been taking records for 18 years and have not yet recorded one crop failure. It must not be thought, however, that anyone can go into this district and take up a small part of land and get immediate and profitable results without work. Fairly hard work is required for the first 2 or 3 years, although in the meantime, a splendid living can be made from small fruits planted between the trees. After the first 3 or 4 years the life becomes easy in comparison to the work that the average man is expected to do, and the results are far more than the average man can possibly expect to get in any other business or profession.

The people who are settling in the Valley are mostly people of good education with small capital, and a desire for a healthy out-door life of independence and a reasonable amount of time allowed for recreation and sports. The Lower Arrow Lake forms at once a means of transportation and sport. Some of the ranchers own their own motor boats and in the lake are trout, etc. Back in the mountains and not more than 10 or 15 miles away, can be found a plentiful supply of deer, caribou, black and grizzly bear, etc.

An important feature to be always considered in the purchasing of Fruit Lands is the marketing of the product. In this respect Fire Valley is in an exceptional position. The Fruit Growers Association with headquarters at Nelson, attend to all the products. It is shipped to them and they attend to the marketing of it, the grower simply receives a monthly cheque for the amount due him. Generally speaking it is not necessary to ship the fruit away from the Koot enays although there is an unlimited market for any surplus in the prairie provinces and in the larger cities of Vancouver and Victoria.

Many people are realizing that the Fire Valley offers them such an opportunity as they have been looking for, and numerous settlers are coming in every day.

If you want to get away from the stress and worry of city life and live an out-door life of health and happiness, it is worth your while to investigate the opportunities of this remarkable Valley.

He Had Read Romeo.

From the Philadelphia Times.

She was very literary and he was not.

He had spent a harrowing evening discussing authors of whom he knew nothing, and their books, of which he knew less.

Presently the maiden asked archly: "Of course, you've read 'Romeo and Juliet'?"

He floundered helplessly for a moment and then, having a brilliant thought, blurted out, hopefully: "I—I've read Reuben."

POSSIBLE CANDIDATES FOR POLITICAL HONORS

Names Mentioned As Men Who May Enter The Fray

The political pot is warming up, and may soon be at the boiling point. Both parties are quietly looking around for suitable candidates, and in their search, names heretofore not thought of will doubtless be considered. In the West Riding, the following gentlemen are eligible:

FOR THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE
Liberal.
A. G. Gillespie,
F. D. Kerr,
R. H. Leary,
Geo. W. Morrow (Mayor)
W. S. Davidson.
Conservative.
T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P.
Col. W. J. Miller,
R. N. Scott (Smith)
Geo. W. Hatton,
Dr. M. A. Morrison

HOUSE OF COMMONS.
Liberal.
Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P.
Conservative.
J. H. Burnham, M.A.
W. H. Moore, K.C.

In East Peterborough for the Legislature, Mr. Thompson, the present Conservative member, will seek re-election. It is said that he will be opposed by an Independent Conservative in the person of Reeve Knox, Havelock, or Mr. Joshua Smithson, Otonabee. The only name mentioned on the Liberal side is that of Mr. F. D. Kerr, of the law firm of Denniston, Peck and Stevenson.

For the House of Commons the present member Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, will again run in the Conservative interests, and will likely be opposed by Mr. R. R. Hall, Ex-M.P., who is by many regarded as a strong man. Of one thing the public may be assured, and that is that the elections to both Parliaments will be waged with all possible vigor and with considerable bitterness.

JARDINE PAYS PENALTY GIVES ADVICE TO BOYS

Goderich, June 16.—The sentence of death was executed upon Edward Jardine at the county jail this morning just before eight o'clock.

Early this morning, Rev. Geo. E. Ross, pastor of Knox Church, who has been the condemned man's spiritual advisor throughout his confinement, was with him, and the young man showed deep concern for his future welfare. For half an hour he broke down, but he recovered and walked to the scaffold apparently without a tremor.

No representatives of the press were allowed to be present.

NO TIME WASTED.

Less than sixty seconds elapsed from the time the procession started from the cell until the trap dropped. Death resulted from asphyxia in 8½ minutes.

Before the black cap was adjusted, Jardine bade good-bye to those about him, but made no further statement. Following the execution the customary post-mortem and coroner's inquest were held and under authority of a Provincial Order-in-Council the body was handed over to the friends of the deceased for private interment in Colborne township cemetery, beside the remains of Jardine's father. The funeral is taking place this morning.

WAS BAPTIZED LAST NIGHT.

Jardine was never baptized until last evening, when at his earnest solicitation the rite was performed by Rev. Mr. Ross in a room beside the condemned man's cell, in the presence of the jail officials and guards.

The unfortunate young man, for most of the time since the fatal sentence was pronounced upon him, maintained a calm and almost stolid demeanor, but the last few days he showed a growing anxiety, and made every effort to prepare for his end.

Last evening Jardine dictated a statement which was written out by Rev. Mr. Ross, and which after reciting some details of his early life, concluded as follows:

"As I now look back, I wish I had kept on going to Sunday school and church regularly, and I advise every boy to do so, and keep in good company. I have asked God to forgive me anything I have done wrong. And I believe he has. I believe the Lord Jesus Christ has died on the Cross for me, and that whosoever believeth in Him has everlasting life.

"I hope all my chums will live long and live a good life, and trust in the Saviour I have learned to know. I wish to be buried in Colborne cemetery beside my father."

STORY OF THE CRIME.

The main facts for the crime for which Jardine died are as follows:

Elizabeth Anderson, a girl sixteen years of age, was missed from her home at Saltford, across the river from Goderich, on the night of Sept. 20th last. A few days later the nude body was found with the throat cut in the cellar of a vacant house near the fall fair grounds, where she and Jardine had been seen together on the 20th. Following the inquest, Jardine a young man of 22 years, was arrested, and his trial took place before Chief Justice Falconbridge, at the County of Huron assizes, commencing on April 11th. On Good Friday, April 14th, he was found guilty of murder and sentenced to be hanged.

For some weeks after the crime it appeared that no one could be convicted for its committal. The members of the Jardine family did their best to shield Edward, and while their stories were conflicting as to the time he came home on the night of the murder and where he slept, they were of little real value in proving the Crown's contention that he was the guilty person. It was clearly proved by other witnesses, however, that Edward was the last person in Lizzie's company, and that they left the fair grounds together.

A GOOD PROPOSITION

Stock of the Mason Oil and Development Company For Sale in Canada.

We call the attention of investors, (small as well as large) to the advertisement of the above Company, which appears on another page in today's issue. This Company appears to be well and capably managed, and promises to be a big winner.

The Mason Oil and Development Company is a corporation organized for the purpose of owning, leasing, developing and operating its valuable holdings of oil lands in the now famous San Juan Oil Fields, and developing its rich mineral property in the La Plata Mining District of Colorado. The Company controls fifty acres of rich mineral land in the La Plata District, six hundred and forty acres in the Montezuma Oil District and more than twenty-five hundred acres in the Fish Creek Basin in the San Juan fields. The capitalization of the Company is a very conservative one when the vast extent of its properties and the prospective earnings are considered. A much greater capital would have been justified.

The entire amount of stock was placed in the treasury of the company. There is no promotion nor organization stock. No stock whatever has been issued except for property or money, and every share of stock represents actual value for the Company. This is in marked contrast to most companies, as it is customary to place less than half of the stock in the treasury.

The management of the Mason Oil and Development Company is thoroughly capable and reliable. It is in the hands of men who will spare neither time, energy nor effort to protect the interests of each and every stockholder and to make the Company the biggest and strongest in the field. They will keep in close touch with the development of this district and will be constantly on the alert to acquire any and all lands and other assets that they deem valuable to the Company. At this time negotiations are under way to get control of several hundred acres in the Goodrich basin. Our policy is to scatter our holdings in every part of the territory so that no matter where the big strikes are made we will have a share in them. Therefore it is easy to understand that when the fields are fully developed, we cannot help but [illegible] in the best.

They are offering at this time 200,000 shares of the Treasury stock at Twenty-Five cents per share. This low price on stock will not be long available, as interest in the field is daily increasing. They expect the price to be doubled in from thirty to sixty days.

THE EMPIRE'S GROWTH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Fifteen years ago of the scores of thousands who left Britain annually for newer lands, but thirty-three per cent. settled under the British flag in lands beyond the sea.

To-day of the hundreds of thousands that emigrate from Britain annually eighty per cent. settle in Canada, Australia or other British dominions beyond the seas.

The increase of this percentage, and the fact it indicates, namely, that the British Empire now retains annually in its citizenship scores of thousands of sturdy sons, formerly lost to her, is one of the finest exemplifications of the growth of the spirit of empire that can be found in the long and splendid history of the British people.

The convention concluded yesterday afternoon.

LAST OF FIFTEEN MEN WHO FRAMED THE ACT

London, June 16.—Of the fifteen men who framed the Act of Union, only Sir Charles Tupper survived. To-day the speaker rejoiced in the fact that Sir Charles was present.

Sir Wilfrid responding spoke of the master work of Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper and others. After forty years he could say that Canadian Confederation had been living well through the test of time, of accident and of the manifold questions which must come to such a young community.

Only one amendment of importance had since been made to the constitution which was consummated without any friction whatever.

"The present generation," said Sir Wilfrid, "has every cause for gratitude to those who assembled in this very room forty years ago."

DRANK HIS HEALTH.

After the health of Sir Charles Tupper had been drank, the veteran statesman was called on by Lord Strathcona. Responding, Sir Charles said he had no hesitation in saying that the event which they were then celebrating was the most momentous event in its relation to the British Empire of the last century. The difficulties encountered in bringing about Confederation had not been overstated. The difficulties of reducing the smaller Provinces to merge with the larger ones had been great. He would not hesitate to say that, but for the abrogation of the Lord Elgin treaty by America, it would have been impossible to accomplish Confederation. The object of the United States was to starve the Provinces and drive them into union with the United States of America. But they never made a greater mistake in their lives. With all her present riches was it any wonder that the attention of the world is rivetted on Canada.

PARTING OF THE WAYS

"We could have no better evidence of the attitude of the United States than is found in the present day declaration by Americans that Canada is at the parting of the ways."

He was proud to say that the policy of Imperial preferential trade had the support of Canada's distinguished Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It also had the support of other great dominions and of more than half the people of Great Britain. No wonder the sagacious head of the American Republic was sounding a note of warning that if the present opportunity to thwart the further consolidation of the Empire was lost it would never come again.

SHOT HIMSELF IN THE HEAD

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., June 16.—J. A. F. Barth, aged 25, an accountant at the Imperial Bank, shot himself in the head this morning at ten o'clock at his boarding house. Barth had attended to his duties at the Bank up till last night, and did not appear this morning. He is in a dying condition. Barth came to the Soo from Toronto a year ago. He was a man of steady habits, although emotional, as evidenced by the fact that when he received a telegram a year ago that his sister had died at Vancouver, it took three men to hold him in bed.

The bank management stated this morning that Barth's affairs there were all right. He had not been ill and no reason can be given for the act.

223 MURDERS SINCE LAST HANGING

Chicago, June 16.—Figures printed here to-day show that there have been 223 murders in Chicago in the 001 days that have elapsed since a man was hanged. In addition, there have been 546 homicides.

AN ASSEMBLAGE OF JARDINES

Goderich, Ont., June 16.—Shortly before the execution of Edward Jardine, a crowd had assembled outside the jail yard and could hear the prayer and the springing of the trap door. Amongst the crowd was Abbie Jardine and Anderson, the father of the murdered girl.

As the trap dropped Abbie Jardine remarked loudly: "There she goes."

Anderson said: "My poor Lizzie's death is now avenged."

Several of the Jardine family had assembled in town. John Jardine was drinking in the Union Hotel last night with his uncle. When asked by his uncle if they were to be given the body, the young man struck his uncle an aged man, and felled him to the floor. Frank Jardine, the youngest brother, yesterday attended the ball game. The body of "Punk" was given over to his relations after the inquest and will be buried this morning in the family plot.

TODAY'S GAME

Everything is in readiness for the big battle this afternoon between the Lobster Eaters and the Porridge fed Pets.

Cresswell, that south-paw star, will do the twirling, while McFadden will act behind the bat.

The infield consists of O'Brien, O'Hearne, Gontlier and Murphy, while W. O'Brien, Shaw and Craig, will grapple with the long distance connections.

Cresswell of the Collegiate Team, has fanned 44 batters in three games, going some, Eh?

Manager Quinlan and Rahmel will be out in uniform to assist Cresswell should his southern arm get weak.

SOMETHING NEW IN SILVERWARE INTRODUCED IN PETERBOROUGH

Rich and Rare Reproductions of Sheffield Plate and Sheffield Designs at F. Clarke & Sons, Jewellers

The "Silver Question" is often glibly spoken of, as though there was but one, interesting alone to politicians and financiers; whereas there has been a Silver Question for twice three hundred years, interesting to every one who owns, or buys, or gives, or receives, even so little as a single mug, or teaspoon, supposing it to be of sterling silver, or silver plant. For, aside from its use as money, silver has always been a singularly popular as well as truly noble, metal.

The beauty of silver plate is more than skin deep. Its real merit consists in its being the kind that lasts, and that cannot be worn away by daily service. Messrs. F. Clarke & Son, the enterprising jewellers of this city, corner of George and Brock streets, have just introduced, for the first time, into Peterborough, handsome reproductions of Sheffield Plate and Sheffield Designs such as are only to be seen in large city jewelry stores, like H. Birks & Son, Montreal and Ryrie Bros., Toronto. This ware not only excels because it is based on nickel silver and copper, finished in sterling silver, which makes it stronger and more durable, but the designs developed in the metal are truly artistic. The plate is extra heavy and is equal to genuine sterling silver for lasting qualities. In no other brand is beauty so combined with wearing qualities.

Peterborough admirers of real beauty and quality in silver plate are now in a position to examine a rare collection of true copies of Sheffield plate at F. Clarke & Sons, in various handsome old English designs, such as Queen Anne, (Georgian, Chippendale, Hand Chased, Rosebery and Vintage Patterns.

Wedding or presentation silver selected from this line is always most appropriate. A full line of trays, waiters, vegetable dishes, tea services, etc., are shown. Let the purchaser of silverware examine the old Sheffield plate and designs, and no other will take its place.

Messrs. Clarke & Sons also carry in stock four lines of cut glass, fancy china and silverware, novelties suitable for June weddings, which have been selected with a special view to refinement and low cost.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTER SPEAKS WITH AUTHORITY

The Times, in Order to be Fair, Quotes from The Above Newspaper

The Times tries to be fair in all matters in which the public are interested. It has no malice or has it any feeling other than that which is prompted by what it believes to be in the best interests of the people, Protestants and Catholics alike. Others may have a different conception of the duties of a public newspaper than that which we possess, and we try to make all reasonable allowance for such. We believe that the public press should line up on one side or the other in such an important matter as that which is now agitating the whole community—the question of marriage. We feel sure that many Roman Catholics are opposed to the Ne Temere decree, and regard it as unjust and quite offensive to Protestants. They must know that Protestants only demand equal rights, and do not look for special privileges for themselves. If the rulers of the Roman Church would only withdraw from the political arena, and confine their activities to the realm of religion, what a happy thing it would be for the country! As long as they continue to seek special privileges, not accorded to Protestant Churches, and endeavor to meddle in politics, just so long will there be friction and unpleasantness.

The following is taken from the Catholic Register, the official organ of the Roman Catholic Church in Ontario, the organ which is presided over by a board composed of the heirarchy exclusively, and edited by a prominent priest. It was said in the hearing of The Times the other day that our paper quoted exclusively from the Orange Sentinel, and never gave opinions and arguments from the other side. Not to be thought unfair, we give below extracts from the Catholic Register and Extension Editorial Column, of which the Very Rev. A. S. Burk, D. D., L.L.D., is the editor-in-chief:

* * *

The world is really gone to the dogs. And there we leave it.

* * *

The Globe has an editorial on "Modern Interest in Relics" yet strangely omitted to mention the Loyal Orange Order.

* * *

Dr. Carman has given us a pretty and engaging picture of himself with his teeth set, and growling at the Pope of Rome. A frowzy-looking individual behind, with cloven feet, to say "Sic him, Towser," would complete the allegory.

* * *

Hocken, Ivens, Crawford, and Griswood—beauties all—are arranging for a mass meeting in the great walhalla of the city to protest against an imaginary Catholic marriage law, each one, however, with his eye on No. 1. The people these worthies can fool want to be fooled badly.

* * *

Peace dwelleth only in the hearts of the humble and envy and indignation in the hearts of the proud.

* * *

Church union in the abstract is popular enough among the sects, but the Greek Kalends will be around before there is anything practical doing. We wish they would unite. Their multitude and their clamor is now hard on the nerves.

* * *

J. P. Morgan has bought one of Luther's letters from a Florence dealer for $25,000. That is a lot of money for a letter that is worthless as an introduction to the saints in Heaven, and is only current where asbestos is exclusively employed in writing-tablets.

* * *

We read that the London Methodist Conference "cheered and sang after condemning "No Temere," and that after another such conference sparring exhibitions were carried out by the members. The condemnation and approbation of such riotous and irresponsible bodies carry very little weight anyway.

* * *

If Dr. Maclaren whimpered over our designation of his tactics with the Ruthenians, he will whine over this from Rabbi Jacobs' sermon: "Let the soul-grabbers of the Presbyterian Church remember the words of Him they profess to worship when he said, 'Woe unto you, scribes, pharisees, hypocrites, for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more a child of hell than yourselves.'" Even some of the Evangelical press may call this "scandalous language." It is certainly well applied to the Maclaren-Carmaghael propaganda.

* * *

It seems to be the only way the Protestant sects can swell their ranks—by proselytising people whom they, in their own silly arrogance, class as ignorant. It remained for us to tell them that they were transgressing on sacred ground when they attempted to prostitute the Ruthenians, and we are glad that Rabbi Jacobs now let a bit of light in upon their unworthy methods. A clever burlesque on their missionary tactics is to be found in "Obiter Dicta," this issue.

* * *

Really the Victoria College has a marvel in Professor Bowles. The poor fellow is in an awfully dangerous state of mind—knows nothing at all religiously, and, strange to say, whilst admitting his own state, would make others as empty and as miserable as himself! This is really the Nemesis of Protestantism!

Batty, Stobo, Pogue and Bowles.
Stauffer, Pedley—each one howls.

* * *

The Times could give many more kind references to Protestants. However, it may be said that there are some good Protestants. We know one that lived out near Nassau 30 years ago, but he is dead.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be chronic and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline. I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroying to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline. Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 25c; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

LETTER NO. 4911

Settled Out of Court.

The action before the County Court of the Peter Hamilton Co vs. J. W. Cummings, of Toronto, was settled out of court, judgment being entered for the plaintiff. The Hamilton Co. were suing to recover the amount of several promissory notes from the defendants who are a Toronto contracting firm. The latter have consented to settle the claims by paying $150 and three promissory notes of $75 each before June 27th.

Destructive Boys.

Complaints have reached The Times regarding the depredations of a gang of boys in the northern portion of the city, who are in the habit of invading the lawns, especially on unprotected corners. They usually take "short cuts," when rounding the corner, and in some cases tramp through flower beds, regardless of the harm that they are doing. It is to be hoped the parents will exercise some control over these youths, and endeavor to put a stop to the species of vandalism complained of.

Tennis.

In a City League tennis game last night, Mr. Meyers succeeded in defeating Mr. Collier, after playing three closely contested sets.

The first and second tennis teams of the "Y" last night had a warm match, when H. and G. Matthews nearly turned the tables on Hall and Cressman. The sets were 7—5, 6—4 in favor of the seniors.

Maple Leafs Defeat Midgets.

In one of the fastest games of the season, the Maple Leafs defeated the Midgets in the Juvenile League fixture. The winners are at the bottom of the league and the losers are a very strong team, thus the game was a big surprise to all. At the end of the seventh, the score stood 2—2, and another innings was necessary to settle the tie.

F. Tait officiated as umpire and was very impartial. The batteries were: Leafs, Brunswell and Dineen; Midgets, Parker and Horsefield.

THE FINDING OF TIMOLEEN

(By Louise Ostarian, in the "Youth's Companion.")

"I am sure this is the most dreadful birthday any little girl ever had," said Mildred, as she and Aunt Judith stood before the stove in a dingy little station far away in British Columbia.

The train had been three hours late. It was past eleven, and pouring in torrents.

"Not to-night, ma'am."

"How far is it to the village?"

"Nearly three miles, ma'am."

"Three miles from the village; rain, wind and Egyptian darkness! Not a very pleasant prospect for a walk!" laughed Aunt Judith.

"Oh, aunty, whatever in the world shall we do?" cried Mildred.

"Stay here all night, I suppose," said Aunt Judith, who had travelled all over Europe and Asia, and was never daunted by any ordinary difficulty.

"Yes, ma'am," said the station-master, "that's just what you'll have to do. It is not very comfortable here, but at any rate there will be a roof over your head, and that's a great thing on a night like this."

There were two rickety settees in the room. Aunt Judith made a nest of shawls upon one of them for Mildred, and settled herself upon the other. Soon the southbound train steamed noisily in, but left no passengers; and when it had gone the station-master took his hat and coat and the lantern and went out, saying he would return at six in the morning.

The light from the stove is enough. We shall sleep all the better," said Aunt Judith.

"But, oh, aunty, he has locked the door! He has locked us in!" cried Mildred, in dismay.

"No matter," laughed Aunt Judith. "He will unlock us bright and early to-morrow morning."

How the wind howled! How the rain dashed against the windows! One window had a broken pane, and they could hear the water dripping, dripping, down the wall to the floor.

What a dreadful birthday!

Just then she heard a noise at the broken window, and raised herself on her elbow to listen. What could it be? Was it a tramp? Was it a burglar? Was it a bear?

Again came the noise. First, a scratching, then a scrambling, and then something small and white bounded into the room, and jumped up on Mildred, whining and licking her hands.

Mildred sprang up with a scream.

"Oh, you darling, darling thing! Oh, you sweet dear, dear wee bit of a doggy! Oh, Aunt Judith, did you ever, ever see such a cunning doggy?"

They carried him to the stove and examined him by the faint light of the dying coals.

"A very valuable silver Yorkshire," said Aunt Judith.

"See his tiny black nose and his little pink tongue," said Mildred, "and just feel how soft and silky he is. And oh, do look at his lovely silver collar and his blue ribbon!"

"Perhaps we shall find his owner's name upon the collar," said Aunt Judith. "Keep still, you mite, and let me see."

But the collar bore only the one word, 'Timoleon.'

Mildred was dancing with joy. "Oh, Timoleon, darling, you must have come to be my birthday present!" said she.

She fed him with bits of chicken and cake from their lunch-basket, and then cuddled down in the shawls again with him clasped tightly in her arms. "What a perfectly beautiful birthday!" said she.

When the station-master returned in the morning he said that the Yorkshire must have belonged to someone on the southbound train, and that probably inquiries would be made for him.

"But, oh, my darling Timoleon! I could never, never let him go!" cried Mildred.

"Are you going to be around here long?"

"About a month," said Aunt Judith.

"Well, then, missy, you had better take the little dog with you, and you can leave me your address in case any one inquires for him."

But no message ever came from the Yorkshire's owner, and when Mildred went back to Boston, little Timoleon went too.

FOLDING TEA TABLE

Top Closes Over and Dishes Sink Out of Sight in Body

Sir John Knill, former lord mayor of London, has just been presented with a tea table like that in the illustration by the city corporation of that city. That fact alone would recommend the table to some people, but it happens to have merits of its own.

The big feature of this piece of furniture is that it "clears away" itself. The two end pieces that form part of the top, instead of folding down along the sides, as they do in most tables of this kind, turn up and fold down in the centre, allowing the centre portion to sink into the body, as they do, and all the dishes thereon disappear in the twinkling of an eye, leaving a table on which a rubber of whist may be played. Later, when the guests have gone, the dishes can be removed from the interior of the table and washed.

Out of 17 cases of typhoid fever in Charing, ten were traced to one well and came to town water.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge home like, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

THIS YEAR

PICTURESQUE SUMMER FROCK

Each new importation of French materials and each new output of domestic summer fabrics shows a decided preference for pink in every conceivable shade, with coral in the lead.

A stunning example of this is displayed in a model illustrated to-day Lower part of bodice, sleeves and tunic are white striped coral pineapple cloth, trimmed with a double row of black satin bands and black silk tassels. Skirt and yoke of bodice are all over embroidered batiste in same shade of pink, and the raised waist line is girdled with black satin.

The huge hat accompanying this costume is pink Neapolitan with narrow brim facing and crown band of black satin and two coral plumes on left side.

MILADY EXTRAVAGANT

How Thoroughly Fashionable Society Women Spend the Money

"A thoroughly fashionable Parisienne represents merely in her walking dress and appointments an outlay of $100,000." "It has been freely stated that fully $50,000 is spent annually by wealthy American parents on each of their daughters."

"Mrs. Howard Gould has stated that it is necessary for her to spend from $40,000 to $50,000 a year on clothes."

These are items from the fashionable intelligence of the day. No wonder that social reformers are crying out against the extravagance which Mrs. Asquith says is a passport into society.

At first glance, says an English paper, it seems impossible for a woman to walk about in apparel valued at $100,000, but this amazing sum is easily accounted for. The hat, for instance, with its triple aigrette, casts $300; the carefully matched hair, $200; the costume of velvet, embroidered with large flowers, represents a bagatelle of $300; under-bodice, silk petticoat, stockings, and shoes another $250. But we get into big figures when we talk of the sibeline mantle. This precious piece of human upholstery runs away with $50,000. As to the jewels—the modest pearl necklace, the little chain bracelet, and gold purse will account for another $30,000.

The smart society woman wants a new frock almost every week, and frequently $50 to $5.25 a yard is paid for a dress which may not be worn more than once or twice. A certain society dame wears a dress once or—if it be of extremely great value—twice, but all the trimmings and decorations must be entirely changed before she wears it a second time.

It is contended that no one spends more on dress than the American society woman, and one authority has stated that there are 100 women in New York, each of whom spends $150,000 every year on dress, while 1,000 others lay out $75,000 on their toilet.

WHY SHOES HAVE HEELS

Heels originally came from Persia, where they were used in the shape of small wooden blocks which the people fastened below their sandals in order to keep their feet as high above the level of the burning sand as possible. At first they were only about an inch high for men and women alike. Soon, however, the ladies favored fabulous sizes, reaching up to as much as nine inches. A few years later on these heels were brought to Venice, where they became the fashion; they were called chapineys, and were ornamented and decorated in every possible style and shape that cobblers could dream of. The height of the chapineys showed the rank of the wearer, and finally they attained such dimensions that many fashionable ladies were quite unable to walk.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

A breakfastcupful of sugar or flour is equal to half a pound; a teacupful, four ounces. A level tablespoonful, half an ounce; a dessertspoonful of butter, one ounce. Three pennies weigh one ounce; three half-pennies half an ounce.

HISTORICAL MARYS

They Have Played an Important Part in History

The name of Mary has played an important part in history. In Scotland the first royal Marie was the daughter of Duke Arnold of Guelders, who married James II., and afterwards became Queen Regent. Then we have Marie of Lorraine, who married James V. after refusing Henry VIII. Their daughter was the famous Mary Queen of Scots, the most romantic and fascinating figure in the whole history of the olden Marys. The Mary who is best known by her forbidding title on account of her cruelty to Protestants had best be passed over. Henrietta Maria became the ill-fated wife of Charles I. Mary of Modena was the second wife of James II. Mary, the daughter of James II. by his first wife, by her marriage with William of Orange invested their joint reign with a glory which is even now undiminished. Since then we have had several princesses named Mary—one the daughter of George II., another of George III., while the mother of our late Queen was Mary Louisa Victoria. But the most essentially English of all Marys in the history of the country is our present beloved Queen.

GOOD-LOOKING COAT SUIT

WHEN MAKING PILLOWS

To prevent feathers working through the ticking take a pound of flour, two pennyworth of beeswax (dissolved into a thin liquid), and three pennyworth of gold size.

Make the flour into a thick paste, mix in the beeswax, and then add the gold size. Turn the ticking inside out, spread it on a table and paste the ticking all over, using a clean brush to apply the mixture.

When the ticking is covered hang it in the open until the paste is quite dry. Then put in the feathers and sew up the ticking in the usual way.

USES FOR OLD SHEETS

Old cotton sheets make good bags for covering up gowns and coats in the wardrobe, one large sheet being enough for two bags. An old sheet will cut up into several slips for use on pillows over the ticking. Another plan is to take the best parts for making sheets for the children's cots and cribs; the very thin parts come in for dusters. In the sick-room there is no end to the possibilities of an old sheet. One half laid across the bed under the patient will serve as a draw-sheet. When sheets begin to wear, sew the sides together, cut through the middle, hem up again, and they will last a long time.

A GOOD PLAN

Take a piece of washing material, and make as many bags as you have gas-globes. Allow about half a yard for each bag, and run a string through the top. When you are sweeping a room, place these over the gas-globes, and tie the string underneath. They will keep out all dust, and you will be saved the trouble of washing globes; they will prevent moths and flies falling in the burners, and, of course, there is always a better light when no dust is allowed to get in the mantles. The bags can easily be removed when the lights are needed.

THICK MILK

Make a tablespoonful of flour into a smooth paste with a little cold milk; pour on to it one pint of boiling milk, add a pinch of salt, and boil for ten minutes, stirring all the time. Serve with brown sugar. This is very nourishing for children, and much liked by them.

Currant Loaf

Beat into two pounds of dough when ready for baking six tablespoonfuls of well-washed currants, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and one ounce of beutter. Bake like an ordinary loaf.

NOT AN IDLE DUKE

Norfolk Has Charge of the Coronation Preparations

One duke at any rate cannot be accused of leading an idle life. This is the Duke of Norfolk, who, as Earl Marshal of England, has practically the whole of the arrrangements for the Coronation in his hands. He has opened special offices to deal with the many matters of detail with which he is confronted, and is at work there early and late. The Duke is a particularly fast worker, and has the routine of his department at his fingers' ends, while his memory is little short of marvellous, and he can recall without much effort what was done at the last Coronation!

Tenders For Clothing

Sealed tenders, addressed to Ald. Morgan, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and endorsed, "Tender for Clothing," will be received for Firemen's Uniforms, up to 4 o'clock p.m., on

THE MARRYING AGE

When the Great Men of the World Got Married

What is the proper age at which to get married?

Looking back, one finds that the great men of the world have set no very definite precedent. Shakespeare was only eighteen when he entered the married state, while Ben Johnson waited until he attained his majority. The great musician, Mozart, was twenty-five; Dr. Johnson, Sir Walter Scott, Edmund Burke, and Dante left the important step until twenty-six.

Napoleon Bonaparte was twenty-seven, while his great adversary, the Duke of Wellington, was ten years older. Both Byron and George Washington chose twenty-seven as their fortunate year. Martin Luther had reached forty-two and John Wesley forty-seven before they joined the Benedicts.

But Thomas Parr, better known as Old Parr, who died at the reputed age of one hundred and fifty-two, must surely hold one record, for the last time he married his age was somewhere about one hundred and twenty years!

"FEEBLE STOMACH"

CAUSES DIGESTIVE WEAKNESS AND POISONS THE ENTIRE SYSTEM.

"No one can have suffered more than I did with stomach trouble," writes Phil. E. Pascalar, well known at St. Andrews Corners. "My doctor told me my indigestion and sleeplessness were due to poisons in the blood. Certainly my condition was desperate, and it seemed from the despondent feelings that swept over me that I would lose my reason. I happened to read about Dr. Hamilton's Pills and bought five boxes from the druggist. Such body-cleansing pills I never used; they were mild and yet quite strong enough to drive all the humors out of the blood. My stomach gained strength rapidly with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I improved so much that in eight weeks I could eat and digest all ordinary food. Depression and weariness passed away and I am, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills, enjoying robust good health."

No remedy for billiousness, indigestion, headache, sick stomach or constipation that compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse substitutes. Sold in 25c boxes. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE.

The Mail and Empire has an excellent article on the above subject, which we reproduce in full. Our contemporary says: It is not surprising that the parliaments of the various Protestant churches oppose with vigor the Quebec marriage laws and the Ne Temere decree. The Quebec marriage law declares that if two members of the Roman Catholic Church should be married by a Protestant minister the marriage is null and void, and the children are illegitimate. This situation is based upon a clause in the code which says that marriages shall be conducted according to the rules of the ecclesiastical body to which the parties entering into the contract belong. The Roman Catholic Church requires its members to be married by the parish priest. If, therefore, two Roman Catholics are married by a clergyman of another church the marriage does not hold good.

There is wisdom in the requirement that marriages shall be performed by the church to which the parties marrying belong. At the same time, when once a marriage is entered into it ought not to be broken because of the non-observance of the rule of any church. The marriage, in fact, instead of being set aside, owing to the situation that has been created, should be validated as speedily as possible. Certainly, the State, after doing its part towards the perfecting of the contract, ought not to declare the agreement irregular and improper. The Ne Temere decree deals with another phase of the marriage question. It orders that a mixed marriage—the marriage of a Roman Catholic and a Protestant—shall not be regarded as valid unless there has been a betrothal before a priest and a performance of the marriage ceremony by a priest. This adds to the power of the Church to regulate marriages. That it is a new position—a step beyond what was formerly held to—is made plain by the explanation of the marriage law of Quebec, as given by the Archbishop of Montreal ten years ago. The Archbishop, after intimating that the marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant is illegal, proceeds to observe: "The marriage of "a Catholic and a baptized Protestant, or vice versa, celebrated before "a Protestant minister, although "gravely illicit, and calling down the "censures of the Church, is, however, "a marriage contracted in a valid "manner, even in the eyes of the "Church herself. Once consummated, "this marriage cannot be broken by "any earthly power, death alone rendering liberty to the party surviving." The Ne Temere decree supersedes this understanding, and says that any marriage of a Catholic with a Protestant by a Protestant minister is null and void. In Quebec, where the code is interpreted as giving the Church the right to legislate on the question of marriage, the Ne Temere decree will have the force of law. But in the other parts of Canada the decree will operate rather as a means of requiring parties about to marry to go to the priest for the ceremony, and to comply with his requirements, or it will cast doubts in the minds of Catholics who have married Protestants under Protestant auspices as to the validity of their marriage bond.

As with the case of the marriage law, so with the decree, it invites opposition. Every church, of course, has the right to make rules for the regulation of the conduct of its members, and to apply spiritual penalties, such as exclusion from the church, for the violation of these requirements. But no church ought to be permitted to say that a marriage, made possible by the State, and entered into in good faith by both parties, is no marriage at all. And it follows that the State should not assist the church to dissolve marriages ratified by the State, but held by the church to be in violation of certain of its rules.

CHICAGO MERCHANT MAKES STATEMENT.

After Spending Thousands of Dollars and Consulting the Most Eminent Physicians, He Was Desperate.

CHICAGO, ILLS.—Mr. J. G. Becker, of 124 Van Buren St., a well-known wholesale dry goods dealer, states as follows:

"I have had catarrh for more than thirty years. Have tried everything on earth and spent thousands of dollars for other medicines and with physicians, without getting any lasting relief, and can say to you that I have found Peruna the only remedy that has cured me permanently.

"Peruna has also cured my wife of catarrh. She always keeps it in the house for an attack of cold, which it invariably cures in a very short time."

NO INTERFERENCE WITH AUTONOMY

London, June 14.—Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, first Lord of the Admiralty, speaking at Pontipool, referring to the Imperial Conference, said the meetings were leading up to the conclusion which would be of a deep permanent benefit to the whole Empire. The naval arrangements made with the Dominions are most satisfactory and the statesmen in the Dominions had joined with the Government in providing and maintaining the necessary means of defence, and while there was to be no interference with the autonomy of each member of the Empire, the foundations have been laid for a naval strength which, combined in war, would safeguard the Imperial interests in every part of the globe.

CANADIANS DINE PRINCE.

London, June 15.—Col. MacLean, and the officers of the Coronation contingent entertained at dinner at Claridges Prince Leopold of Battenberg, who was such a pleasant fellow-passenger on the voyage across. There were no speeches. The health of the guest and of Lord Cheylesmore was given. Col. Fages and Dr. Leterman sang their celebrated songs and choruses with great gusto.

Tennis.

In the Y.M.C.A. Tennis tournament yesterday, R. M. Glover defeated G. Austin, 6—3, 6—3.

The game between Mr. J. J. Thompson and Bruce Hamilton resulted in a win for the former, the score being 8—5, 7—9, 8—1.

Drowned While in a Fit.

Winnipeg, June 15.—A. J. McNeil, of St. Johns, N.B., had a fit passing through a vacant lot in the city and fell in a ditch. His body was found to-day, his head covered by four inches of water.

Five hundred Scotch women and children arrived in New York from Glasgow to join their husbands and fathers in the West.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments:- $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

HARDISTY

The Town of Hardisty is expending $15,000 in Cement walks alone this year. The Residential Streets are all being boulevarded, making it the most enchanting City in the West.

A large Public Park has already been reserved, beautifully located, running to the shore of a beautiful lake, which abounds with different kinds of fish. Several small lakes are in close proximity to Hardisty, which is bound to make it one of the finest summer and health resorts in the West. Within six miles from Hardisty is the famous Buffalo Park, which is a source of wonder and delight, containing the largest herd of Buffalo now in captivity. Hardisty has a typical sunny Alberta climate, conductive to the production of every kind of wild fruit and berries which grow in abundance all along the shores of Battle river and lakes.

C. P. R. Round House and Stalls at Hardisty.

HARDISTY already has 25 miles of side tracks, having a capacity of 1,000 cars, with an auxiliary yard having a capacity for 500 more, which will be doubled this year to cope with the immense traffic. The C. P. R. has already expended at Hardisty over $300,000 in Round Houses and Machine Shops. 8 more Stalls are being added this year to accommodate the increasing business of the company.

As can readily be seen on the map, Hardisty is the centre of the great Transcontinental traffic, the shortest route by 300 miles from Winnipeg to the great west. Hardisty is a splendid freight distributing point with direct connection with Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, and Winnipeg. Hardisty is the key to the last Great West, and the open door through which passes Alberta's great products of grain, timber, live stock and minerals.

The C. P. R. employs seventeen train crews, running to and from Hardisty daily, besides those employed in connection with the Round Houses, Machine Shops, Stores, Coal Shutes, etc.

Hardisty has the beautiful Battle River running past its door, affording no end of sport for the huntsman and fisherman, also assuring excellent sites for manufacturing concerns, and at the same time supplying the town with water if needed.

Hardisty has large General Stores, Hotels, Churches, Banks, Hardware Stores, Wholesale and Retail Butcher Shops, Lumber Yards, Implement Shops, Livery Barns, Large Schools, Hospital and Printing Offices.

Hardisty's surroundings are the best for mixed farming in the west, being three weeks earlier than the general run of places.

Spread out before you is the picturesque town of Hardisty, the Wonder Town of the West. It is cleft by the beautiful Battle river flowing pure and sparkling, affording water privileges that few towns can boast of.

HONOR THE HEROES

Colonel Merritt Would Have Monuments Commemorating 1812

Colonel W. Hamilton Merritt, for years commanding officer of the Governor-General's Body Guards in Toronto, is impressed with the example the United States capital holds out to Canadian cities in its manner of honoring national heroes. The city is decorated with beautiful works of sculpture at almost every turn, and many of these commemorate men distinguished in the military and naval history of the country. Colonel Merritt has summarized these as follows: Revolutionary War heroes, 4; War of 1812-15, 3; Mexican War, 1; Civil War, 10. "Why," he asks, "cannot Canada honor our heroes of 1812 by the erection of monuments to celebrate the centennial? And why are we afraid to call them 'victories'? The United States is not so considerate of others' feelings. Besides, it is due to our own self-respect."

LEGENDS OF ST. PATRICK

It is wonderful how many Irishmen there are in Canada on the seventeenth of March! Everyone who has the slightest strain of Irish blood displays it on that day, and so many boys and girls come to school decorated with a bit of Paddy green ribbon or a shamrock-leaf in memory of the patron saint of Ireland.

St. Patrick was born about 372, and was of noble parentage, but when 16 years of age he was carried off by pirates who sold him into slavery in Ireland. There he was employed for seven years as a swineherd, and learned the Irish customs and language. He escaped from captivity and reached the continent where he prepared for the priesthood and was ordained bishop. He then with the authority of the Pope, returned to Ireland to preach the gospel to its inhabitants. It is said that St. Patrick made use of the shamrock-leaf to illustrate the Trinity of God, and since then it has become the emblem of that saint.

The principal enemies that St. Patrick found in Ireland were the Druid priests whose enmity was so great that St. Patrick was obliged to curse their fertile lands so that they became dreary bogs; to curse their rivers so that they produced no fish; to curse their very kettles so that with no amount of fire could they be made to boil; and at last to curse the Druids themselves so that the earth opened and swallowed them up.

A popular legend relates that the saint and his followers were one cold morning upon a mountain without fire to cook their breakfasts or warm their limbs. Patrick told them to collect a pile of snowballs which he breathed upon, and they instantly became a pleasant fire.

The greatest of St. Patrick's miracles was that of driving venomous reptiles out of Ireland, and rendering the Irish soil for ever after hateful to the serpent race. Some historians relate that St. Patrick accomplished this feat by beating a drum, which he struck so hard that he knocked a hole in it. This would have endangered the success of the miracle had not an angel appearing, mended the drum. The patched instrument was long exhibited as a holy relic.

In 1831, an Irish gentlemen being anxious to learn whether the climate or soil of Ireland was destructive to serpents, brought half a dozen harmless snakes from England and turned them loose in his garden. A week later one was killed and the idea that a "rale living sarpint" had been found near the burial place of St. Patrick caused a great sensation among the country people and somewhat shook their faith in their beloved saint, but they have quite recovered it. It one can judge by the number of people throughout Ireland that on the seventeenth of March are wearing the green.

FOUND BUFFALO CARCASS

A curio which it is hoped will eventually find a resting place in the British Museum, has been acquired by James Fleming, of the American Hotel, Medicine Hat. It is a perfect head of a buffalo, preserved in an almost mummified for twenty-five years. The entire carcass was found by Sam Kelly in a dried up alkali lake, fifty miles from Medicine Hat. He chopped off the head and brought it in to the taxidermist.

Going Into Camp.

Every season the banks of the river in the neighborhood of Crawford's Grove, is a favorite camping ground for many of our citizens. This year will be no exception. Already tents have appeared on the ground, and others are soon to follow. The opposite side of the river is also to be occupied by campers, many of whom will spend the entire season there.

The recent rains have not been unwelcome to the farmer. Crops never looked better than at present, and a bountiful harvest is now within the assured.

A LITTLE TOO THICK

Softly he inserted his latchkey. And softly he let himself in. And softly he stepped up the staircase. And softly he entered his bed-room.

Ye little fishes be praised! She was sleeping.

With a silent prayer of thanks he began to disrobe. But suddenly he was arrested by a movement from the bed, and he dived under it.

"Edward!" said the voice of his wife.

Edward did not respond.

"Edward!" repeated his spouse.

Still Edward did not respond.

"You'd better come out, Edward," she observed ominously for the third time, "for I know perfectly well you're there!"

"Bless my soul," exclaimed Edward, creeping out shamefacedly. "How extraordinary! I must have been dreaming that I was out motoring!"

NOT ALL THERE

"Gentleman," said the candidate, "I am here—"

"So am I!" shouted a voice.

"Ah!" said the candidate, suavely, "but you are not all there!"

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding houses, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hooma River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Hooma River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $250 to $325 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hooma River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

Some Good Pointers to Pin Up in the Kitchen

Fresh milk applied to boots and shoes has a preservative effect on the leather.

If, in using a gas-stove, the oven becomes too hot, it can be quickly cooled by placing a dish of cold water inside.

When washing rough hands, if a little caster sugar is used on them, it will not only clean the dirt out of the cracks, but heal also.

It may not be generally known that if a piece of bread be put on the end of a knife whilst peeling onions it will prevent the eyes from watering.

A little cedar powder sprinkled on the top of the kitchen stove when cooking is going on will prevent the smell of food spreading to other parts of the house.

The upper leather of old boots makes capital iron-holders with a covering of serge or any other dress material. The leather keeps all heat from the hand.

If tomatoes are put into boiling water for one minute before being served at table it will be found that the skins come off quite easily, and the flavor will be greatly improved.

The soiling of walls caused by persons leaning their heads against the wall may be almost entirely removed by laying a sheet of blotting-paper on the spot and ironing it over with a hot iron.

Collect all odds and ends of candles and place them between a clean duster. Clean the iron da it before using, and you will find the iron go over the things as smoothly as you could wish.

In baking meat pies and fruit tarts they often boil over. To prevent this stand them in a baking-tin with some water in the tin. This will prevent the juice and gravy boiling out in the least, as the steam from the baking-tin keeps it in.

When your gas burns poorly, probably the mantle is black. If so, remove the globe get a salt-shaker, and with it sprinkle salt on the mantle—as much as will cover it. Then light the gas and let it burn until all the black is off. Then replace the globe. Cleaned thus, the mantle should be as good as new again.

Where a wall is so soft and loose that a nail driven into it for a picture or a bracket will not bear the weight of the latter it may easily be remedied. Mix a little plaster of Paris in a teacup with some water. Scoop out a small hole in the wall with a screw driver, fill it with the plaster, then insert the nail gently. It will set quite hard in a minute or so, and the nail will then be perfectly secure.

MUST PASS ON OCEAN

So Governor-General Will Not Take His Proposed Trip Up the Mackenzie River

Owing to his departure from Canada early in September, just prior to the coming of the Duke of Connaught, Earl Grey has decided to abandon his proposed trip during the summer up the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Ocean, and thence around through Bering Straits to Victoria on the cruiser Rainbow. Preliminary arrangements for the trip had been made, but his Excellency has concluded that he would not be able to finish this second trip through the Canadian hinterland in time to carry out the usual arrangement of having the departing Governor-General pass the incoming Governor on the Atlantic.

The proposed visit of his Excellency to the West Indies has also been abandoned.

HIS EXCELLENCY, EARL GREY

STRANGE, WEIRD MUSIC

Shells, Shanks and Shinbones of Animals Once Gave Harmony

The Guildford gentleman's discovery that a tolerable tune can be played on a bicycle pump is not so wonderful after all. Did not Richard Strauss include a schoolmaster's cane in the orchestra for the performance of "Elektra," and a new instrument called the heckelphone, which should be useful in electioneering? Buffalo horns of course, have been often utilised for more or less musical purposes; and in the olden days fishes' shells and the shanks and shin-bones of animals were made to give forth tunes of sorts. During the Maori War we discovered a native chief with a very tolerable flute fashioned out of the bone of a defunct enemy; but if anyone has doubts as to the music that can be got out of bones, let him pay a visit to any English seaside resort in the coming summer. During one of the Servian campaigns some twenty years ago, the troops marched to battle making hideous "music" out of old saucepans and kettles; and when John Ziska, the great Hussite leader died, his skin was tanned and made into a drum-cover in the hope that the resultant "music" would serve as a magical inspiration to the troops. Only a few years ago the Austrian bands each carried five or six "serpents" in the front rank. These instruments were in the form of a snake, the bell being shaped to represent the mouth, and painted blood-red inside, with huge white teeth and a wagging tongue, which moved up and down at every step.

FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH

A New Public Health Act in Manitoba Regulates Sanitary Conditions on New Lines

The Legislature of Manitoba has adopted a new Public Health Act. This Act embodies the latest ideas available from the experiences gained under the old Act and from similar legislation now in force in other provinces.

According to the proposed enactment, the regulation of the situation, sanitary management and maintenance of slaughter houses, canneries, creameries, dairies, shops, stores and manufactories of every kind is placed under the control of the Provincial Board of Health, and provision is made for the proper enforcement, by that body, of the statute. No offensive trade, industry or manufacture may be established without the consent of the municipal council of the locality in question. Regulations are set out for the sanitary condition of places for the manufacture of food supplies, or the disposal thereof, and for the destruction of unwholesome food. There are also clauses with respect to the construction, ventilation and sanitation of dairy and storage buildings of all kinds, to the handling of milk and food supplies, and to the erection, ventilation, sanitation and conduct of restaurants, pantries, cellars, etc.

The newer and more important regulations are those dealing with waterworks, sewerage and sewage disposal works, and the prevention and control of epidemics and similar matters relating to the welfare of the public.

DOCKING OF TAILS

Toronto Humane Society Will Stop the Practice Under Criminal Code —Other Cruelties

The Toronto Humane Society is going after the dockers of horse's tails, according to the announcement of the managing director. There is no specific law, he explained, against docking, so that it is impossible to prosecute the owners after the operation takes place, but the Act itself can certainly be construed as cruelty to animals under the code; and he hopes to be able to secure evidence of eye-witnesses in the near future whereby he can prosecute certain parties who have recently docked horses in Toronto.

A case of cruelty to rabbits at Stanley Barracks has been reported, rabbit saving been shown to dogs, after which the dogs were loosed and encouraged to pursue the rabbits and tear them to pieces. Col. Victor Williams, the officer in command, has been communicated with. The director also expressed his intention of petitioning the Minister of Justice at Ottawa, at an early date, so to amend the Criminal Code as to make it an offence to ship wounded animals, or to ship large and small cattle in the same consignment.

BEAVER IN THE WEST

A strange animal has been attracting the wonder of residents along the banks of the Assiniboine river in the vicinity of Armstrong's Point. The district is thickly wooded, and some mystery surrounded the movements of the visitor. A young man decided to do his part in unraveling its peculiar features, and procured a gun, went out late one afternoon recently, and on sighting the animal burrowing in the snow, shot it in the head. On investigation he was surprised to find that he had killed a beaver.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Killingbeck Gets One Year.

Yesterday morning sentence was passed by Judge Huycke upon 17 year old Vernon Killingbeck, who was found guilty of two charges of stealing money, by a jury with a request to the judge in the second case to exercise leniency in giving judgment. The prisoner was given a year in the Central prison on each charge, the terms to run concurrently making it one year altogether. Mr. D. O'Connell on behalf of the prisoner made an eloquent plea for mercy. At the request of Mr. G. N. Gordon, the judge said he would endeavor to have Killingbeck sent to the Agricultural Institution farm near Guelph.

A Bowling Tournament.

The Times would suggest to the members of the local bowling club, that they inaugurate a tournament this season. They should be able to secure the attendance of 25 or 30 rinks, without trouble. The bowling green at the corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, is in fine condition and is large enough to afford playing room for 8 or 9 rinks at a time. If a tournament was properly handled, rinks would no doubt come from Bellerille, Campbellford, Keene, Lindsay, Port Hope, Millbrook, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby, Port Perry, and many other places including Toronto. We hope president Brightman and secretary Clarke will proceed to get busy at once.

LOCKET AND ADDRESS.

Given to Ex-Deputy Chief Grange at Fire Hall.

A very pleasant event took place at the Fire Station Thursday when ex-Deputy Chief Grange was presented with a very handsome locket accompanied by a very flattering address.

Chief Howard in making the presentation, spoke in terms of praise of the services which Mr. Grange had rendered the city as a fireman. He was esteemed by every man belonging to the Department, and he would be greatly missed by them all.

Mr. Grange, in a few well chosen words, replied, thanking the men for their kindness. He would value the locket as a reminder of the pleasant days spent in the Fire Department.

Firemen McBride, Mundon and Kidd each spoke a few words on behalf of the men, saying that they were very sorry to lose Mr. Grange, as he had endeared himself to them during his term as Deputy Fire Chief.

FRUIT GROWING IN THE KOOTENAY DISTRICT

As I sit in my office writing this article I feel as if I would like to have a talk with the thousands of ambitious men who I know are fighting a helpless and hopeless battle for prosperity. I am addressing myself more particularly to men who are compelled through circumstances over which they have no control to labor at a business or profession which is not suited to their qualifications or desires, and which will leave them at the end of twenty or thirty years in a worse position than they are at present. There are many such men who would gladly welcome an opportunity to engage in a profession where a reasonable amount of work will bring returns that will place them beyond the necessity of worrying about old age pensions, etc.

It was my privilege and good fortune some time ago, to visit the Kootenay District, of B. C., and it was there that my eyes were opened to the great possibilities of those engaged in the profitable and pleasing occupation of fruit growing.

I was travelling on one of the palatial steamers of the Canadian Pacific down the Lower Arrow Lakes, and by chance got into conversation with two intelligent and cultured gentlemen, who were going to attend to the shipping and packing of fruit on their orchards. One of these gentlemen was a qualified Medical Doctor, and the other a lawyer, both of whom had given up large and profitable practices in London, England, in order to engage in Fruit growing in British Columbia. During the course of our conversation, an invitation was given me to spend a few days with them at their ranches, of which I gladly availed myself. After a delightful trip down the lakes, we arrived at the town of Edgewood, a young and promising town. We put up at the Local Hotel over night and early in the morning the autos were got out and we drove for a few miles up the beautiful Fire Valley. The Fire Valley is becoming rapidly famous as the most fertile and delightful Valley of British Columbia. The soil is rich and fertile and adaptable to the production of almost anything. The climate is as near ideal as one could possibly expect it, and there is sufficient rainfall to insure the success of the crops without the necessity of an expensive and troublesome system of irrigation.

I visited a number of ranches in the vicinity and secured from the owners facts and figures which, together with what I saw with my own eyes, gave me sufficient evidence to prove beyond any possibility of doubt, that here is one place at least where a family can live in perfect health and happiness, and where a reasonable amount of work will produce splendid results.

I visited the ranch of Mr. Fauquier This gentleman's orchards are run on truly business principles and everything of importance is noted down in a proper set of books kept for the purpose. I found an acre of strawberries on this ranch bringing in a net return of from $500 to $600 per annum.

I found Mr. A. Johnston growing 8 tons of potatoes to the acre and receiving an average price of $35 per ton.

I found an old gentleman 75 years of age, growing 34 tons of hay to the acre and receiving from $25 to $30 per ton for it.

After I had found out these facts, I naturally came to the conclusion that such profitable land as this must be very high, but on investigation I found that such was not the case, excepting where the orchards were fully developed. The average price of land, I found, is from $100 to $200 per acre in small tracts of about 10 or 20 acres, although quite a few large tracts of land have been turned over recently at a price ranging from $40 to $50 per acre.

The past few years' history of the Fire Valley makes an interesting story. The next 15 or 20 years' history will be still more remarkable.

The opportunities for future developments and profitable returns for both labor and capital are glowing and enticing. A striking proof of the great importance of the Valley, and of the quality of the fruit now being produced there, is the success which a number of the growers had at the recent National Apple Show held in Vancouver. In proportion to the number of exhibitors, it is estimated that this District took more prizes than any other district represented, and it must be taken into consideration that fruit growing in this particular valley is still in its infancy. A few years ago this part of the Kootenay District was considered to be unsuitable for the purpose of fruit growing owing to the fact that the average rainfall in this district is not more than 30 to 32 inches per year. Past experience, however, and Government experts now agree that the best kind of apples and fruit in general, requires only 22 inches of rainfall per annum for ideal conditions. It can be readily seen, therefore, that there is quite sufficient rainfall in the Valley, and it is also noted that the Provincial Government have been taking records for 18 years and have not yet recorded one crop failure. It must not be thought, however, that anyone can go into this district and take up a small part of land and get immediate and profitable results without work. Fairly hard work is required for the first 2 or 3 years, although in the meantime, a splendid living can be made from small fruits planted between the trees. After the first 3 or 4 years the life becomes easy in comparison to the work that the average man is expected to do, and the results are far more than the average man can possibly expect to get in any other business or profession.

The people who are settling in the Valley are mostly people of good education with small capital, and a desire for a healthy out-door life of independence and a reasonable amount of time allowed for recreation and sports. The Lower Arrow Lake forms at once a means of transportation and sport. Some of the ranchers own their own motor boats and in the lake are trout, etc. Back in the mountains and not more than 10 or 15 miles away, can be found a plentiful supply of deer, cariboo, black and grizzly bear, etc.

An important feature to be always considered in the purchasing of Fruit Lands is the marketing of the product. In this respect Fire Valley is in an exceptional position. The Fruit Growers Association with headquarters at Nelson, attend to all the products. It is shipped to them and they attend to the marketing of it, the grower simply receives a monthly cheque for the amount due him. Generally speaking it is not necessary to ship the fruit away from the Kootenays although there is an unlimited market for any surplus in the prairie provinces and in the larger cities of Vancouver and Victoria.

Many people are realizing that the Fire Valley offers them such an opportunity as they have been looking for, and numerous settlers are coming in every day.

If you want to get away from the stress and worry of city life and live an out-door life of health and happiness, it is worth your while to investigate the opportunities of this remarkable Valley.

VOL. XXXIV NO. 140 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY JUNE 19 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

GEORGE WAGNER MEETS A TERRIBLE DEATH WAS ELECTROCUTED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

A terrible fatality occurred yesterday afternoon at Nassau on the west side of the canal, when Mr. George Wagner received a fatal shock while engaged in repair work on the Otonabee Power Company's lines.

Mr. Wagner was an employee of Mr. P. R. J. McPherson and was not working at his regular job yesterday.

The deceased was widely known in the city and will no doubt be missed by a large number of friends, who were shocked to hear of the terrible death that had occurred to the unfortunate man.

STORY OF THE ACCIDENT.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mr. Wagner, with five other men, was doing repair work on the Otonabee Power Company's lines near Nassau. It happened that at 2 o'clock the power was turned on from No. 5 power house dam with the result that Wagner received afatal shock. When first electrocuted, he fell back and his hand struck another live wire. This wire burned through to his eats. He remained in this position until Dr. Greer, coroner, and Mr. Archie Moore arrived on the scene of the accident.

After the victim was taken down, it was seen that life was extinct, and one leg was nearly burned off.

The remains were then taken to Comstock's Undertaking establishment in an ambulance.

In the dead man's watch pocket of his trousers was a five dollar bill, which was burned into two pieces, and a silver watch, the corner of which was thickened by the electricity.

Mr. Wagner came to Peterborough from Guelph, and only last week received a letter from his father, inviting him to spend Dominion Day at home. On Saturday, he sent a reply saying that he would be home on the 29th.

The deceased was about 25 years of age, and was a young man of splendid appearance, being about six foot in height and weighing 190 pounds.

TO HOLD INQUEST.

Mr. Archie Moore has summoned jurors to hold an inquest at 8 o'clock this evening.

BRILLIANT SOCIETY EVENT TOO MUCH EVEN FOR REPORTER

London, June 17.—One of the most exclusively brilliant social functions of the season was the diamond coronation ball of the Royalist Club at the Botanic Gardens last night. The charming grounds were beautifully illuminated, the trees and shrubs being studded with fifty thousand electric bulbs in various colors, forming a veritable picture of fairy land, while a magnificent ball-room, the biggest thing of its kind in England, and large enough to accommodate a thousand couples in comfort, had been temporarily erected for the occasion.

The elite of London society was present, in addition to a number of distinguished foreigners. All the Kings and Queens of England, from Queen Anne down to the present time were represented, and the splendor of the costumes contributed to make the spectacle bewilderingly beautiful.

SIXTY THOUSAND MARCHED IN SUFFRAGETTE PROCESSION

THE LINE-UP EXTENDED FOR OVER FIVE MILES.

Was the Greatest Demonstration of Women in Support of the Suffrage Movement the World Has Ever Seen.

London, June 17.—The coronation procession of suffragettes, which traversed the streets of London this evening prior to the meeting at Albert Hall was probably justly described by "General" Mrs. Drummond as "the greatest procession of women in support of the suffrage movement that the world has ever seen."

From forty thousand to sixty thousand women, according to the various estimates, marched in the five-mile procession, which started at the Victoria embankment, which leads east from Winchester Bridge, and proceeded along the coronation route to Kensington. Militant and non-militant suffragettes combined on this occasion, all questions of caste being put aside and queens, or those garbed to represent such characters as Boadicea, Catharine of Aragon, Mary Queen of Scots, and Queen Victoria rubbed shoulders with fellow-workers in the suffrage cause from the sweat shops of White Chapel.

Every phase of social, professional and industrial life was represented, among the paraders being women of title, prominent actresses and suffragans. Hundreds of historic characters from the early stages down to famous Victorians like Charlotte Bronte, Grace Darling, Jennie Lind, and Mrs. Browning were portrayed.

Seven hundred women who had been imprisoned for the cause formed a striking feature of the pageant. They carried banners with mottoes, and the suffragette colors.

Miss Bryce, a daughter of John A. Bryce, member of the house of commons, and a neice of British Ambassador at Washington, was at the head of one of the contingents. Other prominent women in the line included Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical Society; Sarah Grand, the novelist; Princess D'Hubert, Mrs Wm. G. Cavendish Bentinck, Lady Frances Balfour, sister-in-law of the unionist leader; Mrs. Millicent G. Fawcett, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Sylvia Pankhurst.

One of the brigades was made up of women pipers in Highland costume, who played a stirring march at the head of the procession, while scores of bands led different contingents.

THE CORONATION IS ALL A GIGANTIC FARCE

Skibo, Scotland, June 17.—(Special).—Declaring that the Coronation is all a gigantic farce and a sinful waste of money, Andrew Carnegie at Skibo Castle to-day expressed the belief that England will never stand for another.

"Do you think I could leave this for London on coronation day?" asked the laird. "Not much. I don't know if there will ever be another coronation, but I don't believe England will ever stand for another foolish display such as this. The people will gradually wake up to all such nonsense.

"The investiture of the Prince of Wales with the Order of the Garter is another old custom which is simply ridiculous. Of course, England always has had coronations, and the saying is, 'England never changes anything,' but I believe they are making such a nuisance of this one that it will prove a last, final fling.

"This is not criticism of the Royal family. George will make an excellent a King as his father. I doubt if he wanted to be King, therefore, it may take time for him to get a hold on the people, but he is thoroughly English and will wield a great influence for good. He will be thoroughly in sympathy with the arbitration treaty with America.

"As for the coronation, I am glad to see so many Americans decided to stay away and that some London hotels, depending upon Americans for their patronage, are half empty."

St. John's vs. All Saints.

All Saints' nbt St. John's on Saturday on the Brinton Carpet Works' grounds, and sustained a heavy defeat. This is the third time they have been beaten, and they have yet to meet two of the best clubs in the league, "Coldsprings," and "St. James," so that their chances of winning the league cup are not very rosy. Their dreams of sending a photo of their club with the cup in the centre of the group, to their folks across the sea, once so distinct, present a somewhat faded appearance now. When it was known that St. John's had their full team in the field, everyone predicted a victory for them and events proved them right. St. John's led all the way and won easily by 4 goals to 2. Referee, Mr. Paget. Well done, St. John's.

WANT NEW TRADE RIGHTS

Imperial conference has recommended to the King the appointment of a commission representing the United Kingdom and all the colonies to investigate the commercial relations between all parts of the empire and suggest ways and means to increase trade between the other countries and the colonies, giving England the preference whenever possible.

Supporting this, Sir Wilfrid Laurier introduced a resolution reiterating the right of Canada and other self-governing dominions to make their own treaties with foreign countries and to withdraw from any treaties made by England which are inimical to the interests of the colonies. This was agreed to.

The conference discussed a motion by Sir Joseph Ward, Premier of New Zealand, for the establishment of a chain of state-owned wireless telegraph stations throughout the empire.

The postmaster-general, Mr. Samuel, said the government favored the plan, both for strategic and commercial reasons, and purposed to begin establishing stations in England, Cyprus, Aden, Bombay, the Straits Settlements and West Australia, from which would be linked New Zealand and later South Africa.

Work will be begun on the new Protestant Home at once, the contracts having been awarded to Ald. Graham, the well known contractor. The work has assuredly been placed in good safe hands, for Mr. Graham never does a poor job.

The heating is in the hands of Mr. R. J. G. Sutherland, and the plumbing was awarded to Adamson & Dobbin.

It is hoped that the appeal which is being made for subscriptions may be successful. A considerable sum is needed over and above what is now in sight. Mr. Travers of the Bank of Montreal, has kindly consented to receive subscriptions at the bank.

YANKEE THUGS BEAT UP OFFICER IN PAWN SHOP

Toronto, June 17.—Three badly wanted American thugs are in custody, and Detective William Wallace of headquarters staff is in St. Michael's hospital in a critical condition from a terrible beating received at the hands of the trio after a plucky fight of 15 minutes, when he attempted, single-handed, to arrest two of them in a York street pawn shop, where they were attempting to dispose of the booty from two burglaries committed by them a few weeks ago in Cambridge, Mass.

Wallace entered S. Helpert's pawn shop at 167 York street at noon on Saturday. There he found two men trying to dispose of a quantity of rings, pins and other jewelry. He questioned them as to how they had come by such stuff and was told to mind his own business. The men told him that he could not arrest them without a warrant, whereupon he laid his hand upon one of them, a stocky young man with sandy hair and complexion.

The man showed fight and indicated by the way he handled himself, that he knew more than a little about fighting. He later turned out to be a combination yeggman and pugilist. Wallace, nevertheless got his man down and seemed to be having the best of a strong battle when the other man who had been in the shop ran out the back way, returning a moment later by the front door, accompanied by another man.

These two set upon the detective, who was holding the other man down. They used not only their hands, but also their feet, kicking him about the head, face and ribs. Wallace turned to meet the additional forces, but was soon beaten into insensibility.

The trio then fled and made their way north to Adelaide street, followed by Helpert. Then they came upon a policeman. The officer advanced upon the sandy member of the three, who smote him in the stomach, and they continued their flight south on Toronto street. They ran into the lane behind the headquarters Hotel, and finding they could not get through it, turned back. There the policeman previously encountered grabbed one of them, while the others escaped. This man turned out to be George J. Farrell. He was taken to headquarters and the entire headquarters staff turned out to search for the other two. They were known to room in Church street, and a house to house search was started from King street. The two were found changing their clothes in a rooming house north of Shuter street, on the east side. They were also taken to headquarters, together with several grips containing part of the proceeds of their American shop-breakings.

Meanwhile Detective Wallace, who was in a semi-conscious condition, had been helped to headquarters by Henry Sorsf, 31 St. Patrick street, after Mrs. Helpert had done her best to wash and dress his wounds. He was covered with blood. He was removed to St. Michael's hospital in the police ambulance, where it was found that there was a fracture of the bones of the cheek which may extend to the skull, at the temple. He is expected to recover, but is very seriously hurt.

When Sergeant of Detectives Mackie went to the scene of the affray he found everything in terrific disorder. A drawer at the back of the counter had been opened and a revolver and .22 were taken. The revolver was found on the floor, near where the men had been fighting, and may have been the weapon which dealt the blow which broke the detective's cheek bones.

Questioned at headquarters, the men admitted that the rings and other jewelry and clothing found were the proceeds of two shopbreakings committed by them at Cambridge, Mass., four weeks ago.

On the same night they had entered J. Kemmer's haberdashery store in Central square and rifled the store. Then they entered M. Karney's grocery and novelty store in Norfolk street and robbed a showcase of jewelry and notions.

KEEP COOL.

A writer in the London Daily Mail says that thousands of people, especially Americans, have decided not to come to London because of the stories as to its fabulous prices for board and lodging. But the writer evidently does not regard them as entirely truthful, because he says that many hotels are being raised in the central districts of London, and advises visitors to go to the suburbs, where moderate prices will prevail.

The truth seems to be that on an occasion of this kind persons having accommodation for sightseers indulge in dreams of acquiring wealth in a few days, which are only dreams. In the jubilee of 1897 the regular hotel rates were not increased, at least to any alarming extent, but in some smaller concerns the charges were doubled. Enormous prices were at first asked for windows along the line of the royal procession, but when the eventful day came those who had waited found that they could obtain a view at a very moderate figure; and those who had indulged in dreams of wealth from this source, were in some cases disappointed.

The best advice that can be given to keepers of hotels and boarding houses, and holders of private of temporary for sightseeing, as well as to visitors, is not to lose their heads. The former class will make most profit by moderation, and the latter will find it advisable to keep cool, not to be afraid to spend money if necessary but not to give way to any exorbitant demands. It will be possible, by coolness and calculation, to live in London and see all that the general public can see—which may be less than you expect—without crippling yourself financially for life.

THE FRENCH IN CANADA.

Mr. Henri Lemay prophesies a great future for the French-Canadian race. His recent article in La Revue Canadienne has been translated by Mr. W. S. Wallace and finds sanctuary in the Canadian Magazine. Mr. Lemay is a young man.—A Nationalist, and while some of his compatriots may be disposed to think him unduly optimistic, it cannot be doubted that his facts and figures are interesting. His theme is introduced by the prophecy that the tie binding Canada to Great Britain will gradually relax until separation comes—without noise and without shedding of blood. Some day in this generation will appear in the heavens a new star—the Star of Canada—thrown off by the momentum of liberty from the constellation of which it hitherto had been the satellite.

Then Mr. Lemay plunges into figures. In 1760 the "nine proprietors of this land" numbered 60,000. Now they number 3,000,000. At the same rate of increase there will be a century hence 40,000,000 French Canadians in North America. The writer then turns to the conquests made by the French language in the past fifty years. In the Eastern Townships the change has been most apparent. Twenty years ago eleven counties in Quebec had a majority of English inhabitants—to-day the majority in all these counties is French. In the town of Sherbrooke 12 years ago the population was 9,000, the majority being English. Now there are 17,000 people, 11,000 of French origin. Compton, a county colonized by Scotch farmers, is rapidly becoming French. "This is how we have ousted our conquerors," says the writer, "from the district of the Eastern Townships which they had reserved as if it were a strong fort whence they could send out the armies which were to subject us to the yoke of Anglicization."

In Montreal enormous progress has been made. Financial and commercial supremacy of the English is not so crushing as it was a few years ago. In the Quebec Legislature up to 1897 the Cabinet was always half English and half French. Now only three ministers out of nine are English and one has no port folio. Except for the Budget Speech French is almost exclusively used in debate.

In Ontario the invasion is conducted from the West, the Nor'-West and the Southwest. French-Canadians in Ontario number about 225,000 now, double the number of 20 years ago. They have a preponderant voice in 15 counties. In a century the Province will contain 6,000,000 French and will be wholly Gallicized.

In New Brunswick out of a population of 360,000, ninety thousand are of French origin. The birth rate is 42 per 1,000, while the English birth-rate is 22. If immigration into New Brunswick does not increase the province will be conquered peacefully, just as the Eastern Townships have been. In Nova Scotia there are 50,000 French, in Prince Edward Island the French increased 4,000 in 10 years, while the total population decreased by nearly 6,000. So Mr. Lemay sees in the future a French country extending from the Atlantic to Lake Superior.

The West, according to Mr. Lemay, will not be a field of French influence but the French will be no negligible quantity there—perhaps in a century they will number 3,000,000. He closes with a passionate declaration that this land was consecrated from the beginning to the fleur-de-lys and the Catholic Faith.

Runaway Cattle Caused Excitement.

Battle Creek, Mich., June 19.—Great excitement was spread along the line of the Grand Trunk yesterday when the news flashed over the wires that an engine had "skipped out" and was running eastward at full speed. A fireman taking the engine in charge as hostler, pulled the throttle wide open as it chanced, and then jumped off, and—knowing what to do.

Train dispatchers who tried to stop the wild race were thrown off and the engine was soon out of sight on the main line. Engineer James Gordon himself took another locomotive and gave chase, while the operators along the line cleared all trains to turn in on the nearest side tracks. Near Dellwood, 16 miles from Battle Creek, the runaway engine, abandoned its fireman and was easily "captured" by Gordon.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tons of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt—would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

TO INVESTORS

We are placing on the market a few choice lots in the workingmen's residential sub-division of Welland South, close to the Union Station and the largest plants.

Every lot is within easy walking distance of the large factories, such as the Steel Plant and the Smelter.

The property has fresh water on one side of it and the river for drainage on the other side.

All lots are high, dry and level, and exchangeable within 90 days for any unsold lot of the same price, or money allowed on one of a higher price.

We believe every lot will double in value this year.

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

We Are Now Selling at the Following Prices:

A few lots at $ 85 per lot, $25 down and $10 per month for 6 months.
A few lots at 100 per lot, 25 down and 10 per month for 7½ months.

"Edward!" repeated his spouse.

Still Edward did not respond.

"You'd better come out, Edward," she observed ominously for the third time, "for I know perfectly well you're there!"

FLUTE PLAYING FOR WEAK LUNGS.

If your lungs are weak, take up flute playing, advises a London lung specialist, who has consideration enough for the neighbors of his patients to advise that practice on the instrument be undertaken in back yards or in the parks.

In the days of Byron and Goethe, flute playing was a favorite diversion of young men inclined to melancholy and unrequited love. Such young men are so rare in these strenuous days that the defiant cornet or the umph-ta-ah-ing slide trombone would seem a more appropriate means of expression for those who must make a noise in attempting to strengthen their lungs. We hesitate, however, to advise anyone who lives in a Canadian city to practice upon either of these instruments in a back yard. Too many missiles can be thrown from the windows of the exasperated, can be practiced silently. If it is neighbors' houses. No, our advice is not effective, move to the country, and try a wood wind or a brass instrument in safety.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind, that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $200,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheques thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Secretary.

ARTFUL DODGES TO AVOID RENT

Tricky Tenants who Plot to Have Comfortable Abodes Free of Charge

The methods adopted in London, England, to obtain the tenancy of a a house by rogues who never intend to pay any rent are extremely artful. Three constitutes the usual number of confederates in each gang, and for the moment we will suppose their names to be Smith, Brown and Robinson. The first step is for Smith to pose as a prospective tenant and visit various house agents' offices in the neighborhood selected, and obtain particulars of various habitations to be let. He is, as a rule, loudly dressed, wears expensive jewellery, and adopts no end of swagger, which is often as not deceives the unsuspicious agent.

Having chosen a suitable residence, Smith returns to the agent's office and agrees to rent the premises on the usual agreement, subject, of course, to the necessary decorations, etc., being carried out at the landlord's expense.

The agent makes a practice of asking for references, but this difficulty is easily overcome. Mr. Smith refers the agent to his landlord, Mr. Brown, and to his solicitor, Mr. Robinson. These gentlemen are duly written to, and their replies being, as may be supposed, so very satisfactory, Mr. Smith obtains possession of the house. Mr. Brown and Mr. Robinson also obtain their houses in different localities in an exactly similar manner.

Of course, no rent is ever paid, and in order, as long as possible, to delay the agent distraining, all kinds of excuses are made. At last the agent's patience is exhausted and an entry is effected. Imagine the bailiff's dismay, when, upon entering the premises, he is immediately shown actual receipts in Robinson's or Brown's name for the whole of the contents. He has no alternative, therefore, but to withdraw the man in possession.

In similar circumstances, when the bailiff in Brown's district distrains for rent, receipts are produced in Smith's name, and likewise as regards Robinson. But this is not all. These gentry refuse to give up possession of the house until paid a sum of money by the landlord, and often as not they obtain fairly large sums in this manner, as the owner would, by the cumbersome methods of legal procedure, be kept out of possession for quite a lengthy period. Hence, it is often to his advantage to pay the rogues rather than wait and incur further loss of rent.

Of course the landlord may go to the expense of a summons, and will, perhaps, be successful in obtaining an order for payment by instalments, but before the first instalment has become due the rogue has disappeared, only to adopt similar practices in different neighborhoods under various aliases. The landlord is thus left with further costs to pay and nothing in return.

NOT SICK FOR 76 YEARS

Lord Swaythling Was a Marvel of Good Health

The late Lord Swaythling, the famous Jewish banker, was a marvel of health. The first illness he ever had was contracted in January, 1909, when he was seventy-six years of age, through a heavy London fog, when he was laid up with severe bronchitis. Lord Swaythling considered that his marvellous health was entirely due to the fact that he was a strict observer of the Mosaic laws pertaining not only to daily food, but to hygiene. Lord Swaythling was head of the great banking firm of Montagu and Co., and during his career had the honor of being consulted by no fewer than three Chancellors of the Exchequer—both Conservative and Liberal. He passed through many crises in the City, and well remembered when the Bank of France was so short of gold that it paid the bankers to draw golden napoleons from the bank itself, send them over to England to be melted down into bars, and resell them to France at a profit.

A CENSUS OF THE STARS

Orbs That Move Less than a Second in a Century

Mr. F. W. Dyson, the Astronomer-Royal, speaking recently on a Census of the Stars, said that great as was the value of the census of the stellar population, it would be of far greater value when additional details were given with it. To what questions could they reasonably expect answers were a census to be taken? They could ask in what part of the sky a star was situated. That could be clearly answered of every star that they could see or photograph. They might ask how bright a star was, and an accurate answer could be given of every bright star and an approximate one of all other sorts. In what direction was a star's proper movement? The proper motion of thousands of stars could be given. How fast was a star moving in miles per second towards or away from the sun? The number of stars in respect of which that question could be answered had been rapidly increasing in the last few years, and had reached some thousands. They could also ascertain whether a star was double or single. In 1885 it was calculated that there were 200,000 stars, down to a magnitude of 9½. Now, more than a million for the whole sky had been definitely ascertained as regards their positions and magnitudes, and the number of stars approximately in the sky down to the 14th magnitude was 24 millions. The star with the largest proper motion was quite a faint one. It was discovered in 1897, and it moved 8.7 seconds a year. To make a complete circuit of the sky it would take 150,000 years. In the constellation of Orion there eight bright stars that moved less than one second in a century.

CARE OF CLOTHES

Teach Children to Look After Their Clothing Properly

Many a woman who is an expert in the cleaning of paint, and who has taught her children correct table manners, has neglected to teach them to care for their clothes properly, and, indeed, many women do not seem to understand that process.

How many throw their clothes down on a chair when they take them off at night? True, they may fold them, but the neatly folded garments laid on top of each other on the back of a chair become creased, and are not properly aired.

When the garments which have been worn next to the body, and have necessarily absorbed the moisture from the pores, are removed, they should be hung where there is a circulation of air, that they may be properly dried and aired.

Hang up the garments, letting them get thoroughly dry and aired before putting them on again, or before putting them away in the cupboards or the drawers.

When one gives the matter a moment's thought it will readily be seen how untidy and insanitary it is to treat the garments as many people do, throwing them down in an unaired heap during the night, and putting them on again in the morning.

Another bit of advice in regard to the care of the clothes is to remove any grease-spots immediately on taking off the gown.

Rub it at once with some French chalk, rubbing the chalk on the soiled spot lightly, and letting the garment lay overnight in the chalk, then shaking it off the next day.

Magnesia may be used instead of the chalk; but whichever you select, remember that the best way to treat a white garment is to rub it with chalk or magnesia when you take it off, fold it in blue tissue-paper, and lay it away in the big box or drawer until you want to wear it, then shake out the chalk. You will be surprised to know how long a white blouse may be worn without sending it to the cleaner if you treat it in this way.

GETTING OVER MEASLES

The Necessity of Watching the Little Patients Carefully

In spite of all that has been said by doctors against the old custom of considering measles a "mild disorder," many mothers do not realize even now how much care is necessary with regard to the child who is convalescing after measles. Chills are extremely dangerous at this time. A large number of cases of consumption are the outcome of a chill caught after quite a mild type of measles. Ear mischief also may arise after measles, and it is important to prevent the child sitting in draughts, and to summon the doctor immediately on any appearance of earache. A course of nourishing food and cod-liver oil is generally required at this time, and the wearing of warm woollen combinations will help to prevent chills.

BEADED NET TUNIC

Tunics grow more elaborate each day, and the beaded variety is beautiful. These are not among the impossible things for idle fingers, and if a woman is at all clever with her needle she can fashion one herself at about one-third the cost asked for them in the shops. Most of the new tunics are long, reaching almost to the hem of the satin slip. The shorter tunics are usually shaped around bottom, and almost always are pointed on sides and finished with a tassel.

VIGILANCE

Mistress:—"Bridget, what business has that policeman in my kitchen every night?"

Bridget:—"Shure, mum, he's a sargint, and he says he has come in to see if any common constable is sneakin' off his beat."

Going Into Camp.

Albury square the banks of the river in the neighborhood of Campbell's Grove, is a favorite camping ground for many of our citizens. This year will be no exception. Already tents have appeared on the grove, and others are soon to follow. The opposite side of the river is also to be occupied by campers, many of whom will spend the entire summer season.

The recent rains have not been unwelcome to the farmer. Crops never looked better than at present, and a bountiful harvest is now in the offing.

TO WASH SCARLET FLANNEL

Mix a handful of flour in a quart of cold water, and boil for ten minutes. To this add some warm suds, and then wash the flannel, gently rinsing rather than rubbing it. Now rinse in two or three waters comfortably warm, to the hands—no better—and hang to dry in the shade. By this method the color should remain good after many washings.

A REMINDER

The witness looked youthful, and appeared to be rather uncomfortable, too. Consequently counsel assumed his most imposing manner.

"You describe yourself as a writer?" he began.

"Yes, sir."

"What kind of a writer—a sign writer?"

"Not an author."

"Partly, sir."

"What do you mean by 'partly'?"

"I'm in father's office, sir. He's a money-lender, and I'm the author of all the sharp letters to backward borrowers. If you remember, I sent you one last week."

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway granted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are great treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party to misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second Avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will easily go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 62 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

A DEAL FOR BIG MILLS

Ottawa, June 16.—It is current rumor to-day in Ottawa financial circles that negotiations are in progress for the sale of the extensive lumber and milling interests of J. R. Booth to an English syndicate. The price is said to be eleven million dollars. It is known that for some weeks men have been going over and investigating the limits of the firm to report to the prospective purchasers.

When asked to-day respecting the report, Mr. C. J. Booth would not confirm it. "Propositions have been made to us from time to time," he said, "but I imagine father will stick to the business. No sale has been effected yet."

It is stated that the negotiations are being conducted through an Ottawa bank, and if the reported deal goes through it will embrace all the lumber, pulp and paper mills and limits in Canada and the branch at Burlington, Vt.

FIVE LONG YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

Montreal, June 16.—"Guilty" was the verdict rendered to-day in the case of C. D. Sheldon, charged with appropriating to his own use funds given him by various clients for investment.

A sentence of five years in the penitentiary was given immediately.

The judgment was rendered by Judge Langelier, who had sat as trial judge in the case in the Court of Special Sessions.

Theft was the particular charge on which judgment was rendered.

FAMOUS BLIND POOL.

Charles D. Sheldon first appeared in Montreal in the fall of 1908 and immediately began advertising in a small way in certain daily and weekly papers. The game in which he posed as an exponent was what is familiarly known in the world of finance as a "blind pool."

He claimed to be on the inside of the stock market and that he could manipulate stocks and securities in such a manner as practically to guarantee from 20 to 30 per cent. a month on his clients' investments.

GIVEN LARGE RETURNS.

The first clients attracted in the venture were given large returns for their money and became themselves great advertising factions for the supposed "wizard of finance."

The amount of business turned over by Sheldon became so great that he had to vacate the rather unpretentious office he was occupying on a side street and take up a large suite on St. James street.

His advertisements, however, became so bold, that newspapers convinced that his methods were not what he represented them to be, challenged the "wizard" to throw open his books.

A HURRIED DEPARTURE.

His departure on October 11 created consternation among his depositors, the large part of whom were widows and people in straitened circumstances and could ill afford to lose the money.

On March 27, he was apprehended in Pittsburg, by O. R. Hatfield, of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, and William Elmore, of the Pittsburg city detective force.

Immediately following his arrest, Chief McCaskill, of the Provincial detectives, was notified and proceeded to Pittsburg to bring Sheldon back to Montreal.

SIR WILFRID TO SAIL FOR HOME JUNE 30.

Military Contingent to Come on the Same Boat and Probably Mr. Brodeur.

Ottawa, June 16.—Advices have been received here that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has booked his passage on the Empress of Britain, which is scheduled to leave Liverpool on June 30, but which may be held over until the next day in order to allow the Premier to attend the Dominion Day dinner in London, on June 30.

The military contingent will return by the same boat, and also Hon. L. P. Brodeur, if he can finish his negotiations with the admiralty in regard to the plans for the Canadian naval vessels.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION TO SEE WHY THEY ARE LARGER HERE THAN ELSEWHERE.

Co-Operation Desired — Provincial Governments Will Be Asked to Legislate Against Fire-Traps.

Ottawa, June 16.—The Commission on Conservation is about to enter upon an important enquiry into the fire losses in Canada, both urban and rural, with a view of ascertaining why it is that the fire bill of Canada is so much greater than it is in Europe and in certain portions of the United States.

The investigation which will be conducted by M. J. Patton, M.A., assistant secretary, will be a compliment to one already held by the commission into forest fires and their causes, especially in relation to fires caused by locomotives and railway construction camps.

The various fire insurance companies will be asked to co-operate, and it is expected that the building inspectors of the various cities will be able to give valuable information as to their by-laws as regards fire protection and building restrictions.

One result will probably be an appeal to the various Provincial Legislatures to pass uniform legislation in order to secure more stringent regulations against the erection of fire traps. It will also be necessary to secure co-operation with the Underwriters, to ensure the observance of such regulations as may be agreed upon.

A Passaic priest at a wedding in his church denounced rice throwing as a superstition, and forbade those present to continue the practice.

LAME BACK

Just the Sort of Case That Proves to the World That the Best Liniment Ever Made Is NERVILINE.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person that has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan E. Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong, powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. I have been accustomed all my life to lift great weight, but one day I overdid it, and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and pain-subduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household cure for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pain."

LETTER NO. 4769.

No better medicine for curing pain was ever put in a bottle than Nerviline—over one million bottles used every year—better try it yourself. 25c or five for $1. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A MENACE TO HEALTH OF THE WORLD

Chicago, June 16.—China is a perpetual menace to the health of the entire world, according to Dr. M. R. Edwards, head of the branch of the medical school of Harvard University which is being established in Shanghai to combat disease. Dr. Edwards arrived to-day from a tour of China.

"Every ship that sails from a Chinese port is a possible carrier of cholera, bubonic plague, and even leprosy to the outside world," he said.

"China has all the diseases of America and Europe and many others. Against them it has no adequate medical protection."

"WAS FADING AWAY"

A YOUNG WOMAN — SCARCELY THIRTY—SEEMED TO BE DYING OF HER WEST.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURED

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was not right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again and all my color, spirits, vigor and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

PATHETIC STORY CHILD DESERTION

Toronto, June 19.—One of the worst cases of cruelty with which the authorities have had to deal came to light early this morning when three little homeless tots were found wandering in a strange city, starving and bearing marks of the most brutal treatment.

They were picked up by a milkman in the down town section of the city at three o'clock. When found they were weeping bitterly, standing hand in hand by the kerb, partly from hunger and fear. He gave them each a good drink of milk, which they gulped ravenously, and then drove them to the Children's Shelter on Simcoe street.

They gave their names as Emily, Joseph and Annie Steadman, and their ages as 10, 9 and 5 years old. The story they told Superintendent Duncan was most pitiful, and their jaded brains, and cringing manner, showed only too plainly that they spoke the truth.

Emily stated that they had been taken to Whitby and placed on the train at the Station for Toronto. They were given no money whatever, and did not know where to find their home. They thought they lived in Toronto however. The three arrived in Toronto about 3 o'clock. They did not know where to go and wandered the streets until found. They said that they had nothing to eat from the previous day.

A story of being most brutally beaten was also told by the eldest girl. This was proved without doubt who showed that her back was one mass of blue and black, raw flesh, which stained her clothes with blood. Her arms and limbs were also in a similar condition.

It was apparent that the children had been kept in a constant stage of neglect and cruel treatment. Their faces bore the white, pinch of poverty and their clothes was most meagre and coarse. Several times when they spoke of their parents they cried and declared that they did not want to see them.

It is the opinion that they were taken to Whitby and abandoned there. At present the authorities are hunting for the parents of the children, and if found they will be taken into custody on a charge of neglect, cruelty, and possibly desertion.

SPORTS.

At the Golf Club tennis courts yesterday evening the "Y" Seconds broke even with the Golf Club in a rattling good game of tennis, which resulted in each team winning a set. H. Matthews and Mr. Scott represented the "Y" team, while Messrs. Henderson and Cluxton played for the Golf Club.

Baseball.

In the Twilight league last night, the Hustlers succeeded in putting over a third consecutive defeat on their victims. The poor Pets were the losers of their scalps. The score being 10—4. The batteries were:—Hustlers—A. Trull and A. Darling; Pets—F. Tait and J. Marsh. Umpire J. Pogue.

The Juvenile League.

The next game of the Juvenile League will take place to-night at 6.30 sharp, when the Lights clash with the Rebels. "Bill" Curtis will do the umpire stunt.

Football.

The football brancheis are again requested to be present at the Park street football grounds this evening, at 7 p.m., sharp: Jones, Hall, Paget, Theobald, French, Kennedy, Haw, Williams, Hornby, Thompson, Riddiford and any others who think they can play football, or an approach to it. A good time is expected, as most of the single-bliss artists are in love. So come. Refreshments at close of game.

Forwards—Sharman, Gash, Turner Dawson, Pearson.
Reserves—Smith, Robinson, Taylor, J. Smith.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

DOING VERY NICELY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I understand the city is doing very nicely without the services of an Industrial Commissioner. Mr. Armstrong, who is looking after this department, as well as his own, is doing good work, I believe. I am informed that there will be no let up in the effort to secure more industries, and this work is being pushed vigorously.

Peterborough has no special inducements to offer in the shape of cheap power or better transportation facilities as compared with many other places, therefore we are badly handicapped at the start. Notwithstanding this, I believe there are some excellent prospects ahead for the city.

Progress.

DO NOT CARRY LIGHTS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would call the attention of those who own motor boats on the river to the law regarding lights. It is imperative that all motor boats should carry two or more colored lights. I happened to be down the river a few days ago in a skiff, and returning after dark, was nearly run down by a motor boat. You see, the trouble is you can hear their approach all right enough, but you cannot see them, and trust to luck in avoiding a collision. I hope the motor boat men, as well as those using smaller crafts, will see that the law is carried out, and not wait till a catastrophe occurs.

Safety.

"THE PEOPLE'S CHIMES."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—At this time it would seem opportune to make certain announcements and explanations regarding the "People's Chimes," which are now installed and will be publicly inaugurated on Thursday next, Coronation Day, and be dedicated at noon by his Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, when citizens generally are warmly invited to be present.

But before dealing with the future it may be well to recall certain matters of past history with which some may not be familiar. The movement was started in April, 1910, with the definite object of marking the 75th anniversary of St. John's church. The scheme was tentatively presented

CUT HONEYMOON ALLOWANCE

Ottawa, June 19.—The premium for marriage in the civil service at Ottawa has been reduced. The service is famed far and wide for the unusual proportion of handsome young women it contains and marriages are frequent. When one of the ladies intimates an intention of becoming married, it has been the custom to allow her six months leave of absence on full pay. Some of the powers have evidently reached the conclusion that this is too liberal and the allowance has been cut down to four months.

THREE BOYS WERE DROWNED

Parry Sound, June 19.—Word was received here this morning of the drowning of three boys, aged 16, 14 and 12 years, sons of Mr. Thos. Fawcett, who resides at Shawanaga Station, on the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, 17 miles north of Parry Sound.

Particulars of the accident have not yet been received. The family last year suffered the loss of their home and household effects by fire.

JAMES MADILL BURIED

Remains of the Victim of Recent Train Wreck Laid Away.

Toronto, June 19.—Mr. James Madill, who lost his life in the wreck of the International Limited near Newcastle on Friday, was buried this afternoon at Mount Pleasant Cemetery the funeral ceremonies being held at the residence, 50 Spencer avenue.

Rev. Mr. Geggie, of Parkdale Presbyterian Church, assisted by Dr. Turnbull, of the West End Presbyterian Church, conducted the services. Five brothers of the deceased acted as pall-bearers; William, of Peterborough; Thomas, of Syracuse; John, of St. Catharines, Ont., and Ben. and Walter of Toronto.

The six brothers had acted in similar capacity for three sisters, and for their father and mother. The floral tributes were many.

MR. GORMAN AGAIN HONORED.

President of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

The T.A.S. held a largely attended meeting on Sunday afternoon in St. Peter's Cathedral, where, after receiving the Holy Communion, the election of officers for the next year took place, resulting as follows:

Spiritual Advisor—Rev. Father McColl.
Chancellor—James Kelly.
President—Thos. Gorman (by acclamation).
1st Vice-Pres.—Leo [illegible].
2nd Vice-Pres.—Wilfrid Grisdale.
Recording Secretary—Nicol Foster.
Financial Secretary—A. H. Lahey.
Asst. Marshal—F. Harley.
Guard—R. Devlin.
Trustees—M. Lynch, D. Cushing, and R. P. Carey.

A GOOD SUNDAY SERMON, THEN UMPIRE SAID "PLAY BALL"

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 19.—A new era in Sunday baseball may have been marked by a semi-professional game here yesterday when the Rev. J. W. Lartin, a local pastor, opened the game with an address to the crowd of a thousand. Men, women and children stood in the hot sun for nearly an hour and heard him preach a sermon on practical religion to fit the needs of the masses. One minute after the clergyman had retired the umpire "play ball" and the game was on.

LORD STRATHCONA ABOUT TO RESIGN HIS POSITION

Ottawa, June 19.—Nobody here in authority has received any notification of Lord Strathcona's resignation of the High Commissionership. If such has been handed in, it has been to Sir Wilfrid personally, and he alone knows of it.

There is no doubt, however, that Lord Strathcona is anxious to be relieved of his duties, and that he has been pressing his resignation for some time past.

The Government, will, of course, have considerable difficulty in selecting a successor, and it is believed here that the Government may ask his Lordship to continue in office for a few months to allow of the selection of a proper successor.

WILLIAM WHYTE TO SUCCEED HIM

Winnipeg, June 19.—Sir Daniel McMillan to-day said that the report that he is to succeed Lord Strathcona is news to him. The report is not credited in Winnipeg.

The rumor that William White, vice-president of the C.P.R., will succeed Lord Strathcona, however, is generally believed.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

The pupils of Miss Julia Choate gave a violin recital at the Conservatory Hall last night. A large number of the friends of the pupils were in attendance and enjoyed the recital immensely.

Jury Will Learn How Hugh Darke Was Fatally Injured.

A jury was empanelled at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Comstock's undertaking establishment before the Coroner, Dr. T. N. Greer, for the purpose of inquiring into the cause of the death of the late Hugh Darke. The jury is as follows: W. A. Howard, foreman; John White, James Edgar, J. O'Brien, J. Denno, John Fraser, R. J. Kidd, R. McWhinnie, W. B. Armstrong, W. R. G. Higgins, Wm. H. White, George Evans.

WILL CEEEBRATE MASS ON CORONATION DAY

Bishop Fallon Issues Order, and Father Tobin Explains the Reason—Allowed to Eat Meat.

London, June 19.—In the Catholic churches of this city yesterday it was announced that by order of his Lordship Bishop Fallon a mass will be celebrated in the churches on Coronation Day for His Majesty King George V.

"Catholics owe a great deal to the British Empire," said Father Tobin in St. Mary's church. "They enjoy the greatest amount of liberty in the Empire of any country in the world. King George is the only British monarch to ascend to the throne in three hundred years without insulting his Catholic subjects by calling them idolators. A mass will be offered up for him that he may worthily fill the exalted office to which he has been called."

In honor of Coronation, Catholics will be allowed to eat meat on Friday next.

INQUEST LAST NIGHT.

THE WEATHER.

THE MARRIAGE SQUABBLE

Extracts From the Catholic Register Dealing With This Subject.

No Church, claiming to safeguard the deposit of the Faith and its sacraments, could relinquish this great sacrament to the control of the civil arm.

• • • •

This laxity in the matrimonial tie has certainly not come from the fact that the Catholic Church has legislated long and serious on it; but from the fact that the civil power and those sects which have been given the right to perform marriage under it, have had no commensurate idea of what matrimony meant, and have thus opened the door to the vilest abuses.

• • • •

We believe that marriage is a sacrament, and as such is above the law of the State.

• • • •

The Catholic Church has safeguarded these sacred things which Christ has committed to her in the interests of mankind; she has suffered persecution for them in other days, and today her illustrious Head is anxious that there shall be no possible doubt as to her attitude on the marriage question or the conditions which she requires to have it validly entered into. No threats or persecution will turn him or her from the course which in conscience must be pursued.

• • • •

The papers that are crying out for a civil marriage for Canada are undoubtedly the worst enemies of Canada. They can take their own religion and its ordinances as lightly as they like; but they are not going to interfere with the indestructible Church of God.

• • • •

The unions made before preachers or registrars or in any or all of the grotesque ways reflected in the press, may be acknowledged as valid before the Church is simply ridiculous.

• • • •

"There is only one religion that dares in every country, regardless of smiles or frowns, to fight strenuously for the continuity of the valid marriage tie. To sling missiles at her for doing so is rather throwing stones from one's own little green house."

After reading the above clippings from the special article in the Register on the marriage squabble it is interesting for The Times' readers to turn to "The New Marriage Legislation", published under full ecclesiastical authority, (page 64, section 21):

"If for an entire month, parties cannot secure bishop, parish priest or any priest appointed by either of these, they may in the presence of two witnesses (there is no marriage if there be not two witnesses) declare their consent to marry. They are then in the eyes of the Church, and before God married."

CELEBRATES SILVER WEDDING

The Largest Reception in Many Years Will Be Held at the White House.

Washington, June 19.—President Taft and Mrs. Taft celebrated their silver wedding to-day. Twenty-five years ago William H. Taft married Miss Helen Herron at her father's home in Cincinnati. Mr. Taft was a young lawyer; Miss Herron had been a school teacher. To-day in the White House they celebrated the quarter century of married life during which Mr. Taft became a United States judge, Commissioner of the Phillipines, Secretary of War, and President.

A reception, the largest for many years at the White House, will be held to-night.

Having lost in Wall street speculation in about 60 days the fortune of $25,000 which she inherited from her parents about eighteen months ago, Miss Ursula Ross, twenty-three years old, made an unsuccessful attempt to to poison herself.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDIES WITNESSED BY OVER 250,000 PEOPLE

TWO BURNED AND ONE CRUSHED TO DEATH IN A SUNDAY AVIATION MEET.

Several Others Fell and Sustained Minor Injuries—6,000 Soldiers and 2,000 Police Had Charge of Crowd.

Paris, June 19.—What might have been a triumphant new science of air conquesting was spoiled yesterday by three tragedies and the impossibility of restraining the crowds that gathered before dawn to witness the start of the Journal's aviation race. A crowd of not less than 250,000 literally flocked to the Vincennes artillery field, and together there were 6,000 soldiers and 2,000 police on hand to hold the crowd in check. There were 30 competitors. Le Martin who was the twenty-fifth to start had hardly cleared the ground when it was evident to the onlookers that he was not the real master of the Blériot monoplane in which he was riding. The apparatus tossed terribly, and then the motor stopped. Le Martin began to descend a little, and as he described a circle in the air the crowd below was struck with terror. When within 180 feet of the ground it was seen that all hope for the aviator was lost, and he came headlong to the ground. He was killed almost instantly. His head having been terribly crushed.

SECOND FATALITY.

The second fatality occurred at Issy les Moulineau. Lieut. Princeteau and a dozen soldiers who had been ordered to accompany the circuit in aeroplanes, had prepared to leave for Vincennes, and seven of them were in the air, when the carburettor of Princeteau's machine set fire to the aviator. He noticed that his clothes were burning and began to descend from a height of 75 feet, when the wind struck the machine underneath. The machine landed abruptly on its right wing, and then the gasoline tank exploded. In a half a second the Blériot was a mass of flames. Lieut. Princeteau made almost superhuman efforts to extricate himself from the frame of the burning monoplane, but his legs were caught between a part of the machine and the ground and he was powerless.

The spectators, among whom was the luckless lieutenant's brother, could not approach the wreck because of the fierce heat. When they were finally able to quench the flames the body of the officer was unrecognizable and a mass of burned flesh.

Lieut. Princeteau was 36 years old and a typical cavalryman. He had ridden many winners in officers' steeplechase races. The morning's Official Gazette contained his promotion to the rank of captain for "exceptional services rendered to military aviation."

BURNED TO DEATH.

The third death was that of M. Leaudron, who was burned to death near Chateau Thierry. The machine in his reservoir exploded and ignited his clothing.

Lieut. Gaubert, flying under the wing name of Palger, fell near Soissons and was injured, but not dangerously. Several others fell and were badly shaken up. Garros, who started at 6.16, soon was to be seen returning and contrary to the regulations, he was returning along the course. He passed just a few yards above the officials and the members of the press grouped at the starting line, and descended to the ground near the main stand.

Shrieks arose from the spectators, who were jammed so tightly together that they were unable to move. But the soil fortunately was sandy and the machine stopped within a few feet of the barrier.

Lepine, the Chief of the Paris Police, was in a rage, and threatened to stop the race if there was a repetition of Garros' act.

The committee fined Garros 500 francs, and he prepared to make a second start. He failed again, but this time landed at a point that was safe.

With the most careful organization the police were unable to withstand the crushing thousands. At 6.30 o'clock the official hangers were invaded and the varriers completely demolished. Some extremely ugly rushes by the crowds had to be stopped forcibly by the cavalry.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

At the County Magistrate's Court yesterday Louis Thibadeau and Osborne Montgomery, river drivers were charged with attempted murder. They were arrested at Bobcaygeon on Saturday by County Constable Cochrane, and brought to the city yesterday morning. They were represented by Mr. G. S. Gordon, and were remanded until Friday at 10 o'clock.

It appears that these young men were coming down the Nogey Creek, on a drive, and the wind turned against them, so they stopped at the Creek Bridge and got into a little shed there. While there a young boy named Campbell came along and spited the door. The men inside had to break the door to get out, and when they did so the boy had gone. The next evening they were in the place, and the boy appeared on the scene again. He was, it is stated, using some insolent language, and the men caught him and ducked him in the creek, with the result of this charge being laid.

Crown evidence, it is stated, will be to the effect that they took the boy into the middle of the creek, amongst a lot of logs, threw him in and left him to sink or swim. But to meet this the defence states that the water was only two feet deep. No evidence was taken in the case, as the witnesses could not be present but it will be dealt with on Friday.

OBITUARY

There passed away yesterday evening at the family residence, 110 Dublin street, an old and esteemed resident of the city, in the person of Mrs. James Johnston, aged 72 years. The deceased lady had not been in good health for some two years, but was able to be about the house as usual until Friday last, when she became suddenly worse, and passed away as above.

Besides a husband, Mrs. Johnston leaves to mourn her demise four sons and one daughter, as follows: W. J. Johnston, the well known ex-Alderman and contractor; Joseph, Herbert, Ernest and Mrs. Fred Allison.

Matilda Jane Denison.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Denison, who passed away on Sunday morning, will take place this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery, from the National Hotel.

Deceased underwent an operation a short time ago for appendicitis and was making good progress towards recovery until last Wednesday, when serious complications set in and she rapidly sank until death intervened as above.

The late Mrs. Denison was born in Coldwater, Ont., 41 years ago, and when married Mr. and Mrs. Denison moved to New York, where they resided for a number of years, afterwards moving to Toronto. Eighteen years ago they again returned to Coldwater, where they were engaged in the hotel business. Three years ago they moved to this city, where they took charge of the Hotel National.

GOT MILLIONS FOR THINKING

Some of the Really Great Inventors Who Have Got Their Dues

The popular idea of the inventor is a half-starved, out-of-elbows sort of individual, whose brain teems with brilliant ideas, but who has not got sufficient business sense to make even a living out of them.

But times change, and so do inventors, and within the past few months we have seen two instances of men of humble birth becoming rich by the fruits of their clever brains.

The more recent case, and the one which has caused most interest in this country, is that of Mr. James Hedgkinson, who, in February last, received a cablegram announcing that his agent had disposed of the American rights of his new process for making salt for five million dollars. He will probably receive as much again for British rights; so here we have an inventor who, by dint of a brilliant idea carefully carried out, has obtained riches.

The Great Gates

The other great inventor of 1911 is George Gates, a Californian, who, like Mr. Hedgkinson, is no longer a young man. He fought in the American Civil War in the early sixties.

Years ago, seeing the vast waste of timber entailed by the cutting of millions of railway sleepers, and the very short time which these lasted, he set to work to devise a substitute. He found it in a form of concrete, a composition of substances which afford extraordinary resiliency and durability combined.

In January last he sold the patent rights to a great syndicate of eleven railway companies for the gigantic sum of three and a half millions sterling. He now has machines at work, each of which will turn out 3,500 of these sleepers per day. It is said that within a very few years wood will have become quite obsolete as a material for railway sleepers.

Speaking of inventions for producing salt at low cost, Mr. Hedgkinson had a predecessor, who made a very fair fortune out of a patent of this kind just two hundred and fifty years ago. His name was Edward Bart, and he was one of the Puritans who left this country and settled in America in the seventeenth century.

A patent was granted to him at Charlestown on May 27th, 1652, to make salt for ten years, and it is recorded that he made more than $2,000 a year—a very much larger income in those days than it is now.

Case upon case may be cited to prove that the inventor by no means always fails to get his deserts. Four years ago James Develin, a railway fireman, got an idea for making rotary engines reversible, and set to work to build a model.

One of those miserable thieves who are always trying to pick the brains of the inventor, got hold of him, and tried to drug him and steal his model. Feeling himself becoming sleepy, Develin had the presence of mind to smash his model to pieces and burn his plans before he became insensible.

Fortunes in Slot Machines

He carried the whole idea in his head for some months, then reconstructed a model, patented it, and presently sold it to a syndicate of steamship companies for a very comfortable little fortune indeed.

Penny-in-the-slot machines have made many a fortune. Mr. Mills, "the penny-in-the-slot king," said not long ago that three men, working together for an hour, evolved a fortune-telling machine. Fifty thousand were sold, and the profit was enormous.

The Howard patent for boiling sugar in vacuum was one of the finest ideas from a money-making point of view ever evolved. Howard's income from royalties, which were paid at the rate of one shilling a hundr-dweight-ven, it is said, into many thousands of pounds for years.

On April 11th, 1904, a new metal was patented in Paris. Two inventors, two Italian engineers, had spent years of time and all the money they possessed—about $30,000—in perfecting their discovery. The two of them ate dry bread for dinner on the night they succeeded. A few weeks later they sold their rights to the Corbel Electric Company of Belgium for $1,200,000.

The metal is composed of copper, iron, and infinitesimal portions of silver and phosphorous. It is stronger than steel, a better conductor than copper, and costs only a tenth as much as bronze.

ANTS SCARE ELEPHANTS

Every Kind of Beast and Reptile Fears the Bull Ant

In the vast equatorial forests of Africa the most dreaded of animals is the great bull-ant. Unlike other ants, it carries nothing away; everything is eaten on the spot. Every kind of beast and reptile—elephants, lions, gorillas, snakes and man himself—flees before this terrible insect.

These ants march through the forests in a long thin column, two inches wide and miles in length. If they come to an open space where there are no trees to shelter them from the sun, they burrow underground and form tunnels, through which they march on. It often takes as long as twelve hours for one of these armies to pass.

Any creature overtaken is at once attacked with irresistible fury and instantly devoured. The strongest and weakest, the most fierce and the most timid of creatures, are alike their prey.

Natives overtaken by them seek refuge in the nearest pond or river. Yet, even when the ants themselves are drowned, their strong nippers refuse to relax their hold upon any flesh they may have attached themselves to, and, though their bodies are torn forcibly away, their heads remain.

BEAVER IN THE WEST

A strange animal has been attracting the wonder of residents along the banks of the Assiniboine river in the vicinity of Armstrong's Point. The district is thickly wooded, and some mystery surrounded the movements of the visitor. A young man decided to do his part in unravelling the possible mystery, and procured a gun, went out long ago afternoon recently, and on catching sight of the animal hurrying in the direction of the river, fired. On inspection he was surprised to find that he had killed a beaver.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realise this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt--would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

A LITTLE HENPECKING

—By GEORGE BRYAN

She was a "terror," to quote Mr. Middleditch's own words. Some three months before she had come for a couple of months to see "her dear daughter Hannah." Perhaps she noticed the unwelcome glint in her son-in-law's eye when she spoke of extending the visit for a further day or two. Anyhow, she was still there, and, to the unhappy husband, it seemed as though she was likely to be a permanent resident.

During the first few weeks Alfred Middleditch, finding his pretty broad hints ignored, let himself go in choice sarcastic shafts.

"When's the furniture coming along, ma?" he asked on one occasion, and was met with the prompt rejoinder:

"Not until send for it."

Mrs Sarah Tyson (that being the lady's name), was a brawny, large-limbed woman with "a will of her own," which will, as a matter of policy, was always set in direct opposition to that of her daughter's husband.

Mrs. Tyson had some very modern and decided views as to relative importance of the sexes, and these views she practised to such good effect that Mr. Middleditch soon found himself dethroned as master of the house—a mere cypher: a wage-earner.

In these distressing circumstances he confided the story of his trials and humiliations to his friend Tom Dunner. That gentl man responded with a half-pitying, half-contemptuous smile.

"A man what lets a woman sit on his chest ain't a man!" exclaimed Mr. Dunner.

"Do! Me! Why, my wife's ma comes round to help with the washing or minds the kids when Betty an' me goes to the Empire!"

"She's one o the good-natured sort," suggested Mr. Middleditch. "What if she was like mine?"

"I'd 'out' her; blow me, it'd be a pleasure to do a month for the privilege. I'd ask her quiet an' civil-like at first to take her body off the premises. If she point-blank refused, I'd catch hold of her an' drop her somewhere."

"My ma-in-law," said Mr. Middleditch, quietly, "is about five foot eleven; she is as broad as she's long, an' weighs somewhere about fifteen stone. She could pick me an' you up like—like two loaves o' bread, Tommy."

Mr. Dunner scratched his head perplexedly.

"I'm surprised at you marrying into such a family—meaning no disrespect to the missus, o' course. You can't use a gun, can you?"

"A gun?"

"I was thinking you might pretend to go stark, raving mad."

"Ho-ho! She'd have me put in Colney Hatch. Nothing'd please her better if it wasn't that the wages would stop coming in."

"Look here," said Mr. Dunner, "I've got an idea. Supposing someone else does the trick for you—scares her out of her life so that she never wants to set foot in your place again?"

"That's about it," replied Mr. Middleditch; "but he'll have to be about twelve foot high an' used to managing menageries."

"He won't," retorted Mr. Dunner, "he'll just be an ordinary desperate burglar with a revolver—a casual acquaintance o' mine; Ted Climes by name."

A smile lighted up Mr. Middleditch's face.

"I'll tell you what," he chuckled, "he's got my full permission to ransack all ma-in-law's belongings, and keep whatever's worth carrying."

"It's as good as done. I'll give Ted Climes the tip, an' we'll arrange time an' date later," said Mr. Dunner. "Ted'll jump at a nice soft job like that. I suppose you wouldn't mind giving Ted half a quid as a sort o' deposit—just to show it's all fair an' square like. I'll give it to 'im when I mention it to 'im to-night. There's no need for you to be dragged into it. You don't want to meet Ted. I'll arrange everything for you for nothing—as a pal."

"It's very good o' you, Tom," said Mr. Middleditch. "I can safely say the burglar's no pal o' mine, can't I?"

"That's my idea," chuckled Mr. Dunner. "You're not forgetting about the half-quid, are you?"

"Oh, o' course! Here y'are."

Mr. Middleditch was informed that evening by his friend Mr. Dunner that all had been satisfactorily settled with his friend, the cracksman; and Ted Climes, having worked off outstanding engagements, was ready to burgle Mrs. Tyson's room on the next night or the small hours following.

"He asked me," said Mr. Dunner, "whether the gentleman employing him could spring another five bob down. I told him I'd see what you said."

"He'll have all he takes," grumbled Mr. Middleditch. "The old girl's got some decent jewellery—gold watch, necklet, rings, an' such-like."

"Ted Climes wants to do the job properly," explained Mr. Dunner. "You wouldn't like him to go without the revolver, would you? We don't want any gore spilt; an' if he bashed her one with his jemmy in the heat o' the moment it might be awkward."

"We'll have none o' that," retorted Mr. Middleditch. "I don't want the bedroom rug spoiled. Why can't he take the revolver?"

"Look here, he's pawned it. I wouldn't spoil the job for the sake of five bob if I was you."

The money was produced and handed over, and Mr. Dunner promised to send it at once to his friend the burglar for the redemption of his trusty weapon.

"Mind you," said Mr. Middleditch finally, "not another halfpenny do I pay out. An' when the job's done I know nothing about it, an' I don't want ever to see Ted Climes or hear what he's got, or anything."

Mr. Middleditch came home from work on the following evening looking very serious and thoughtful.

"Sad this! We never know whose turn's going to be next, do we, ma?" he remarked with a heavy sigh as he sat down to his tea.

"What's the trouble now?" asked Mrs. Tyson. "There's nothing the matter with your bar sluggin' arm?"

"I know there ain't; it's one of our days at the works. Got caught in some machinery this afternoon."

"Caught arm, I s'pose!" retorted Mrs. Tyson.

"Dunno. He's booked; not expected to live the night. Keeps calling for me. Our governor says I'd better go as soon as I'd had my tea and sit up with him."

"Your governor has no claim over you in your own time," emphatically declared the old lady.

"He—he wants me to do it as overtime," ventured Mr. Middleditch.

"That makes all the difference. Hannah, you can have that new hat we were looking at this afternoon. Alf's overtime money will just come in handy."

Mr. Middleditch went off to see the imaginary patient, puzzling out the problem of a "time and a-quarter" for eight hours at sevenpence-halfpenny an hour.

"Six an' threepence to fork out!" he groaned. "This is comin' a bit more expensive than I bargained for."

To pass away the time he called on his friend Dunner and stayed with him until midnight, when, receiving the delicate hint that Mr. Dunner "didn't know 'owever he was going to wake up at six in the morning," he took his departure and roamed the streets until daybreak.

He was cold, hungry and miserable when he let himself in eventually, but he smiled hopefully when he found his mother-in-law sitting up waiting for him.

"Pore old Bill," he muttered, "I'll save the last of——"

"Alfred," broke in Mrs. Tyson, with an imperious gesture, "something serious has happened while you were out."

"Something's happened?" queried Mr. Middleditch, gazing at her with an assumption of bewilderment. "Nothing—nothing the matter with Hannah?"

"No; burglars, Alfred. They would come the night you were out."

"Watched me going, I dare say," suggested Mr. Middleditch. "Were there many of 'em?"

"Revolver?" echoed the attentive auditor. "You—you saw him?"

"Saw him! Yes, it's a wonder I'm alive to tell you. I disturbed him, and he covered me with his weapon and threatened to blow my brains out if I moved a muscle."

"Did—did he escape?" inquired Mr. Middleditch.

"Of course he did. What could I do but let him take what he'd got? Better that than have your brains blown out."

"Certainly; did he take much?"

"Quite enough. There was your watch and chain——"

"My what?" cried out Mr. Middleditch in sudden alarm.

"And what have you lost?" gasped Mr. Middleditch.

"Me? Nothing. You see, I disturbed him—and, besides, he wouldn't think an old lady like me had anything worth taking. He was loaded up with your things—walked out backwards with 'em in one hand while the other pointed the revolver at me. I was never so scared in all my life—an' Hannah sleeping like a top upstairs, too."

* * * * * * *

Mr. Middleditch made an early morning call on his friend Mr. Dunner. Mrs. Dunner opened the door to him and surprised him with the information that her husband was ill in bed.

"I'll trot up an' see him," said Mr. Middleditch.

"Hello; what have you been doing to yourself?" he asked when he got into the bedroom and discovered his friend scowling and fuming in bed.

"I'm ill; what do you think I'm here for—fun?"

"I don't want to disturb you," said Mr. Middleditch soothingly, "but I want you to do me a favor. I want Mr. Ted Climes' address."

"You said you never wanted to set eyes on him."

"I do now, very particularly. I want to ask him something about that here burglary."

"You—can't—see—'im," retorted Mr. Dunner—"there!"

"Why not?"

"Because there ain't no such person," replied his friend slowly.

"Ain't no such—— Who broke into my house last night?" demanded Mr. Middleditch.

"I did."

"You?" roared the other. "Oh! You did, did you? Then, Mr. Tommy, I'll just trouble you for my watch and chain, my clothes, my boots, my——"

"What are you raving about?"

"I'll rave you in a minute if I don't get 'em quick. Oh, an' my money; I want fifteen bob off o' you!"

"I reckon I earnt it," groaned the man in the bed.

"Praps you earned my suit o' clothes an' my——"

"Didn't I tell you I know nothing about 'em? I never took a ha'porth—didn't get the chance."

"Then what did you do?" asked Mr. Middleditch, despairingly.

"I broke in all right," replied Mr. Dunner, ironically, "an' I got to the top o' the stairs, an' then—then your ma-in-law came out."

"Well?"

"I pointed the revolver at her an' says 'hands up!' The next thing I remember was something sudden happening. It must have been the poker. When I came to I was at the bottom o' the stairs with my head between my legs. She was standing over me—an'—as she was master o' the situation, there's no denying it. She asked me if I wanted any more, so in the end I had to—to—confess."

"You did, you—you Judas!" hissed the furious visitor. "But she swears you took all my things."

"Then she's a—well, she's no lady!" retorted Mr. Dunner.

FLUTE PLAYING FOR WEAK LUNGS.

If your lungs are weak, take up flute playing, advises a London lung specialist, who has consideration enough for the neighbors of his patients to advise that practice on the instrument be undertaken in back yards or in the parks.

In the days of Byron and Goethe, flute playing was a favorite diversion of young men inclined to melancholy and unrequited love. Such young men are so rare in these strenuous days that the defiant cornet or the umph-ta-ah-ing slide trombone would seem a more appropriate means of expression for those who must make a noise in attempting to strengthen their lungs. We hesitate, however, to advise anyone who lives in a Canadian city to practice upon either of these instruments in a back yard. Too many missiles can be thrown from the windows of the exasperated ear by practiced silently. If it is neighbors' houses. No, our advice is not effective, move to the country, and try a wood wind or a brass instrument in safety.

THE MOST PROFITABLE BUSINESS IN CANADA.

It has been carefully estimated by experts that more money is being made by dealing in fruit lands than in any other business in the whole of the Dominion; that is to say a larger percentage of profit is made in proportion to the amount invested, and when one knows the real condition of things this cannot be wondered at. Take for instance, the fact that 100,000 new farmers must buy new farms and begin to till the soil each year in order to supply the constantly increasing requirements of a country such as this whose population is growing by leaps and bounds. If each one of these new farmers should purchase only a very small tract of land, it means that 4 million acres of land changes hands each year, and the average profit on the retailing of Fruit Lands can conservatively be estimated at from $40 to $50 per acre.

The wide-spread demand for productive Fruit Land in a climate such as British Columbia can boast of, has naturally created what is to-day the most profitable business in Canada, namely, the Land Selling Business. A well organised Land Selling Company dealing in only very small proportion of the land that will be sold during the next few years will pay the shareholders enormous dividends, and this without a possibility of any loss.

The man with money who is looking for a safe investment, that will bring in big returns, cannot do better than investigate the foregoing statements and endeavor to secure an interest in a thoroughly well organized Land Selling Company.

Probably one of the best known and most reliable Companies now offering their stock to the general public is the Fire Valley Orchards Ltd., whose head offices are in Vancouver, B.C., This Company bought 2940 acres in the well known Fire Valley in the Kootenay District, B.C., about 18 months ago. Owing to the exceptional circumstances the land was bought at the rate of $19 per acre and though it is worth considerably more than that to-day, the Company are offering the general public an opportunity to purchase shares on the same basis on which the land was bought. The management and directorate of the Company are composed of men of expert and practical business experience who are thoroughly competent to carry the affairs of the Company to a successful issue. We understand that only a limited amount of stock is being offered the public, as only a proportionately small amount of money is required to meet the requirements of the Company at the present time.

The object of the Fire Valley Orchards, Ltd. is to offer the land for sale to the settlers in 5 and 10 acre tracts at the usual price asked for Fruit Lands in the Fire Valley District, namely, from $100 to $150 per acre. The lands will be extensively advertised and an active campaign will be organized with the object in view of interesting the settler in this particular district.

Enormous profits are being made by people who have been fortunate enough to secure large tracts of Fruit Land and sub-divide them into 5, 10 and 20 acre tracts and offering them for sale to the actual settler. Capitalists and home seekers are finding that the Fire Valley is an ideal section for profitable investment of their surplus capital while the man of small means can find an opportunity in this favored Valley where happiness and independence go hand in hand.

Money grown very rapidly in this part of the country and investors and home seekers who desire to take advantage of the opportunities, will do well to investigate and act quickly.

There is a time in the history of every enterprise when the experimental stage is over. This time is usually just before the issue of the first dividend when a little more money is required to make the enterprise into a permanent dividend payer. The operations of the Fire Valley Orchards has passed the experimental stage. It is an organized and carefully managed enterprise with real merit behind it. Careful estimates made by companies' authorities place it in the class of propositions from which the annual net profits should be from 200 to 300 per cent. This may seem large, especially when the enterprise is considered to be on an exceptionally safe one, but a thorough investigation of the Company's property and the conditions will convince you that even the above estimate is very conservative.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

A bulletin of the Census and Statistics Office, just issued, states that the season this year has been favourable for field crops in all parts of Canada, and excellent reports have been received from all the provinces. The lowest percentage of condition is made for fall wheat, which suffered from inadequate protection in the winter months, and also to some extent from spring frosts. The areas of fall wheat are greater than last year by 4.50 per cent. and of spring wheat by 13.70 per cent. The total area in wheat is 10,503,400 acres, as compared with 9,304,800 in 1910 and 7,759,400 in 1909. The per cent. condition of fall wheat at the end of May was 80.63, and of spring wheat 96.69. The area in oats is 10,279,800 acres and its condition 94.76, as compared with 9,804,100 acres and 93.95 per cent., condition last year. Barley and rye each showed a small decrease in area, but the condition is higher than at the same period last year. Slight decreases are also reported for areas of peas, mixed grains, and hay and clover, with per cent. condition of over 90. Hay and clover have a reported condition of 91.45 for the Dominion, being practically 100 in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The area of the field crops named is 32,061,500 acres for 1911, compared with 30,554,200 acres for 1910 and 28,194,900 acres for 1909. In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta the area in wheat, oats and barley was 3,491,413 acres in 1909, 6,000,300 acres in 1995, 11,-902,000 acres in 1900, and 13,000,-300 acres in 1910, and it is 15,355,-500 acres this year. The increase of these crops from 1900 to 1911 was 2,666,666 acres in Manitoba, 7,364,-315 acres in Saskatchewan, and 1,-836,073 acres in Alberta.

THOUGHTS FROM GEORGE MEREDITH

Women don't care uncommonly for the men who love them, though they like precious well to be loved.

After forty, men have married their habits, and wives are only an item in the list, and not the most important.

Intellectual differences do not cause wounds, except when very unintellectual sentiments are behind them.

Gossip must often have been likened to the winged insect bearing pollen to the flowers: it fertilizes many a vacuous reverie.

Drolleries, humors, reputed witticisms, are like odors of roast meats, past with the picking of the joint. Idea is the only vital breath.

Cynicism is intellectual dandyism without the coxcomb's feathers; and it seems to me that cynics are only happy in making the world as barren to others as they have made it for themselves.

The true word spoken has its chance of somewhere alighting and striking root. Look not to that. Seeds perish in nature; good men fail. Look to the truth in you, and deliver it, with no afterthought of hope.

HIS OPINION OF POLITICS

"Want a lift, mister?" asked a good-natured farmer, driving that way.

"Thank you," responded the politician, "I will avail myself of your kind offer."

The two rode on in silence for a while. Presently the farmer asked:—

"Professional man?"

"Yes," answered the politician, who was thinking of a Bill he had pending before the House.

After another long pause the farmer observed:—

"You ain't a lawyer, or you'd be talkin'; you ain't a doctor, 'cause you ain't got a bag; and you ain't a preacher from the looks of you. What is your profession?"

"I am a politician," was the reply.

The farmer gave a snort of disgust. "Politics ain't no profession; politics is a disease," said he.

THE SOPHISTICATED MAIDEN

A young man and a maiden were betrothed.

"Dearest one," said the young man, "I love thee. So great is my devotion that if another should but cast loving glances at thee a fearsome thing would happen."

"What might it be?" quoth the maiden.

"Even that I would kill him. Dost believe me?"

"Nay," quoth the maiden.

"Nay? But I protest to thee, I vow, I swear, that if another should make love to thee his life should pay forfeit. By yonder moon I swear! Don't believe me now?"

"Nay," quoth the maiden.

"Now, what meanest thou? Why believest thou not that I would kill the dastard villain?"

"Because," quoth the maiden, "thou wouldst not know aught about it."

NEW FISHING ROD

Some genius is said to have invented a fishing rod that registers the precise number and weight of the fishes caught. Most fishers, however, prefer to leave such details to imagination.

LEFT HANDED BARBERS

They are Very Rare, Also Those Wearing Glasses

Left-handed barbers seem almost as scarce as dead donkeys. "We don't like left-handed assistants," said one master barber, "neither do customers; consequently they are seldom employed. I do not suggest that a naturally left-handed barber is not as dexterous as one who is right-handed; in fact, I have an assistant here who shaves himself left-handed, but he always uses his right hand for customers. A left-handed barber looks awkward, and is apt to make a customer nervous. It was from time immemorial been the custom to always begin to shave a man on the right side of his face.

"I suppose there are scientific men who could tell us why we do this. I don't know the explanation myself, but I do know the right-handed barber begins work naturally on the right side of the face, while the left-handed barber naturally begins on the left side. This is apt to cause a collision between two assistants as they work in a row in front of the glasses, and the left-handed barber would often find himself in the way of the barber at the next chair who shaved right-handed.

"You will understand our strong antipathy to left-handed barbers when I tell you that a short time ago we discovered a youth who began to lather left-handed, and who, we found, was unable to use his right hand with any degree of quickness or confidence.

"There is also another peculiarity about barbers which is interesting. It is seldom that you see one wearing glasses. There is a great objection to employing barbers with defective sight necessitating the wearing of glasses, for the simple reason that they might misjudge the distance of the razor from the face and cut the customer. I don't mean to say that no assistants are employed who wear glasses, and first-class men some of them are, too, but there is a prejudice against them, and that is why you seldom come across one in the trade."

BACK FROM THE DEAD

The Body of a Guide Received After Twenty-three Years

The body of a guide, perfectly preserved, has been yielded up by one of the Swiss glaciers after a period of twenty-three years. In 1888 the guide fell into a crevasse. His body was lately recovered, its appearance unchanged by its long imprisonment in the ice.

There have been other cases of the bringing back of a long-lost body held for years in the close embrace of the ice. One of the first instances on record relates to the Hamel accident, which occurred in 1820. Several guides were swept down by an avalanche and hurled into a crevasse. Hamel prophesied the glacier would yield them up in the course of 1,000 years, but Professor Forbes, a British expert in Alpine affairs, believed that the end of the glacier would be reached by the bodies in forty years. This statement was considered bold, but its accuracy was borne out by the event. In forty years the flow of ice brought the bodies to light.

In 1866 Henry Arkwright was lost in a glacier. In just thirty-one years his brother received a telegram from the Mayor of Chamonix stating that the body had been found. Every article of clothing was intact. His name and regiment could be read clearly on his handkerchief, and his lead pencil-case opened and shut as easily as when he had last used it, three decades before.

BEAUTY OF CHRISTIAN LIVING

A pompous deacon was trying his hand, at teaching a Sunday-school class, and was wanting to bring out the beauty of Christian living.

"Why do people call me a Christian?" he asked.

There was a pause, and then a shrill voice said:—

"Please, sir, because they don't know you."

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

Considerable money is at present being invested in Vancouver real estate by people residing in the east. In putting money into propositions of this nature, we think investors are making no mistake. In this connection we call the attention of shrewd investors to the two-column advertisement of the Wright Investment Company, Limited, to be found on another page of this issue. This Company is strong financially and does not handle any real estate that is not all-right. Read the advertisement for yourself.

Running at Full Speed.

The Quaker Oats Company, owing to the building of their new warehouse will begin their heavy running season earlier this year than formerly. Previously, on account of lack of storage, it was impossible to run ahead on cereal goods, necessitating a heavy run in the fall and necessarily falling far behind their orders. The new warehouse will permit them to begin their heavy run several months earlier. We understand they are now arranging for running the Packing Department fully equipped. This should have the effect of giving much steadier times to the Packing Department operatives than formerly. This is a condition which will be welcome news to the employees of the Packing Department, made possible by the additional storage.

TOO HOARSE TO SPEAK

"I had a patient with Quinsy that I found great difficulty in curing," states Dr. Wilson. "Every time he caught cold or got chilled he suffered intensely from sore throat, huskiness, throat and chest soreness. After every attack his throat and chest seemed more sensitive. This patient lived in the country, and couldn't come to the city for treatment. I concluded that the best remedy would be an honest liniment and because of its enormous sale and well-known merit; I advised 'Nerviline.' Morning, noon and night Nerviline was rubbed over the neck and chest, and once a day diluted with water it was used as a gargle. In a day or two my patient reported, an improvement, and by continuing the treatment with Nerviline he was cured. I can recommend Nerviline for breaking up colds, for chest tightness, throat inflammation, quinsy, tonsilitis and similar conditions."

NERVILINE CURES QUINSY.

Not a druggist or doctor who has examined the formula of Nerviline who won't tell you how good it is—why it contains the best medicaments known to science and for general family use has no equal.

MASON WORK

Two stone masons are prepared to give offers to build all kinds of stone and brick work. Apply at 440 George Street, Peterborough.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Several fine lunge were caught down the river yesterday afternoon and evening.

The pupils of Miss Julia Choate gave a very fine recital last night in the Conservatory of Music.

A citizen told The Times yesterday that there were about 200 motor boats on the Stoney and Rice Lake waters.

Alex Knox, a Chemong Indian, and Con. Ryan were each fined $2 at the Police Court yesterday, for being drunk.

to the public, and from the beginning most unexpectedly general and generous support was given. The heading of the subscription list reads:

"The subscriptions below are given towards a chime of tubular bells, which it is proposed to place in the tower of St. John's Church, Peterborough, asking $1,550.00 in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of its opening."

And many of the large gifts received were accompanied by letters expressing the writer's interest in St. John's Church. Owing to the support given, the scheme was, in July, extended so as to secure a set of heavy bells. As the work progressed the name "People's Chimes" was applied by one of our daily papers, in consequence of the wide support received from the people and the popular interest in the movement. At a vestry meeting of St. John's in November, though no demands had been made by the public, and no promises given, it was, at my request, determined that the bells be voluntarily accepted by the church in trust for certain lines of public service specified in three resolutions.

In December, after three-quarters of the whole sum had been subscribed, the newspaper title, "People's Chimes" was ordered to be engraved on the large bells. A documentary deed had been made out and engrossed for the inauguration ceremony setting forth the resolutions of the vestry, governing the public use of the chimes, which will be published and a copy handed to the Mayor for safe keeping.

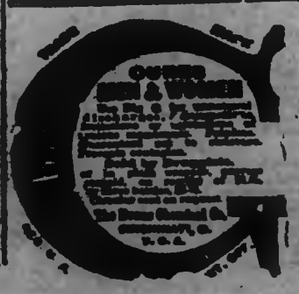
But, while St. John's will have the chimes together with the responsibilities and expense involved, the officials of the church feel that this ownership is only valuable as giving them the privilege of serving as far as they are able, the great body of the people. Indeed, whatever the church holds is not for selfish enjoyment, but for the good of all who are willing to be sharers. But the people having presented these bells, will naturally feel a special part and interest, and pleasure in them, while being relieved of the expense of ordinary operation and up-keep. Should occasion arise in the future, appeal can be made to the deed of dedication or to the resolutions of the vestry.

There is, however, small ground for fear. The more widely the chimes can be used, the better shall we be pleased, and we feel sure that the actual working out of the enterprise will be satisfactory to all reasonable persons, at least this is our desire.

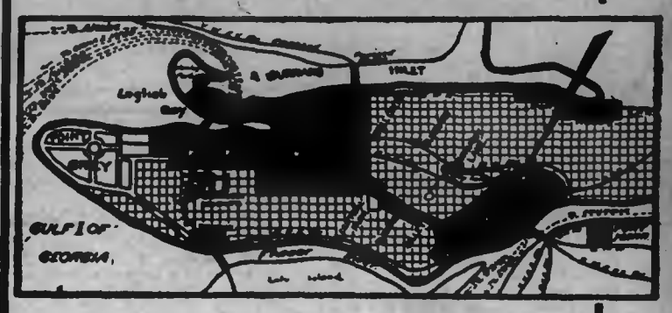
Our hearts are filled with gratitude for the broad kindliness and splendid generosity which have enabled this scheme to be carried out in so worthy and pleasant a fashion, and we invite the suggestions and friendly co-operation of all to the end that the very best may be made of this unique addition to the resources and attractions of Peterborough.

Yours, etc.,
J. C. Davidson.
Chairman Chimes Committee.

P.S.—I may add that experts have carefully examined the well built tower, and pronounce it absolutely safe, and entirely equal to the burden of the bells, only one of which is to be rung. There is evidently no ground for fear on this score.



Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Price of lots $300 to $600. Easy payments.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

TO THE PEACE RIVER

Trail Broken for the Present G. T. P. Terminus

A wagon road, or trail, as it is called, has been broken by the Government 150 miles north-west from Edson, the present terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific. At the end of the trail settlers who are going to pioneer in the Peace River country, take the steamers to Dunvegan, and travel down the Peace for 70 miles more, where, according to reports, is a rolling region of fertile land of 15,000 square miles, mostly prairie, and extends westward to British Columbia boundary.

The soil is black loam, with a blue clay subsoil. The rock formation is of limestone, and the land is said to produce splendid crops of wheat. The soil is described as being "warm," enabling crops to mature rapidly in the eighteen hours of sunshine which they have on the Peace River. As one goes west in this territory, the rainfall increases. This is due doubtless to a close proximity to the mountains. Also, there are more running streams in the western reaches of these rolling prairie lands.

There is an abundance of coal throughout this district. There is also plenty of fish and game, deer, moose, beaver and other big game is found in abundance. There are prairie chicken, ducks, geese, and swan, and other members of the feathered family. The wheat and oats and all grain grown in this far north section are of the highest grade. The Grand Trunk Pacific has a line projecting from Edson to Dunvegan, but the pioneer won't wait, and he is already treking north by the trail, and he will have something to ship by the time the railroad reaches this new Eldorado.

Stopping places are being located along the new stage line between Edson and Dunvegan.

CITY OF CHARLOTTETOWN

An Attractive Spot is the Prince Edward Island Capital

The capital of Prince Edward Island and the pride of every Islander has an excellent situation on the north side of a very fine harbor, where the largest ship can ride safely at anchor. Charlottetown is a busy city with a population of about 13,500. Its wide, regular, concrete-paved streets are at right angles to each other. In the centre of the city is the "Square," and here the provincial building, post-office, court house and new market building are situated, surrounded by the beautiful, well-kept public gardens. It is an up-to-date city and busy without that confusion that is so characteristic of other cities. A well-known tourist said: "Charlottetown for a business city has an air of tranquility that is all its own; and although a delightfully pleasant place to spend your vacation, still you could not call it slow."

Of the buildings, St. Dunstan's Cathedral ranks first, and is easily the finest ecclesiastical edifice in the Maritime Provinces. The other churches are: St. Peter's and Paul's, St. James, Methodist and Zion.

Educationally Prince Edward Island has always ranked high, and it is well provided with schools. St. Dunstan's College, in the suburbs, is beautifully located. The fame of this splendid institution has gone so far that it needs but a few words here. The excellence of its classical and philosophical courses has made it one of the schools for higher education in Canada. The old Prince of Wales College, which had served several generations and outlived its usefulness, gave way some few years ago to a modern and spacious building, and since then a new wing has been added through the generosity of Sir William Macdonald. This is the provincial training-school for teachers, and has an excellent reputation. Besides these we have the Union Commercial and Charlottetown business colleges, two convents and three public schools, which deserve more than a passing word.

Besides being the shipping centre, Charlottetown is also the Island's railway centre, and it is increasing commercially all the time.—The Canadian Century.

A Well Managed Institution.

Two members of the Grand Jury called on The Times-last week and requested us to say a few words in praise of the way the County Asylum at Bobcaygeon is being managed. When the Grand Jury visited the premises they found everything in perfect condition, both inside and out. While it is remembered that this is maintained without any hired help, it is all the more creditable to the caretaker, Mr. Henry Beaver, who and daughter, who have the place in charge, are therefore deserving of unlimited praise.

A LITTLE TOO THICK

Softly he inserted his latchkey. And softly he let himself in. And softly he stepped up the staircase. And softly he entered his bed-room.

Ye little fishes be praised! She was sleeping.

With a silent prayer of thanks he began to disrobe. But suddenly he was arrested by a movement from the bed, and he dived under it.

"Edward!" said the voice of his wife.

Edward did not respond.

"Edward!" repeated his spouse.

Still Edward did not respond.

"You'd better come out, Edward," she observed ominously for the third time, "for I know perfectly well you're there!"

"Bless my soul," exclaimed Edward, creeping out shamefacedly. "How extraordinary! I must have been dreaming that I was out motoring!"

NOT ALL THERE

"Gentleman," said the candidate, "I am here—"

"So am I!" shouted a voice.

"Ah!" said the candidate, suavely, "but you are not all there!"

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a [illegible] 30 days, by 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

ARTFUL DODGES TO AVOID RENT

Tricky Tenants who Plot to Have Comfortable Abodes Free of Charge

The methods adopted in London England, to obtain the tenancy of a house by rogues who never intend to pay any rent are extremely artful. Three constitutes the usual number of confederates in each gang, and for the moment we will suppose their names to be Smith, Brown and Robinson. The first step is for Smith to pose as a prospective tenant and visit various house agents' offices in the neighborhood selected, and obtain particulars of various habitations to be let. He is, as a rule, loudly dressed wears expensive jewellery, and adopts an end of swagger, which as often as not deceives the unsuspicious agent.

Having chosen a suitable residence Smith returns to the agent's office and agrees to rent the premises on the usual agreement, subject, of course, to the necessary decorations, etc., being carried out at the landlord's expense.

The agent makes a practice of asking for references, but this difficulty is easily overcome. Mr. Smith refers the agent to his landlord, Mr. Brown and to his solicitor, Mr. Robinson. These gentlemen are then written to and their replies being, as may be supposed, so very satisfactory, Mr. Smith obtains possession of the house. Mr. Brown and Mr. Robinson also obtain their houses in different localities in an exactly similar manner.

Of course, no rent is ever paid, and in order, as long as possible, to delay the agent distraining, all kinds of excuses are made. At last the agent's patience is exhausted and an entry is effected. Imagine the bailiff's dismay when, upon entering the premises, he is immediately shown notarial receipts in Robinson's or Brown's name for the whole of the contents. He has no alternative, therefore, but to withdraw the man in possession.

In similar circumstances, when the bailiff in Brown's district distrains for rent, receipts are produced in Smith's name, and likewise as regards Robinson. But this is not all. These gentry refuse to give up possession of the house until paid a sum of money by the landlord, and often as not they obtain fairly large sums in this manner, as the owner would, by the cumbersome methods of legal procedure, be kept out of possession for quite a lengthy period. Hence, it is often to his advantage to pay the rogues rather than wait and incur further loss of rent.

Of course the landlord may go to the expense of a summons, and win, perhaps, be successful in obtaining an order for payment by instalments, but before the first instalment has become due the rogue has disappeared, only to adopt similar practices in different neighborhoods under various aliases. The landlord is thus left with further costs to pay and nothing in return.

NOT SICK FOR 76 YEARS

Lord Swaything Was a Marvel of Good Health

The late Lord Swaything, the famous Jewish banker, was a marvel of health. The first illness he ever had was contracted in January, 1909, when he was seventy-six years of age, through a heavy London fog, when he was laid up with severe bronchitis. Lord Swaything considered that his marvellous health was entirely due to the fact that he was a strict observer of the Mosaic laws pertaining not only to daily food, but to hygiene. Lord Swaything was head of the great banking firm of Montagu and Co., and during his career had the honor of being consulted by no fewer than three Chancellors of the Exchequer—both Conservative and Liberal. He passed through many crises in the City, and well remembered when the Bank of France was so short of gold that it paid the bankers to draw golden napoleons from the bank itself, send them over to England to be melted down into bars, and resell them to France at a profit.

A CENSUS OF THE STARS

Orbs That Move Less than a Second in a Century

Mr. F. W. Dyson, the Astronomer-Royal, speaking recently on a Census of the Stars, said that great as was the value of the census of the stellar population, it would be of far greater value when additional details were given with it. To what questions could they reasonably expect answers were a census to be taken? They could ask in what part of the sky a star was situated. That could be clearly answered of every star that they could see or photograph. They might ask how bright a star was, and an accurate answer could be given of every bright star and an approximate one of all other sorts. In what direction was a star's proper movement? The proper motion of thousands of stars could be given. How fast was a star moving in miles per second towards or away from the sun? The number of stars in respect of which that question could be answered had been rapidly increasing in the last few years, and had reached some thousands. They could also ascertain whether a star was double or single. In 1885 it was calculated that there were 200,000 stars, down to a magnitude of 9½. Now, more than a million for the whole sky had been definitely ascertained as regards their positions and magnitudes, and the number of stars approximately in the sky down to the 14th magnitude was 24 millions. The star with the largest proper motion was quite a faint one. It was discovered in 1897, and it moved 8.7 seconds a year. To make a complete circuit of the sky it would take 150,000 years. In the constellation of Orion there eight bright stars that moved less than one second in a century.

MUSIC ARRANGED FOR CORONATION DAY EVENT

The Dedication of The Chimes to be The Leading Feature

The dedication of the chimes is to be the leading feature of the Coronation Day celebration. The proceedings will begin at 11 o'clock, when the dedication address will be preached by His Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, appropriate music being furnished by the splendid choir of the church, under the leadership of Mr. Dewey, the talented organist. The following is the musical programme:

Coronation March—"Le Prophete" Meyerbeer.
Processional—"All People That on Earth."
Coronation Hymn — "King of Kings"— Sullivan.
Te Deum (Festal)—Woodward.
Coronation Anthem—"Zadock, the Priest"—Handel.
"God Save the King":—John Bull.
Recessional—"Now Thank We All Our God."
Organ Fantasia—"God Save the King"—Mr. R. J. Dewey.

As far as the music itself is concerned, the outstanding feature is undoubtedly the rendering of the classical anthem by Handel, "Zadock, the Priest." First used at the Coronation of King George II, it is the regular official anthem of the coronation and will be sung in Westminster Abbey to-morrow. Immediately after the actual crowning, a lengthy string movement introduces the splendid vocal introduction "Zadock, the Priest and Nathan, the Prophet, anointed Solomon the King." Part two expresses the rejoicing of the people "And all the people rejoiced, and said, "Part 3,) "Long live the King," "God Save the King," "Long live the king," "May the King live forever, Alleluia, amen."

Adolphe Hesse's famous varied fantasia "God Save the King" will be given on the organ at the conclusion of the service.

The choir is glad that Bishop Sweeny will be present, and at least 50 voices will be in evidence, including Mr. Geo. Chandler, formerly of St. John's, now of All Saints, and Mr. Langley of St. Luke's, a veteran chorister recently arrived in Peterborough.

At 12 o'clock the outside proceedings will take place. A large platform has been erected in front of the church door, on which will be seated his Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, and officials of the church. Mayor and Council, and representatives of the public bodies. On either side will be arranged the fraternal societies, while on the oval in front, the 57th Regiment and the Boy Scouts will be drawn up in position.

Addresses will be delivered by Bishop Sweeny and others, interspersed with selections by the chimes.

Mayor, Morrow on behalf of the contributors will present the deed to the Bishop.

The Doxology, National Anthem, and O, Canada will be sung, led by the 57th Band. The Bishop will deliver a very brief address, and immediately afterwards the bells will play patriotic selections for half an hour.

An official luncheon will be given in the school house at 1 p.m. in honour of the Bishop of Toronto.

Citizens of Peterborough generally are invited to participate in this unique and historic event.

SHOT HIS BROTHER TWICE IN THE LEGS

Lindsay, Ont., June 20.—The trial of John Murray of Downeyville, who is charged with shooting his brother, Neill, of the same place, came up before County Magistrate Moore today when the accused was fined $75 and costs and bound over to keep the peace for one year.

The shooting arose over a quarrel between the brothers over a fanning mill which was supposed to be owned equally by both. The mill was at John's and when Neill went to get it, John refused to give it up. A scuffle was the result after which John ran to the house, got a revolver, returned and shot his brother twice in the leg.

Summer Skin Troubles.

Sunburn, blistering, and irritation are the commonest form of summer skin troubles, and Zam-Buk ends these very quickly. It works in two ways. As soon as applied, its antiseptic powers get to work and kill all the poison in a wound, a sting or a sore. This generally ends the smarting and the pain. Then Zam-Buk begins the healing process, and fresh healthy tissue is built up. For sore, blistered feet, sore hands, heat rashes, baby's heat spots, sore places due to perspiration, etc., you can't equal Zam-Buk. It also cures cuts, ulcers, abscesses, piles, and all inflamed and diseased conditions of skin and subjacent tissue. Druggists and stores everywhere sell Zam-Buk, 50c. box. Use Zam-Buk Soap also, 25c. per tablet. All stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

HAS 100 INCHES OF NEW SKIN

Montreal, June 20.—The skin-grafting operation on a large scale which was performed on William Thomas, of the General Hospital about two months ago, has at last proved very successful. With the patient walking about the ward there cannot be much doubt of its satisfactory outcome. Seventeen skeeny, healthy men of the regiment Royals gladly gave several square inches apiece to cover about 100 square inches of the patient's back, which had been burned.

INQUEST WAS RESUMED LAST NIGHT

The inquest into the cause of the death of the late George Wagner was resumed last night at the Court House. A number of witnesses were called and gave evidence, after which the jury retired, and after about an hour's deliberation brought in a verdict censuring the Otonabee Power Company.

THE EVIDENCE.

Among the witnesses were: Messrs. P. Kerr, George Newbury, Dr. Eastwood and Dr. A. W. McPherson, Geo. Lockington and Chas. Redmond.

The only suggestion that Mr. Kerr could make as to cause of the accident, was the oil switches were faulty.

Dr. Eastwood, who with Dr. McPherson performed the post-mortem on the remains of the late George Wagner on Monday night, June 19, at Comstock's, then read his report.

When asked by Crown Attorney Wood how long the victim had been burning, he could not answer definitely, as he had not had experience on such a case before.

Dr. McPherson, next called, was also unable to state how long Mr. Wagner had been burning.

Mr. Newbury then gave evidence as to his location at the time of the accident. He had just been home to his dinner, returning at 1.05 p.m. He could not state whether he turned on the switch or not, yet Mr. Kerr had said to him, "you should not have put on that switch, George," Mr. Newbury explained the mechanical works of the switch and claimed it (the switch) to be in good running order.

Mr. Chas. Redmond, who had been working on the trimming was next asked a few questions, but as he was no electrical expert, he did not understand the switchboard.

Mr. Ritchie, electrical engineer said that the current could not pass through the switch when it was turned off. He stated it was a good switch and claimed he knew of no better type.

Coroner Greer then addressed the jury in a short speech, outlining the duties of the jurors.

The jury then retired and remained out till after twelve o'clock, when they brought in a verdict censuring the Otonabee Power Company.

DEATH OF A PROMISING YOUNG MAN

William Coleman has crossed the bar. There are many friends in this city who join with the family to mourn the loss of a warm-hearted boy, who has left a gap hard indeed to fill. "Will" as he was affectionately called, was a sterling worker in every department of life, and will be sorely missed, perhaps nowhere more outside his own immediate relatives, than among the workers in St. John's church. Less than four weeks ago he was faithfully practicing the Coronation music, and when Canon Davidson entered the church to-night and addressed the choir, (assembled for the final Coronation practice of "Zadock, the Priest,") in a few words of earnest appreciation of the departed chorister, there was a sorrowful silence, for "Will" was one of the most regular and useful members of the choir.

Only a few weeks ago he sang tenor in a quartette, "Sweet is Thy Mercy, Lord," and after the fiery trial of the last three weeks, we surely hope that the Nunc Dimitus at his death bed last night was a peaceful departure. Will Coleman was a real sportsman—football, cricket and tennis have each been on his list of recreative sport, and while we regret his early decease, it is good to be able to record that he did what he could.

"Peace, perfect peace, with Loved ones far away,
In Jesu's presence we are Safe and they."

GREAT DEMONSTRATION ON PREMIER'S RETURN

Quebec, June 20.—The Liberals are preparing a monster demonstration to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is expected here on the 5th of July next.

All the Liberal Clubs will gather to make the Canadian Premier the most magnificent reception ever made to a Canadian statesman.

A MESSAGE IN A TIN CAN REVEALED A SEA TRAGEDY

Stratford, Conn., June 20.—A little tin can sealed at both ends floated ashore at the Stratford lighthouse the other day and was picked up by Theodore Judson, keeper of the lighthouse. On being opened the can was found to contain a scrap of old paper bag on which was written the following: "Ship" Mary S. Crayne, London to River Platt, wrecked off Hatteras, February 2, 1901. Have been on raft ten days. Last bit ate and drank. Please tell mother. James P. O'Reilly, 22 St. Catharines street, Montreal, Canada."

SECTION OF IDAHO TERRORIZED BY MURDEROUS CAREER OF A HOLD-UP MAN—ARE IN PURSUIT

Pocatello, Idaho, June 20.—William R. Kidd, railroad conductor, dead; Samuel Melton, Deputy Sheriff, seriously wounded; Edgar McGill, ranchman, wounded; Reuben Scott, watchman, three fingers shot away; Robert Oley, constable, wounded.

These are the known victims of Hugh Whitney, an outlaw. Added to the identified sufferers, there may be others whose fate has yet to be learned. It is rumored that the bandit has killed his former partner in crime and there is an unconfirmed report from Blackfoot, Idaho, that he shot and killed a boy to secure possession of the fresh horse the lad was riding.

The bandit's trail of blood extends half way across Eastern Idaho. A whole region has been terrorized by his deeds. Posses are out from every town, and the Governor of the State is considering a plan for calling out a portion of the Idaho National Guards.

Bloodhounds have taken up his trail at times, but a more formidable pursuit is that begun yesterday by a band of Blackfoot Indians who unite with the instinct of the hounds the sagacity of the scout.

Whitney is the "short man" of an attempted saloon hold-up at Moulda, Mont., on Friday. He shot the officer who had him in custody and fatally wounded the Oregon Shore Line Conductor who assisted the officer. McGill was shot because the bandit needed his horse; Scott, because he was guarding a bridge and Oley, because he was a member of the pursuing posse.

The fugitive is now believed to be somewhere between Idaho Falls and Blackfoot.

BASES DIVORCE APPEAL ON LAW OF ROMAN CHURCH

Montreal June 20.—Mr. Charlemagne Rodier, who returned from London last week, has taken charge of the case of George Howden, who seeks annulment of his marriage. The writ was issued yesterday. The claims of Mr. Howden, who seeks annulment of his marriage solemnized thirty years ago, are that his marriage is not valid, according to the Catholic Church, to which his wife belongs.

The case was placed in the hands of Mr. Rodier in April last before he left for London, where he pleaded before the Privy Council, but owing to ignorance of the address of the defendant the writ did not issue till yesterday.

The first argument in the case will probably be heard in September or October.

WITNESS MURDER OF THEIR MOTHER

New York, June 19.—The three little children of Louis Kuckermeister were witnesses shortly after midnight this morning of the murder of their mother and their father's suicidal leap from the four-storey window of their home on the East Side. Kuckermeister killed his wife by beating her over the head with an axe, and then jumped from the rear window of their flat. He was picked up in the yard below with a fractured skull and taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

FOUND CHILD TIED TO CHAIR

Toronto, June 20.—The mystery surrounding the three little children from Whitby, who were found in the streets of Toronto early yesterday morning, starving and homeless, is growing deeper as the police authorities probe further.

This morning the High Constable of Ontario County, William Calverley arrived in Toronto, and identified the children as those of Thomas Beasley, who lives in Whitby. This was contradictory to the names given by the eldest girl, who said that their names was Stead. She gave the Christian names as Lilly, Joseph and Annie, and their ages as 10, 7 and 5 years old.

By long distance telephone it was learned to-day from Chief of Police Jamieson that Baselesky told him that just before their disappearance, he returned to his home in the evening and found Lilly bound to a chair. This had been done by the step-mother.

The father declared that the girl had run away from home on two previous occasions, and had to be brought back. This is the first time, however, that she has taken any other children away with her. Baselesky said that he had been married twice, and that he had two more children, aged 12 and 14 years.

The Whitby authorities will make a careful investigation of the girl's story that she had been cruelly treated. She is one mass of black and blue raw flesh on her back, arms and limbs.

While in the custody of the Toronto authorities she told them anumber of stories which varied greatly. It is now believed that she has sufficient money to purchase a ticket to Toronto and that she talked the conductor into carrying the other two little tots free of charge.

This is the first time that any complaint of abuse has been received from the elder child.

"Sick Man's Friend"

1,000,000 BOTTLES USED ANNUALLY.

No better known or more popular family remedy has ever been compounded than "Nerviline." During the past half century its success has been phenomenal — due to the fact that it always cures.

"No one could get me to go to bed at night unless I was sure we had Nerviline in the house," writes Mrs. R. R. Weightman, of Bolton P. O. "Six years ago my husband was taken badly with rheumatism, which affected his right arm and shoulder. It was so sore and stiff as to be almost helpless for four years. I read of the cure of James E. Everett, and felt sure that when Nerviline cured a case like his, it would cure my husband. I got a dollar's worth of Nerviline, five bottles, in Buffalo, and am pleased to write you that the fourth bottle cured. We have since used Nerviline for Lumbago, Neuralgia, Colds, Chest Tightness and other minor ailments in the family and found 'Nerviline' to be the 'Sick Man's Friend.'"

CURED 4 YEARS RHEUMATISM

No other remedy is so useful in the home, so universally employed to alleviate pain and ease the sick. Refuse anything offered you instead of Nerviline, which is sold: Large 25c bottles or five for $1.00. By all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

WARDEN COBEN'S ADDRESS TO THE COUNTY COUNCIL

The June Session of the County Council of the County of Peterborough opened yesterday afternoon. Warden Coben's address was read, as follows:

To the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough,—

Gentlemen,—It affords me pleasure to again meet you at this June session, the most important session of the year, from the fact that the equalization of the assessment rolls and other matters, such as levying upon the municipalities their respective amounts to pay over to the county, also the consideration of the Auditors' report for the year previous. As did my predecessors, I will ask you to recognize the hand of Providence in giving promise of another bountiful harvest.

The matters respecting bridges will be presented to you by the Chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee and the different reeves, under whose supervision they may be. You will plainly see that the county expenditure is on the increase, due to several reasons. As before stated, the old bridges throughout the country, due to age, and modern heavy machinery passing over them, has necessitated the rebuilding of a number of them and other local bridges have been assumed by the county that in many cases have, of necessity, been rebuilt.

In the administration of justice last year our estimates did not reach the expenditure, from the fact that crime or supposed crime, had to be investigated, and dealt with, according to the laws of our country, and further still, recent legislature gives rise to added cost, inasmuch as when jurors received $2.00 per day, and 10 cents per mile, they now get $2.50 per day and 13 cents per mile. Also by looking up the acts you will notice when coroner's medical witnesses, etc., receive higher fees for their services in connection with inquests, and the county then must be prepared to meet these expenditures. It has been my privilege to drive through considerable parts of the country during the season, and I must say that the local councils are apparently up-to-date, and building many roads in an approved manner.

In connection with the Chairman of the Finance Committee, he has pointed out to me that he hopes to meet the expenditures of 1911 by asking a trifle of $2,000 more than was asked for in 1910, notwithstanding the fact that due, as I stated before, to the excess in criminal justice accounts of 1910, we wound up with a deficit very much greater.

The House of Refuge is still making good and fulfilling the purpose for which it was built, and any matters respecting that institution will be explained to you by the Chairman at your pleasure. The debentures now falling due will be dealt with by the Chairman of the Finance Committee, supported by resolutions of the Council, when legally required.

The new issue of $11,000.00 will, we trust, be disposed of to the satisfaction of all.

Not wishing to infringe upon the reports of the Chairman of any committee, and before we proceed with the general business of the session, permit me again to thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me, by placing your confidence in me, and to thank you for the individual support I have received from you, without which the progress that has been made would seem to have been an impossibility.

Wishing you and your county, prosperity, I remain.

Yours respectfully,
C. COBEN.

A committee was then formed to report on the Warden's report.

The council then went into regular session, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The communications were then read, and referred to the different committees.

WORRIED MAN TO DEATH

Chicago, June 20.—With the death at Arverne, N.Y., recently, of Frank Stewart Osborne, foreman of the jury that convicted eight anarchists of murder after the Haymarket riot here in 1886, a story of his persecution by friends of the anarchists from that time until his death has been revealed by his widow. Several attempts to assassinate him, and innumerable letters containing threats against his life, have, according to the widow, made up the persecutions which started within a few hours after he read the verdict sentencing some of the anarchists to death, and others to long terms in prison.

That this persecution caused the illness which resulted in his death was the declaration of Mrs. Osborne, when she passed through Chicago yesterday, on her way to Delavan Lake, Wis., from Cincinnati, where her husband's body was buried. Mr. Osborne succumbed to heart disease while on a trolley car.

TRAGIC STORY OF POOR TICHIT

Unable to Earn an Adequate Livelihood he Threw Himself into the River Seine

The old story of "Hop-o'-My-Thumb" has been repeated under modern conditions in Paris. A few days ago, five little boys, the eldest of them seven and the youngest of them two years old, walked hand in hand about the great hall of the General Post Office in the Rue de Louvre in Paris asking for their father. "Father," the eldest said, "is a postman. He brought us here this morning, left us, and he would be back soon, and now the lights are lit father has not returned, and we are hungry." The five children were taken to an office and a meal was given them. The police immediately started a search for the father, and, after a few days, they found him. His name is Tichit, and the story carries its moral with it. Tichit was brought up in a monastic brotherhood, became a novice, but did not become a monk. He left the brotherhood, married, and had five children. To support them and his wife he became a postman in the little town of Sacy-en-Brie, where the cheese comes from, and for some time all went well with him and his little family. But one day the deputy of the district discovered that Tichit was a criminal. He had not stolen, he had not neglected to work, his letters were delivered punctually, and on this head there was no word to be said against him. But Tichit was a criminal for all that. He had committed an unforgivable crime against Socialistic France.

In the evenings he had augmented his slender income by giving private lessons to children in the neighborhood. For a State-employed man to disregard Socialist tyranny and the synodical rights of schoolmasters and to give private lessons is simply anathema.

The Mayor sent for Tichit, and accused him of the crime. The postmaster answered that he had a wife and five children. He was told that he must either give up his postman's work or promise not to teach in future. He gave up the teaching, and a few weeks later he was sent in disgrace to a smaller town—a little place called Boynes in the Seine-et-Oise Department.

It is difficult to keep a wife and five growing boys on an income of less than $240 a year, and he did not keep his wife very long. Mme. Tichit fell ill and died, and the widower's situation became more impossible than ever. He was at his wits' end. He and his boys had lived on next to nothing for a week. There was no money in the house, and the postman could see no way of getting any if he continued to be honest.

So he put honesty aside, slipped into the train for Paris, with his five small boys, managed to evade the ticket collectors, and arriving in Paris, wandered out into the streets, the children trotting after him. For two days the six of them lived on the garments Tichit sold one by one, but he could find no employment and no place in which to live in Paris owing to the little children and his poverty.

Then a few days ago, Tichit, with his five children, went to see M. Puech, who was the responsible Minister for the postal department. Poor Tichit had no half-pence to spend on newspapers. He did not know that there was a ministerial crisis in France, and that Monsieur le Ministre was likely to be busy with his own affairs. He went to the Ministry was sent from room to room and door to door, and finally left in despair and hungrier than ever.

At first he tried to beg, but this revolted him. Unfortunately for his case, so many beggars by profession tell the only story that he had to tell—"No bread to eat, and five motherless boys"—that people proved hard-hearted. And it was then that Tichit, sitting on a stone bench by the Seine, remembered the tale of "Hop-o'-My-Thumb." He varied it a little. He dragged his weary feet and his five boys down to the Rue du Louvre, and left them in the great hall of the General Post Office instead of in a forest. And some days later the police found Tichit. He is not to be punished by the courts for his desertion of his children, for it was in the River Seine they found him.

WHEN NOT TO SMOKE

Should be Avoided Immediately After Meals, Says The Lancet

"Smoking immediately after a meal, which is usually condemned and constantly practised, is not necessarily injurious. Indeed, in some cases it may prove beneficial. The desire for tobacco felt by many after a hearty meal is no doubt due to its stimulating influence on gastric secretion, and the comfort that follows indulgence is, in part at all events, attributable to the extra fillip given digestion." Such, at any rate, is the view of a medical correspondent who writes to the "Lancet" on the subject. And because in many cases tobacco gives this extra fillip to digestion, smoking after meals is preferable to taking a liqueur, the latter being a direct irritant. There are many cases, however, in which smoking should be avoided immediately after meals, and in some cases discontinued altogether. People who, after a hearty meal, suffer from that distressing feeling known as distension, should postpone indulgence in tobacco until some time after the meal, when the digestion is well advanced, and if they suffer from excessive acidity of the stomach should discontinue smoking altogether.

Smoking just before meals is to be deprecated, while smoking just before going to bed is often followed by insomnia, because the stomach gives rise to a sensation of hunger. This distressing consequence may be averted by taking either some light food or a little bicarbonate of soda before retiring to rest.

BEAVER IN THE WEST

A strange animal has been attracting the wonder of residents along the banks of the Assiniboine river in the vicinity of Arrgyle's Point. The district is thinly wooded, and some mystery surrounded the movements of the visitor. A young man decided to do his part in unravelling its peculiar features, and procured a gun, with which one afternoon recently, and on sighting the animal burrowing in the snow, shot it in the head. On investigation he was surprised to find that he had killed a beaver.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corperation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge home for conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

HEAD OFFICE: SUITE 66-68 HUTCHINSON BLOCK

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

WHY ALL THIS WONDERFUL GROWTH?

Because Welland has seven railroads. Because Welland has the Welland Canal. Because Welland has the cheapest electric power in Canada ($12 per h.p.). Because Welland has the cheapest natural gas in Canada (30c per thousand).

The record of Welland's growth in the past four years exceeds anything Ontario has ever known. Gratifying as this may be to those interested in Welland, it is still more gratifying to realize that of all the good years the year of 1911 is to be the greatest in the history of this town.

DIAMONDS IN CANADA

Gems May be Found, but Mineralogist Not Hopeful

"But whether diamonds could be extracted as to render the find commercially important is quite another matter," added Mr. Johnston.

Mr. Johnston has been working for the past few weeks on the samples of rock in which the first Canadian diamonds were discovered by Mr. Charles Camsell, of the survey in British Columbia.

"The discovery is of no commercial importance," he said. "I have found it impossible to separate the diamonds from chromite and other varieties of rock in which they appear in the specimens found, without necessarily breaking them up into small pieces."

Several fine bags were caught down the river yesterday afternoon and evening.

LITTLE LECTURE ON PLEASING MEN

They Expect Perfection, but are Satisfied with Much Less—The Best Wives

Some things, like recurring decimals, are always cropping up, and one of these things is the old, old question: Which women make the best wives? Do you know?

Many think they do, and they compliment themselves on the exact that they, at least, possess some power of discernment; whereas those poor objects of men who vacillate and say they do know and they don't know all in one breath are fit subjects for pity, and at times even for scorn.

Mark you, they think they know. To think you know and to know that you know are two totally different things. In the first case, the people are simply suffering from hallucinations; they are a prey to their own imagination. In the second, the men can only know the best kind of wives for themselves, and not for anyone else.

Some men think they can choose wives for other people. Poor other people! We can shed a silent tear of pity for them, for to be saddled with a wife who has been chosen by someone else is like having to wear a pair of boots made for someone whose feet are two sizes smaller than your own—its very, very painful.

Some men tell you exactly what kind of woman they think will make the best wife—and go and marry just the opposite! And then for ever try to model her into something she never could be and something they never could have fallen in love with, however blind or silly they may have been. In this respect, some men are very true to type.

Nearly every married woman in the world knows what it is to put up with this sort of thing, until sometimes she wishes her husband had found his ideal in the first place and lived unhappily ever after. Men can be very trying at times, an dat this period they are almost unbearable.

A girl of twenty once threw her arms round her grandmother's neck, and said,

"Men are such difficult creatures, gran; I don't know how to please them. Do you?"

"My dear," she said, "if a girl wishes to please a man she must be retiring and modest; she must never attract attention by her dress or her hats. False teeth and false hair displease most men, and falsehoods will do more than anything else to annoy them. She should never use powder, yet her complexion must always be faultless, otherwise men become disgusted; and the only way she can keep a good complexion is by keeping healthy and taking plenty of fresh air exercise, so it follows that she must go out a good deal. Yet she must stay at home to help mother, because a man likes to think that his wife will be able to take care of his house for him. You see, my dear, men are not easily pleased. Some of them expect us to do impossibilities. If you do your best, you will please most men; but don't attempt impossibilities, for you are bound to fail."

Gran had learned something in her life; among other things, that men expect perfection and are satisfied with much less.

There are men who are searching for an ideal such as the old lady pictures, and they get so appallingly sentimental and romantic over their secret that they quite overlook the dear little girl who has fallen deeply in love with them, and who would make them an excellent wife.

'Tis generally this type of man who finishes up by falling head over heels in love with a girl who wears striking clothes and talks slang. The girl who attracts attention is the girl that every young man is after. He overlooks the modest little violet, and goes after the brilliant rose.

Is he wise?

Well, of course, he may be. But if you think a moment you will recollect that roses have thorns—and violets have not!

The best wives are he best housekeepers. You may not be a witty woman, yet you may still be able to look after a man. And that is what men want. They want looking after.

A BABY'S CRY

Sort of Esperanto That Should be Understood by Mothers

The cry of a young baby is really one of the most marvellous things in creation, says a leading English doctor. For coercive and defensive power it has no equal, and well it is that the voice does not increase in power and volume with the growth of the child.

Yet, what is this cry? The mother even after a few days can tell at once if it is only the healthy scream of a child disturbed in some way or other, or if anything is wrong. The baby has "no language but a cry." It is a sort of universal Esperanto that should be understood at any rate by those who have charge of them. It is worth noting that a baby cries without tears. This is because the tear glands are not working at birth, and the tears do not flow until about three months of age.

While speaking of a child's cry it is well to remember that while crying may mean nothing but a sense of mild discomfort, its total absence always means something wrong and generally something serious.

OVEN CLOTHS

Get a flour-sack from your baker, unpick it, and have it washed. When dry, cut into three, stitch round, put a loop of tape to hang up by, and use to take things out of the oven with. You can make three cloths for twopence, and they save many a burnt finger.

ARABS AND HORSES

How They Treat the Animals From Colts Up

Although the Arab considers the education of a colt should begin at eighteen months old, it begins in reality at an earlier age. No sooner is a foal born than it is made to swallow two or three eggs. A bystander then takes it in his arms and walks it up and down in the midst of an almost inconceivable din, which is supposed to accustom it to terrible sounds so that ever after it will be impervious to fright, no matter how terrifying the noises that assail its ears. To teach it to suck, a fig or date soaked in milk slightly salted is put into its mouth, and, when possible, it is given camel's or cow's or ewe's milk, which is supposed to make the coat more soft and sleek. At eighteen months old, the colt is mounted by a child, who takes it to water and to pasture, guiding it with a soft mule's bit but it is not saddled until it is quite accustomed to the bridle. Careful owners, before allowing a colt to be mounted by a grown man, have it led up and down for a fortnight with a pack saddle on its back, carrying two baskets filled with sand. A most important part of a horse's education is to teach it not to break loose when its rider dismounts. For this purpose a slave stands beside it ready to put his foot on the bridle whenever it attempts to steal off, which gives an unpleasant shock to its mouth. After a few months of this training, the horse will stand quite still and wait any time for its master. An Arab arrives at market, dismounts in the midst of a score of horses and mules, passes the bridle over his horse's head, and lets it fall to the ground, then placing a stone upon it, he goes off to transact his business, returning at the end of several hours, finds his horse in the same pot. The first thing an Arab does after killing his enemy, if he covets his horse, is to pass the bridle quickly over his head.

BURNING OLD PAPERS

Burning papers in a grate is very likely to cause the chimney to catch fire. To prevent this accident, make the papers into bundles and put some wire around them. They may then be safely burned, for they will burn slowly in the grate, almost like a log of wood. The same wire may be used again and again.

AN EASILY ERECTED SHELF

How useful an extra shelf would be in the kitchen, where one is often harrassed for room. To erect a good shelf without using a single nail or damaging the wallpaper, is only a few minutes' work. Get two pieces of thin wood, place against the wall where the ends of your shelf or shelves are to fit, measure the length of the shelf between the pieces of wood, which should be six inches or so long, and allow an eighth of an inch to the length, so that when fixed in its place the shelf will be quite tight. It will be safe to carry any ordinary, even the heaviest, kitchen utensil, and can be taken down and refixed in a moment at any time if not required permanently.

MAKE WINDOWS MOVE EASILY

If windows are difficult to move, melt a tablespoonful of lard and pour a little between the window-frame and casing, also a little on the roller and rope. It will work like magic. This is a good thing to know when the frames are swollen from being closed during rainy weather.

NEW BRUNSWICK GAS

Another two million cubic feet gas flow per day has been struck by the Maritime Oilfields Company, at Latchey's, near Moncton, N.B. The latest well is No. 14 which looks promising at a depth of 1,410 feet. Mr. Shaw, the superintendent at the wells, without making a test estimates the new well to be good for between two and three million feet a day, but it is the intention to go a little deeper before capping it.

POWER IN PORCUPINE

Work has been started on the development of a hydro-electric plant on the Mattagami River at Sandy Falls in the Porcupine district, six miles from the Timmins Mine. Three thousand (3,000) horsepower in generators has been ordered, and turbines of like capacity. This plant will be in operation by June 1st, 1911. Current will be generated at a pressure of twelve thousand volts and a frequency of twenty-five cycles per second.

A WESTERN HIGHWAY

A beginning has been made to establish Manitoba's section of the proposed western highway, but, beyond informal discussions of the project, little action has been taken. The idea is to construct a first-class roadway from the great lakes to the Pacific coast, and it is understood at Winnipeg that the scheme is already under way in Alberta and British Columbia. It is proposed to call a conference of various public bodies to push the scheme along.

TELEPHONES IN ALBERTA

By the completion of the summer's programme of work by the Alberta government telephone department, which has now been wound up, the government lines which connect those two extreme points in the north and south ends of the province, have been extended and the connection is now complete. The circuit is made from Wainwright to Medicine Hat, via Edmonton, Calgary and Lthbridge. Furthermore the completion of the department's programme means that practically every town and city on a line of railway in that province, save the lines west of Edmonton, have long distance connection.

PROFESSIONAL REVIVALISTS.

It would seem, says the Kingston Standard, as if the professional revivalist will soon become a thing of the past. Time was when, in the Methodist Churches especially, no year passed without having a revival meeting with some well known revivalist taking the leading part. Even in recent years we have had some professional revivalists who were extremely successful in bringing sinners to repentance; but it has always been a question with a great many people whether the results were permanent.

This matter came up for discussion at the London Methodist Conference. A recommendation from the general conference calling for evangelistation work of this kind was rejected and the professional revivalists came in for some hard rubs. It was charged against them that the cost of the work was in excess of the good resulting, that the professional was in the work as a business, and for what there was in it and that the enthusiasm was in a manner the result of the personality of the speaker and not the result of the gospel.

Yet, there is no doubt of the fact that results were produced by these professional revivalists—results both in money and in those who came forward to the penitent bench. If the professional revivalist is to be dropped, then some other plan must be adopted to bring about the results accomplished by his work.

CONTROLLING COMBINES.

We in Canada and the United States are trying various ways, more or less effective, of regulating mergers and combines. The Australian Government proposed the only logical and effective way. It said, in effect, that combines and mergers must either be controlled effectively, or be taken over by the government, and operated for the benefit of the people. Individual enterprise is good in some things. Monopoly is inevitable in other things. When the operators of a business, by their own action, place it in the monopoly class, they thereby transfer it to the Government. Either the individual must be free, or the State must rule. There must be no ruling corporations or ruling aggregations of wealth.

There would be no need under such a system as was proposed in Australia, to make laws against stock watering. Fictitious capital, capital created merely as an excuse for exorbitant dividends, would attract the attention of the Government, and point to the business as one that was growing too big to be controlled and must be operated by the Government itself. At the same time, any business, however large, could keep itself out of the danger of expropriation by showing that it was straining every nerve to serve and please the people. The people would have all the benefit of competition; and if that failed, all the benefit of Government ownership and operation. In many cases, the Government would not find it necessary to use its power. The dread of expropriation would act as a wholesome check on greed, and an incentive to public service. At the same time, the services which can really be best performed by a Government would fall into that class.

CONSOLATION.

Toronto Star.

As it is too late now to start from Ontario for the Coronation, we venture to offer some consolation to those who must stay at home. As a matter of fact, an occasion like the Coronation is not the best for a trip to England. There is more discomfort, there is more feverish desire on the part of some people to make money quickly out of visitors, and there is not so good an opportunity for studying the people, their customs and institutions, now as in their normal state.

Hurry is the bane of the traveller—so much ground to be gone over, so many pictures and ruins and famous places to be seen in a brief space of time. One traveller tells of going to Edinburgh for a day. He saw the name Canongate, and immediately there flashed into his mind the enchanted words "Chronicles of the Canongate," followed by an earnest desire to stay there for a month, read some of the Waverly novels again by night, and prowl about the scenes by day.

When the journey is brief, as it is necessarily for most of us, it requires a good deal of thought and judgment to map out a program which will include as much as possible and yet not cause fatigue and hurry and a lot of blurred impressions. Attempts to pump up sentiment in the right places are sometimes painful, yet the sentiment, when it comes spontaneously, is a thing to be cherished. Musing over the past is an occupation likely to be interrupted by catching trains choosing hotels, and wondering what tip the porter or waiter expects. All these anxieties are aggravated upon occasions which draw great crowds to England or any other country. At the same time the unusual scene is less distinctive and interesting that the things that are always in evidence.

JAPAN AWAKENING TO CHRISTIAN RELIGION.

They Have to Be Shown It—Good for Them Personally and as a Nation.

Kansas City, Mo., June 19.—Right Rev. Sidney S. Partridge, the new Episcopal Bishop of Kansas City, arrived here yesterday from Japan, where for the last twelve years he has been missionary bishop.

"All over Japan," he said, "there is a Christian awakening. The time is coming when there will be a Japanese bishop. To win Japan for Christ you must show the Japanese that the new religion is a benefit to them individually and nationally. Then they are with you heart and soul."

THE MOST PROFITABLE BUSINESS IN CANADA.

It has been carefully estimated by experts that more money is being made by dealing in fruit lands than in any other business in the whole of the Dominion; that is to say a larger percentage of profit is made in proportion to the amount invested, and when one knows the real condition of things this cannot be wondered at. Take for instance, the fact that 100,000 new farmers must buy new farms and begin to till the soil each year in order to supply the constantly increasing requirements of a country such as this whose population is growing by leaps and bounds. If each one of these new farmers should purchase only a very small tract of land, it means that 4 million acres of land changes hands each year, and the average profit on the retailing of Fruit Lands can conservatively be estimated at from $40 to $60 per acre.

The wide-spread demand for productive Fruit Land in a climate such as British Columbia can boast of, has materially created what is to-day the most profitable business in Canada, namely, the Land Selling Business. A well organized Land Selling Company dealing in only very small proportion of the land that will be sold during the next few years will pay the shareholders enormous dividends, and this without a possibility of any loss.

The man with money who is looking for a safe investment, that will bring in big returns, cannot do better than investigate the foregoing statements and endeavor to secure an interest in a thoroughly well organized Land Selling Company.

Probably one of the best known and most reliable Companies now offering their stock to the general public is the Fire Valley Orchards Ltd., whose head offices are in Vancouver, B.C., This Company bought 2040 acres in the well known Fire Valley in the Kootenay District, B.C., about 18 months ago. Owing to the exceptional circumstances the land was bought at the rate of $30 per acre and though it is worth considerably more than that to-day, the Company are offering the general public an opportunity to purchase shares so the same [illegible]

RECIPROCITY ALREADY WON

Washington, June 17.—(Special)—Senator Pearose has told President Taft that the fight for reciprocity is won.

The Root amendment will be beaten according to the senator, who is in charge of the bill on the floor of the senate. All other amendments will be defeated. On final passage there will be an aggregate of 60 votes for the measure, thus carrying the pact for a reduced cost of living by a safe majority of 20.

The World presents an analysis of the vote by which Senator Pearose convinced the president the bill would go through. No one ever accused the Pennsylvania senator of being an optimist, there is a possibility that he is over sanguine in his estimate of 60 votes for reciprocity at the present stage of the debate. He includes in his list, for illustration, Senators Wetmore and Lippitt of Rhode Island; Senators Clarke of Arkansas and Chamberlain of Oregon, about whose votes for the bill there is some doubt in administration circles.

He includes also Root and Lodge as favorable to reciprocity. Root and Lodge have not been converted, especially Root. The latter is still for the paper trust amendment and will not relax his efforts until the senate has voted it down. Then, and not until then, will he cast his vote for the pact. Root and Lodge will merely follow the majority.

Senator Pearose expects many efforts to amend the bill, in addition to Root's plan.

"Feels Like a New Woman"

YEARS OF ILL HEALTH CURED

"Like many another woman," writes Mrs. J. H. Hilliard, of Ashland, N. Y., "continued weakness caused by poor stomach and constipation led me to believe I would always be sick. It was Mrs. Ryan, my neighbor, who advised me to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and it was the means of teaching me 'It is never too late to mend.' I am rather a small woman, always pale, except when my skin became a muddy yellow. I never had much of an appetite because my digestion was never very good and still worse my system was seldom regular. Mrs. Ryan had become healthy and well with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and kept telling me that they would fix my system so it would work well too. Certainly Dr. Hamilton's Pills must have made right all that was wrong, because I weigh ten pounds more than ever before and feel fine. If you could see my rosy color, and watch how quickly I do my housework, I am sure you would think just as much of Dr. Hamilton's Pills as I do. They are a real fine medicine for woman and like as not would do a man just as much good too."

There is no remedy for general use in the home to make you well when sick, to keep you from getting sick—no medicine with half the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills—see you get nothing else, sold in 25c yellow boxes, all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Times had a pleasant call yesterday from Ex-Bailie Gemmell, from Pollokshaws, Scotland, who proposes to make Peterborough his future home. Mr. Gemmell is a builder and contractor, and proposes to follow the same occupation here. He is prepared to take contracts of every description in the line of mason or brick work, as well as carpentry. His present address is 440 George St.

"When George V. is Crowned."

The Times is in receipt of a patriotic song entitled "When George V. is Crowned." The words are by Mr. Roland C. Barwell, of British Columbia, and the music by Charlotte Bonnycastle, Campbellford, Ont. The song is being used at Petawawa and Kingston military camps, and also by many of the schools throughout the country. We understand that copies of the song will be placed on sale in this city.

City Loses Appeal.

In the case of the appeal made by the City against the decision of Judge Hewson, in the case of Hatton against the City of Peterborough, has been won by Mr. Hatton. It will be remembered that Mr. Geo. W. Hatton brought action against the City, to recover damages for injuries to himself and his horse through an accident on Concession street, for which he claimed the city was responsible. He was successful in securing a verdict in his favor from Judge Hayeke without jury, for $485 and costs. The City appealed to the Divisional Court and that body dismissed the appeal. $1,000 has been appropriated to pay the verdict and costs. Mr. Hatton was represented by Mr. D. O'Connell, K.C., while George W. Watson, K.C., looked after the interests of the city.

Mr. Gemmell Honored.

The Pollokshaws (Scotland) News, of May 12th, has the following: Ex-Bailie Gemmell, who has just sailed for Canada, was the guest of the Conservative Association at a social meeting held with in the rooms at No. 1 King Street on the evening of 3rd inst. Ex-Bailie Arbuckle presided over a large attendance. In the course of the evening Mr. Mearns, on behalf of the association, presented Mr. Gemmell with a purse of sovereigns in recognition of Mr. Gemmell's long sustained and active interest in the Conservative cause, and as a tangible token of the esteem of his fellow members, and of their good wishes for his future. Provost MacDougall having made some supplementary remarks appropriate to the occasion, Mr. Gemmell, in accepting the gift which had been made to him, said that, wherever his lot might yet be cast, he would watch the progress of Conservatism in the homeland, and particularly in East Renfrewshire, with the closest and keenest interest. On the motion of Mr. R. B. Walker, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. James Paton for his services as secretary to the Testimonial Committee, and thereafter, on the motion of Captain Colledge, a like compliment was paid to ex-Bailie Arbuckle for presiding.

The woman of to-day who has good health, good temper, good sense, bright eyes and a lovely complexion, the result of correct living and good digestion, wins the admiration of the world. If your digestion is faulty Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct it. For sale by all dealers.

A Serious Offence.

A very serious offence was committed on Monday by some person unknown, who sent to the newspaper offices of the city an announcement of the engagement of Miss Barrett, of Sherbrooke street, which is incorrect and untrue. Our contemporary, the Examiner, has offered a reward of $50 for the discovery of the party who sent the letter to that paper. The Times will also give $50 for information that will lead to the conviction and punishment of the party who sent a similar letter to this paper.

OBITUARY

The Late John Coleman.

The news of the death of Mr. John Coleman, which took place yesterday evening, will come with a shock to many friends and acquaintances throughout the city. About two weeks ago the deceased contracted blood poisoning, which developed rapidly, notwithstanding all that medical science could do, until the end came as above.

Mr. Coleman was a member of the firm of Coleman Bros., the well-known caterers. He was highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, and his demise will be universally regretted. He was also an enthusiastic member of the choir of St. John's church, as well as an expert tennis player.

The funeral will take place on Thursday, the 22nd inst., from the family residence, 545 Homewood avenue, at 8.30 a.m., to St. John's Church, where service will be held at 9 o'clock.

The sympathy of the community will go out to the family in their bereavement.

The Late Edward Bowie.

Mr. Edward Bowie, an old and respected citizen, passed away yesterday while at work shingling a roof for Mr. M. Halpin, grocer, corner of George and Perry streets.

The body was removed by Mellegheem's ambulance to the undertaking rooms.

The late Mr. Bowie commenced work yesterday morning for Mr. Halpin, on a small shed in the rear of the grocery store. About 11.15, Mrs. Halpin had occasion to go into the yard and she noticed that he was in a stooping position on the roof. Not thinking, however, that anything was wrong, she returned to the house, and a few minutes again went into the yard and noticed the man in the same position. She then became alarmed and sent one of the children to P.C. Meagher's home at the corner of Crescent and Lake streets. When he arrived two other men were there and they found that Mr. Bowie was dead. The body was then taken down from the roof. This was about 11.45 o'clock.

It is thought that Mr. Bowie overexerted himself, in handling the heavy bundles of shingles. He was well known here. His son, Roland, works at the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company.

The late Mr. Bowie was born in Otonabee, 73 years ago, the son of the late Alexander Bowie. He remained on the homestead until he was 20 years of age. He was married to Miss Carrie Elizabeth Hodge in 1864 and she predeceased him seven years ago.

He had for a number of years kept an implement shop where the Monument works on Hunter street are now located. He was a member of George street Methodist Church.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 p.m. o'clock, Thursday afternoon from Bellegheem's undertaking establishment to Little Lake cemetery.

A BOWLING TOURNAMENT.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see by The Times that it is proposed to hold a bowling tournament in this city at an early date. Lawn bowling is one of the very best games to be found for the business man, as well as others, engaged in inside work of any kind. It is sufficient to afford ample exercise without undue fatigue or violence. So that this tournament will do much to popularize this splendid game in Peterboro.

An Old Bowler.

FIX UP THE PARK.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I congratulate Mr. Leary and members of the Grand Jury for directing attention to the condition of the old Russian cannon in front of the Court House, in their report to the General Sessions. I hope the County Council will see that the suggestions are carried out, and a new cement foundation built for the guns.

While on this subject I would like to say a word or two in regard to the damage done, particularly during band concerts, to the flower beds. These are often trampled over and flowers and plants injured and often destroyed.

My attention was called to the dirt occasioned by the sale of peanuts on band concert nights. Shells are strewn all over the park. It is almost impossible to gather these up, as Mr. Maguire, the caretaker, will tell anybody who would care to ask him. It would be a good thing to forbid the sale of peanuts altogether.

A.F.B.

DECORATE.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Crowning of King George V. is an event which should and will long be remembered by the people residing in all parts of the Empire. It therefore behooves us to take part and show our patriotic spirit by decorating our homes and places of business.

Therefore I hope all loyal subjects will display flags and assist in every possible way to make the event one long to be remembered in Peterborough.

A. Brooks.

MUST SUPPORT THEIR OWN.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Kindly make room in The Times for the following, taken from the Catholic Register, the official organ of the Church of Rome. It is from the "Question Box." The question and answer is given below:

(b) Is it wrong for Catholics to contribute to the support of non-Catholic worship.

(b) A Catholic is not allowed to contribute directly or indirectly to the support of non-Catholic worship, not because he dislikes non-Catholics, but simply because he believes that Christ has only one true Church and that the Catholic Church is that one. All others he knows to be false and, therefore, may not contribute to them.

• • • •

I do not blame our Roman Catholic friends for helping their own, but let Protestants do likewise.

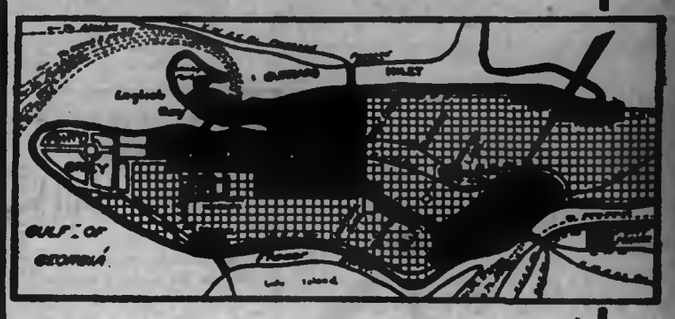
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

THE KAISER'S SECRET DREAD

Why the German Emperor Fears Assassination—Very Apprehensive of the Number 13

What does the future hold for me? What is to be my fate? These vital questions agitate the minds of most of us, more or less. And, judging by the revelations of the writer of "Recollections of a Society Clairvoyant," no people are more superstitious in regard to signs and portents, and their relation to the future, than Royalty. Many of them attach great importance to dreams. The Czarina, the Emperor of Austria, and the Kaiser, for instance, insist that dreams have furnished them with premonitions of various misfortunes which have overtaken them.

The Emperor of Austria has peculiar forebodings of eminent disaster, and for some months before the assassination of the Empress Elizabeth at Geneva in 1898 he was a victim to ominous presentiments, and frequently exclaimed, "Oh! if this year were but at an end." The Empress was a fatalist. "What is to be will be," she once said. "It has been predicted that I and my two sisters will all meet with violent deaths. Personally, I do not dread a sudden death." And curiously enough, after the assassination of the Empress, her sister, the Duchess D'Alencon, met her death in the terrible bazaar fire in Paris, while the ex-Queen Sophia of Naples, the third sister, anticipates meeting as violent a death as that of her two sisters.

The Black Bird and White Lady

It is a curious fact that for some days before the Empress was murdered, and on the day of her death, a large black raven was observed constantly flying near her bedroom window at the hotel where she was staying. And it is a tradition of the Austrian Royal Family that a black bird and a white lady always foretell death. It is also said that when a member of the reigning house of Germany is about to die, the white lady—supposed to be the spirit of the Countess Agnes Orlamunde, who murdered her first husband and her two children, as they constituted an obstacle to her marriage with one of the ancestors of the Kaiser—always appears.

The white lady appeared to Frederick the Great on the eve of his death, and in 1866 she came to Prince Frederick of Prussia before his death at the Battle of Saalfeld. A number of officers also saw her, the Prince being at the time in their company.

The present Kaiser is firmly convinced that he will die by the hand of an assassin. This has been predicted to him several times—twice as a young man by Hungarian gipsies when he was visiting his friend the late Crown Prince of Austria, at Galicia; and it is said that this conviction forms a constant topic of conversation between the Emperor and his friends.

The Kaiser and No. 13

Like the late King Edward VII., the German Emperor is also very apprehensive of the number 13 in connection with any entertainment, and more than once a subaltern on duty at the Palace has been commanded at a moment's notice to join the Imperial party to avoid thirteen being at table.

Many members of European royalty consulted the writer of "Recollections of a Society Clairvoyant," amongst them being the late King Leopold, Queen Nathalie of Servia, and King Humbert of Italy. "I did not feel," says the author concerning King Humbert, "that I could tell him what I saw, it was shortly before his assassination, and I did my best to warn him against perils on a journey. He expressed himself very pleased with some private information which I gave him, but laughed at my warnings, and told me that he would 'wait and see.'

"Then a few years ago he was consulted by a pretty, fair-haired girl, who was accompanied by an elderly lady. 'When I read her crystal,' he says, 'I could see a brilliant marriage in store for her, but I could also see that her wedding day would be a day of sudden death for others. I told her this, and also that her home would be far away from England, among strangers in race and religion. I was talking about her to a lady who is persona grata at Court, and she remarked enigmatically that the Princess Ena had always been a little unconventional, 'but,' she added, 'I don't say that your client was the Queen of Spain.'"

NEW ZEALAND SHEEP

The Depredations of a Parrot About the Size of a Pigeon

A correspondent of the Edinburgh Scotsman gives an interesting account of the supposed origin and depredations of the New Zealand Mountain Kea, or parrot, a bird about the size of a pigeon, which infests the barren wastes above the snow line. Originally a vegetarian, and insectiverous, it is believed to have acquired the taste for mutton and sheep's blood by alighting on their backs and hunting with its bank for ticks and grubs. Curiosity and hunger were the stimulating motives of the bird, resulting in the backs of the sheep being torn to pieces down to the kidneys and other organs. What was destroying the sheep was a mystery till about 1863 or 1869, when a shepherd discovered that the new foe of the flock was the Kea, on the head of which a long price has since been set, and he is now hunted as a profession.

BOGUS BANK BILLS

Counterfeit bills of the Bank of Montreal of the denomination of five dollars are somewhere in circulation to the amount of about $5,000. Notice to this effect was sent out by the bank to the principal commercial establishments. It would appear from the warning that the counterfeits are of the [illegible] issue, to the amount of $23,707.

A Well Managed Institution.

Two members of the Grand Jury called on The Times last week and requested us to say a few words in praise of the way the County House of Refuge is being managed. When the Grand Jury visited the premises they found everything in perfect condition, both inside and out. When it is remembered that this is maintained without any hired help, it is all the more creditable to the caretaker, Mr. Henry Beams, wife and daughter, who have the place in charge, and therefore deserving of much praise.

LONG SPEECHES IN PARLIAMENT

Some of the Orators of the Past Who Sometimes Occupied Hours in Important Debates

"Never in the history of Parliament," Mr. Balfour once exclaimed with clenched hands and flashing eyes "has such a proposal been made in so brief a speech." Such was the right honorable gentleman's surprise and indignation when Sir William Harcourt sat down after a five minutes' speech introducing the Evicted Tenants Bill.

Indeed, any speech less than an hour in length on an occasion like this would almost have seemed an insult to the House.

In 1642, after hours of dreary oratory, a member rose and exclaimed, "The House is empty, and so be our stomachs. I pray ye, therefore, adjourn the debate for one hour." But Speaker Long would not listen to the pleading. He could sit as long as Legislators could talk; and sit he did, until he fell off his chair in a dead faint.

In the Stuart days, when it was no uncommon thing for a parson to turn his hour-glass three or four times before he arrived at "Lastly, my brethren," the man who could not and did not keep on his legs at Westminster for three hours at least was thought as little of as the squire who could not carry his three bottles of port. Any prosy legislator, it is said, spoke for seven hours; and another for six, without leaving the perpendicular.

In later years Sheridan, speaking on the Begum case, held the floor and his audience for five solid hours at a stretch; and Sir Robert Peel apologised for the "shortness and inadequacy" of a speech on the Corn Laws which fell just short of four hours. Lord Palmerston once orated four hours and a half on Don Pacifico and five minutes later was on his feet again, as fresh as when he started. And did not Mr. Biggar, that loquacious Irishman, once "hould the flure" from half-past twelve to half-past five on the thrilling topic of the Devon Commission?

No matter how trivial the subject, an hour was a very modest limit, as when proved when one honorable gentleman spoke for eighty minutes on undersized fish, and another took up sixty minutes with a learned harangue on beg in the Hebrides. Mr. Gladstone, who, when wound up, "could go on all day without turning a hair," spoke for five hours without a pause when introducing his first Budget; and such was the magic of his tongue that he kept his auditors entertained and breathless to the last word. He made dry figures as fascinating as romance.

There have been many attempts to curb this oratorical flow since, in 1849, Mr. Milner Gibson proposed a new Standing Order directing "that the speeches of members be limited in duration to one hour"; but the weight of opinion has been fatal to them. Mr. Gibson's motion was negatived by 96 to 62, and a much more recent motion by Major Rasch, imposing a twenty minutes' limit, by a majority of 40.

A GOOD WINTER SEASON

Customs Revenue at St. John Port Shows Increase

In spite of adverse trade conditions, the winter port season at St. John, which has just closed with the filing of the manifest of the last steamer, shows an increase in the Customs House of exports over last winter amounting to $722,789. During the winter 135 steamers arrived with cargoes, and of these 112 were given return loads. The Customs House export figures show Canadian goods, $15,322,437; American goods, $8,346,636; total, $23,669,073. In addition to this there were express shipments of Cobalt ore and Hudson Bay furs amounting to $1,800,000. During the season two new services to Australia and Hamburg were inaugurated.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the money invested with the cost of [illegible] contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 32 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

BIG MOUNTAINS UNDER THE SEA

That Atlantic is a Huge Continent Covered with Water—Summits Near the Surface

It was at the captain's table on an Atlantic liner that a young woman idly inquired just how far the ship was from the nearest land. Several passengers would have said on hand, "About eight hundred miles." But the captain referred the question to a quiet gentleman, who looked at his watch and a chart, and amazed his hearers by answering, "Just about seventy yards."

"The land I speak of," continued the captain's friend, who was an expert oceanographer, "is just thirty-six fathoms beneath this ship. It is the summit of the Laura Ethel Mountain, which is twenty thousand feet above the lowest level of the Atlantic basin. If it were some two hundred feet higher, or the sea were two hundred feet lower, you would call it an island."

In effect the Atlantic is a huge continent boasting a superficial area of 25,000,000 square miles. It is 3,000 miles long and 2,700 broad. The depth of the water that covers it is by no means so considerable as people used to imagine. Oceanography as a science may be said to date from only about 1,850; but, thanks chiefly to the labors of the cable-laying and cable-repairing ships, our knowledge of the configuration of the bed of the ocean grows greater every year.

The Laura Ethel Mountain, discovered in 1875, is the uppermost peak of one of the most celebrated of the submarine elevations in the Atlantic. Mount Chaucer, at the eastward of it, was revealed to oceanographers in 1850. Saint-hill, which is westward of both, has the honor to be the first mountain discovered in the Atlantic. It became known to science in 1832.

Prior to the laying of the first Atlantic cable, Lieut. Maury, U.S.N., made it known that a wide plateau exists beneath the ocean, running from Ireland to Newfoundland. It seemed so admirably suited to the purpose of cable laying that he modestly called it Telegraphic Plateau; but in the newest charts it bears the discoverer's name.

The location of "Davy Jones's locker" might be said to have been established with the discovery of Saint-hill. It has been estimated that at the base of this eminence the relics of not fewer than five thousand wrecks lie scattered. Or one might ascribe that gruesome distinction to the Faraday Hills, discovered in 1882, and lying between Mount Chaucer and Laura Ethel Mountain. These hills are noted among oceanographers for the amount of wreckage of which they are the monument.

There are the cavernous depths, of course, in the Atlantic, as well as majestic heights. Four miles and a half may be taken to be the greatest. The average is probably about two English miles. Heights and depths alike are merely hidden land, which may some day be exposed by the mighty workings of nature.

Meantime comparatively few changes go on. Beneath the ocean there are no frosts, no lightnings, no glaciers, no meteorological agents at work. If it were not for the eddies and the destruction and accumulation of animal life, these Atlantic hills and vales might rest as immutable as the "peaks and craters of the moon," where there is no atmosphere to cause decay.

THE CARE OF HENS

Information as to Proper Feeding and Cleanliness

A hot meal should always be given to fowls in the morning. Equal parts of sharps, bran and pea or bean meal, with a dash of mustard, the whole made friable with boiling water, is a good daily ration. The mixture should never be wet and stodgy, but should fall to pieces when crumbled in the hand.

At midday the birds should have, on alternate days a sprinkle of grain and some boiled meat—such as butcher's waste or lights—thrown into their scratching shed, which should be littered with straw or chaff, so that they will have to work for their meal. A small handful of grain for each fowl is about the right quantity.

The last meal should always be grain, and should be given as near dusk as possible. Grain takes a long time to digest, and, consequently, keeps the birds warm during cold nights. Wheat, oats, and barley are all good, particularly oats. Occasionally a little maize may be given, as it is heating; but as it has a tendency to form fat, it should only be supplied now and then.

Plenty of clean, fresh water in a clean vessel should always be within reach of the fowls, and when it is remembered that 70 per cent of an egg is composed of water, the importance of supplying enough to birds that are in lay is obvious. Water which has been frozen over should never be given to birds, nor water into which snow has fallen, as snow-water, for some inexplicable reason, seems to cause the birds to waste.

Scrupulous cleanliness should always be maintained in the fowl-house, and if no dropping-boards are provided under the perches, a deep layer of peat moss, dry earth, ashes or sawdust must be placed there and removed once a week or so.

WORK ON NEW STATION

During the last month or six weeks Montrealers have been watching with great interest the progress being made on the new addition to the Canadian Pacific Railway's Windsor Street Station. Work on the structure has been going ahead steadily all winter and each good progress has been made that it is probable that the whole building will be enclosed by the middle of August.

EARLY CLOSING.

The Times is requested to state that every Thursday afternoon during July and August, the leading stores in the city will be closed, in order to afford the employees as well as the employers a half holiday during the hot spell. As Dominion Day comes on Saturday this year, the regular market day will be held on Friday preceding. All business houses will be closed on the holiday. VOL XXXIV NO. 143 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY JUNE 22 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

LAKEFIELD CEMENT BY-LAW TURNED DOWN BY VOTERS

The voting on the by-law to give the Canada Cement Company a fixed assessment of $15,000 was turned down by the freehold ratepayers on Tuesday, by a vote of 157 for and 20 against. The three-fifths necessary to carry the by-law, requires 198 votes. The result is disappointing to many, as it is felt that had the by-law carried, the permanent operation of the cement works would have been assured. The company's plant is now assessed at $45,000. A fixed assessment of $15,000 would have meant a difference in taxes of about $1,000; but should the company shut down, a loss much greater than this will follow.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

SOME BAD BOYS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I desire to call the attention of the police to the habit that prevails in certain parts of the city amongst boys, of throwing stones. Windows are frequently broken by these missiles. It is not the work of large lads, but is done by the smaller urchins. An example made of one or two would probably put an end to it.

A Sufferer.

THE BAND IN THE PARK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The other day I noticed a letter in The Examiner complaining of the racket kicked up by children in Victoria Park on band nights. It is entirely correct, only that the writer hardly paints it as badly as it really is. I quit going to these entertainments some time ago, owing to the noise made by these youngsters. It is impossible to hear the music, especially in the finger parts.

I would suggest that the police attend and keep order. Children should be under some control, and not be permitted to destroy the pleasure that these fine concerts afford.

A Lover of Music.

A GOOD IDEA.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice by Mr. Callander's little paper, The Searchlight, an item that is worthy of attention. It says: "If there's a bunch of energetic men who want to make themselves popular, let them inaugurate a big children's day, just at the beginning of the holidays. Not a trip on the river, where expense is involved, and which keeps many at home; but a big picnic at Jackson or Inverlea Parks, where all can come and have a rousing day's fun together.

"A programme of sports could be run off, and an old-fashioned spread from baskets in charge of a committee would be good to see, and warm up the hearts of both old and young.

I would suggest that the management of the Y.M.C.A. take this matter up and carry it through. It would mean drawing the pupils closer to their institution, and would be productive of much good, if it became a yearly affair.

DEATH DUE TO CARELESSNESS

The adjourned inquest into the death of Hugh Darke, who was killed at the C.G.E. Works, was resumed last night. After many witnesses were called the jury retired at 11 o'clock and were out for over two hours, when W. A. Howard, foreman, announced they had reached a verdict, that death was due to carelessness on the part of J. H. Thompson and the lack of a proper code of signals in the company's plant.

THE THINNEST MAN WEDS

Chicago Bridegroom is Five Feet Tall, Weighing 88 Pounds.

The thinnest man in the world has been married.

"I had to look three times to see him," said the judge who performed the ceremony.

The man is Arthur Atherton of Chicago, 24 years old. Though five feet high he weighs only 88 pounds. He married a girl only 19 years old, who weighs 136 pounds.

"I asked the bride is she thought she could find her husband after I had married them," said the judge, "and in reply she wrapped her arms around him and gave him two or three good hugs."

THE WEATHER.

Fair and a little warmer.

PLAN GREAT CANAL FROM MONTREAL TO NEW YORK

Ottawa, June 20.—Plans for a big undertaking which has in view the establishment of a new canal system between Montreal, Lake Champlain and New York, were received at the the Department of Public Works, which is asked to approve of the project.

The plan was filed by Mr. Chas. Hervey, of Montreal, on behalf of the Lake Champlain and St. Lawrence Ship Canal Company, which at the present session of Parliament secured a time extension. A 12-foot-water way is proposed and the scheme will involve the construction of 21 miles of new canal through the counties of Chambly, St. Johns and Laprairie. The works will start at Fryers Island, five or six miles below St. Johns and terminate at Longueiul, opposite Montreal. The estimated cost does not appear from the plans, but will be up in the millions.

The object in view is the connection of Montreal with Lake Champlain by a better system of waterway than had existed, while from Lake Champlain, connection will be made with the Hudson River and New York. The scheme involves the possibility of further diversion of trade to American channels. It is stated that the company is well backed financially, and prepared to go ahead with the undertaking, once its plans are approved. A similar undertaking some years ago was rejected by the International Waterways Commission.

A FINE DAY FOR THE CORONATION

London, June 21.—The sky was overcast to-day, but, according to forecasters, the weather prospects are favorable, and there is every reason to expect a fine day for the Coronation.

London, June 21.—People having business in the Canadian offices have to crawl under or climb over massive timber barricades, to say nothing of doing friendly battle with hordes of eager sightseers. The whole city seethes with enthusiasm. The Emigration offices at Charing Cross are gaily decorated with greetings, "Our King and Queen."

TORRENTIAL SHOWERS WORK HAVOC ON DECORATIONS

London, June 20.—Two days of torrential showers have worked untold havoc in London's decorations for the coronation of King George and Queen Mary on Thursday. Bunting, flags and pennants, except those of the best grade are to-day nothing but smears and will have to be replaced, unless they are to be an actual detraction from the beautification of the processional route.

The rains, however, have no influence on the crowds, which have flocked to the city until even now the streets are almost impassable.

Thirty-nine visiting envoys arrived to-day and the welcoming crowds at the station were so vast that the police had great difficulty in preserving order. To-day's envoys included twenty princes and princesses, who brought with them large retinues and mountains of baggage.

That the coronation crowds are going to furnish a rich harvest for pickpockets and other crooks was clearly manifested to-day by a number of complaints made to the police. So far the police have given attention to those who might be suspected of designs of the royalties, to the end that the lesser criminals have had full sway. All political exiles and home-grown agitators are under the closest surveillance.

The crowds are proving the cheapest that ever visited the city and merchants are complaining bitterly of the almost complete failure of the commercial harvest! This is due chiefly to the enormous prices charged for everything. On the theory that everybody who came to the coronation would have his pockets lined with money.

No Paper Tomorrow

Owing to to-day being Coronation Day, The Times will not be published Friday morning. The Times expresses the hope that all will have a safe and enjoyable holiday.

$40 TO $60 EACH FOR CENSUS ENUMATORS

Disappointing to Many Who Worked 12 to 16 Hours a Day.

The census-taking is nearing an end. The enumerators have two more days in which to turn in their lists to the various district census commissioners who will forward these lists to Ottawa almost immediately for tabulation.

Many of the census men are disappointed in the amount of money they are to receive for their work, which is said to run from $40 to $60 each.

There has been little or no trouble experienced so far in obtaining the desired information. Most people answered the questions speedily and without hesitation. In a few instances did the enumerators experience difficulty. The Chinamen in the city did not understand the object, and were slow to get in line. There is yet considerable work to be done in some divisions, but in many cases the enumerators have finished.

BUY HARDISTY LOTS

Why not buy Hardisty lots while they are going at $100.00 each? Sixty lots already sold since the 14th. The best buying proposition that has ever been offered in Peterboro.

Call at R. A. Elliott & Co., office 367 Water Street, and see for yourself. Wide awake people are alive to the fact that our western country is where the money is made in Real Estate. Why not participate in your share of it? All C. P. R. lots left in the townsite have been doubled in price in the last two months. Hardisty Sub-division will also advance after the first 100 lots are sold.

Whether you buy or not we will be pleased to show you the advantage of securing lots in Hardisty in preference to any other investment. Don't tarry too long!

Ill Health, Its Cause

SLUGGISHNESS OF LIVER AND BOWELS.

It took me a long time to learn, and big doctors' bills in the bargain, writes Mr. Ogilby, of Winnipeg, that the disturbance of my system was due simply to liver and bowel inactivity. A sleepiness and languor extinguished my old time ambition. I fear irritability of temper added little to the comfort of my family, yet the headaches, general misery and melancholy forebodings that weighed me down ought to be considered. Tonics, electric treatment and mineral waters in turn failing to cure me, the advertising of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the testimonials supporting the claim of great medicinal virtue induced me to try them. The result of even the first box made clear that my own body was making its own poison, that by driving it from the system and removing the cause which undoubtedly resided in the liver and bowels, by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, my health would be as good as ever.

It seems certain to me that more than half the sickness we see about us is caused by carelessness in keeping the bowels open and the liver active. Dr. Hamilton's Pills I found do both, and do it better than other remedies. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

"LOUD LAUGHTER"

When Paddy's Wit Has Made the Rafter's Ring

Pat, for instance, has usually a clear idea of the meaning of an alibi, but he is rarely able to express himself in very lucid terms.

During a recent trial a judge asked a witness if he knew the meaning of an alibi.

"Yes, yer honor," said Pat. "It's just like this—it's to b afther provin' that ye wasn't where ye was whin ye committed a crime that, shure, ye niver committed at all."

On another occasion, when a prisoner was trying to convince a judge and jury of his innocence of a certain crime, he said:

"It's not meself as is afther trying to deave yer honors; I didn't hit the dead gintleman at all. It was him that shtruck the blow; an' the exartion killed him; an' what's more, I wasn't there at the time!"

"I see. You are trying to prove an alibi," said the judge.

"An alotbol!" exclaimed the prisoner.

"Yes," said the judge. "Can you tell me what a good alibi is?"

"Faith, yes!" said the prisoner. "It's a lot bet which the prisoner gets off!"

"What passed between you and the complainant?" another Irishman was asked.

"I think, sor," answered Murphy, "about six bricks an' a piece of paving-stone!"

"Two policemen, sor," was the reply.

"Drunk, I suppose?" queried the magistrate.

"Yes, sor; both av thim."

"Are you married or single?" asked a Cadi of a prisoner before him.

"Single, please, yer honor."

"Oh, then it's a good thing for your wife!" said the magistrate.

Even some Irish judges are not above showing their acquaintance with their native Blarney-stone. Recently, while one was delivering judgment in an action brought by two ladies, he remarked:

"Everything in this case is plain, except Mrs. Murphy and her charming daughter."

"Were you ever up before me?" asked a magistrate.

"Shure, I don't know," was the reply. "What time does your honor git up?"

"But the evidence," said a judge, in another case, "shows that you threw a stone in this case."

"An' the looks av the man shows I hit 'im!" was Mr. O'Toole's trenchant reply.

"The prisoner hit you with a brick, did he?" asked another judge.

"Yes, yer honor," was the reply.

"But it seems he didn't quite kill you, anyway," continued the judge.

"No, bad cess to him," said the complainant; "but it's wishin' he had. Ol do be."

"Why?" asked the judge.

"Begorra, then I'd have seen the scoundrel hanged for murther!"

"Why didn't you go to the assistance of the complainant?" was asked of an Irish policeman.

"Shure, Ol didn't know which of thim was goin' to be complainant," answered the man in blue.

"And so I understand that Patrick Blarney was your uncle?" said a counsel in the course of cross-examination.

"He was, till the bull killed him," was the reply.

An Irish barrister, defending a prisoner who was the father of a large family, wound up his speech by saying:

"And, gentlemen of the jury, think of all the little ones at home depending on this man for bread—their daily bread; remember he is their father—their only father!"

A DARING LADY AERONAUT

It is a curious fact that the Hon. Mrs Assheton Harbord, who recently placed another long balloon voyage to her credit by making an aerial voyage to France, became a balloonist by accident. In 1906 she went to see some friends off who were making an ascent, and at the last moment they suggested that she should go with them. She went, and returned to earth an enthusiastic aeronaut. Since then she has made more than a hundred voyages, owns her own balloon, and has been entertained by the members of the Aero Club in token of their appreciation of her pluck. She has made four voyages across the Channel, and on one occasion, when making a descent in France in a storm, was pitched out of the car as it bumped on the ground. "I can claim, therefore," humorously remarks Mrs. Harbord, "to be the only woman who has landed in France on her head."

Why is an anecdote book like a book-seller's shop?—It contains many cathoos.

BEAVER IN THE WEST

A strange animal has been attracting the wonder of residents along the banking of the Assiniboine river in the vicinity of Aylesmere's Point. The animal, in height, resembled, and seems mysteriously connected the movements of the latter. A young man decided to do his part in classifying the peculiar features, and procured a gun, went out late one afternoon, shortly, and on sighting the animal burrowing in the snow, shot it in the head. On investigation, he was surprised to find that he had killed a beaver.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge home offer, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

IS YOUR MONEY IDLE ?

Dormant Wealth is useless. Gold hidden in the corner cupboard is WASTING ITS TIME, just as surely as the sluggard is wasting his life. In these strenuous days of commercial activity every dollar should be made to work. ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING ALL THE TIME ?

Of course YOU have no lazy money. But have you a bank balance that is just vegetating, making a paltry three cents interest on the dollar once in twelve months, three dollars on the hundred, thirty on the thousand ?

Don't let your money ape the sluggard. Make it WORK. Opportunity is knocking at your door right now, and I am guiding Opportunity. It is worth your while reading this advertisement carefully. You cannot lose by it ; you stand to gain a just deal.

Fruit Farms in British Columbia are my specialty. I have devoted many years to a close study of the soil and the climatic conditions of the Fraser River Valley. I will not handle property that is not ABSOLUTELY A. 1., no matter what the inducement may be. When you deal with W. J. KERR, LTD., you deal with a reliable firm.

If you have never been to British Columbia, you can have but a slight idea of the wonderful and steady increase in land values. The price of yesterday is doubled to-day, to-day's price will quadrupled to-morrow, for the upward movement has only just commenced. The wealth of a province is behind this steady movement.

Six years ago I sold land on the Westminster-Vancouver electric car line for $100 per acre. To-day it sells for from $2000 to $6000 an acre.

Two years ago I sold land in Peachgrove for $100 an acre. You could not buy that same land to-day for less than $2000 per acre.

I have just picked these two instances at random, but they will suffice to show you the enormous increase in values in the past. THE PROFITS OF THE PAST WILL NOT BE A CIRCUMSTANCE TO THE PROFITS OF THE FUTURE. Do you wish to share in these profits ? Of course you do.

Investment in good real estate is as safe as a deposit in the Bank of England. There is no better real estate than in the Fraser River Valley.

I have the biggest list of properties in this district, and the prices at which I offer these is always a little lower than the other fellow. That is how I gained my reputation.

I am now placing a Fruit Land Subdivision on the market. This is parcelled into five-acre tracts, close to two railway lines and with splendid roads leading to the property. The Water Supply gushes up in a never-lessening stream from a well 320 feet deep, and can be piped to every house in the subdivision.

This Fruit Land is only a few miles from the city of Westminster, which boasts the greatest farmers' market in Western Canada. Here all products of the soil command a quick and remunerative sale. There is no over-supply ; the coast cities are growing fast and consume a great deal more than the surrounding country now produces.

The figure at which I am placing this on the market will increase tremendously in the next few years, and in the meantime the land will pay for itself over and over again with the bumper crops it will produce. Let me send you full details of this remarkable offer. Drop me a line to-day—right now while the matter is fresh in your mind.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

It is our painful duty to record the death of Mrs. Ayling of Apsley, who died Sunday evening, 18th, after a painful illness of several weeks. Mrs. Ayling was one of the oldest residents of this section having lived here for nearly 40 years. She is survived by one daughter Mrs. Henry White who resides on the old homestead. Deceased was a life-long member of the Anglican Church and an earnest worker in everything connected with the Church. She will be greatly missed not only in the home, but by many sincere friends, and the family have the deepest sympathy of the community in their sorrow. Mrs. Ayling was in her 77th year. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 10 a.m.

A sitting of the 4th Division Court was held in the Town Hall, Apsley, June 20th, Judge Huycke presiding. There was only one case which was quickly disposed of. A long ways for a judge to come to give judgment in a suit that did not amount to more than $6 or $10.00.

The pathmaster has been warning the people out for statute labor. Look for good roads now when Duncan gets after them.

Simon had the Vet. up from Peterborough attending his horse, which had a very bad case of distemper. At first there was little hopes of its recovery, but at the time of writing is out of danger and doing well. It would have been a serious loss to Simon as it was a valuable young horse.

Jim is doing a rushing business, both in general blacksmithing and selling machinery, buggies, waggons, &c.

The telephone poles are up now on the extensions from Lasswade to Purdyville, from Apsley to Clairicarde and from Apsley to Geo. A. Ballied's. The wiring will be gone on with as soon as wire and insulators arrive, which have been ordered some time ago, and when finished will mean about a dozen more private phones.

FULL REHEARSAL OF THE CORONATION SERVICE

London, June 20.—A full dress rehearsal of the coronation ceremony, the reception of envoys from foreign lands by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace, the State banquet to Royal guests and representatives of the heads of States, and the Shakespearian ball at Albert Hall, make up to-days crowded programme of events directly connected with the crowning of King George.

The Coronation rehearsal will depict the ceremony practically as it will be performed on Thursday.

The Shakespearian ball will be a notable affair, as it is expected that King George and Queen Mary and nearly all of the members of Royalty will be present.

The State ball at Buckingham Palace to-night will be the most elaborate of the kind ever given in London. The famous Windsor gold plate will be used.

Aside from these main events there are a large number of lesser features constantly occurring, incident to the continuous arrival of distinguished foreigners and the innumerable semi-official dinners, garden parties, receptions, exhibitions and private events which have sprung up in connection with the Coronation festivities.

Royal carriages conveying the nation's representatives on an interminable round of official visits, the passing and repassing of contingents of troops, and a ceaseless stream of sightseers, with a big sprinkling of brightened apparel affected by the dwellers of both the near East and the far East, furnished London with a day-long succession of thrills.

Among the troops were many in strange foreign uniforms and continental regiments of which the King is honorary colonel.

Enormous crowds gathered early in the vicinity of Westminster Abbey where the Peers and Peeresses furnished a free show, many arriving for the Coronation rehearsal wearing their robes and carrying their coronets uncovered; while there were great throngs near Buckingham Palace to watch the coming and going of the uniformed envoys attending their Majesty's reception. There was nothing else to be seen in the vicinity of the palace, which is bare of decorations, but thousands stood throughout the day peering through the railings and satisfied to watch the sentry during the intervals between functions when the court was resting.

MONTREAL MAY GET EIGHT SEATS.

Redistribution Following the Census Will Cause Some Interesting Changes.

Ottawa, June 19.—Montreal expects to get at least eight members of Parliament in the redistribution after the census, and while the number of members for the Province remains at sixty-five the increase in the city will mean reduction in the rural constituencies. Two Nationalist members, originally elected as Conservatives, are marked for attempted slaughter. They are Dr. Paquet, of L'Islet, which county will be merged with Montmagny, and Dr. Lortie, of Soulanges, which will be added to Vaudreuil. In the former case, even with the counties united, Paquet is safe.

Dr. Orville Owen Says Discovery Fits in With His Cipher—Under Eight Feet of Clay.

London, June 17.—Dr. Orville Owen who has been searching the River Wye for the manuscripts of the Shakespearian plays which he believes were hidden by Bacon, has made a new discovery in his explorations of the Wye which he asserts fits in with his cypher.

It is a triangular stone structure thirteen feet high under the walls of Chepstow Chapel.

It was hidden under eight feet of clay, and at high tide was covered by several feet of water. He says that he honestly believes this to be the long-sought cache.

The Belleville enquiry into civic land sales continues June 27. Yesterday the wife of City Treasurer Price testified that her purchases had been on behalf of her daughter.

FAMOUS DRIVERS OF LOGOMOTIVES

Ferdinand of Bulgaria Recently Drove an Express from Abbeville to Paris

Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the daughter of the ex-President of the United States, is among the very few ladies who have actually not only ridden in the cab of a locomotive, but who have driven it at express speed. She had, it appears, whilst travelling upon the Atlanta and West Point Railway, tried unsuccessfully to get her mother's permission to go on the locomotive, and finally, at a station on the way, she left the private coach and reached the driver's cab by climbing over the top of the coal on the tender. She then drove the engine for thirty-six miles. The speed maintained was sixty-five miles an hour, and the testimony of the engine-driver was that Miss Roosevelt had managed everything as well as he could have done it himself.

Many American millionaires, and especially those who have made their millions by controlling railways, manage to make the great trunk lines serve their pleasure as well as their profit. In fact, they use the locomotive of the train as if it were a private motor-car. They have private trains of their own, fitted up as luxuriously as our own or any European Royal train, and they and their guests career across the country from New York to San Francisco, or anywhere else that fancy dictates, and stop whenever and wherever they please. Needless to say, the cuisine on board the train is that of a first-class hotel. This kind of luxurious travelling home-party often continues for weeks together. Both the Railway King and his male and, occasionally, his lady guests, will join the driver on the foot-plate, and all the Vanderbilts, Mr. George Gould, and Dr. Edward Webb, who are fond of this recreation, are expert engine-drivers.

Although the Duke of Saragossa is very wealthy, and owns large estates in Spain, he prefers the life of an engine-driver in the service of a French railway. When dressed in the rough garb of a driver there is nothing about him to indicate that he was not born to the business, except, perhaps, his white linen collar and his smartly-cut boots. He qualified five years ago, and since then he has been employed on several railways in Spain and France. The Duke of Saragossa is very popular with his comrades on the railway, and he is the only engine-driver in France who smokes gold-tipped cigarettes.

Several European royalties are deeply interested in engine-driving. The King of Spain, for instance, used to take every possible opportunity of getting upon the foot-plate with the driver of any train he might be travelling with. Probably, now that he is a married man with family responsibilities, he may not indulge in this propensity so often, although he is quite expert and absolutely fearless, and has often driven his mother and sisters on the railway. Ferdinand of Bulgaria is another Royal engine-driver, and some time ago actually drove the express from Abbeville to Paris.

CABBIES' NICKNAMES

Some Amusing "Make Ups" to Describe the Cabmen

"Order, gentlemen, please, while 'Diddy' gives us his song," and the chairman of the cabbies' "harmonic," known on the ranks as "Jim the Butcher," banged on the table with a fair-sized mallet, as "Diddy" began his vocal effort. The convivial concert was being held by the cabdrivers for the benefit of one of the most deserving of their number, Mr. Brett, better known as "Guildford's Chieftain," who had met with certain misfortunes, the chairman being supported during the evening by such well-known cabbies as "Tricky Tom," "The Dicky Boy," "Little Fish," "Squib," "Happy at Lacks," "Waddles," "Mike the Burglar," and St. Anne's Midget."

These were the nicknames bestowed upon them by fellow-drivers, and in no class of men does there exist such a varied and unique collection of nicknames as those associated with the cabdrivers of London. And the most curious feature of this concert was that the nicknames mentioned, together with many others, such as "Punch Peter," "All On Board," "Tailing," "Old Chicken," "Steaks," "King of Pimlico," "Young Spot," "Young Rabbit," "Truthful Ginger," "Ecclesiastical Jack," and a host of others, were all on the programme.

These nicknames usually arise from some peculiarity of the driver himself. For instance, one veteran known on the rank as "Chaffy" used to cut chaff before he took out a cab, and this becoming known he was promptly termed "Chaffy." Then, again, the story went round concerning one driver that when he was courting a servant girl she asked him to knock softly when he called, so that the "mistress" should not hear him, and he was promptly dubbed "Knock Softly."

A Well Managed Institution.

Two members of the Grand Jury [illegible] the Times last week and requested us to say a few words in praise of the way the County House of Refuge is being managed. When the Times Jury visited the premises everything was in perfect condition, neat and clean. How an Old Gentleman Got Even With a Spiritualist

An old gentleman, apparently from the country, one day entered the room of a medium and expressed a desire for a "spirit communication." He was told to take a seat at the table and to write the names of his deceased relatives. The medium, like many others, incorrectly pronounced the term "deceased" the same as "diseased," sounding the s like z. The old gentleman carefully adjusted his "specs" and did what was required of him. A name and relationship having been selected from those written, the investigator was desired to examine and state if they referred to one party.

"I declare they do!" said he. "But I say, mister, what has them papers to do with a spirit communication?"

"You will see directly," replied the medium. Whereupon the latter spasmodically wrote a "communication," which read somewhat as follows:—

"My Dear Husband,—I am very glad to be able to address you through this channel. Keep on investigating, and you will soon be convinced of the fact of spirit intercourse. I am happy in my spirit home, patiently awaiting the time when you will join me here, etc. —Your loving wife, Betsy."

"Good, gracious! But my old woman can't be dead," said the investigator, "for I left her at home!"

"Not dead!" exclaimed the medium. "Did I not tell you to write the names of 'deceased' relatives?"

"Diseased!" returned the old man; "she ain't anything else, for she's had the rumatiz orfully for six months!"

"WINNIE'S" PAPER TRIANGLES

Little Mannerisms of Winston Churchill While in the House

Great men, like humbler folk, have their little mannerisms, and Mr. Winston Churchill's, as one would expect, is distinctive and interesting. It is really a schoolboy trick. Mr. Churchill takes a single sheet of the House of Commons Order Paper, damps the thumb and forefinger with his lips, rolls the paper tightly, commencing at the corner, and then bends it first in the centre and next some few inches from the ends, which he interverts, and thus forms a perfect triangle. This he [illegible] on his finger, or sometimes on a [illegible] or pencil, and then thrusts it beneath the Treasury Bench and commences the operation again. Sometimes he makes as many as a round half-dozen of these triangles at a time, with a rapidity of construction quite remarkable. A triangle is often made, twirled, and discarded in less than a minute.

SIR "SAM" EVANS

Sir Samuel Evans is a capital story-teller, and one of his most humorous yarns concerns a man accused of having stolen a pair of trousers. There were several witnesses, but the evidence was rather meagre, and so the accused was acquitted. He was told to go, but would remain. His lawyer, to whose successful defence he mainly owed his liberty, hinted to him again that he was free to depart, but still he stayed. There being no more cases to be heard, the court was getting empty, when the lawyer, growing impatient, asked, with some asperity, why he didn't go. The injured, innocent man whispered in his ear, "The fact is, sir, I did not like to move till the witnesses had left the court." "Why so?" "Because, sir, I have got on the trousers that I stole."

The Times will also give $50 for information that will lead to the conviction and punishment of the party who sent a similar letter to this paper.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

IN THE FAR NORTH

How the Queen of Holland Helped a Missionary

Rev. E. W. Greenshields, of Cumberland Sound, sailed for Moosonee diocese, a barren isolated region, in a boat commanded by a Dutch crew. One night while off the coast of Labrador their boat was sunk by an iceberg, and until daybreak the crew, in a lifeboat, faced death in an awful form. Rev. Mr. Greenshields was the only one in the party who knew the coast, and he was able to guide them to an island, where they were fed and cared for by the Eskimos. News of the outer world penetrates this region but once a year, but sufficient particulars reached Holland regarding the heroism of the Anglican missionaries in the far north of Canada to enlist the sympathy of Holland's Queen in the work. The good Queen knighted Mr. Greenshields.

PROSPERITY FOR THE WEST

The Grand Trunk Pacific to Spend $17,000,000 this Year

Seventeen million dollars will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific during 1911 in constructing new lines and erecting station buildings throughout the West. There will be 619 miles of work undertaken on the branch lines and completed during the present season. This will include the Calgary branch, Battleford branch, Melville-Regina branch, Alberta Coal branch, Regina-Boundary branch, Moose Jaw-Prince Albert branch, and Biggar to Calgary. There will also be 265 miles of main line work done, as well as 200 miles further grading on the branch lines. Arrangements are also being made for the erection of 140 station buildings. This is the largest and most extensive year's work that the Grand Trunk Pacific has undertaken. The majority of new branch lines to be constructed will be laid in districts hitherto totally untouched by railroad development. Rapid strides have already been made towards completing the main line between Edmonton and the Coast, and up to the present 365 miles of steel has been laid. From Edmonton, going west, the line is completed as far as Prairie Creek, which is the entrance to the foot hills of the Rockies, and from the Coast, working towards the Rockies, 165 miles of track has already been laid. This year the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and from Prairie Creek fully another 165 miles will be completed, while from the west end 100 miles are to be constructed. The Alberta Coal branch will tap an entirely new country by running a line from Bickerdike on the main line through the Pacific Pass coal fields, as well as those of the Yellowhead, and provision has been made for 69 miles of it to be constructed this year. Another entirely new branch will be constructed between Regina and Moose Jaw, a distance of 49 miles. Besides all this construction work a vast mileage of grading is to be accounted for, and this will be carried on to the extent of two hundred miles on the Regina boundary Branch branch and these others which will not be completed. In addition to the above, the Company is erecting some of the largest bridges in the West. Over the Red Deer River on the Tofield-Calgary branch an enormous bridge, 200 feet high, is now under construction. Another huge bridge has just been completed at Prairie Creek on the main line. A third is to be constructed farther west over the Athabaska River. Another over the Skeena River, which is to be the largest on the Transcontinental.

DAY FOR KILLING GOPHERS

The Prize-Winner Killed 514 of These Animals

Days are set apart in various places for a great variety of objects, and certainly one of the most unusual days is one set apart for killing gophers. Kebo, Alberta, held its second annual gopher day. Owing, probably to there still being several inches of snow on the ground, the gophers killed this time were fewer in number than those slaughtered a year ago. However, enough were destroyed to give this season's crop a better chance for growth. The supper and entertainment following upon the day of killing were well enjoyed, and it is said that there will be no difficulty in celebrating gopher day every year—if the gophers can stand it. The man who won the prize for the greatest destruction killed five hundred and fourteen gophers, and the winners of second and third prizes accounted for two hundred and one hundred and fifty-five, respectively. The winners seem to be in the same class as several royal hunters in Europe who are noted for getting great bags in their vast hunting grounds.

MONUMENT FOR WOLFE

Toronto Men Propose Memorial for Hero of Quebec

With the object of erecting a monument to Gen. Wolfe, hero of the Plains of Abraham, a number of prominent Toronto men met in the board-room of the Bank of Commerce.

It is proposed to erect the monument over Wolfe's grave, in England. Amongst those present were the Lieutenant-Governor, Col. James Mason, Sir Edmund Walker and Mr. P. C. Larkin. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee consisting of a large number of prominent Toronto men to deal with the matter.

RT. HON. JAMES BRYCE

BONES WERE OF INDIANS

Dr. Orr Inspected the Recent Discovery at Weston

Dr. R. B. Orr, Superintendent of the Provincial Museum, after a visit to Weston, where the bones of fourteen human beings had been unearthed by workmen breaking the ground for a new church building, stated that there was no question about their being the skeletons of Indians. The very arrangement of the bones, he says, when they were unearthed was sufficient ground for such a conclusion. He stated that the skulls were close together and that the bones forming the rest of the skeletons lay in such a manner as to form a sort of cart-wheel, with the skulls as the hub. He added that this was the customary mode of burial among the Indians centuries ago, and that out only were these Indian skeletons, but they had been there for probably three hundred or more years. Dr. Orr secured two skulls to take measurements of their various dimensions and also to preserve as curios.

PEPPER CHOKED CHILD

Brother's Mischievous Prank Caused Death of Two-Year-Old

With his mouth full of black pepper, little two-year-old Romeo Dombreuski, of 204 Pleais Street, Montreal, choked to death. The father, Mr. Edward Dombreuski, was moving into the house with his family, and everything was in confusion. Some of the household supplies were on the table in the kitchen. Romeo and his brother, Laurea, three years old, were playing, and got hold of a box containing pepper. It is believed that in their play Laurea filled his little brother's mouth with the burning spice. When his cries brought the family, a doctor was quickly summoned, but all attempts to save his life were unavailing.

NOBLE FRENCH FARMERS

Tilled Soil in York County Hundred Years Ago

Was the country around Richmond Hill, York County, once settled by French nobles who were fugitives from the French Revolution? So asked E. Harrison, in a paper read before the members of the York Pioneer and Historical Society.

Mr. Harrison had arrived at this conclusion after a thorough and careful perusal of the titles of the various farms in that vicinity, many of which remain in the original French names. The land had been given to the fugitives gratis from the British Government, and when in 1814 the French Monarchy was restored they returned to France, owing to their dislike of the rigid Canadian winters.

Another historical paper was read by Mr. John Montgomery, son of John Montgomery of 1837 Rebellion fame. It told of early political troubles, giving a graphic description of the burning of Montgomery Hotel. Mr. Montgomery produced a watch, which his father had hid in his sock during the bombardment, and he said the old man had put all his money, which was about $70, in the other sock.

TO PRIVY COUNCIL TWICE

Judgment has been given in Montreal in a case which has already been decided by the Privy Council and has been twenty-seven years before the courts.

In 1884 Andrew Rough bought a piece of land through the Eastern Townships Bank, but refused to take it because he could not get a clear title to it. The bank sued him and won. The Privy Council decided in his favor seven years ago. Next the lawyers for the bank found a flaw in the proceedings and appealed to the Superior Court. The case was recalled and judgment given in favor of the bank. It will go again to Privy Council.

A GOOD WINTER SEASON

Customs Revenue at St. John Port Shows Increase

In spite of adverse trade conditions, the winter port season at St. John, which has just closed with the filing of the manifest of the last steamer, shows an increase in the Customs House of exports over last winter amounting to $722,789. During the winter 135 steamers arrived with cargoes, and of these 112 were given return loads. The Customs House export figures show Canadian goods, $15,822,437; American goods, $6,246,636; total, $22,649,073. In addition to this there were express shipments of Cobalt ore and Hudson Bay furs amounting to $1,800,000. During the season two new services to Australia and Hamburg were inaugurated.

Despite apetition signed by 1,146 that the resignation be not accepted the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute board last night decided to let A. E. Calverhill, science master go.

CORONATION DAY.

The Coronation of King George V. will take place at noon to-day, and will be an event in the history of the British empire that will be epoch-making in its character. Nothing approaching it in magnificence and grandeur has ever taken place in the world's history. That King George and Queen Mary may long reign over a united and contented people, is the earnest wish of every patriotic Canadian.

THE BRITISH CENSUS.

The British census figures show that at the beginning of this century the population of England and Wales was under nine millions, not very much greater than that of Canada to-day. In 110 years this population has been quadrupled; a very substantial increase when the smallness of the area is considered, and when account is taken of the large emigration to Canada, the United States and other quarters. Glasgow, Manchester and other cities have each their regions. In the last ten years, which have been years of very large emigration to Canada, the increase has been three millions and a half, or nearly eleven per cent.

Ireland's population is 4,381,951, which means an actual decrease, and Scotland's is 4,759,221, an increase of 6.4 per cent. In the case of Scotland much disappointment is expressed, and there is no doubt that her system of land holding discourages agriculture and retards the progress of the country. The consolatory feature is that though the Scotchman moves, he usually betters his condition, and finds greater scope for his energy elsewhere.

There is matter neither for surprise nor regret at the large exodus from the British Islands to Canada. The most powerful element in the prosperity of a country is abundance of land combined with rapid development. These conditions we have in Canada, and are likely to have for many years. Our social problems are therefore, less acute than those of older countries; and there is a danger of our presuming on the strength of youth, and acting as if youth would be eternal. When we talk of this country attaining to a population of eighty millions, we must not forget that our cares and anxieties will grow as we approach the conditions of Europe.

JUDGE HANDED OUT ROASTS

Criticised Local and County Constables and Provincial Inspector Miller—Leslie Burke Acquitted.

Cobourg, June 20.—The jury acting on the Burk arson case yesterday found Leslie Burk, aged 20 years, not guilty of the charge of setting fire to the Yeoman's block in Colborne on April 16th last. The trial lasted nearly six days.

In charging the jury, Judge Benson spoke of the case as a very unusual one, as there was no direct evidence given beyond that of the prisoner's own statement. All the evidence was circumstantial, and the chief contention of the crown was that the prisoner committed the alleged crime through a desire for notoriety. This the judge pointed out seemed improbable. The boy's previous history was good, and there had never been an incident in his career to lead one to believe that he would commit arson either for notoriety or for revenge.

Judge Benson criticised the method of County Constable Smith of Colborne, Constable Jarvis and Inspector Miller, employed in connection with the prosecution of the prisoner. He criticised Smith for arresting Burk as a vagrant; Jarvis for suggesting to the prisoner a story more probable than the one he was telling, and Miller for the manner in which he sought to get from Burk a confession before the trial.

ARTHUR NEWTON FOUND GUILTY

The Law Society Acting — Arthur Newton to Be Punished—Acted in Sensational Cases.

London, June 20.—Arthur Newton, the attorney for Dr. Hawley H. Crippen who was hanged for the murder of his wife, the actress Belle Elmore, has been found guilty of professional misconduct in connection with the notorious case by a committee of the Law Society and today the Divisional Court was asked to deal with him. This constitutes a request that Newton's name be stricken from the roll of solicitors of the Law Society. The court adjourned without announcing its decision.

The charges against Newton are that he abused his privileges as a lawyer by aiding and abetting Horatio W. Bottomley, member of Parliament for the South Division of Hackney and the editor of a weekly publication, and also aided the Daily Chronicle to publish false statements regarding the case. These statements it is alleged, as well as a letter purporting to have emanated from Crippen while he was in Pentonville jail, Newton caused them to be published knowing them to be false, and with a view to deceiving the public and court.

Newton is a well known and successful criminal advocate and before undertaking the defence of Crippen had been connected with many cases of a sensational character.

Mrs. E. Mellish, of Chatham, was found dead in bed. She had only a few days ago boasted she had never been ill.

THERE ARE MANY REASONS

why you should investigate the opportunity for profitable investment offered by the

FIRE VALLEY ORCHARDS LTD.

Here are a few of the more important reasons

1. Absolute safety and profits are assured because our land is worth at least double the price we paid for it.

2. There is no promotion stock allowed anyone and every share has equal voting power.

3. The land owned by the Company is in the famous FIRE VALLEY where the soil is rich and fertile and adaptable to the production of almost anything, and where the transportation facilities are all that could be desired—and where any family could live in health, happiness and independence.

4. There are no crop failures in the FIRE VALLEY. The Provincial Government have been taking records for 18 years and have never yet recorded a crop failure. There is sufficient annual rainfall without the expense of a troublesome irrigation system.

5. There are five developing Companies operating here, and every dollar spent by them in advertising their land is a dollar spent for us.

THERE ARE MANY MORE REASONS

THE MOST PROFITABLE BUSINESS IN CANADA.

It has been carefully estimated by experts that more money is being made by dealing in fruit lands than in any other business in the whole of the Dominion; that is to say a larger percentage of profit is made in proportion to the amount invested, and when one knows the real condition of things this cannot be wondered at. Take for instance, the fact that 100,000 new farmers must buy new farms and begin to till the soil each year in order to supply the constantly increasing requirements of a country such as this whose population is growing by leaps and bounds. If each one of these new farmers should purchase only a very small tract of land, it means that 4 million acres of land changes hands each year, and the average profit on the retailing of Fruit Lands can conservatively be estimated at from $40 to $50 per acre.

The wide-spread demand for productive Fruit Land in a climate such as British Columbia can boast of, has naturally created what is to-day the most profitable business in Canada, namely, the Land Selling Business. A well organized Land Selling Company dealing in only very small proportion of the land that will be sold during the next few years will pay the shareholders enormous dividends, and this without a possibility of any loss.

The man with money who is looking for a safe investment, that will bring in big returns, cannot do better than investigate the foregoing statements and endeavor to secure an interest in a thoroughly well organized Land Selling Company.

Probably one of the best known and most reliable Companies now offering their stock to the general public is the Fire Valley Orchards Ltd., whose head offices are in Vancouver, B.C. This Company bought 2040 acres in the well known Fire Valley in the Kootenay District, B.C., about 18 months ago. Owing to the exceptional circumstances the land was bought at the rate of $25 per acre and though it is worth considerably more than that to-day, the Company are offering the general public an opportunity to purchase shares at the same basis as that on which the land was bought. The management and directorate of the Company are composed of men of expert and practical business experience who are thoroughly competent to carry the affairs of the Company to a successful issue. We understand that only a limited amount of stock is being offered the public, as only a proportionately small amount of money is required to meet the requirements of the Company at the present time.

The object of the Fire Valley Orchards, Ltd, is to offer the land for sale to the settlers in 5 and 10 acre tracts at the usual price asked for Fruit Lands in the Fire Valley District, namely, from $100 to $150 per acre. The lands will be extensively advertised and an active campaign will be organized with the object in view of interesting the settler in this particular district.

Enormous profits are being made by people who have been fortunate enough to secure large tracts of Fruit Land and sub-divide them into 5, 10 and 20 acre tracts and offering them for sale to the actual settler. Capitalists and home seekers are finding that the Fire Valley is an ideal section for profitable investment of their surplus capital while the man of small means can find an opportunity in this favored Valley where happiness and independence go hand in hand.

Money grows very rapidly in this part of the country and investors and home seekers who desire to take advantage of the opportunities, will do well to investigate and act quickly.

There is a time in the history of every enterprise when the experimental stage is over. This time is usually just before the issue of the first dividend when a little more money is required to make the enterprise into a permanent dividend payer. The operations of the Fire Valley Orchards has passed the experimental stage. It is an organized and successfully managed enterprise with real merit behind it. Careful estimates made by competent authorities place it in the class of propositions from which the annual net profits should be from 100 to 300 per cent. This may seem large, especially when the enterprise is considered to be on an exceptionally safe one, but a thorough investigation of the circumstances surrounding the formation will convince one that even the above estimate is very conservative.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

AN ACTIVE LIFE

Sketch of the Career of the Late Archbishop McEvay

The late Archbishop McEvay was born in Lindsay in 1853. In that city he received his early education, completing his classical studies at St. Michael's College and the University of Toronto. He then took a post graduate course in theology in the Grand Seminary, Montreal, after which he was ordained at Trenton by Archbishop Cleary in 1882, at the age of twenty-six. As a priest his first duties were at Kingston, but he was soon transferred to the Diocese of Peterboro', and given charge of the missions of Bobcaygeon, Galway and Fenelon Falls. From this time on his progress in the Church was exceptionally rapid, his clear insight and business ability, together with his religious zeal and profound learning, carving out for him a speedy and distinguished career.

In 1887 he was appointed as rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro', where he was at once entrusted with the renovation of the edifice, the purchase of property for the future hospital, and the acquisition of a number of houses for parochial use, all of which undertakings he brought to a most successful issue.

From Peterboro' the future Archbishop was transferred to Hamilton, where, in addition to his duties as rector, he was private secretary to the Bishop. In 1889 he was made Vicar-General of Hamilton, undertaking the administration of the diocese.

From that time he was singled out for Papal notice, for he was appointed private Chamberlain to his Holiness Pope Leo XIII. Shortly after this honor was bestowed upon the Monsignor he was advanced to his first bishopric, being elected Bishop of London, in which position he remained for over eight years.

On April 13, 1903, the Pope's signature was subscribed to the Bull which conferred upon the Bishop the highest sacred position which Ontario could offer a Roman Catholic—that which confirmed his appointment to the Archdiocese of Toronto, and on June 17 of the same year he was officially installed in the Archbishopric.

GIVES CINCINNATI A PARK

Former Canadian Makes $500,000 Gift to Porkopolis

L. A. Ault, of the Ault-Wiborg Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Toronto, and president of the board of park commissioners of Cincinnati, has presented that city with 184 acres of land, valued at $500,000, to be used for park purposes. The property is located near the Linwood water tower, overlooking the Little Miami River, and affords an obstructed view of the Ohio River and Ohio Valley. The only condition attached to the gift was that the city improve Principio Street, as an approach to the park, which has been named the Ault Park. Mr. Ault has notified Park Expert Kessler to let him know of other properties adapted for park purposes, as he plans to give these to the city.

Mr. Ault is a native of Mille Roches, Ont., and was at one time a clerk in Cornwall. A year or so ago he bought a tract of land at the head of Sheek Island, in the centre of the Long Sault Rapids, which it is understood, he intends converting into a public pleasure resort, providing the municipal authorities will undertake to keep it up.

CATTLE KING DEAD

Richard A. Gibson Was Widely Known All Over America

During his career he had been connected with numerous breeders' associations and was one of the best and most favorably known men in the industry on the continent. He was a judge of rare ability, and had held official positions in many organizations. He had the distinction of being the only Canadian ever elected to the Presidency of the American Shorthorn Association. He was also Past Pritaident of Canadian and American kennel associations, and was an ex-President and life member of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

LIVERPOOL TO QUEBEC

How the Newfoundland Premier Would Shorten the Route

Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, wishes to shorten the route between Liverpool and Quebec by way of Newfoundland. "In New York," said Sir Edward, "are the representatives of a powerful English syndicate, which has acquired rights to a railway running out of Quebec and has a charter to build a railway in the direction of Cape St. Charles on the Coast of Labrador. I see no reason why such a railway should not be constructed and operated in connection with a new line of fast steamers between St. Charles and Newfoundland.

"From Cape St. Charles to Quebec is about 1,000 miles; on a railroad of standard gauge this distance could be covered at 60 miles an hour, which means that passengers would be landed in Lower Canada and the United States a day earlier than by the Lusitania route."

NIGHT OWL AT GALT

A night owl was recently offered for sale at Galt market. The owl had killed and partly devoured a fine duck belonging to a farmer close by. He set a trap and caught the bird by two of its claws. The bird was not hurt and the farmer endeavored to dispose of it alive and thus repay himself for the loss of the duck.

EARLY CLOSING.

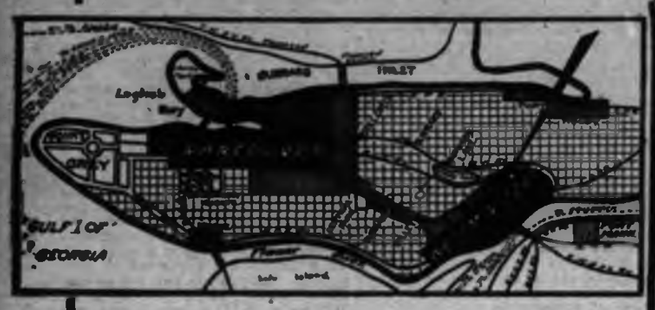
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

Our property is situated directly in the course of fastest growth between the cities where arrow points.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Price of lots $300 to $600. Easy payments.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

Children's Chest Troubles

Nurse Carrington Says Her Long Experience Proves the Safest Remedy is to RUB ON NERVILINE!

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a young child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses, and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carrington says: "In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home."

A million bottles of Nerviline used every year—this is itself a burden of proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large bottles 25c. five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, and by The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

In Gala Attire.

Already several local buildings have put on a gala appearance, being adorned and beautified with flags and bunting. Coronation Service at All Saints.

The Times is requested to state that there will be a Coronation service of Litany and Ante-Communion service, as ordered by the Bishop, in All Saints' church this morning, at 10.30. They are requested to fall in with the regiment on the grounds of St. John's.

All Saints' Bell.

The bell which Mrs. Fitzgerald purchased from St. John's church, and generously donated to All Saints' was rung for the first time in All Saints' last Sunday. It was heard clearly and distinctly in all parts of the city, but will be especially appreciated by those living in the vicinity of the church. On Sundays the bell will be rung at the same hour as it was rung at St. John's, viz.: 10 a.m. and from 10.45 to 11 a.m.; 6 p.m., and from 6.45 to 7 p.m. At other services it will be rung just before the hour of service. Mrs. Fitzgerald's gift is very greatly appreciated by the congregation of All Saints. It makes All Saints' seem more truly Church of England than ever. The rector expressed the thanks the congregation felt toward the generous donor, at both morning and evening services last Sunday. He said as often as the bell called people to worship, gave utterance to marriage joys, or tolled sympathy for the mourner, the generosity of the gift would be called to mind.

The first of this variety is running on Suspension Bridge between the Canadian and American Niagara Falls.

May Eat Meat.

It is not generally known that his Holiness Pope Pius has granted to Roman Catholics throughout the whole British Empire, the privilege of eating meat on Friday. The special dispensation is made on account of the Coronation of King George, which takes place on Thursday. Following it there will be banquets in all parts of the British Empire, and in order to allow Catholics to participate in them, the eating of meat is allowed. To show no favor, the whole people were also included in the dispensation.

Amongst the local items of interest is the wedding announcement of Mr. James Stewart, who still lives in Peterborough, as follows:

Married.

At Peterborough, on 2nd January, 1860, by Rev. J. M. Roger, James, second son of the late Lieut. Charles Stewart, H. M. 19th Regiment, to Miss Ellen, fourth daughter of John Finlason, Esq., merchant, Aberdeen, Scotland.

Municipal Matters in 1860.

A victory was won on Monday last over the Corruption faction, which tells well for the sense of judgment of the Rate-payers. The clique which undertook to rule the town last year were completely routed.

In the north ward Messrs. White, Walton, Toole and Delaney were nominated, but after an hour's polling the latter withdrew, and the former gentlemen declared elected.

In the centre ward, Thos. Eastwood Hasty, McDougall and Ogilvy were nominated. Eastwood withdrew and last named were elected.

In the south ward, O'Brien, Chamberlain, James Ryan, and E. Burnham were proposed. The polling was continued briskly until about noon, when Mr. Burnham, finding it no use attempting to thrust himself upon the rate-payers, withdrew.

In the east ward, the election was keenly contested until Tuesday afternoon. The candidates nominated were Ormond, Morrow, Kennedy, Green, Hamilton and Maloney. At the close of the first day's polling, Ormond was far in advance, Morrow second, and Kennedy third. Green followed Kennedy closely. Maloney's friends seemed more eager towards the end, and plumpers were bringing him up well, shortly after the opening of the poll on Tuesday, Green withdrew. Mr. Kennedy also withdrew soon after, leaving Maloney the victor.

A SUGGESTION RE CHIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would suggest that the chimes be used regularly on Saturday evenings, say at 9 o'clock, as a reminder of the approach of the Sabbath, and also as a notice to the merchants to close their stores. When the shops remain open until 10, 11 and even later on Saturday nights it leaves the poor worn-out clerks, as well as the store-keepers themselves, so tired and weary that they do not feel equal to the work which they should do for our Lord and Master on the Holy Sabbath day. The music of the chimes should act as an inspiration and an incentive to people to prepare for the Seventh day, which should be given unreservedly to Him who commanded us to "remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy."

Sir,—I enclose $3 for which send the Weekly Times to the three addresses which I enclose. We do this as an effort for the overwhelming loss (?) which the paper has recently sustained through Mr. White, of the White House, having withdrawn his patronage.

WHY FISH ARE SCARCE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is little wonder that bass and muskilonge are becoming scarce in Stoney Lake waters, when the water is lowered a foot or more during the spawning season. These fish, as everybody knows, seek the shores and shallow water to deposit their spawn, and when the water is lowered their spawn perish. I will venture to say that millions are destroyed every spring in this way.

I am sure the popular Superintendent of the Trent Canal, when his attention is called to this evil, will arrange to have the practice of lowering the water stopped. The spawning season only lasts a short time, so there should be little difficulty in carrying out this suggestion.

CANDIDATE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The list of possible candidates for parliamentary honors, which appeared in The Times a few days ago, the name of ex-Alderman Harry Phelan did not appear. He is looked upon as the strong man, and would, I think, carry the riding if he were selected as the party's standrad bearer. "Harry," as his friends call him, is popular with all classes and creeds and I know that he would make it exceedingly interesting to his opponent, whoever he might be.

The Times has a reputation for fairness and impartiality, and I therefore ask you to publish this letter.

SALT DISCOVERED NEAR NORWOOD

Considerable excitement has been occasioned in the vicinity of Norwood on account of the alleged discovery of salt. Mr. D. Forsythe, who came to the city yesterday, brought a quantity of the water, which was strongly impregnated with salt.

The discovery was made on the farm of Mr. John Jenkins, 3 miles from Norwood, while drilling a well. The well had been sunk to a depth of 157 feet. There is considerable excitement over the matter, as it is believed that we are on a salt deposit of some magnitude.

Why Many a Man Makes a Failure of Life

Not Because He Lacks Brains or Ability, But Because His Liver is Slow.

An inactive lazy liver makes plenty of men and women seem intellectually dull. They really have the "go," but are weighed down, pulled down by a sluggish condition of the system. In consequence lots of good chances are lost, enjoyment missed and pleasures refused — all because of a poor working stomach and a disordered liver.

Men and women, wake up your liver, give relief to sluggish kidneys—they are working hard, but can't keep on forever doing duty for both the kidneys and liver.

Let Dr. Hamilton's Pills help you—let them drive these poisons from the blood that depress your mind and brain.

Let Dr. Hamilton's Pills give you such inward wholesomeness that body and spirit will tingle and glow with health and ambition.

You can depend on this—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills clear the skin, brighten the eyes, purify the blood, send energy, vim and good spirits circulating to every part of the body.

No other medicine makes people so healthy as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are mild, curative and safe. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

WEDDINGS OF TIMES BIGAMOUS

Many Complaints Made to Detroit Police, and Are Facetious Until the End—Turn Cases Away Daily.

Windsor, June 23.—According to Prosecutor Donald Van Zile, of Detroit, Windsor bigamy cases cause him more trouble than almost any other violation of law. Canadian marriage certificates are not admitted as evidence in Michigan courts, and when the wife marries in Windsor, and comes into the Prosecutor's office in Detroit to make a complaint against a bigamist husband, officials are nearly always powerless to help her. According to Van Zile, Windsor divines marry so many couples it is impossible for them to identify parties two weeks after the ceremony or recognize their own handiwork when confronted with it later. Windsor bigamy cases are being turned away daily in Detroit, owing to a lack of evidence.

A FRENCH-CANADIAN PRIEST DENOUNCES THE IRISH

Montreal, June 23.—Rev. Father Lord, Jesuite, of the Quebec district, an old pupil of St. Therese College, in delivering a sermon at the reunion of his old college mates at St. Therese, made several statements which are attracting much attention.

In his sermon he denounced with vigor all the Anglicans, both lay and ecclesiastic. He then went on to speak of the French-Canadian situation in Maine. Father Lord, said that he had sent instructions to Mr. Bonneau, one of these ex-communicated by Mgr. Walsh, and had encouraged him.

"I defy Mgr. Walsh to interdict me and to denounce me," he said. "I will answer him, and I will carry the matter to Rome; but I will fight with canonical weapons. Our compatriots have no chance at Rome, unless they use canonical weapons. I am convinced that the Irish, by their money gifts, and by the influence which they have won at the Vatican, will gain a victory, because by these means they are sure that the Holy Father will never know the real truth. At Rome they are not aware of our affairs, and our difficulties. They only know the Irish who by means of money spread the belief that they make the church live in America.

Father Lord said that it was not declamation that was wanted at Rome, quoting a statement of Cardinal Simeoni, that arguments were necessary. The French-Canadians should go to Rome, and show their rights and privileges with the canonical law in their hands.

REMARRIED IN BELLEVILLE AFTER YEARS OF DIVORCE

Belleville, Ont., June 21.—A romance which had its commencement on the other side of the Atlantic many years since, had a happy culmination in Belleville.

Some thirty-five years ago a couple were married in Scotland, the man's name being Rice, and the woman after several years of wedded unhappiness, secured a divorce about 20 years ago, and the custody of her two sons, one of whom is captain of an Atlantic steamer and the other a mate on a liner. The woman remained at home and the man went to the Western States. A few months ago, the woman came over to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, to visit relatives and there was given information as to her former husband. The result was that they entered into correspondence the old-time love was revived, and they decided to meet in Belleville, about midway between their respective homes, and renew the troth, which was plighted in their youthful days.

The license was thereupon issued, the facts were phoned to Rev. Dr. Bishop, and the couple were duly reunited in the holy bonds of matrimony.

PETERBORO' STUDENTS TAKE HIGH MARKS

Brilliant Success of Harold Matthews and Vivian Fessenden of the Collegiate Institute at the Royal Military College Examinations.

Two pupils of the local Collegiate Institute won honour for themselves and for their Alma Mater by their brilliant showing at the examinations held in May, at the Headquarters of the several military districts in Canada, for entrance into the Royal Military College.

There were 93 candidates who tried the examination. Most of these live in Ontario and Quebec. There were some, however, from the four western provinces. 51 were successful.

Harold Matthews stood first, and Vivian Fessenden stood third in the list. This is a very creditable standing, indeed, and they have reason to be proud of their success.

The following are the subjects of the examination with the maximum number of marks given to each:

Obligatory Subjects.

Arithmetic, 750.
Algebra, 750.
Trigonometry, 750.
Euclid, 750.
Grammar and Composition, 750.
Literature, 300.
General Knowledge, 300.
Geography and History, 750.
French, 1000.
Chemistry, 400.
Total Obligatory—6500.

Voluntary Subjects.

Latin, 1000.
Geometrical Drawing, 500.
Freehand Drawing, 300.
Total Voluntary—1600.
Grand total—8300.

Harold Matthews obtained 7044, out of a possible of 8300. This is the highest percentage which has been won for years.

In 1910, the grand total was 8100, and the one who stood first secured 6068, a standing several hundred of marks below that obtained this year. Vivian Fessenden's marks have not yet been received.

CATHOLIC REGISTER'S PITHY PARAGRAPHS

Editorial Comments on Church and Other Matters.

The following is taken from the Catholic Register of June 22nd, of which the Very Rev. A. Burke, D.D., LL.D., is editor:

A despatch from Montreal says that the Irish Catholic Societies of that city will make a determined effort to secure the release of James Nolan and Luke Dillon, two Irish Catholic political prisoners, and former citizens of the United States. They have now served almost twelve years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

• • • •

The talk of the Churchman then in declaring the Pope's wise decree "usurpation of constitutional rights," and so on, only makes sensible people laugh; and the Anglican Church cannot afford to become a greater laughing-stock than it has been lately in matters religious. Better for the Churchman to remain as we said, silent, and allow the Methodists and Baptists to rant and rave. There is a valuable row of glass in its Establishment which might get badly smashed.

• • • •

The correspondent in the last mentioned paper, (The Globe) who pointed out the grammatical blunders of Methodism, wondered why Catholics did not comment thereon. Catholics do not waste their time on such stuff. They think it punishment enough to have the blackened, putterring rubbish consigned to the editorial page of the News.

• • • •

But there are evidences of the Catholics swinging back to the Democratic column, if the party puts up a decent candidate and no mealy-mouthed Methodist preacher like Bryan.

• • • •

The Western Catholic, Vancouver, rallies Rev. Dr. Fraser, Presbyterian, on a bad attack of Netemeritis, and says that whilst the Dr. is terribly subject to every scourge of the sort, it is to be honed that he will get over this as well as the others he has taken so badly in his ministerial career. The sensible Protestants who go to church for religion's sake must be awfully sick of the Pope-baiting, law-adoring hypocrisy.

• • • •

The young theologs of Knox College who declared that they were not prepared to swallow the Westminster Confession, and especially the declaration that the Pope of Rome was Antichrist, deserve credit for the scholarship, honesty and manhood. But how John Knox must have contorted in his grave over such a repudiation of his spirit and teaching! There is a ray of hope on the theological horizon.

• • • •

They have no shame. With a record such as theirs there should be no countenance in this country for intolerant and purely mercenary agitators of the Orange stripe. Decent Protestants do not trust them. The ignorant and ignorable are their victims. They want to count up the votes and pocket the swag. That's all.

The Presbyterian Synod of Ottawa was a veritable vaudeville this year. They passed resolutions on everything under the sun from tuberculosis to the "No Tenure." And they gave the King a health and the parting Mission Superintendent a wet eye. 'Twas grand fun, so grand they will want it next year in Hamilton.

DEDICATION OF PEOPLE'S CHIMES CARRIED ON WITHOUT A HITCH

BUT CONSIDERABLE DISAPPOINTMENT IS EXPRESSED AT THE LACK OF VOLUME IN BELLS, AS OPERATED ON THURSDAY.

Bishop Sweeny's Address at the Luncheon a Masterly Effort that Stamped Him as a Broad-Minded Churchman.

The celebration of Coronation Day in Peterborough was marked by the dedication of the People's Chimes, now installed in St. John's church, by Bishop Sweeny, the Lord Bishop of Toronto. The impressive ceremony was carried through without a hitch in the presence of thousands of spectators, who, despite the threatening aspect of the weather, thronged the beautiful grounds of Peterborough's grand old historic church. The crowd filled up almost every portion of the lawn except the centre, which was reserved for the 57th Regiment the Boy Scouts and the fraternal societies, the members of the S.O.E., I.O.F. and A.O.F. being present in regalia. As the regiment marched upon the grounds, they formed a hollow square with the band in front. A platform had been erected in front of the church, upon which were His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Chas. Carpenter Rev. F. J. Sawers of St. Luke's, Rev. Canon Allan, members of the Ministerial Association, His Honour Mayor Morrow and the members of the City Council, His Honour Judge Huycke, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Messrs. W. F. Johnston and A. H. Stratton, the Wardens of St. John's and others. The choir of St. John's, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey were grouped on the steps and with the band, led the singing.

A Disappointing Feature.

Although great credit is due the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, St. John's officials, and the People's Chimes Committee, for the highly acceptable manner in which the inauguration of the bells was conducted, it is to be regretted that the only disappointing feature connected with so auspicious an occasion lay in the chimes themselves as rung on Thursday. Citizens freely commented yesterday upon their apparent lack of volume, and are wondering how it is that their notes could not be heard at a reasonable distance from the church. And it does seem passing strange that a $5,000 set of chimes, whose sound is based on that of a 3100 pounds bell, do not carry over a small city with an area of some two by one and a half miles, and on an evening when the air is favorably calm. The bells are certainly beautifully sweet in tone, and it is to be hoped that the overcoming of some trifling defect either in operation or adjustment may eventually remedy what at present appears to be a disappointing want of resonance. It may be by setting the hammers to a heavier stroke the volume of sound would be correspondingly increased.

The Dedication.

The dedication service opened with the request for the dedication which was offered. The singing of the 150th Psalm by St. John's choir followed, the choristers showing their excellent training by the manner in which they rendered the offering. His Worship Mayor Morrow then read the deed, under which the People's Chimes are given to St. John's church, to be held in perpetual trust for the people, and then handed the document to His Lordship the Bishop, who after accepting it, said the special dedicatory prayers, in which he referred to the use of the chimes to call people together to worship God, for the solace of the sick and infirm who are unable to take part in church services, and for other purposes for which it may be seen fit to use them. The solemn act of dedication then followed, the large bell of the chimes being rung three times.

The gathering, then led by the band sang the Doxology, the National Anthem and O Canada, after which the deed of the chimes, was given by the rector, Rev. Canon Davidson.

Bishop Sweeny here addressed the gathering, and offered his congratulations upon the manifestation of a spirit of unity among the citizens, as was indicated by the securing of such a magnificent set of chimes. It was one of the fruits of the splendid spirit of tolerance that had always characterized the people of Peterborough that they should have been made possible by contributions from between 1600 and 2000 people of all classes and creeds. He was sure that the rector and people of St. John's would see that the trust was truly carried out in letter and in spirit. He trusted that from this day forth they might mingle their sweet messages for the greater glory of Almighty God, carrying messages that belonged to the municipal and civil life of the city and daily expressing in sweet music the individual [illegible] of the [illegible] of holiness and [illegible] that [illegible] and the [illegible] tion to [illegible] would enjoy their [illegible] sic.

In conclusion [illegible] Lordship read the communication sent [illegible] of Toronto dictated to [illegible] to King George, and the gracious reply received from the King last Sunday.

Three cheers and a tiger were given for King George, Queen Mary Bishop Sweeny, Rev. Cannon Davidson and Mayor Morrow, after which the chimes gave their third programme, their operation being in the hands of Messrs. Devey and Butcher.

The Luncheon.

At one o'clock a representative gathering sat down to a luncheon, served in the school house, which shone resplendent in its beautiful decorations, composed of bunting, national emblems and floral effects. Halpany's orchestra rendered very acceptable music.

Among the prominent guests from a distance were the following: Mr. H. N. Cottingham, Vancouver; Mr. N. F. Davidson, Toronto; Mr. N. N. Loosemore, Manager of the Standard Bank, Toronto; Mr. E. F. Loosemore Manager of the Standard Bank of Lindsay. Many regrets were received from non-attendants, who were unable to be present.

The caterers for the luncheon were Coleman Bros.

The luncheon was a recherche one in the truest sense of the word and none better has ever been served in this city. Rev. Canon Davidson made a delightful chairman, and His Lordship, the Bishop, occupied the seat on his right, while the County Judge, His Honour Judge Huycke, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mayor Morrow, Rev. Mr. Pogue, President of the Ministerial Association, Mr. D. W. Dumble, and other leading citizens were seated on his left.

Mr. N. F. Davidson of Toronto, the rector's distinguished brother, proposed the toast to the King, and Canon Davidson that to the Bishop. His Lordship, Bishop Sweeny, gave the speech of the day, which was a masterly effort; and, broad-minded churchman that he is, he won the hearts of all within sound of his voice, irrespective of church or creed. In the course of one of the most beautiful addresses ever delivered in Peterborough, his Lordship referred in touching terms to the two great feature of the day—the coronation of the King and Queen and the dedication of Peterborough's People's Chimes. He drew a vivid picture of the ceremonies in Old London, from the imposing and magnificent royal and ecclesiastical procession up the broad aisle of Westminster Abbey to the closing scene when the people acclaim with one accord, "God Save the King," "Long Live the Queen." He was greatly pleased at the opportunity of having the privilege of coming to Peterborough, and making such pleasant associations with the leading citizens of Peterborough, who were gathered round the table. He warmly complimented the committee and the ladies, for the beautiful appearance of the extemporized dining hall. He also spoke of the high and inspiring mission of the chimes in the city, and expressed hope that they would prove a great religious help to the general public. He warmly congratulated all those by whose liberality this large scheme had been so successfully carried through. In conclusion he proposed a toast to the rector of the Parish.

Other pleasing and interesting speakers were Canon Davidson, Mayor Morrow, Judge Huycke, Hon. J. R. Stratton, T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Rev. R. Pogue, Rev. M. Riddiford, N. F. Davidson, D. W. Dumble, and A. H. Hartley.

CANADIAN FOLKLORE

A Legend of the St. Lawrence Found Among Mr. Weyath's Papers

A legend about the "High Rocks" near Brockville has been found in verse among the papers of the late Mr. H. C. Weyath. The story tells how Claire, a young novitiate among a company of French priests, encamped near the St. Lawrence (then the Ontaraqui), wandered away into the forest one moonlight night, and was lost, his friends, after prolonged search giving him up for dead. He, however, had sunk down exhausted and fallen asleep.

"Claire slept and woke and started.
For a maid stood by his side;
'Twas the White Fawn, Great Wolf's daughter,
And the Red Knife's promised bride."

The maiden lifted him up and led him to the recess in the rocks, nursed him tenderly, and by signs and nods, frowns and smiles made him understand that to leave his retreat meant death.

Meantime Red Knife wandered at the coldness of his promised bride, and an accident never into the cave White Fawn fell one day returning from the cave and appalled her sister. And, lying in her wigwam for days she worried about Claire. At last she made up her mind to confide in her bosom friend, the Swan, so that she might put word to him. It was an unlucky decision, for the Swan was secretly in love with Red Knife, and consequently told him the news.

In Indian rage he hurried to the cave, slew and scalped her lover and wounded White Fawn. When at long last she came and saw how dead she had run wild leap from the precipice into the waters below and was lost for ever. Then

"The spirit seized the Red Knife,
And narrowed the cavern walls,
And the murderer, caught between them,
For mercy faintly calls.

"And yearly the walls closed in,
And the Red Knife screams in pain
Louder and sharper ever,
As the year comes round again.

"When God speaks in His thunder,
When the High Rocks drip with spray,
Draw near the cavern, stranger,
Thou shalt hear the redskin pray.

"And the Sachems drowned the Swan,
For her falsehood 'neath the waves
That murmuring of the lovers,
Chant a requiem o'er their graves.

"Some half-effaced rude pictures,
Which the moss-grown rocks still keep,
Are left to tell the story
Of the Indian Maiden's Leap."

It is said that there is a peculiar echoing sound of the waters about the cave that may have given rise to the story of Red Knife's pain and prayers. These legends of early life in Canada are valuable records.—Rose Rambler.

BONAR LAW'S RETORTS

Canadian in British Parliament Has a Reputation for Repartee

The heckler does not get much change out of Mr. Bonar Law, the Canadian elected M.P. for Bootle, England. At a meeting in Dulwich on one occasion he was referring to the baby-like language of a proclamation addressed to the Chinese Coolies in South Africa, when someone shouted out that it was written by Lord Selborne. To which Mr. Law immediately replied, "I really do not believe it; but if it is written by Lord Selborne there is only one possible explanation. He knows that it is intended, not for the Chinese, but for the House of Commons, and he has written the proclamation down to the level of the present House."

Mr. Law was speaking in Glasgow during one General Election, and happened to refer to the attitude Mr. Balfour then took on the fiscal question. He pointed out that the "English people love compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation. At this juncture the following question was handed up to be considered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?" "Yes," was the candidate's apt retort; "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as did Henry VIII.!"

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

The new Government House of Ontario will be built in North Rosedale, at the head of Glen Road, a short distance to the east of the St. Andrew's College Gardens. The property is a portion of Chorley Park, belonging to the estate of the late John Hoskin, and contains 12 acres. The price paid was about $125,000.

A LICENSE NECESSARY

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-so-much as tons of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge home for conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt—would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application-forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

THERE ARE MANY REASONS

why you should investigate the opportunity for profitable investment offered by the

FIRE VALLEY ORCHARDS LTD.

Here are a few of the more important reasons:

1. Absolute safety and profits are assured because our land is worth at least double the price we paid for it.

2. There is no promotion stock allowed anyone and every share has equal voting power.

3. The land owned by the Company is in the famous FIRE VALLEY where the soil is rich and fertile and adaptable to the production of almost anything, and where the transportation facilities are all that could be desired—and where any family could live in health, happiness and independence.

4. There are no crop failures in the FIRE VALLEY. The Provincial Government have been taking records for 18 years and have never yet recorded a crop failure. There is sufficient annual rainfall without the expense of a troublesome irrigation system.

5. There are five developing Companies operating here, and every dollar spent by them in advertising their land is a dollar spent for us.

FROM MONTREAL TO PORT ARTHUR

Government Aid to the Canadian Northern in Building the New Line

The Government will ask Parliament to guarantee the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway Company to the extent of $35,000 per mile for the whole distance from Port Arthur to Montreal via Sudbury and the Ottawa Valley. The new line will, with the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific, give practically all eastern Ontario points three competing lines to the West, and to the West it will give three competing lines to Canadian seaports. It will open up an immense stretch of rich agricultural and mineral country in northern Ontario and the Ottawa Valley. It will run through the clay belt of the Ontario hinterland at distances varying from 30 to 50 miles from the line of the National Transcontinental Railway, which skirts the northern part of the clay belt. In addition the company proposes to construct a line from the Georgian Bay north to the main line, tapping a country now unserved by railways. The company has now a through line from Ottawa to Quebec. It is proposed to begin at once the construction of a line branching off from this at Hawkesbury to Montreal. From Ottawa the road will run on the south side of the Ottawa River to the Chats, about thirty miles west of Ottawa. From there it will cross the Ottawa River and run along the north shore to Portage du Fort, where it will again cross the Ottawa, and proceed thence nearly in a straight line to Sudbury, and thence along the route now surveyed to Port Arthur.

A WESTERN PIONEER

W. H. Elford, a Durham Farmer Who Went West Years Ago

Away back before the middle of last century W. H. Elford, now of Carman, Man., was born on a farm in Durham county, Ont. In 1882 he went to the Canadian West. He had a few hundred dollars and some effects. He took with him three horses, a cow and a wagon, and located near Carman, renting the farm he now lives on and owns along with surrounding acres. Forethought led him to bring along a tent. In this he lived for some eight months while a house was being erected. Lumber had to be hauled twelve miles, and although the teaming was done in July, it was necessary to build brush portages across some low places. Mr. Elford now has three half-sections instead of a small rented farm. Bluffs have been allowed to stand here and there for shelter, and the home is well surrounded by trees. He has five daughters and three sons. His advice to newcomers to the West is to keep out of debt, unless absolutely unavoidable. If possible, he says, keep out of obligation in regard to implements, and do not discard a machine because it does not work well. He also urges the advisability of clean, pure seed, and the cropping of a moderate acreage under thorough cultivation rather than a greater number of acres half done. Then, he says, begin seeding down early to keep humus in the soil, and get stock as soon as possible.

FIRE IN HISTORIC CHURCH

The historic Gordon Church at St. Elmo, near Cornwall, Ont., made famous by Ralph Connor's "Man from Glengarry," recently had a narrow escape from destruction. As the people were assembling for worship smoke came pouring out of the vestry into the church. Investigation showed that fire had started at the door and had made some progress under the floor, which was chopped so as to get water on to the flames. It is thought that the fire was caused by someone carelessly dropping a lighted match.

TEN STOREYS THE LIMIT

STILL ANOTHER BOMB FOUND IN LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—A bomb made of gas pipe, one and a quarter inches in diameter and 16 inches long said by detectives in the District Attorney's Office to be filled with gunpowder, was found at the Hall of Record yesterday. It was at this place that two sticks of dynamite attached to a clock work firing device were found last September. Three men—Cannon, Hoyle and Rondeau—were recently indicted by the grand jury for the alleged attempt to dynamite the structure.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Every facility extended to depositors in operating their accounts. No formality when depositing or withdrawing money.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT, Manager.

IS YOUR MONEY IDLE?

Dormant Wealth is useless. Gold hidden in the corner cupboard is WASTING ITS TIME, just as surely as the sluggard is wasting his life. In these strenuous days of commercial activity every dollar should be made to work. ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING ALL THE TIME?

Of course YOU have no lazy money. But have you a bank balance that is just vegetating, making a paltry three cents interest on the dollar once in twelve months, three dollars on the hundred, thirty on the thousand?

Don't let your money ape the sluggard. Make it WORK. Opportunity is knocking at your door right now, and I am guiding Opportunity. It is worth your while reading this advertisement carefully. You cannot lose by it; you stand to gain a just deal.

Fruit Farms in British Columbia are my specialty. I have devoted many years to a close study of the soil and the climatic conditions of the Fraser River Valley. I will not handle property that is not ABSOLUTELY A. 1., no matter what the inducement may be. When you deal with W. J. KERR, LTD., you deal with a reliable firm.

If you have never been to British Columbia, you can have but a slight idea of the wonderful and steady increase in land values. The price of yesterday is doubled to-day, to-day's price will quadrupted to-morrow, for the upward movement has only just commenced. The wealth of a province is behind this steady movement.

Six years ago I sold land on the Westminster-Vancouver electric car line for $100 per acre. To-day it sells for from $2000 to $6000 an acre.

Two years ago I sold land in Peachgrove for $100 an acre. You could not buy that same land to-day for less than $2000 per acre.

I have just picked these two instances at random, but they will suffice to show you the enormous increase in values in the past. THE PROFITS OF THE PAST WILL NOT BE A CIRCUMSTANCE TO THE PROFITS OF THE FUTURE. Do you wish to share in these profits? Of course you do.

Investment in good real estate is as safe as a deposit in the Bank of England. There is no better real estate than in the Fraser River Valley.

I have the biggest list of properties in this district, and the prices at which I offer these is always a little lower than the other fellow. That is how I gained my reputation.

I am now placing a Fruit Land Subdivision on the market. This is parcelled into five-acre tracts, close to two railway lines and with splendid roads leading to the property. The Water Supply gushes up in a never-lessening stream from a well 320 feet deep, and can be piped to every house in the subdivision.

This Fruit Land is only a few miles from the city of Westminster, which boasts the greatest farmers' market in Western Canada. Here all products of the soil command a quick and remunerative sale. There is no over-supply; the coast cities are growing fast and consume a great deal more than the surrounding country now produces.

The figure at which I am placing this on the market will increase tremendously in the next few years, and in the meantime the land will pay for itself over and over again with the bumper crops it will produce. Let me send you full details of this remarkable offer. Drop me a line to-day—right now while the matter is fresh in your mind.

FUGITIVE BANDIT STILL IN SADDLE

Idaho Falls, Idaho, June 21.—The endurance of Hugh Whitney, the fugitive bandit, is a matter of wonder to the posse of men. With their later start many have almost succumbed to the rigors of the trail, while their quarry, with little sleep possible and scant refreshment, is keeping the saddle after four days of almost continuous riding. Still the pace is telling. His steps were uncertain as he approached the door of Col Pelot's ranch house yesterday to secure food, and his nervousness was self evident. Although he loaned his rifle to one of the Pelot boys to try a shot at an eagle; he kept his hand on his revolver and turned uneasily when anyone got behind him.

Breakfast at Pelot's, as early as the officers can judge, was the second meal Whitney had had in the four days of his flight. Rain has been of considerable help to him.

EARTHQUAKE AT BEAMSVILLE

Dishes Were Shaken off Shelves and Windows Came Down With a Bang—Lasted Six Seconds.

Beamsville, Ont., June 21.—Residents in Beamsville and district early yesterday were alarmed by a trembling of the earth which caused dishes to rattle off shelves and windows to come down with a bang. Police Magistrate Wiggins, who was up at 4 o'clock when the shock occurred, says a rumbling sound like the roar of thunder was plainly audible. The rumbling lasted about 6 seconds.

There is no record on the seismograph at the meteorological office of this disturbance. The weather man explained the machine is only adjusted to record the quakes which takes place in far off lands. There may, however, be some signs of this disturbance noticeable on the instrument to-morrow.

That's Different.

PROPOSING TO A GIRL.

German Professor Gives Statistics About the Gentle Art.

A German calculator says that 36 per cent of the suitors press the hand of the fair one, 24 per cent complicate their avowal with an embrace, 4 per cent kiss the hair, 2 per cent kiss the hand, 2 per cent fall on their knees, and 30 per cent are so nervous that they feel a lump in the throat which they find almost prevents speech.

Ten per cent of the men are so overcome that they cannot speak at all, but open and shut their mouths without producing a sound, and 2 per cent make their proposals standing one foot.

As regards the women, 60 per cent sink helpless into the lover's arms, 20 per cent blush and hide their faces, 1 per cent faint away, 4 per cent are genuinely amazed, 14 per cent gaze silently into the suitor's eyes, and 1 per cent run away to tell a girl friend.

The great statistician, however, omits to tell us how he obtained his figures.

HOUSE NUMBERS.

Germans Started the System in Berlin.

Before the advent of the house number, only business signs, coats of arms, and house names marked the different buildings. Then, in London, for instance, one had to look for Mr. Jones, should he desire to call upon that man, in, say, "Whitechapel, not far from the Blue Bear."

It is thought Berlin, in 1795, was the first city to employ the numbering system. The German innovators did not put odd numbers on one side of their streets and even numbers on the other; they merely started from the Brandenburg Gate and numbered straight ahead, taking no account of change of street.

As they proceeded, therefore, the numbers grew higher, the height to which they attained being limited only by the supply of houses. The first house they numbered was number one, the last the number that betokened the total number of houses in the city.

FAMOUS FOLKS.

The Queen of Spain has started a campaign against the premature kissing of children.

Mr. John Burns possesses the last photograph of Mr. Gladstone that the great statesman ever signed.

The King of Greece collects deerhandles. He has scores thousands.

Mr Joseph Ward, the Prime Minister of New Zealand, began to earn his living in the New Zealand Parliament in a merchant's office.

The Czarina of Russia is fond of sculpture, and when staying at the St. Petersburg Winter Palace indulges in the recreation in a splendid bath of white marble.

Lord Roberts strongly believes in "lucky days." "Bobs" lucky day, on which he has experienced most of his great fortune, is Tuesday.

One of the greatest mourning for the late of Princess May is quite an have been, as quite a baby, the King Edward lifted her on to the Bank of Englan and had their names was granted at Buckingham

BAD FOR BARBERS.

Among the many suggestions made for commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., the quaintest is that now put forward by Captain MacIlwaine, R. N. Captain MacIlwaine's suggestion is that the men of the British Empire, following the example of the late King, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards. Our present King, sharing the views of his father, grows a beard, and makes his staffs do the same. The beard is the exception, not the rule, among men of the present day.

A Salvation Army Harvest.

A scion of one of the oldest of the noble families of England, Sir Gamille Cave-Brown-Cave, 13th baronet of Stanford, is now a member of the Salvation Army in Brooklyn. His patrimonial estates in England were so encumbered that years ago he came to this country to make a living and had been employed on ranches in the west. He became one of the most expert of cowboys, and held the record for roping and branding a steer in the shortest time. The freedom of the plains appealed to him. Some months ago Sir Gamille decided on going to England on a visit and travelled east as far as New York. There a Salvation Army lass with her tambourine and a frank look in her blue eyes lured him from a public resort, in which he and a party of friends were regaling themselves, and interested him in the work of the army. He is now working as a janitor and trying to save from his wages the $100 matriculation fee required at the Salvation Army training school for officers of the army.

Our Four Great Railways.

The United States and thirty million people before the country was connected by railways from ocean to ocean. Four years from now, when Canada's population will probably approximate ten millions, we will have four transcontinental railway systems. And no one doubts that there will be traffic for all of them if we maintain our fiscal independence and encourage interprovincial trade. If the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways do as much to develop Canada and advertise it through the world as the Canadian Pacific Railway has done the progress of Canada during the next twenty-five years will surpass that of the United States in any twenty-five years of its history.

Reason for His Hit.

"I made a great hit at the banquet last night. Came off with a good deal of distinction, in fact."

"I didn't know you ever spoke at banquets."

"I don't. I was the only one there who absolutely declined."

BULLET WOUND IN HIS TEMPLE

Chatham Manufacturer Found in a Dying Condition in His Lumber Yard.

Chatham, Ont., June 21.—A shooting accident occurred in this city this morning at seven o'clock in which Joseph Hadley, member of the Hadley Manufacturing firm, was the victim. Mr. Hadley had gone into his lumber yard early and was found with a bullet wound in his head, a shot from a revolver having pierced both temples. The discovery was made by a Frenchman and Geo. Fielder, who were in the lumber yard at the time. No reason can be imagined why the wound could be self-inflicted, and so it was thought that the shooting was accidental. When found he was unconscious but still alive. He was hurried to the public General Hospital where Drs. Bell and Fred Hall operated, but it is practically certain that he cannot recover. Mr. Hadley is married and his wife had been ill for some time. His brothers are Charles and William, his partners in the manufacturing business, and James.

His Holiness the Pope in First-Class Health.

Rome, June 20.—All reports concerning the Pope's ill-health are without foundation. Since the last slight symptoms of the gout, from which his holiness suffered recently, disappeared, the Pope has been quite well, exceptional coolness of the season being chiefly responsible for this.

The Papal Secretary Cardinal Merry Del Val, Cardinal Bislette and Mgr. Coppotelli, Patriarch of Constantinople, were received in audience by the Pope, and they found him in excellent physical condition.

HARDISTY

The Town of Hardisty is expending $15,000 in Cement walks alone this year. The Residential Streets are all being boulevarded, making it the most enchanting City in the West.

A large Public Park has already been reserved, beautifully located, running to the shore of a beautiful lake, which abounds with different kinds of fish. Several small lakes are in close proximity to Hardisty, which is bound to make it one of the finest summer and health resorts in the West. Within six miles from Hardisty is the famous Buffalo Park, which is a source of wonder and delight, containing the largest herd of Buffalo now in captivity. Hardisty has a typical sunny Alberta climate, conductive to the production of every kind of wild fruit and berries which grow in abundance all along the shores of Battle river and lakes.

A few of the C. P. R. Sidings at Hardisty.

C. P. R. Round House and Stalls at Hardisty.

HARDISTY already has 25 miles of side tracks, having a capacity of 1,000 cars, with an auxiliary yard having a capacity for 500 more, which will be doubled this year to cope with the immense traffic. The C. P. R. has already expended at Hardisty over $300,000 in Round Houses and Machine Shops. 8 more Stalls are being added this year to accommodate the increasing business of the company.

HARDISTY ASSURES ONE OF THE BEST PROFIT MAKING INVESTMENTS IN THE WEST.

As can readily be seen on the map, Hardisty is the centre of the great Transcontinental traffic, the shortest route by 300 miles from Winnipeg to the great west. Hardisty is a splendid freight distributing point with direct connection with Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, and Winnipeg. Hardisty is the key to the last Great West, and the open door through which passes Alberta's great products of grain, timber, live stock and minerals.

The C. P. R. employs seventeen train crews, running to and from Hardisty daily, besides those employed in connection with the Round Houses, Machine Shops, Stores, Coal Shutes, etc.

Hardisty has the beautiful Battle River running past its door, affording no end of sport for the huntsman and fisherman, also assuring excellent sites for manufacturing concerns, and at the same time supplying the town with water if needed.

Hardisty has large General Stores, Hotels, Churches, Banks, Hardware Stores, Wholesale and Retail Butcher Shops, Lumber Yards, Implement Shops, Livery Barns, Large Schools, Hospital and Printing Offices.

Hardisty's surroundings are the best for mixed farming in the west, being three weeks earlier than the general run of places.

Spread out before you is the picturesque town of Hardisty, the Wonder Town of the West. It is cleft by the beautiful Battle river flowing pure and sparkling, affording water privileges that few towns can boast of.

AN ACTIVE LIFE

The late Archbishop McEvay was born in Lindsay in 1842. In that city he received his early education, completing his classical studies at St. Michael's College and the University of Toronto. He then took a post-graduate course in theology in the Grand Seminary, Montreal, after which he was ordained at Trenton by Archbishop Cleary in 1862, at the age of twenty-six. As a priest his first duties were at Kingston, but he was soon transferred to the Diocese of Peterboro', and given charge of the missions of Bobcaygeon, Galway and Pembroke Falls. From this time on his progress in the Church was exceptionally rapid, his clear insight and business ability, together with his religious zeal and profound learning, carving out for him a speedy and distinguished career.

In 1887 he was appointed as rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro', where he was at once entrusted with the renovation of the edifice, the purchase of property for the future hospital, and the acquisition of a number of houses for parochial use, all of which undertakings he brought to a most successful issue.

From Peterboro' the future Archbishop was transferred to Hamilton, where, in addition to his duties as rector, he was private secretary to the Bishop. In 1889 he was made Vicar-General of Hamilton, undertaking the administration of the diocese.

From that time he was singled out for Papal notice, for he was appointed private Chamberlain to his Holiness Pope Leo XIII. Shortly after this honor was bestowed upon the Monsignor he was advanced to his first Episcopate, being elected Bishop of London, in which position he remained for over eight years.

On April 13, 1906, the Pope's signature was subscribed to the Bull which conferred upon the Bishop the highest sacred position which Ontario could offer a Roman Catholic—that which confirmed his appointment to the Archdiocese of Toronto, and on June 17 of the same year he was officially installed in the Archbishopric.

GIVES CINCINNATI A PARK

Former Canadian Makes $60,000 Gift to Porkopolis

L. A. Ault, of the Ault-Wiborg Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Toronto, and president of the board of park commissioners of Cincinnati, has presented that city with 164 acres of land, valued at $60,000, to be used for park purposes. The property is located near the Linwood water tower, overlooking the Little Miami River, and affords an obstructed view of the Ohio River and Ohio Valley. The only condition attached to the gift was that the city improve Principio Street, as an approach to the park, which has been named the Ault Park. Mr. Ault has notified Park Expert Kessler to let him know of other properties adapted for park purposes, as he plans to give these to the city.

Mr. Ault is a native of Mille Roches, Ont., and was at one time a clerk in Cornwall. A year or so ago he bought a tract of land at the head of Shoal Island, in the centre of the Long Sault Rapids, which it is understood, he intends converting into a public pleasure resort, providing the municipal authorities will undertake to keep it up.

CATTLE KING DEAD

Richard A. Gibson Was Widely Known All Over America

During his career he had been connected with numerous breeders' associations and was one of the best and most favorably known men in the industry on the continent. He was a judge of rare ability, and had held official positions in many organizations. He had the distinction of being the only Canadian ever elected to the Presidency of the American Shorthorn Association. He was also Past President of Canadian and American kennel associations, and was an ex-President and life member of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

LIVERPOOL TO QUEBEC

How the Newfoundland Premier Would Shorten the Route

Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, wishes to shorten the route between Liverpool and Quebec by way of Newfoundland. "In New York," said Sir Edward, "are the representatives of a powerful English syndicate, which has acquired rights to a railway running out of Quebec and has a charter to build a railway in the direction of Cape St. Charles on the Coast of Labrador. I see no reason why such a railway should not be constructed and operated in connection with a new line of fast steamers between St. Charles and Newfoundland.

"From Cape St. Charles to Quebec is about 1,000 miles; on a railroad of standard gauge this distance could be covered at 60 miles an hour, which means that passengers would be landed in Lower Canada and the United States a day earlier than by the Lusitania.

KILLING RECORDS

A Breathless Ride of Twenty Miles or More Under a Red Hot Boer Fire

A lawsuit has lately centred round a breathless ride of twenty miles or more under a hot Boer fire; but, judged merely as a record of hard riding, this has been easily outdone on many occasions. Field-Marshal Sir George White, V.C., when a major on the staff in India, covered 210 miles in two days through a wild and difficult stretch of the enemy's country, in order to join the "Gay Gordons" at Kabul, whence they were starting on that immortal march to Kandahar.

In the very early days of Natal a Mr. Richard King covered the distance from Durban to Grahamstown, 600 miles, in ten days, through a hostile and comparatively unknown country, with not a single bridge over rivers and streams. However, in traveling to precisely the same destination from Cape Town, a distance of 700 miles, Sir Harry Smith beat the above record, for he performed the journey in six days.

But to Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, doubtless belongs the best riding record. To begin with, he covered a hundred miles on the day following the Russian assault on Plevna, in order to reach Bucharest and telegraph home his account of the engagement. This, however, he completely put in the shade during the Zulu War of 1879, when, after the Battle of Ulundi, he rode alone over 115 miles of trackless country swarming with Zulus, in the short space of fifteen hours, to reach a telegraph office with news of the victory for English newspaper readers. He then continued his ride to Pietermaritzburg, 170 miles farther south, which he achieved in a little over twenty-nine hours! And all this by a man suffering from a wound in his leg received during the battle!

As for records in marching on foot, there seems to be no end to them. Only a year or two ago an English regiment, the Shropshire Light Infantry, on conclusion of some arduous manoeuvres, covered a distance of fifty-five miles in two days without a single man falling out, and carrying the burden of full equipment.

Then there was the Kabul to Kandahar march of 315 miles in thirty days; and only a short time ago the 19th Battalion of the Chasseurs-a-pied in France marched sixty-eight kilometres—over forty English miles—in one day, though even this astonishing feat is put completely in the shade by the forced march of the famous Light Division in the Peninsula, when the troops, carrying from 50 to 60 pounds each on their shoulders, covered sixty-two miles in twenty-six hours!

NEED OF GOOD SEED

As Direct Method of Ensuring Larger Returns

The absolute necessity of good seed as the most direct method of insuring larger returns, not only in larger yields, but also in crops free from weed impurities, is being fully realized by thousands of young farmers throughout the entire West, says a Winnipeg paper. The use of impure seed, low in vitality, means nothing but ruin and disappointment to the sower. Pure seed of a pedigreed strain, on the other hand, is too expensive to buy in large quantities from the various seed firms, and the only course left open to the farmer of average means is that of growing the seed himself, or securing it from some neighbor who has grown it, and for which he will ask a good figure. A few bushels should be bought and planted on a carefully prepared piece of land, free from weeds, and the crop carefully harvested and stored for next season's seed.

After obtaining successful results for a few years, many farmers even go further, and by a system of selection and elimination gradually build up a strain of the variety he is growing, which may be either a heavier yielder, more resistant to smut or frost, or stronger in the straw, and so forth. Such work, however, requires more time, and at present is mostly left to specialists or experimental farms in this Western country. There are, however, some private growers throughout the West who are interested in the work, and are obtaining very satisfactory results.

Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. It is sold for less money than any of the high grade makes. All machines are guaranteed.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway granted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, post-office, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding houses, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hoima River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Hoima River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 60 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hoima River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Combative evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

LITTLE LECTURE ON PLEASING MEN

They Expect Perfection, but are Satisfied with Much Less—The Best Wives

Some things, like recurring decimals, are always cropping up, and one of these things is the old, old question: Which women make the best wives? Do you know?

Many think they do, and they compliment themselves on the exact they, at least, possess some power of discernment; whereas those poor deluded of men who ventilate and discuss they do know and they don't know in one breath are fit subjects for pity, and at times even for scorn.

Mark you, they think they know. To think you know and to know the two things. In the first case, the people are simply suffering from bulbous illusions; they are a prey to their own imagination. In the second, the man not only knows the best kind of wife for themselves, and not for anyone else.

Some men think they can choose wives for other people. Poor other people! We can shed a silent tear of pity for them, for to be saddled with a wife who has been chosen by someone else is like having to wear a pair of boots made for someone whose feet are two sizes smaller than your own—the very, very painful.

Some men tell you exactly what kind of woman they think will make the best wife—and go and marry just the opposite! And then for ever try to mould her into something she never could be and something they never could have fallen in love with, however blind or silly they may have been. In this respect, some men are very true to type.

Nearly every married woman in the world knows what it is to put up with this sort of thing, until sometimes she wishes her husband had found his ideal in the first place and lived unhappily ever after. Men can be very trying at times, an dat this period they are almost unbearable.

A girl of twenty once threw her arms round her grandmother's neck, and said,

"Men are such difficult creatures, gran; I don't know how to please them. Do you?"

Gran smiled at the dainty miss, and then gave her a little lecture on pleasing men.

"My dear," she said, "if a girl wishes to please a man she must be retiring and modest; she must never attract attention by her dress or her hats. False teeth and false hair displease most men, and falsehoods will do more than anything else to annoy them. She should never use powder, yet her complexion must always be faultless, otherwise men become disgusted; and the only way she can keep a good complexion is by keeping healthy and taking plenty of fresh air exercise, so it follows that she must go out a good deal. Yet she must stay at home to help mother, because a man likes to think that his wife will be able to take care of his house for him. You see, my dear, men are not easily pleased. Some of them expect us to do impossibilities. If you do your best, you will please most men; but don't attempt impossibilities, for you are bound to fail."

Gran had learned something in her life; among other things, that men expect perfection and are satisfied with much less.

There are men who are searching for an ideal such as the old lady pictures, and they get so appallingly sentimental and romantic over their regret that they quite overlook the dear little girl who has fallen deeply in love with them, and who would make them an excellent wife.

'Tis generally this type of man who finishes up by falling head over heels in love with a girl who wears striking clothes and talks slang. The girl who attracts attention is the girl that every young man is after. He overlooks the modest little violet, and goes after the brilliant rose.

Is he wise?

Well, of course, he may be. But if you think a moment you will recollect that roses have thorns—and violets have not!

The best wives are the best housekeepers. You may not be a witty woman, yet you may still be able to look after a man. And that is what men want. They want looking after.

A BABY'S CRY

Sort of Esperanto That Should be Understood by Mothers

The cry of a young baby is really one of the most marvellous things in creation, says a leading English doctor. For coercive and defensive power it has no equal, and well it is that the voice does not increase in power and volume with the growth of the child.

Yet, what is this cry? The mother even after a few days can tell at once if it is only the healthy scream of a child disturbed in some way or other, or if anything is wrong. The baby has "no language but a cry." It is a sort of universal Esperanto that should be understood at any rate by those who have charge of them. It is worth noting that a baby cries without tears. This is because the tear glands are not working at birth, and the tears do not flow until about three months of age.

While speaking of a child's cry it is well to remember that while crying may mean nothing but a sense of mild discomfort, its total absence always means something wrong and generally something serious.

OVEN CLOTHS

Get a floor-sack from your baker, unpick it, and have it washed. When dry, cut into three, stitch round, put a loop of tape to hang up by, and use to take things out of the oven with. You can make three cloths for two pence, and they save many a burnt finger.

EARLY CLOSING.

The Times is requested to state that every Thursday afternoon during July and August, the leading stores in the city will be closed, in order to afford the employees as well as the employers a half holiday during the hot spell. As Dominion Day comes on Saturday this year, the regular market day will be held on Friday preceding. All business houses will be closed on the holiday. Coronation Day, June 22nd, will also be observed by all the stores closing.

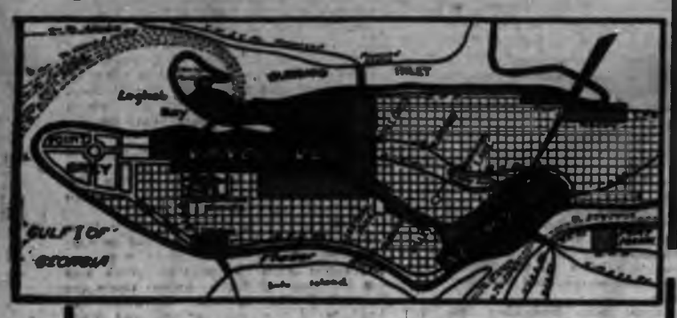
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

Our property is situated directly in the course of fastest growth between the cities where arrow points.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Price of lots $200 to $600. Easy payments.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

Sciatica

EXPECTED DEATH EVERY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail service and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down, because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health CURED and improve my blood I SIX used Ferrozone, one tab- YEARS. let with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1.00; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

On Serious Charge.

Two men were arrested on King street yesterday, charged with holding up a man. One of the prisoners is a local man and the other is said to be a crook from New York State. They will appear at the Police Court this morning.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

Common Assault.

The two men, O. Montgomery and L. Thibadeau, who appeared before County Magistrate Edmunson a few days ago, and who were remanded until yesterday, were fined $4 each, the charge of attempted murder being reduced to common assault.

Another Set of Chimes?

It is rumored on the street that an effort is likely to be made to secure a chime of bells for the new church which the Charlotte street congregation propose to build. There is nothing to confirm the rumor, however, that this may be done. The sweet music of the People's Chimes may have become contagious.

Flower Sunday.

Flower Sunday will be observed at George street church to-morrow when all the Sunday school scholars of the church, together with Grace church Sunday school attendants, will meet in the Sunday school room of the church at 10.30 in the morning and proceed in a body to the church. Serious Assault Case.

Yesterday a charge was laid in the County Police Court against Mr. Alf. Cooney, of Otonabee, of assault. It is said that [illegible] and Mr. Cooney have had a dispute as to the right to use a [illegible] the latter claiming [illegible] Cooney struck Manley over the head with a [illegible] Manley was knocked down and for a while it was thought he was seriously injured. Dr. Harrison, of Keene, and a local physician were called, but it was found that his condition was not serious. Cooney was arrested yesterday by County Constable Cochrane.

A Successful Picnic.

The Bobcaygeon picnic, held on Coronation Day, for the benefit of the Roman Catholic Church at Kinmount, was a success, a large number being present from all parts of the district. The games and sports were well contested, and a very enjoyable day spent. The receipts amounted to about $700.

A Painful Injury.

While on the way to the T.A.S. Park on Coronation Day, a lad named Clayton Theobald, son of Mr. Chas. Theobald, had the misfortune to fall of the rig on which he was seated with a number of others, and had one of his legs injured by the wheel of the rig passing over it. He was removed to the home of Mr. Chas. McDonnell, where Dr. McNulty attended to the injuries. Later in the day he was removed to his home by Rev. Father McColl.

Inspected County Bridges.

On Coronation Day the County Council, inspected the bridges at Buckhorn, Burleigh and Young's Point, and found them all in perfect condition, the only thing required to be done was the painting of the last two. The Council returned home in evening. Superintendent McClellan, with "The Bessie Rather," conveyed the party from Lakefield to Buckhorn and return. Mr. J. A. Sexsmith M. P., East Peterborough, Mr. R. R. Hall, Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and Mr. E. A. Peck were among the guests of the County Council on the trip.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late William Coleman took place on Thursday morning, and was largely attended. The members of St. John's choir, of which he was a member, attended in a body. The pall-bearers were Messrs H. W. Morphet, Hague Sawers, W. S. Common, A. Kingscote, Flowers and Geo. Chandler, all choir members. The death of Mr. Coleman has cast a gloom over the city, where he appeared to have friends without number.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

COMES A TIME.

When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing.

"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a matron from Rome, N.Y.

"Its hightest punishment to make me 'logy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood.

"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit the coffee and try Postum.

"It went right to the spot! I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well.

"All my ailments, the 'loginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order and my sorely afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild [illegible] steadily and until now I have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health which I owe to the use of Postum."

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ODDFELLOWS DECORATED GRAVES OF THEIR DEPARTED BROTHERS

Yesterday was the day set apart by the local lodges of Oddfellows to show respect to brother Oddfellows called away by the hand of the grim reaper, by placing a wreath of flowers upon the graves of the departed Oddfellows. Every year the Oddfellows commemorate the memories of departed brethern by this beautiful and impressive ceremony, but it has usually been carried out on a week-day, yesterday being the first time decoration has been held on Sunday, and a beautiful and impressive service it was; partly on account of it being the Sabbath day, which had a tendency to make it more sacred and impressive.

One of the largest turnouts in the history of the local lodges was that of Sunday afternoon, when that band of noble men whose hearts are linked as if one, left their rooms at the corner of George and Hunter streets, and marshalled by Col. Milner, marched to Little Lake cemetery, there to perform that beautiful service of honoring the memory of the departed Oddfellows. The procession was an imposing one, each member carried a bouquet of flowers which was placed on the different graves, while a short service was conducted by the members at each one.

After the decoration of the graves the members were addressed by Brother David Moore, who, in eloquent words, referred to departed Oddfellows and the link that binds the ties of friendship and memories which are cherished by every Oddfellow. After a prayer, offered by Bro. Thompson, the Oddfellows marched back to their hall. Thousands of people witnessed the ceremony.

KING'S MESSAGE TO PRES. TAFT

Washington, June 23.—King George has sent the following reply to President Taft's congratulations upon the occasion of his coronation:

"I heartily thank you and the people of the United States for the very kind congratulations which you offer me on this great and solemn day and for the good wishes which you expressed for the prosperity of the British Dominion and for the welfare of myself and my family. I heartily reciprocate your wishes that the friendly relations between United States and my country may ever continue.
(Signed) GEORGE R.I."

IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

Mr. Manley, of Drummond Station, who was injured in an altercation with Alf. Cooney on Friday last, is in a very serious condition. Yesterday he lapsed back into unconsciousness and he is in a very critical state.

AMENDMENTS TO BE VETOED BY PRES. TAFT

Washington, June 24.—It became known at the capital to-day that President Taft, talking over the long-distance telephone from Providence last night, repeated to several senators his determination to veto the Canadian reciprocity bill in case any amendment is added to it.

News despatched from Providence, that the President undoubtedly would veto any tariff bills passed at this session are accepted by senators as accurately reflecting the President's attitude.

Senators accept the President's ultimatum on reciprocity as applicable to modifications which might be made at the instance of Republicans as well as Democrats, and say that it would have the effect of preventing any agreement on amendments for tariff changes.

Many senators received telegrams and letters announcing a purpose on the part of the farmers to test the constitutionality of the proposed law if it receives less than a two-thirds majority in the senate. This position is taken on the ground that as the bill carried into effect the provisions of a treaty, it should receive the vote in the senate necessary to render a treaty effective. The friends of the measure do not concede the point, but they are claiming the two-thirds.

KING LIKES HIS CHILDREN AND BOOKS BEYOND BRIDGE

London, June 23.—An interesting character sketch of King George by the editor of the Daily News, is printed this morning, in which he describes the King as eminently a sailor and a man of the middle class who loves to be among his people.

The King's comradship with the common people, says the editor, is not an elaborate pretence to gain an end, but springs from a genuine fellow feeling and a desire to win their good will although he is fully conscious that he lacks his father's royal road to their hearts.

While King Edward's orbit was the continent of Europe, George V. is the first King of Great Britain. Edward was sybaritic, George almost Spartan. Edward was cosmopolitan, George singularly British. Edward was diplomatic, George is simple and direct in thought and speech, with no subtlety or cunning in his intellectual composition.

His tastes aesthetically all belong to the common people. Except for shooting he has few sporting passions He has no liking for games of chance, but prefers music and the drama in the old-fashioned form. Wagner bores him; the modern problem play leaves him cold.

PUBLIC OPINION

POLICE DID GOOD WORK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—On Thursday evening last the citizens enjoyed a rich feast of heart-stirring music in Victoria Park. Our splendid city band was at its best, and the surrounding scenery too, was all that could be desired. The many colored beautiful lamps that shed their brilliancy among the trees, and the thousands of citizens, in their gay summer costumes, moving about silently, enjoying the rich melody of the music—all these combined to make the occasion one of rare felicity. It was the summer solstice, too, when many thoughtful people said adieu to the longest day for another year. And how many, alas, how many, in that gay throng may have said that farewell for the last time!

This notice would be defective, if we did not convey the sincere thanks of the citizens to our excellent police force, who kept good order in the park all through the entertainment.

On other band nights, the young hoodlums destroyed the music, and turned the beautiful park into a beer garden. The home influence of those youngsters must be in the last stage of depravity.

A SAD PICTURE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that the Coronation festivities are over, we might look behind the scenes as it were, and see the picture of the Queen Mother Alexandra awaiting the coronation news at Sandringham Palace because debarred by court etiquette from witnessing the ceremony. It haunts the memory by its touching dignity. Only eleven years ago, she herself and her beloved Edward were at the centre of the nation's acclaim. And on Thursday of all the many millions who hailed George King, she, the proud mother, who gave him to the nation was denied the joy of seeing his triumphal coronation. Great joys are mingled with severe lessons, and in no circle more so than royalty.

Nevertheless, we Canadians, like other members of the great family of British nations, adore the Godly Queen Mother.

COBOURG MAY HAVE BIG MEET

No Opposition From the Moral Reformers—They Believe Extension of Racing Will Lead to Abolition of Betting.

Toronto, June 24.—Mr. Robert Davies of Toronto is awaiting the action of the Dominion Government in regard to his application, made some time ago, for permission to establish a race track on his property, Thorncliffe Farm, near Leaside Junction.

About the same time that Mr. Davies' application was filed, applications for race track charters were also sent to the Secretary of State by Cobourg, London, Ottawa, and Guelph. These with that of Mr. Davies, have been held up by the Government, and the applicants are beginning to get restive under the delay. The anti-gambling and anti-betting associations opposed the granting of the charter to the Metropolitan Racing Association so strongly that it is thought the Government's hesitation is due to the belief that the proposal to establish five more tracks in Ontario will bring a storm of protest, not only from the anti-racing organizations, but from the jockey clubs now in existence.

Closing Concert.

A splendid programme will be given at the Conservatory of Music Hall to-night by the pupils of the different departments, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, of Knox church. This will be the closing concert of the season by the pupils of the Conservatory of Music.

PAUL COSTELLO'S BODY FOUND

The Otonabee river claimed another victim on Saturday morning last, when Mr. Paul Costello, a young man 28 years of age, lost his life. He had been employed on the Government Dredge, and fell off the scow at Yankee Bonnett, where the scow and dredge were at work. He was seen in the water for an instant by the captain, and at once disappeared. The alarm was at once given and every effort was made to recover the body, but without success.

The deceased was a son of Mr. Paul Costello, ex-reeve of Ennismore and leaves three young children. His wife predeceased him a couple of years ago.

Body Recovered.

The body of the deceased was found yesterday afternoon at 3.15 o'clock by Mr. Archie Guerrin. Mr. Guerrin was using a trolling line in hunting for the body, the hook of which got caught in the clothing of the dead man and it immediately arose to the surface. It was about half a mile below Yankee Bonnett, 50 feet from the shore and in from 10 to 15 feet of water.

Coroner Dr. Greer was immediately summoned and after viewing the body he decided an inquest would be unnecessary.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED AT PAYNE'S MILL

A drowning accident occurred on Saturday morning at Paynes' Saw Mill, about three miles from Warsaw, when a young Englishman named John Bennett lost his life. The victim is a married man, having a wife and child. He had been employed in the mill for nearly a year. He had been missed by his fellow workmen, and search was made, when his body was found in shallow water. It is thought by some that he had taken a fit or in some way lost control of himself.

A SCOUT SAVED DROWNING MAN

Medicine Hat, Alta., June 24.—Norman Rossiter is a hero to-day. To his bravery, Cokely, the aeronaut, owes his life. Cokely, with a carnival company showing here, made an ascent this evening. He dropped into the Saskatchewan River half a mile above the bridge. It was his first ascension since he broke a couple of ribs at Macleod a few days ago. He was week from his last fall, and after making a valiant effort to reach shore, Cokely was about to give up, when Rossiter, who is a Boy Scout, went to the rescue.

The youth secured a rope when the aeronaut fell into the water and swam into the swift-running stream about a hundred yards from shore. He fastened the rope around Cokely and willing hands soon dragged the almost unconscious man ashore. Young Rossiter landed at an isolated spot on the bank and hurried home, modestly disclaiming any credit.

A CANADIAN INVASION OF ISLAND OF CUBA

A Proposition That Should Appeal to Investors.

Mr. M. Mannist, representing the Manhattan Estates, Isle of Cuba, is spending a few days in the city. A guest of the National Hotel.

The Manhattan Estates are located on the Western Railroad, ninety miles west of Havana; in the heart of Vuelto Abajo region, the world's most famous tobacco section, adjoining the property of that prosperous colony of Canadians and Americans, the town of Ferradura.

Being in such close proximity and relationship to a modern metropolis of this nature, is an important consideration, and adds many dollars to the value of every acre of our land.

The government Calzada, a macadamized road from Havana is now completed to the city of Pinar de Rio, fifty miles beyond the Manhattan Estates can be made in three hours by an automobile and offers attractions and pleasing scenery scarcely equalled anywhere. All in all, we have 501,99 acres of the richest agricultural soil in all the world. We have capitalized our stock company for $200,000 dollars, divided it into 2000 shares at $100 each, which we propose to sell on the quarterly payment plan. Every shareholder in this corporation has the power and right to investigate at all times the inner working of the company, we must consolidate, co-operate and work in harmony with one another.

Recently a number of prosperous business men in Toronto formed the Toronto Tropical Fruit and Development Company, Limited, to establish grape fruit groves in the prosperous and beautiful Manhattan Estates. The sole idea of organizing this company, was that it is a tremendous financial undertaking to develop this land without sufficient capital to make it the success they planned. The Toronto Tropical Fruit and Development Company, Limited, propose to develop 450 acres of the Manhattan Estates, dig into its mellow soil, and raise bounteous crops of the staple fruits of the tropics, ship them to the United States and Canadian markets, and the extreme high prices that prevail are a guarantee that the profits will be enormous. There are a number of other excellent fruits, and some fine vegetable products not now generally cultivated, but which with Cuba's future development will open up profitable industries.

In conjunction with our groves we plan to establish canning factories that will stimulate the production of the many fruits that we propose to raise. In fact, there scarcely seems a limit to Cuba's future productive capacity. The Toronto Tropical Fruit and Development Company, Limited, intend that in course of a few short years, for time is a swift sweet thing, to operate and own the richest agricultural institution in the world.

Purchasers of shares in the Toronto Tropical Fruit and Development Company, Limited, can invest in the Manhattan Estates where demonstrations have eliminated uncertainty and hazard. We take no risks as to whether we are obtaining genuine fruit farms, the evidence is there and each succeeding year only emphasizes its value. It is not necessary to experiment or take risks in alluring proposition. Here is safety and success.

Mr. Mannist will be pleased to have a call from anyone interested in this proposition.

Prepare for Lumbago

If You Have "Nerviline" Handy One Rubbing Will Cure the Pain.

THOUSANDS USE "NERVILINE."

The "strike" of lumbago is like a bolt of lightning—you never know when it is coming or where it is going to strike. Probably the one certain thing about lumbago is the fact that it can be cured by Nerviline—the only liniment that penetrates deeply enough to reach the congested chords and muscles.

LETTER NO. 4875.

"Years ago I strained my back and suffered considerably with weakness over the spine," writes Darius P. Millan, a well-known farmer residing near Kingsville. "Then lumbago attacked the weak spot, and for days at a time I would have to lie up in bed, unable to move or turn. Liniments, poultices and hot applications failed to bring the desired relief, and I was in despair of ever getting really well again. I at last decided to test 'Nerviline.' I got five bottles from the drug store and had it rubbed on three times a day. The stiffness and pain left my back quickly, and by continuing Nerviline I was completely cured of Lumbago."

This is similar testimony to that of nearly five thousand Canadians who have written unstinted words of praise to the manufacturers of Nerviline. For the cure of lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia and rheumatism there is no liniment with one-fifth the pain relieving power of Nerviline.

Refuse any substitute. Large 25c bottles of Nerviline, or five for $1.00 at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

SMALL COIFFURES ARRIVE.

Fashion Now Favors Small Hats and Curls and Puffs Vanish.

London, June 20.—Fashions are more revolutionary this year than they have been for many seasons. The really small hat is now an accomplished fact, women are becoming resigned to the widened skirt and the crinoline sleeve is accepted as pretty novelty; but the new hair dressing may be considered as the last straw.

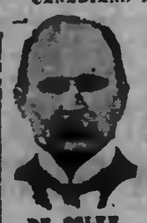
It is being shown by fashionable London hair dressers, but as yet few women have ventured to wear it in public. The hair is drawn straight back from the forehead and sides and finished with a little flat coil at the back. All such frivolities as puffs, curls, or even waves are banished, the hair being drawn quite smooth and flat. It has a very curious effect after the very full coiffures, and it is not in the least likely that it will become popular, for few women possess the beautiful forehead and features it requires.

It is having a strong influence on the new hair dressing styles and already far narrower and smoother heads are becoming fashionable.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

CANADIANS AND MEDICINE.



DR. OSLER.

It is a remarkable that when Dr. Osler was appointed Regius Professor of Oxford University in 1905 the report — which was not true—was circulated that he said that no man was any good after forty years of existence. This brilliant Canadian who was born in Ontario in 1849, has done more by his books and lectures to make the profession of medicine better understood and appreciated than any other man. His degrees are many and his practical experience as a student great.

CANADIANS AND INVENTION.

Dr. A. Grahame Bell and the Telephone.

Canada has every reason to be proud of her brilliant student in practical science—Professor A. Graham Bell—the inventor of the telephone, which has done so much to revolutionize the social and business world. The doctor first saw the light in Edinburgh, Scotland in 1847 and came out to Canada in 1870, where he carried on his investigations that consummated not only in the great invention with which his name is associated with but the photophone, induction balance, and telephone probe, and (with C. A. Bell) graphophone. He has made a thorough study of the education of the deaf. In recent years he has taken great interest in the laws of flight and aviation generally. This brilliant Canadian is the holder of many degrees and a member of many learned societies. His Canadian home is in Nova Scotia.

CANADIANS AND AVIATION.

Nova Scotia and the Flying Machine.

Canada though small in population keeps pace in the fields of sport and science and in the latest combination of both—aviation—she has produced one or two good men, probably the best known being the doughty J. McCurdy, who has lately achieved a number of triumphs against the best aviators of the world.

Mr. McCurdy was born in that province of nerve producing men—Nova Scotia—in a little place called Baddeck, in the year 1886.

Though still young he has already invented two successful machines—the "Silver Dart" and "Babcock No. 2". Canadians are looking forward to further triumphs from her worthy representative in this new field.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

MR. R. L. BORDEN.

Canada and especially Nova Scotia lost one of its most distinguished lawyers, when Mr. R. L. Borden was made leader of the Conservative Party. Before he had reached the age of forty, he although, he had lived well, was a man of independent means, all of which were amassed by himself. He was the recognized head of the legal profession of Nova Scotia, when he was a comparatively young man. Besides being a magnificent politician, a well-nigh peerless lawyer, he is no mean linguist, an historian and very prominent authority on constitutional questions. Above all Mr. Borden is a man of unquestioned integrity. His judicial mind enables him to keenly analyze a question and see its merits and de-

R. L. BORDEN.

The leader of the Opposition is noted for his kindness of heart and his respect for the feelings of others. Those he tries his utmost not to hurt, unless it be from some fault of their own.

Mr. Borden's courteous, sincere and genial manner wins for him a host of friends. It is probably owing to this that he has only been insulted in the House twice. Both times it was entirely uncalled for.

In his personal habits Mr. Borden is extremely regular. He is a total abstainer, but is fond of his old briar pipe. This distinguished politician has nourished many literary dreams, but owing to lack of time has not been able to execute them. Let us hope that at some time in the near future he may be able to give the world some of the products of his fertile mind.

When his turn comes to take over the reins of Government, he will be able to rise to the occasion and expend all his energies for the successful advancement and betterment of Canada.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,—is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt—would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

IS YOUR MONEY IDLE?

Dormant Wealth is useless. Gold hidden in the corner cupboard is WASTING ITS TIME, just as surely as the sluggard is wasting his life. In these strenuous days of commercial activity every dollar should be made to work. ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING ALL THE TIME?

Of course YOU have no lazy money. But have you a bank balance that is just vegetating, making a paltry three cents interest on the dollar once in twelve months, three dollars on the hundred, thirty on the thousand?

Don't let your money ape the sluggard. Make it WORK. Opportunity is knocking at your door right now, and I am guiding Opportunity. It is worth your while reading this advertisement carefully. You cannot lose by it; you stand to gain a just deal.

Fruit Farms in British Columbia are my specialty. I have devoted many years to a close study of the soil and the climatic conditions of the Fraser River Valley. I will not handle property that is not ABSOLUTELY A. 1., no matter what the inducement may be. When you deal with W. J. KERR, LTD., you deal with a reliable firm.

If you have never been to British Columbia, you can have but a slight idea of the wonderful and steady increase in land values. The price of yesterday is doubled to-day, to-day's price will quadrupted to-morrow, for the upward movement has only just commenced. The wealth of a province is behind this steady movement.

Six years ago I sold land on the Westminster-Vancouver electric car line for $100 per acre. To-day it sells for from $2000 to $6000 an acre.

Two years ago I sold land in Peachgrove for $100 an acre. You could not buy that same land to-day for less than $2000 per acre.

I have just picked these two instances at random, but they will suffice to show you the enormous increase in values in the past. THE PROFITS OF THE PAST WILL NOT BE A CIRCUMSTANCE TO THE PROFITS OF THE FUTURE. Do you wish to share in these profits? Of course you do.

Investment in good real estate is as safe as a deposit in the Bank of England. There is no better real estate than in the Fraser River Valley.

I have the biggest list of properties in this district, and the prices at which I offer these is always a little lower than the other fellow. That is how I gained my reputation.

I am now placing a Fruit Land Subdivision on the market. This is parcelled into five-acre tracts, close to two railway lines and with splendid roads leading to the property. The Water Supply gushes up in a never-lessening stream from a well 320 feet deep, and can be piped to every house in the subdivision.

This Fruit Land is only a few miles from the city of Westminster, which boasts the greatest farmers' market in Western Canada. Here all products of the soil command a quick and remunerative sale. There is no over-supply; the coast cities are growing fast and consume a great deal more than the surrounding country now produces.

The figure at which I am placing this on the market will increase tremendously in the next few years, and in the meantime the land will pay for itself over and over again with the bumper crops it will produce. Let me send you full details of this remarkable offer. Drop me a line to-day—right now while the matter is fresh in your mind.

HOME LIFE OF QUEEN MARY.

Believes in Simplicity in Training of Children.

From the time of Her Majesty's birth until her marriage her life was just that of the fairly well-to-do English girl, hardly that of the modern English girl, perhaps, but nearer the old-fashioned ideal. This was her mother's plan:

"A child," she said, "has quite enough to do to learn obedience and attend to her lessons and to grow without many parties and late hours, which take the freshness of childhood away and the brightness and beauty from girlhood—and then children become intolerable. There are too many grown-up children in the present day."

A writer tells how the Queen's many high qualities were developed—her interest in charity by the frequent visits made in her mother's company to the poor around her Richmond home at White Lodge; her religious convictions, bred by the daily life of her home; her musical accomplishments and her artistic talents, fostered by her stay in Florence, Italy, where her parents lived for two years.

"The Queen has a sweet voice," says Sir Charles Kinloch-Cooke, "a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor (now Sir Paolo) Tosti. . . . She is a good judge of a picture and an excellent critic, and while at Florence made several pretty sketches of landscape scenery. She rarely misses any good exhibition of pictures in London, is particularly fond of the old masters and prefers their more finished style of painting to the impressionist school.

"Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance or that have attracted public attention during the last two decades she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce.

"The Queen is greatly attached to the historical past of her country. Ancient monuments of every kind have a fascination for her, and her acquaintance with different kinds of architecture must have entailed much study and close observance.

"She is particularly fond of visiting cathedrals, and knows the interior of most of the old city churches, besides being well versed in the countless treasures contained in the other historic buildings of our great metropolis.

"Her Majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important parliamentary debates.

"Punctuality is a household word in the royal establishment, and when the Queen makes an appointment it is always kept.

"In business matters Her Majesty is clear and expeditious, methodical and systematic. Her mornings are generally taken up with attending to the voluminous correspondence that arrives by every post.

"Her secretary and lady in waiting submit their letters and the Queen gives instructions concerning them. She quickly grasps the main issue of a question and soon makes up her mind, and has never been known to lay aside a matter on the ground that to express an opinion thereon is irksome or difficult."

PORCELAIN POODLES.

At One Time Very Fashionable Ornaments.

The day of the china and faience poodle may be said to have been the closing years of the eighteenth century and the twenties and thirties of the last century, a period when the poodle was the favorite pet animal of the contemporary lady.

In the old English china works the dog was a sort of potter's standby, says the Queen, and hardly one firm but turned to the manufacture of this delightful ornament from Bow to Rockingham. In size they vary from about six inches down to one inch.

Commonest of poodles are the Staffordshire examples, sitting bolt upright, and very much rarer are the recumbent dogs reposing on royal blue cushions. Porcelain poodles were produced at Bow, but unlike their cousins of Rockingham the Bow canines were lean and scraggy specimens of their race, with legs of an almost impossible thinness. They were modelled prior to the year 1776.

The finest porcelain poodles were produced at the celebrated Rockingham works, and they were manufactured between the year 1820 (or thereabouts) and the closing of the works in 1842—in fact, during the "Brameld period," when the factory was carried on by Thomas, George, Frederick and John Wager Brameld. The Rockingham works were situated at Swinton, near Rotherham, Yorkshire, on the estate of the Marquis of Rockingham. The animals themselves are nearly always plain white in color, but sometimes their bases or stands are of a rich royal blue enriched with a gilt line. Occasionally the bases are ornamented with green and gilt foliage, and still more rarely red decoration is to be found.

The Staffordshire faience poodles were intended to ornament the cottager's humble mantlepiece, not the are much more roughly modelled than their Rockingham relatives, for they drawing room of the lady of fashion, and they were retailed at the trifling sum of sixpence each, so that careful modelling and delicate glaze were not to be expected. These glazed earthenware dogs are squat in figure, with large ears, bushy tails, and a decorative note is introduced by the addition of a gilt collar with an elaborate padlock hanging from it.

China and earthenware poodles are now extensively imitated by the unscrupulous German manufacturer, but his fakes are fairly easy to detect. These Teutonic forgeries are characterized by a dead white glaze, while the authentic early nineteenth century examples are coated with a cream white glaze, which is frequently a good deal crackled.

STILL ANOTHER BOMB FOUND IN LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 26.—A bomb made of gas pipe, one and a quarter inches in diameter and 18 inches long, said by detectives in the District Attorney's Office to be filled with gunpowder, was found at the Hall of Record yesterday. It was at this place that two sticks of dynamite attached to a clock work firing device were found last September. Three men—Connors, Maple and Binder—were recently indicted by the grand jury for the alleged attempt to dynamite the structure.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MAKES OF FATHER.

Croquet Season Is Opened Again and Papa Knows.

Again the croquet season is with us.

One notices it first when papa comes home from lodge. He slips in the side gate and walks across the lawn so as not to disturb the fog. He weaves his way carefully toward the door where a light is dimly burning.

There is a slight touch on his right leg about four inches above his ankle. He doesn't notice it.

The next instant he is on his face, his nose investigating the intricacies of a flower bed, while with his other hand he upsets a stand full of flower pots.

The dog bays a mournful answer to the moon. A window is opened and a sharp voice says:

"Come in the house, you fool, before you fall over another croquet wicket."

Then father knows the croquet season is on and he announces at breakfast next day that if Willie forgets to bring in the wickets at night he'll burn the darned outfit.

For the next few weeks the boys and girls come over and plant their heels in the flower beds and play rover among the geraniums. In the evening, sometimes, pap will play a game with mamma just to square himself for the nights he goes to lodge.

THE KING'S THRONE.

Hard to Say Which Is the Real Throne.

The King may be said to have a suite of thrones—or shall we say a set of "occasional thrones?"—on each of which he probably sits at least once. Certainly he only sits on a single occasion upon one of them—that in the Coronation Chair in Westminster Abbey—the worm-eaten, battered, lion-footed old oak settee which contains the Stone of Destiny, and upon which all the King's predecessors since Edward II. have been crowned. That chair might, perhaps, claim to be the throne of the Empire, as it is infinitely the most ancient, and inasmuch as the King must sit upon it to be crowned.

It is not at all likely that the King would sit upon it often, even if it were in his "sin ingle-neuk," because it is an extremely uncomfortable chair. It stands, year in and year out, in the chapel of Edward the Confessor, where it was first placed by Edward I., and it is only removed for the Coronation, when, covered with gold brocade, it is set under the lantern, between the choir and the altar.

Probably the throne most familiar to the public is the great creation which stands upon a dias in the House of Lords. It is often mentioned in the newspapers quite apart from the opening of Parliament—the only occasion upon which it is actually used as a seat. Often a phrase like this occurs: "Mr. John Burns, who is greatly interested in this bill, listened to the debate from the steps of the throne." A beautiful rail separates this "Royal seat of Kings" from the faithful peers.

BRITISH STANDARD BEARER.

Lieutenant Harrison, the tallest officer in the British Army, will carry the standard of the Royal Horse Guards Blue in the Coronation procession. The standard was presented to the Blues by King William on August 12th, 1831, Queen Adelaide's birthday. The last time it was carried was the first Jubilee of Queen Victoria, when the Queen went from Slough to Windsor.

AFRICANS LIKE UNIFORMS.

Much money is made out of cast-off police uniforms. Quantities are bought by Africans traders and exported to various parts of the "Dark Continent," where they are exchanged for palm-oil, ivory, skins, and other merchandise. It is by no means an uncommon sight to see a swarthy savage dressed in the uniform of a policeman, and wearing the regulation helmet of the force.

Stories of the Prince of Wales.

Many quaint and amusing anecdotes are related of the Prince of Wales as a small child, one being that he and his sister and brothers were invited out to tea at some Court lady's house, and when the hour for departure came he could nowhere be found to say good-bye to his hostess.

On investigation it was discovered that he had hurried downstairs alone to secure what he considered his proper place in the carriage.

It is also reported of him that, on his first attending afternoon church one Sunday, he remembered how often he had been told to thank his entertainers for their hospitality; so on this occasion he looked anxiously about for someone to be grateful to. The only person who came handy was the verger, who, rather to his discomfiture, had his hand grasped by the little prince, and was informed in a childish voice:—

"Thank you so much for a very pleasant afternoon!"

Ben's Logic.

"Ben," said his friend, waking up from a reverie in which he had been gazing abstractedly at the shiny expanse of Ben's skating-rink-for-ulem, "is ther nothing you could do for your baldness?"

Ben, by the way, is only forty.

"No, lad!" he replied, with decision. "Fifteen years ago I was courting strong, and I tried lots o' things But about that time t' Prince of Wales—Edward, you know—came to open t' new hospital, and I said to myself as soon as ever I saw him liftin' his hat to t' crowd, 'Ben, my lad, tha can give it up as a bad job and save thy brass. If ther was ow't 'at 'ud cure a bald head they'd ha' tried his.'"

BEARS IN THE NORTH

Surveyors Who Arrived at Nome Were Frequently Visited by Master Bruin

Some extraordinary stories of experiences on the Alaska Boundary Survey are told by Mr. H. S. Mussell, of Ottawa, who recently arrived at Nome after long and arduous labors in survey work, says Rod and Gun. The surveyors found more bears there than they did on the Stikine River and soon realized that these animals were disposed to be friendly. Apparently their food supplies were abundant, and the bears, though paying frequent visits, never attempted to molest the men. The smell of frying bacon proved irresistible, and the bears came close enough for titbits to be thrown to them. Finally they took to visiting the camps and foraging for themselves at night, but the men resented this, although the bears never disturbed their privacy. The region is extremely rough, being a vast series of high peaks covered with eternal snow. It was impossible to place boundary pillars there, and the triangulation work and photographs will form the record. In all about four hundred square miles of the territory was covered. This involved the climbing of high peaks, some of them having an elevation of over eight thousand feet. The Muddy River, a tributary of the Taku, rises at the foot of a glacier which is believed to be the largest glacier in the world. The glacier, not counting its arms and the snows in the vicinity is easily twenty miles long. The surveyors scaled and crossed it at different points. Depressions, owing to thaw, existed, and swooping through the icy banks were swept down the mountain side with the speed of an avalanche. In eight hours the river rose twenty-two feet, and the camp and supplies had to be hastily removed. The boundary line zig-zags a good deal.

FUTURE OF CANADA

The British Weekly's Forecast of the Destiny of the Dominion of Canada

The future of Canada is illimitable, and it is strange to think that it was only about 1870 that the vast possibilities of the North-West were at all adequately realized. Since then the impression of the physical greatness and resources of Canada has steadily grown. There have been difficulties of a great kind. The nation has seemed to halt at times. But whatever temporary checks may come, there is no doubt as to the rapid and certain increase of the wealth, the population, and the power of Canada. As Principal Grant powerfully and convincingly argued, a nation so conscious of its strength and its future will not consent to be merged in and dominated by the United States. At present there is no comparison between the population of the two territories, and annexation by the States would mean the suppression of the potent individuality of the young nation. Goldwin Smith never took full account of the depth and power of popular sentiment, and we believe that Canada will be more and more content to reckon herself with the Motherland and her other Dominions. But obviously the place of Canada by-and-by will be wholly altered. In the nature of things our little island cannot develop as Canada must develop, and we look forward to the day when Canada will attain a relative importance which will deprive Great Britain of her claim to a metropolitan position. Of course, in a sense, Great Britain must always be the metropolis of the English-speaking race in general, and of the British Empire in particular. But as no limit can be set to the increase of Canada, readjustment must follow, and when the time comes it will be adjusted on the lines of greater equality. The form of connection will change, but he change will merely strengthen it. We may cease to be alarmed by the spectre of an inevitable disruption of existing ties. Canada has before her the high destiny of the chief stone in the British federation.—British Weekly.

Berlin, June 20.—The Minister of Railways instructed all railway masters and train guards to refuse permission for any woman whose hatpin projects dangerously to board a train unless she removes the hatpin. The order is part of a general campaign against the new offensive ... carried on here against the hatpin peril. The directors of the Berlin street car and subway lines recently passed an order forbidding the wearing of long hatpins to be conspicuously posted in every car.

Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. One segment of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. QUEEN CHARLOTTE

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Hooma River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Hooma River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Hooma River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the Islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 32 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

BOXING TO LEARN SINGING.

Welshman Whose Tenor Voice Equals His Boxing.

You've heard that threadbare expression, "playing both ends against the middle?" Well, what do you think of a boy who aspires to a musical education, following the prize ring to get the money that will make him a second Caruso?

You can't beat that, can you?

The boy working the dust in Fred Dyer of Cardiff, Wales. He says he is a better singer than he is a fighter and if this is true he must be a marvel, for he is one of the best lightweights in the British empire.

Dyer's specialty is to beat his man and then, with chest heaving from the exertion and pursuant to shouts of "Thora! Thora!" he sings in a clear tenor the song the London fight-loving public has taken to.

Sometimes Dyer sings with a lip split, or his nose swollen or one of his eyes blackened. Such things don't interfere. He gets double pay for his singing act.

Dyer whipped every lightweight in Cardiff before going to London and between battles sang in the choir of the biggest church in the Welch city. His stay in London has been an unbroken string of victories. He expects to sail for the United States soon.

The boy has been doing concert work in the fashionable West-end.

Dyer says singing helps his fighting and that fighting helps his singing.

FITZSIMMONS FOUGHT MEN WHO RUSHED HIM.

But Jim Corbett Used to Keep Him Guessing.

Bob Fitzsimmons says he always could beat a man quickly who would rush at him. The fellows who knew how to feint and step around were the ones that bothered him most—that is, they lasted longer against him than the sluggers. For instance, Tom Sharkey was always easy for Bob because he went in and tried to rush Bob all around the ring. Ben men like Jim Hall and Jack Dempsey and Jim Corbett made it more troublesome for the lanky fellow, says W. C. Kelly in the Cleveland Leader.

"It made no difference how hard they could hit if they would come tearing in I liked them," said Bob last night. "I knew the moment I squared off in front of Sharkey that I would beat him just when I got ready to do it. He was a powerful fellow, but every time he rushed he left himself wide open, and all I had to do was to shoot out one fist or the other. He went down when he got it on the right spot.

"I had some trouble finding Jim Corbett, for he was the shiftiest fellow who ever pulled on a glove, and he was an adept at the art of feinting. And any man who can feint cleverly can bother any fighter, I don't care how good he is. I had to bide my time and do a lot of thinking before I finally got to Corbett. He was watching my right hand, all the time and stepping away every time I moved it.

"Finally, I thought about the shift and then by feinting with the left for one side, and then with the right, he threw up his guard one after the other. The instant he lifted his right arm to protect his jaw, I shifted my right leg in front, and then let go with all my force in the solar plexus, or pit of the stomach. He went down, and the fight was over. If I had missed his stomach he would have got the blow on the chin.

FANS HAVE INNINGS.

Not all the fun at a ball game is on the diamond. The remarks hurled by fans at the umpire or players are often funny—very funny. The wit of the baseball fan in the bleachers is ever blooming. Here are some of the funny things that have been heard at ball games:

The crowd at Spokane, Wash., thought the umpire rotten. When he stepped up to the home base to sweep the dirt off so he could see it more plainly a bleacherite hollered out:

"Do you have to know much to do that?"

One of the fans in the bleachers at a Montreal-Baltimore game, after a rank play on the part of one of the Montreal players, cried:

"Aw, hang crepe on your nose. Your brains are dead.

To appreciate this one you must remember the size of Joe Yeager's ears. At a critical part of a game a fan yelled:

"Play your ears, Joe. There's a fly on your neck."

The young auto owner, just new to the game,
Remarked: "This is mighty fine sport."
"Don't use that word fine, for it gives me the creeps,"
Was the hardened old drivers' retort.

"I have seen many players hit on the fly
Has a thousand eyes
And many a limb;
That's why you must be quick
To slaughter him.

The first aeroplane death occurred in 1908 when Lieut. Selfridge was killed while flying with Orville Wright.

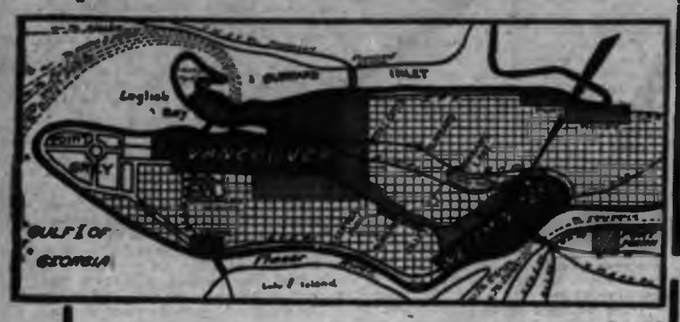
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

Our property is situated directly in the course of fastest growth between the cities where arrow points.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Price of lots $300 to $600. Easy payments.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

Miss Linklater Remembered.

It was with sincere regret that the many friends of Miss Linklater, of the teaching staff of the South Central school, learned that she had decided to leave for Calgary, where she had secured a good position on the staff of a school in that city. As a token of their regard and esteem, the pupils of the South Central school, presented her with a handsome gold handled umbrella, and the other teachers of the staff presented her with a beautiful gold pin. Miss Linklater will visit with her parents at Goderich, Ont., until the school opens in September, when she will leave for Calgary, to take up her new duties.

Tried to Extort Money.

A man named Theodore Jardine, who says he comes from Rochester, and a local man, who were arrested on Friday by Detective Newhall, appeared in the Police Court Saturday morning to answer a charge of endeavoring to obtain $5 from Alexander Sutherland by unlawful means. Jardine was said to be the main offender and his alleged companion to have been an accessory. Judgment was reserved for a week. In the meantime the two men are enjoying the hospitalities of Hotel Nesbitt.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

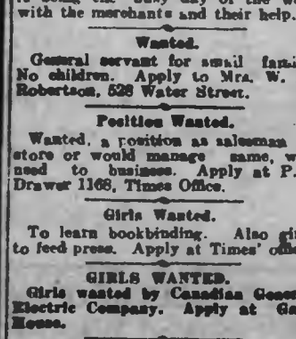
New One Dollar Bill.

The local banks will soon be supplied with the new one dollar Dominion of Canada bills, which are being issued by the Finance Department of the Government. The distribution will take place simultaneously in a very few days at the different principal centres of Canada. The feature of the new bill is that the pictures of Lord and Lady Grey take the place of the Aberdeens who figure on the former note. It is customary to have the photographs of Governors-General on some Dominion note issue. For instance Lord and Lady Minto appear on the present four dollar bill. There is no change on the back of the bill, but on the front the familiar lumbering scene is dispensed with and the portraits of the Greys are in the centre instead of at either end. Instead of the denomination of the bill being a large figure 1, the one is spelt out in bold lettering. The color is black and green instead of black and brown. The vignettes are particularly well done.



Jules Motor Car Co.

The effort to sell stock in Peterborough in order to secure the above industry for the city, failed as our readers know. The company is now endeavouring to do the same thing in Guelph. Mr. Dugran, the former industrial commissioner in this city, is said to be promoting the sale of stock with fair prospects of success. The company expects to sell $25,000 worth of stock in Guelph. They claim to have disposed of $20,000 in Toronto.

Roadway to the Park.

A few days ago ex-Ald. Dufus, and Mr. J. Drain, accompanied by Rev. Father McColl waited on the Council of North Monaghan, and requested the Council to open up the road to the T.A.S. park. The Council, after inspecting the line, voted $100 for the purpose. The line from the main travelled road to the park is a mile in length, and this expenditure will make it possible, although it will take about a thousand dollars to put it in good condition. This will ultimately, no doubt, be done. The distance from the park to the city by this road is about seven miles.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

VOL. XXXIV NO. 146 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY JUNE 27 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE MILK BY-LAW PASSES CITY'S PROPERTY COM.

MILK MUST BE SOLD IN SEALED BOTTLES.

Must Contain 3.4 of Butter Fat and 12 Per Cent. of Solids—Restrictions Regarding Stables, Milk Houses, Etc.

A by-law to govern the sale and distribution of milk in the city was read before the Property Committee last night, and approved of. The main clauses are as follows:

All vendors of milk must procure a license to carry on such business. (This clause is in force now).

Their premises must be open for inspection by a properly authorized party at any time.

All places in which milch cows are stabled must be kept in an approved sanitary condition.

The license fee shall be $1 a year. (This clause is in force now).

All milk must contain 3.4 per cent. of butter fat and 12 per cent. of solids.

All milk sold shall be conveyed in glass bottles with air-tight stoppers. And no bottles must be filled in the city on the route.

Dr. McPherson here offered that the people should clean their own bottles but the purveyor must have the means of sterilizing them.

Ald. Graham replied that the authorities could not make a customer clean the bottle.

It was conceded that few people should object to cleaning their bottles.

To the Mayor, Medical Health Officer McPherson replied that these rules concerning the bottles are not customary elsewhere, but should be enforced in every town. He also contended that there are more cases of typhoid in Toronto to-day due to milk than to impure water.

Ald. Bradburn thought difficulty would be experienced in regard to assuring that the bottles are kept clean, unless the responsibility for their cleanliness is vested in the dealer. But the danger with can delivery lies in frequent exposing of the milk therein to dust and contagious germs.

This bottle clause was allowed to stand and the dealer will be responsible for their cleanliness. Dealers will be allowed three months from date of passing the by-law to prepare for the complying with the provisions of this clause.

The license of any person guilty of any breach of this by-law shall be suspended or forfeited at the discretion of the Medical Health Officer.

The Medical Health Officer and the police constables are authorized to enforce the measure.

In connection with this by-law the Minister will be asked to approve of restrictions in the way of keeping stables thoroughly clean, properly lighted and ventilated and white washed periodically. Also that the milk be kept and bottled in a cool and appropriate milk house separate from the stable. Such milk house to be approved of by the Medical Health Officer. All milkers must carefully wash and dry their hands before milking and keep them dry while milking.

All milk must be strained in the milk house immediately after milking, and put into utensils for delivery, and cooled in a temperature of not above 55 degrees, within two hours after milking.

Milk drawn from cows withing 30 days before and with ten days after calving shall not be sold.

On motion of Ald. Bradburn, seconded by Ald. Brown, after this by-law has been passed in Council the measure will be printed and a copy of the same given to each milk vendor.

SUGGESTION BE CHIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am sure the people of Peterborough are delighted with the chimes, and enjoy their music very much. I would not say one word to add to the care or responsibility of Rev. Canon Davidson. Mr. Wainwright or any of the others who have labored so hard and so successfully in this matter. But, with your permission, sir, I would suggest that if possible the bells should be raised and placed on the top of the tower. I was told by a well known engineer that a belfry could be erected on the extreme top of the tower, large enough to accommodate the thirteen bells, at a very moderate cost. I am sure, now that the people have had a taste of the sweet music of the chimes that the extra money for this purpose could soon be had.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As Dominion Day falls on Saturday this year, I would suggest that it be observed on Monday. There are so many holidays that I think the business men should not be further handicapped in their struggle to make ends meet. I hope the Merchants' Protective Association will take up this matter at once as there is not an hour to lose.

LABOR MEN FACE CONTEMPT CASE

Must Show Cause on July 17th Why They Should Not be Judged Guilty.

Washington, D.C., June 26.—Justice Wright of the District Supreme Court to-day issued a rule against Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, the labor leaders, requiring them to show cause on July 17th why they should not be judged guilty of contempt of court. This action followed the filing of the report of the Special Committee of Attorneys appointed by Justice Wright to inquire into matters of contempt proceedings in the Bucks Stove and Range boycott case.

MET WITH ACCIDENT

Mr. Stenson, caretaker of the Post Office, was badly injured last night about 11 o'clock. He had driven Mr. Horace Walkey home and was returning when he was thrown from the buggy in some manner and severely bruised about the head and shoulders. Drs. McClelland and Morgan were called to attend to his injuries.

PLANS OF CITY PROPERTY HAVE DISAPPEARED FROM THE ASSESSOR'S OFFICE

AGITATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF A PERMANENT ASSESSOR OR ASSESSORS PERVADES CITY HALL.

Assessors Thompson and Henry wrote the City Property Committee last night, asking that they be furnished with 125 or 130 modern copies of plans of property. The only plans they can find in the office are 50 years old.

These plans are valuable in making assessments and the assessors advised that others be procured.

Ald. Bradburn—"Where have the newer plans gone to? You know, Mr. Chairman."

After a brief indulgence in subterfuge to avoid the direct mention of any particular name, the committee concluded that "the late assessor had taken these plans with him on vacating office last year.

To Ald. Bradburn it was conceded that Mr. McGrath had drawn the plans in question.

Ald. Bradburn questioned an assessor's personal right to any such plans drawn by him during his term of office.

It was agreed that replacing the missing plans would prove a costly job, and, as the assessors are considerably advanced in their work, no action was taken as to securing new plans.

The Mayor—"This matter points clearly to the need of us seriously considering the appointment of a permanent assessor or assessors."

Ald. Bradburn—"You are right."

The Chairman advised that a permanent assessor could devote much time during the winter months in drawing plans that are needed.

This question will be probably gone into seriously at a subsequent meeting of the Council.

THE CITY PROPERTY COMMITTEE IN SESSION LAST NIGHT

SALVATION ARMY BAND TO GIVE CONCERT IN VICTORIA PARK SATURDAY AFTERNOON JULY 1st.

Rutherford Bros. Must Remedy Faulty Pillars at Public Library Before Receiving Payment of $300 Held in Hand by the City.

The City's Property Committee met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow, Chairman Alderman Duncan, and Aldermen Bradburn, Graham and Brown.

The Salvation Army Band was given permission to play in the Park on Saturday afternoon next instead of Tuesday night, this concert to count as their regular weekly offering as per agreement with the city in return for their annual grant.

The Salvation Army was also given permission to hold meetings in the Central Park on Sunday afternoons.

The little street from Sherbrooke to Bolivar street was christened Park Lane on motion of Ald. Graham and the Mayor.

The continuation of Concession street northward from the finger post, now known as the River Road, was named Concession street.

The old drill shed grounds, East City, must be cleaned up by the store-keepers at present using it as a refuse ground, after which the city will keep the land in presentable shape. The City Trust Commissioners, who hold the stores in question in trust for the city, will be requested to notify their tenants to the foregoing effect.

THESE UNSYMMETRICAL PILLARS.

Rutherford Bros. wrote, asking payment of the $300 held in hand by the city pending the straightening of the public Library pillars by contractors Rutherford.

Ald. Graham was inclined to think the architects should pay for the faulty work on these pillars. However—

Moved by Ald. Bradburn, seconded by Ald. Graham.—That Rutherford Bros. be notified to finish their contract satisfactorily before being paid the $300 held back by the city—Carried.

When this question came up last year the committee then understood that Rutherford Bros. agreed to remedy the faulty pillars in the spring. They have not done so, however, hence the foregoing resolution.

The corporation will undertake to keep out the grass of the little park at the corner of Park and Hunter streets.

A SPY GLASS IN THE BONNET

London Springs the Latest Thing in Millinery—Can See Those Behind.

London, June 23.—The latest thing in millinery is a reflecting hat. It is designed to inform women as to what impression they are making on those behind. Very soon after the introduction of the automobile, designers produced the reflector that now enables drivers to see what is following. That gave a French milliner the idea for the further gratification of women. So far the wearers deviate it a boon, so it may be taken for granted they were all pretty.

This spy glass is fixed inside the rim of the hat. It really takes the shape of a reflector forming the heart of a giant rose, or the centre of a bunch of ribbon. Nobody can see it except the wearer, who by the aid of this doubtful advantage can keep an eye on the expressions of all behind her back.

IRISH PLAN TO GREET ROYALTY

Original Decorations—Irish Lace Industries Will Be Symbolized in the Decorations—Harps and Garlands.

London, June 26.—Dublin is preparing for the visit of the King and Queen next month, and a scheme of decoration along many miles of the Royal route has been decided upon, which will produce a splendid and original effect.

Flags, floral garlands and Venetian masts will be employed galore, together with floral crowns and large Prince of Wales plumes.

Large Irish harps connected with Oriental arches by floral garlands are to be introduced at various points with appropriate sentences of welcome.

Perhaps the most original and national touch will be seen where Nassau street and Grafton street meet. Here will be erected a large canopy carried to double columns in imitation of Connemara marble, both symbolizing important Irish industries. These marble columns occur again in Grafton street, connected by festoons of wisteria blossoms.

Porter—Robson.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Saturday evening last at the residence of Mrs. Learmouth, of Stewart street, when Miss Jean Robson was united in marriage to Mr. Norton Porter, of Winnipeg. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robson, of Norwood. She was charmingly attired in a travelling suit of cream serge, and carried pink roses. The bride and groom were unattended. Miss Ethel Ruthford, of Campbellford, played the wedding march, and the nuptial knot was tied by Mr. Keith of Knox church. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl pendant. At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter left on the 13:45 G.T.R. train for Oshawa Toronto and Buffalo.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss T. Robson, of Toronto, sister of the bride, Mr. Valentine, Mr. Playdell, of Toronto and Mr. Milton Portet, of Ottawa.

WANTED TO SLEEP.

Curious That a Tired Preacher Should Have Such Desire.

A minister speaks of the curious effect of Grape-Nuts food on him and how it has relieved him.

"You will doubtless understand how the suffering from indigestion with which I used to be troubled made my work an almost unendurable burden; and why it was that after my Sabbath duties had been performed, sleep was a stranger to my pillow to nearly daylight.

"I had to be very careful as to what I ate, and even with all my care I experienced poignant physical distress after meals, and my food never satisfied me.

"Since I began to use Grape-Nuts the benefits I have derived from it are very definite. I no longer suffer from indigestion, and I began to improve from the time Grape-Nuts appeared on our table.

"I find that by eating a dish of this food after my Sabbath work is done, (and I always do so now) my nerves are quieted and rest and refreshing sleep are ensured me.

"I feel that I could not possibly do without Grape-Nuts food, now that I know its value. It is invariably on our table—we feel that we need it to make the meal complete—and our children will eat Grape-Nuts when they cannot be persuaded to touch anything else." Name given by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Windsor, Ontario.

"BILLY" SUNDAY ON BOOZE, 7,000 LISTEN ALL NIGHT

Erie, Pa., June 26.—As a result of a series of evangelistic meetings being conducted here by the Rev. "Billy" Sunday, a former baseball player, over one thousand persons have been converted, two hundred of the conversions occurring during a service which started Saturday night and ended at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. For three hours, following the meeting over three hundred men who attended the meeting, remained in the church praying for the success of the campaign against sin. Following the prayer service they marched into the tenderloin district where they sang Gospel songs in the streets for two hours.

Sunday's text for the meeting last night was "Booze," and seven thousand men crowded into the church to hear him.

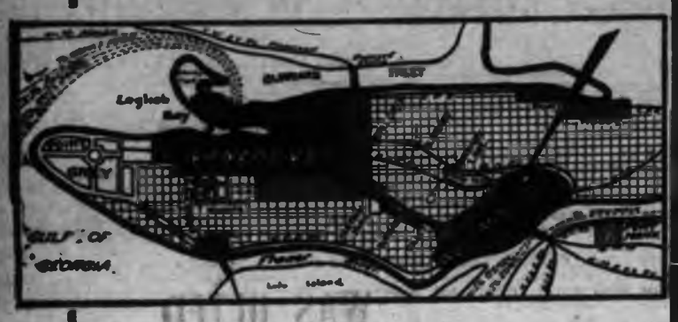
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

Our property is situated directly in the course of fastest growth between the cities where arrow points.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

Price of lots $300 to $600. Easy payments.

Our Company is incorporated under the laws of British Columbia with a capital of $250,000 of which $175,000 is fully paid up.

"MAXWELL AND SON"

By E. Newton-Bungey, in M.A.P.

Mr. Stephen Maxwell said "Thank Heaven" when he was told that his wife had brought a son into the world. He said it emphatically but reverently, for he had prayed diligently that the child might be a boy.

"There'll be a son again, after all," he murmured. "Maxwell & Son, established 1782, father and son all the time. But I thought I was going to be the first Maxwell to break the run."

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell had been married fifteen years without their union having been blessed with children, though they had both longed for a little one of their own. Now Mr. Maxwell was forty, and a son had been born to him after he had lost hope.

"How pleased the old dad would have been," he muttered. "He thought there wouldn't be any more Maxwell & Son after me."

A clever business man, Stephen Maxwell had made of Maxwell & Son more than half a dozen of his ancestors put together. When the business had come into his father's hands it had been in very low water, and it was a long time improving, with the result that Stephen Maxwell had been sent to a free school, and taken away at the earliest possible moment to work in the firm at a lower wage than any other clerk.

However, the business was pulled round, and when the elder Maxwell died, it was quite a flourishing concern. It had gone on steadily improving under Stephen's guidance, though all the while he was grieving secretly at the loss of the old name, for there was no son, nor did there seem likely to be one.

As the boy grew up, so Mr. Maxwell's business increased by leaps and bounds, for he had Reggie to work for now. He meant the boy to have a very different upbringing from his own, and he sent him to an expensive preparatory school, from thence to a well-known public school, and eventually Reggie went to Oxford.

Reggie did excellently at school and college, and the father's pride in his son's success was indescribable.

He had a room specially furnished at the office, putting the very latest conveniences into it, and making it as comfortable as possible. He told the clerks it was to be known as "Mr. Reginald's room," and that they were to treat the son as they treated the father.

While Reggie was at Oxford his uncle died, leaving his only child, now an orphan, in his brother's charge.

Alice Maxwell was a quiet, good-looking girl of twenty when she came to live with her Uncle Stephen, and she speedily became like a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell.

Reggie came down from Oxford, and voted Alice a "jolly good sort." When he went up again he took her heart with him, though he did not know it.

Alice had never met anyone quite like Reggie. His public school and college careers had put a stamp on him which made him different from any other young men she met. He was a handsome boy, too, and had what the Irish call "a way with him."

The girl gave her love unasked, and, when she realized this, she resisted all Reggie's attempts to flirt with her. It annoyed the undergraduate at first, but presently he began to conceive a new respect for his pretty cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell were not blind to the state of affairs, and it pleased them highly, for they desired no one more than Alice for their son's wife. Many a happy hour they passed after Alice had gone to bed, planning for the young couple's future.

They hoped they would live in the same house; but, if not, Stephen Maxwell was quite prepared to buy a house and furnish it for his boy, in addition to the handsome salary he intended to give him when he entered the business.

"Perhaps they'll have a boy, wife," he said, gleefully, and Maxwell and Son will keep on into another generation."

Stephen Maxwell was over sixty now, but he looked, acted and felt as though he were ten years younger.

Alice Maxwell counted the weeks until the vacations came round and brought Reggie. She developed considerable during the two years following her father's death; her beauty gaining her many admirers, but she would dispense with them all but Reggie.

"Why, Ally, you grow prettier every time I see you," said her cousin, when he came down for his last vacation from Oxford.

The girl flushed a fiery crimson, and her heart beat furiously at the words. She was content to find approval in Reggie's eyes. But he showed no signs of returning the love she lavished on him in secret, and her heart grew heavy in these days.

Reggie's career at Oxford was a series of triumphs. He had got a double first and had scored a century at Lord's against Cambridge, amongst other honors, sending his father into transports of delight.

"I do hope you won't work him too hard at the office, Steve," said Mrs. Maxwell.

"Bless your heart, wife, there won't be an easier job at first under the sun. But he'll want to work presently—it's in our blood—and there'll be no holding him back."

"Mr. Reginald's room" was dusted and aired every day now, ready for its tenant, and very often Mr. Maxwell would steal into it and gaze round, rubbing his hands and chuckling with delight.

At length Reggie came down finally from Oxford, and was told by his father to have his fling for a month. He obeyed readily, dining out and going to theatres nearly every night.

"I wish we saw more of our boy," said Mrs Maxwell one evening, her expression slightly worried.

"So we will when he gets into harness," rejoined her husband.

He chuckled to himself a great deal these days, for he had a secret. He had ordered a motor which was to take Reggie and himself to the office and bring them home every day. He meant it to come as a great surprise to the boy, and he often pictured these journeys in Reggie's company.

One evening Reggie came down dressed for a dinner at the Savoy, when his father called to him from his work-room. Reggie entered, his tall form clad in immaculate evening dress contrasting copiously with the little man in the somewhat shabby tweed suit.

"What's the row, guv'nor? Mind my smoking?"

Reggie smiled in a slightly superior manner.

"Thanks, guv.," he said, "but I prefer my own. Carrondel and I import them from Havana, you know."

"Lord Carrondel!" asked Stephen Maxwell in tones of awe.

"That's the boy," replied Reggie carelessly. "But what do you want me for?"

"I thought I'd just tell you that your month's holiday will be up on Saturday, my boy."

"Your room's all ready at the office, you know."

Mr. Maxwell began to smile as he wondered whether he should tell Reggie about the motor now; but he decided to keep it as a glorious surprise for Monday morning.

"I've been meaning to speak to you about the business, guv'nor," began Reggie slowly.

"What is it, Reggie, want a bit longer fling?" asked Mr. Maxwell in disappointed tones, for he had been looking forward so much to Mondoy morning.

"Fact is," blurted out Reggie desperately, "I don't want to go into the business at all."

"Eh?" gasped his father.

"I don't want to go into trade. I want to be in a profession," Reggie went on. "What's the good of my getting a double first at Oxford if I'm to be mewed up in a poky office all day?"

Mr. Maxwell gazed at his son, but no reply came to his lips. He felt suddenly weary and broken. This was the end of twenty-one years of hope. His face was grey, his throat full.

"I want to read for the Bar, guv'nor," said Reggie, still not daring to meet his father's gaze.

Mr. Maxwell gulped down the lump in his throat, and a sad little smile crossed his face.

"The Bar, Reggie," he said slowly. "You must tell me how to go about it."

"Father!"

Reggie was so amazed that he used a term which his friends would have called "very middle class."

"Why, I thought you were so keen on me going into the office," he went on.

"I thought you would have come, Reggie, but—" he paused. "About this Bar business," he added. "I suppose you want to be a barrister?"

"That's the ticket, guv'nor. I'll tell you all about it another night; can't keep my party waiting. Glad you don't mind. Good-night."

Without waiting to hear whether his father replied, Reggie strode jauntily from the room. As a matter of fact, his father did not reply, he just sat down and rested his face on his arms.

He was in the same position an hour later when his wife came to look at him.

"Steve!" she cried, in alarmed tones. "Steve! Aren't you well?"

"Reggie and me have been talking," he added, "and we think it'll be better for him to—" he paused for a moment to clear his throat—"to go into a profession, so he's going to be a barrister."

"Oh, Steve, aren't you disappointed?"

"Just a little, wife, but, as long as the boy is happy, we mustn't mind. Wonder what Alice will think?" he exclaimed suddenly.

"She'll be disappointed, Steve. We all thought we'd see more of the boy when he went into the business, but I suppose he'll be out as much as ever now."

"Sometimes I think he cares for her more than he knows, wife," murmured Mr. Maxwell. "But let's go down to the girl. I expect she's wondering what's become of us. I'll be down in a minute, though, I've got a letter to write."

The letter was to the motor-car firm, asking them to countermand his order and offering to pay compensation. He signed very heavily as he sealed the envelope, and putting his hand to his eyes he found them wet.

Monday morning he will never forget. He had thought so much about it, pictured it so often, that his journey on the underground was a torture to him.

"Mr. Reginald's room is all ready, sir," said the managing clerk when Stephen entered.

"Give me the key," answered Mr. Maxwell, "my son will not be coming into the firm."

When all the clerks had gone that evening, Mr. Maxwell went into "Mr. Reginald's room" and stood for a long time staring at the empty chair. Then he sighed wearily, and, walking from the room, locked the door behind him. Thenceforward he always kept the key in his pocket, but never an evening passed but he would visit the room.

People began to remark how frail and old he had suddenly grown, and some spoke to him about it.

Meanwhile, Reggie Maxwell started to read for the Bar, and enjoyed the process immensely. His father made him a handsome allowance, and, in addition, gave him various presents of money from time to time.

His evenings at home were very few and far between, and he generally spent them at the piano with Alice, or playing piquet with her.

Once or twice he took Alice out to dine, and her fresh beauty, in contrast with the jaded looks of the fashionable ladies he met, rather opened his eyes. He found himself watching her more often, and his evenings at home grew a little more frequent.

His father had never said a word about Maxwell and Son to him since the evening when he had cut himself adrift from the business. Occasionally Reggie thought of it, only to decide that his father had forgotten about it, taken by him far too lightly, and many an evening when he was supposed to be studying at Grey's Inn he was playing bridge at a club.

He began to lose more than he could afford to, until he found himself in rather a tight corner. His father had only recently given him a handsome cheque, and he did not like to go to him again so soon.

Then a friend told him of a Mr. Jacobson in the City, whose sole object in life, according to his own story, was to help young men in trouble. To him went Reggie, and asked for a loan of five hundred pounds.

"Certainly, my boy, certainly, delighted," murmured the moneylender with a greasy familiarity.

"Of course, my dear boy, there's just one leedle matter, vot security you gif me, hein?"

"I had not thought of that."

Mr. Jacobson smiled benevolently. "It is not of much account, but I like to be businesslike. Vot your father vas, hein?"

"He's Maxwell, of Maxwell and Son, in Bishopsgate Street."

"You say dat," Jacobson continued, "den dere will be no difficulty. Maxwell and Son is good enough for me."

For the first time Reggie experienced some pride in his father's business. It had not occurred to him before that Mr. Maxwell held any position, but it was obvious from Jacobson's manner that the firm of Maxwell and Son was thought very highly of in the City.

After certain formalities, by which Reggie's identity was proved, he became possessor of five hundred pounds less twenty-five for fees, and had signed adocument in which he agreed to pay back seven hundred, though he did not trouble to work it out.

That was not Reggie's last visit to Mr. Jacobson. It was such a delightfully easy way of obtaining money that he paid several more, until the moneylender pulled him up by suggesting that some of the principal should be repaid.

Reggie's reply was to request Mr. Jacobson to end his life in a particularly unpleasant manner.

But a month later, alas! he was there again.

"Ah, Mister Magswell, I was jost writing you," exclaimed the moneylender.

"Bother that, I want another two hundred pounds," rejoined Reggie.

"Den you must go elsewhere.. I lend you no more."

"Why?" demanded Reggie contemptuously. "Isn't the security good enough?"

The reply staggered him.

"No id is not. Old man Magswell is no good."

"What's that?" cried Reggie in amazement.

"I tell you Magswell and Son vill be bankrupt soon, and, before I lend you more money, I must have all back you have had." The moneylender paused and smiled cunningly as he added. "and den the security must be different."

Reggie almost reeled under the force of the blow, and without a word he strode from the office. He made his way at once to a friend on the Exchange, who took him to a man who was acquainted with Mr. Maxwell's business.

"Don't say who I am," said Reggie.

The man they went to shook his head.

"No," he said, "I am afraid Maxwell and Son are at the end of their tether.

"Mr. Maxwell is no more like he was a year ago than he is like the man in the moon. They say he had some heavy trouble, about his son, I believe; anyway he has not been the same man since. I think his son refused to join the business, and the old man took it to heart dreadfully."

But Reggie stalked out of the office as though he had heard nothing.

"Curious misnomer your friend has," remarked the man who had given the information.

"Yes, perhaps you'd have the same in his position. That's young Maxwell."

"Good heavens! Why on earth didn't you stop me?"

—Bronson" wanted him to hear. It's the first real medicine he's had, and it'll do him good."

A few minutes later, Reggie stalked into the general office of Maxwell and Son, and handed his card to a clerk.

A moment afterwards he stood in his father's room.

"Why have you come, Reggie?" asked the father.

"This is Maxwell and Son, isn't it, Dad? Well, I'm the son, and I've come to join."

And a moment later the old man's arms were round his boy, and both their eyes were wet.

Maxwell and Son is now more flourishing than ever it was. Every morning father and son drive up in the motor, and very often Mrs. Maxwell, junior (nee Alice Maxwell), accompanies them. She does not go with them now, but later on she will again, and Stephen Maxwell, junior, will go with them. He is a bonny little chap, and his grandparents are living their days over again with him.

POWDER PAPER BOOKS.

A book of powder paper is always a luxury in travelling, and one of these books, which costs but a quarter encased in a dainty linen cover or a cover of ribbon or silk, will immediately find its place among the toilet articles in the dressing bag.

Still another convenience for the traveller is a collection of small chamois lined silk or linen bags, in which to keep when not in use the coin of different countries. A tourist in these days of rapid locomotion will often cross the borders of three or four countries where different money will be needed in each place. The name of the coin should be marked on each bag, as, for example, French, German, Italian, and so on. Instead of the bags a collection of five or six tiny leather purses will make a welcome gift, but these purses should all be stamped or burned with the names of the various countries which the tourist is to visit.

PADDY SECURES A PRISONER.

After Charles O'Malley had been promoted to the lieutenancy of his regiment, he heard an officer say to his (O'Mally's) colonel:

"Ere I forget it, pray let me beg of you to look into this honest fellow's claim; he has given me no peace the entire morning."

As he spoke O'Malley turned his eyes in the direction indicated, and, to his utter consternation, beheld his own man, Mickey Free, standing among the staff; the position he occupied, and the presence he stood in, having no more perceptible effect upon his nerves than if were assisting at an Irish wake. On seeing his master, Mickey exclaimed, in a somewhat imploring tone:

"Arrah, spake for me, Master Charles, alanah, sure they might do something for me now, av it was only to make me a gauger."

Mickey's ideas of promotion thus insinuatingly put forward threw the whole party around into one burst of laughter.

"I have him down there," said he, pointing as he spoke to a thick grove of cork trees at a little distance.

"Who have you got there, Mike?" inquired an officer.

"Devil a one o' me knows his name," replied he; "may be it's Boney himself."

"And how do you know he is there still?"

"How do I know, is it? I tie him last night?"

Curiosity to find out what Mickey could possibly allude to, induced his master and a brother officer to follow him down the slope to the clump of trees mentioned. As they came near, the very distinct denunciations that issued from the thicket proved pretty plainly the nature of the affair. It was nothing less than a French officer of cavalry that Mike had unhorsed in the "melee," and wishing probably to preserve some testimony of his prowess, had made prisoner and tied fast to a cork tree the preceding evening.

"Sacrebleu!" said the poor Frenchman as we approached, "que ce sont des sauvages!"

"Av it's waking your sowl ye are," said Mike, "you're right; for maybe they won't let me keep you alive."

Mike's idea of a tame prisoner threw his master into a fit of laughing, while his companion asked:

"And what do you want to do with him, Mickey?"

"The sorra one o' me knows, for he spakes no dacent tongue. The-gium then," said he, addressing the prisoner with a poke in the ribs at the same moment; "but sure, Master Charles, he might tache me French."

There was something so irresistibly ludicrous in his tone and look as he said these words, that both the officers absolutely roared with laughter. They began, however, to feel not a little ashamed of their position in the business, and explained to the Frenchman that their worthy countryman had but little experience of the usages of war, and proceeded to unbind him and liberate him from his miserable bondage.

"It's letting him loose you are, captain! Master Charles, take care; begorra, av you had as much trouble in catching him as I had, you'd think twice about letting him out. Listen to me now,"—here he placed his closed fist within an inch of the poor prisoner's nose—"listen to me; av you say peas, by the morteal, I'll not lave a whole bone in your skin."

With some difficulty the officers persuaded Mike that his conduct, so far from leading to his promotion, might, if known in another quarter, procure him an acquaintance with the provost-marshal, a fact which it was plain to perceive ,gave him but a very poor impression of military gratitude.

"Oh, then, if they were in swarms torment me, devil receave the prisoner I'll take again."

THE LAUGHING FOUNTAIN.

A Persian Story for Canadian Children.

Althy was a dear little girl of six years old. Her mamma was dead, but her papa called her his star, and her old nurse Mermel loved her dearly, and looked after her with the tenderest care.

Althy's papa had made for his little girl a garden in which grew the loveliest flowers in the midst of which a tinkling fountain played. The fountain was the great delight of little Althy's heart; its spray was so pearl-like and the music of its falling water so light and happy. She would sit for hours watching it, and listening to her old nurse talking of her mother in paradise. One evening, when the moon hung in the sky like a great yellow pearl and the fountain tinkled even sweeter than usual, her nurse, who had also been her mother's nurse, cried: "Hark, I hear your mother laughing."

Althy listened. "It is the fountain, nurse," said she.

"Ah, yes," sighed the nurse. "It is the fountain!"

That night Althy, weeping sadly, awoke from sleep.

"What is it, heart of my heart?" inquired the nurse.

"I dreamt," said Althy, "I dreamt that my mother was dead."

The nurse, knowing not what to reply, remained silent.

Through the open window could be heard the laughing fountain.

Althy brushed away her tears.

"Ah, no," said she. "It is not so. I can hear her laughing, laughing!"

Her head dropped. She was sleeping again.

STILL ANOTHER BOMB FOUND IN LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—A bomb made of gas pipe, one and a quarter inches in diameter and 16 inches long, said by detectives in the District Attorney's Office to be filled with quarrelite, was found at the Hall of Record yesterday. It was at this place that two sticks of dynamite attached to a clock work firing device were found last September. Three men—Connors, Maple and Murder—were recently indicted by the grand jury for the alleged attempt to dynamite the structure.

INWARD CLEANING

ASSURES OUTWARD BEAUTY.

No greater mistake than to imagine that regularity is a sign of good health—it is an advantage, but if your skin is murky and your spirits dull, it is the surest sign that nature is lagging a little. Now by lagging as meant that the liver is a little lazy—the kidneys weak—the stomach failing just a little in its work. It may be a little of all three.

Just one remedy—inward cleansing with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. This removes, so to speak, a cobweb here and there, a visible sign of careless inward house-cleaning.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills insure beauty, give dainty complexion, set upon the skin, upon your spirits. Some will ask, How do Dr. Hamilton's Pills act? Why mildly, of course, but very effectively upon that great trio of health, the stomach, liver and kidneys.

To get that robust, hearty health, to have the sparkle of vigor, to look and feel always at your best, tone and regulate your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Thousands find this advice good — so will you — refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

DAIRY RECORD CENTRES.

The new extension work of the Dairy Division, Ottawa, is causing many enquiries to be made. For the benefit of our readers it may be explained that officials are now located in Peterborough, Lanark, and Oxford counties, Ontario; St. Hyacinthe and Brome, Quebec; and at Kensington, P.E.I., with a view of gathering specific information as to the exact standing of the dairy industry in the district; each such district is termed a dairy record centre. Each farmer within a certain area will be called on, and there will be obtained from him a statement as to the number of acres cultivated and in pasture, the number of cows, the type of sire, the weight of milk sent to the factory, the milk used at home, the cost of feed and so on. When these statements are compiled there will be definite and valuable information for the encouragement of other dairymen. It is intended to follow up this work closely for some years both in these and other sections.

Thererorders are paying special attention to the encouragement of cow testing in these districts; they are already collecting weights and tests of about four thousand cows, so that it is evident that a tremendous impetus is being given to cow testing by this new forward movement.

A special bulletin on cow testing is available to all applicants. Forms for recording weights of milk are supplied free by the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa. When applying state the number of cows, and whether forms are wanted for weighing daily or on only three days of each month.

ROYALTY AND GOVERNMENT.

There is an occasional suggestion in cables and letters from England, that the new Queen is a stronger personality than the new King. This would be mere idle gossip, interference with family matters that are the business of nobody outside the family, were it not for a notion that the Queen may be a factor in the government of the Empire. And this, again, need cause no uneasiness, so long as the essential principles of responsible government are borne in mind.

A British sovereign is in an exceptionally happy position. Bagehoth says he has just such a position as a wise and good man would desire to have. He is in constant touch with the statesmen chosen by the people to administer the affairs of the realm and any suggestion, advice, or warning which he may have to impart will be heard, we may be sure, with respectful attention. If a wise idea in regard to government, a plan for bettering the condition of the people, should occur to the Queen, there is not the shadow of a constitutional obstacle to her communicating it to the King, and to the King communicating it to his ministers. All that must be borne in mind is that the ultimate decision rests as the ultimate responsibility rests, with those advisers of the Crown.

Two important results flow from this system. One is that advice is likely to be judged upon its merits, not because of its source. A statesman would be weak if he deferred to advice which went counter to his own judgment. He would be foolish if he respected a given policy merely because it originated in some other person's mind. There is thus a strong probability of the good advice being accepted, and the bad rejected. Secondly, the policy is in the last analysis submitted to the people. If they do not approve of the King's advisers, they choose another set of advisers. It is true that even this last decision may not be infallible. The merit of the system is not that it works without error, but that it works. The minority, to-day, is reasonably satisfied, because it knows that it may be part of the majority to-morrow. The throne is secure, because the sovereign is never placed in the position of opposing the will of the people. These statements are elementary, but by bearing them in mind, all anxiety as to the personality of the King and Queen is dispelled.

FUTURE OF THE LORDS.

There has been a revolution in Great Britain. The veto power of the House of Lords has virtually passed away, and the composition of the ancient body is likely to be radically changed. The error which precipitated this revolution was a very common and natural error. In 1905 a House of Commons was elected, different from any that had ever met before, representing people that had never been truly represented before, voicing desires that had never been voiced before.

It was a great occasion for which the House of Lords was not prepared It was led by a respectable statesman of the old school, a Whig who had become a Tory because he stood still. It contained another man with greater imagination and insight, whose fault was a curious, Hamlet-like indecision. Lansdowne and Rosebery being so disqualified for leadership, the Lords might have taken counsel of Morely; but his party was in the minority in the House, and his driving energy was not equal to his wisdom.

The occasion called for imagination foresight and constructive work. The House of Lords allowed itself to be a mere mechanical check, a brake instead of an engine, or a dragging anchor istead of a rudder. As its power of resistance was not equal to the tremendous driving power of men like Lloyd-George, it broke down under the strain. To-day it must take courage from those reflections which Tennyson ascribes to Ulysses, Though much is take, much abides. "Some work of noble note may yet be done."

Democracy still needs leadership in the tremendous progress it is now making in the United Kingdom. There is no reason why that leadership should not be found, in part, in the House of Lords. It has the advantage of leisure, no inconsiderable advantage in an age of haste. The House of Commons is overburdened with business. The fact that the mechanical check of the Lords is weakened does not detract from the value of discussion. Wisdom and statesmanship, if the Lords possess them can make themselves heard; and they may be heard with more acceptance if the friction caused by applying the mechanical check is removed.

The veto of the Crown has long since been virtually abandoned; yet the power of the Crown has not gone.

No one denies the influence of Queen Victoria or of King Edward; and the present Sovereign has equal opportunities of influence. The House of Lords, if it is to retain a measure of usefulness and power, must study the history of the Crown, and the influence that resides in consultation and deliberation, as distinct from that of recording a vote upon a division.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING

MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

To the men of good judgment,—these questions do not require an answer.

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest City in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances; and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

IS YOUR MONEY IDLE?

Dormant Wealth is useless. Gold hidden in the corner cupboard is WASTING ITS TIME, just as surely as the sluggard is wasting his life. In these strenuous days of commercial activity every dollar should be made to work. ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING ALL THE TIME?

Of course YOU have no lazy money. But have you a bank balance that is just vegetating, making a paltry three cents interest on the dollar once in twelve months, three dollars on the hundred, thirty on the thousand?

Don't let your money ape the sluggard. Make it WORK. Opportunity is knocking at your door right now, and I am guiding Opportunity. It is worth your while reading this advertisement carefully. You cannot lose by it; you stand to gain a just deal.

Fruit Farms in British Columbia are my specialty. I have devoted many years to a close study of the soil and the climatic conditions of the Fraser River Valleys I will not handle property that is not ABSOLUTELY A. 1., no matter what the inducement may be. When you deal with W. J. KERR, LTD., you deal with a reliable firm.

If you have never been to British Columbia, you can have but a slight idea of the wonderful and steady increase in land values. The price of yesterday is doubled to-day, to-day's price will quadrupted to-morrow, for the upward movement has only just commenced. The wealth of a province is behind this steady movement.

Six years ago I sold land on the Westminster-Vancouver electric car line for $100 per acre. To-day it sells for from $2000 to $6000 an acre.

Two years ago I sold land in Peachgrove for $100 an acre. You could not buy that same land to-day for less than $2000 per acre.

I have just picked these two instances at random, but they will suffice to show you the enormous increase in values in the past. THE PROFITS OF THE PAST WILL NOT BE A CIRCUMSTANCE TO THE PROFITS OF THE FUTURE. Do you wish to share in these profits? Of course you do.

Investment in good real estate is as safe as a deposit in the Bank of England. There is no better real estate than in the Fraser River Valley.

I have the biggest list of properties in this district, and the prices at which I offer these is always a little lower than the other fellow. That is how I gained my reputation.

I am now placing a Fruit Land Subdivision on the market. This is parcelled into five-acre tracts, close to two railway lines and with splendid roads leading to the property. The Water Supply gushes up in a never-lessening stream from a well 320 feet deep, and can be piped to every house in the subdivision.

This Fruit Land is only a few miles from the city of Westminster, which boasts the greatest farmers' market in Western Canada. Here all products of the soil command a quick and remunerative sale. There is no over-supply; the coast cities are growing fast and consume a great deal more than the surrounding country now produces.

The figure at which I am placing this on the market will increase tremendously in the next few years, and in the meantime the land will pay for itself over and over again with the bumper crops it will produce. Let me send you full details of this remarkable offer. Drop me a line to-day—right now while the matter is fresh in your mind.

Because the intended bride refused to give her correct age, an elopement from Chico, California, to Sacramento was a failure. At the County Clerk's office the couple asked for a license and the young man gave all necessary details regarding himself, saying also he was twenty-seven years old. When the Clerk asked the girl her age she replied demurely "more than twenty-one." The Clerk insisted on her exact age and she declared it was unnecessary for him to be so exacting. Four times the couple returned to argue with the Clerk before he closed his office. Then they left.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gazetted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 20 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Masset Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 52 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

OUR CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

TO-DAY'S TRICK FOR THE SUPPER TABLE.

Tell him you can make a quarter stick to the wall without using glue or anything else.

If he feels like arguing the matter, ask him if he will give you a quarter if you can make it stick to the wall. When he "bites" take the quarter and stand it flat against a smooth surface of wood—say the bookcase or a door panel—pressing it hard with a downward sliding motion, against the wood. Take your hand away and the coin will stick tightly.

The striking and pressing expel the air between the coin and the wood, forming a vacum which will hold the millionaire's dollar or Johnny's penny just alike.

BOY CAN MAKE.

Some Descriptions of Useful Articles for Camping.

Many boys look forward to going into camp as soon as school is closed, taking for their camping grounds some piece of woods or small island near their homes. It is also good fun to set up a camp in the back yard if one's parents do not wish to have one go away. Boys who are interested in this sort of good time will find it a good plan to start soon to make some of the necessary articles of the camp equipment. A boy reader has sent to this page some descriptions of articles which are useful for campers and which may be made at a very small cost or without any cost at all.

To make a camp lantern take a can and puncture it. A small block of wood may be hollowed out to make a holder for the candle. The block of wood is set inside the pail and the light shines through. This pail may also be used for carrying small fish or bait.

Another lantern is made of a glass jar which has a tin cover. Puncture holes in the cover and make a basket for the candle of wire which is twisted around so as to hold the candle, as shown in the picture. There are two long strands of wire which come up through the lid and form a handle for the lantern.

A camp warmer and cook stove may be made of a pail.

The article to be cooked may be put in a covered pail and then covered with hot coals. To make an oven fill the pail with hot coals. The articles to be roasted may be placed on top of these coals.

ASOF AND HIS PONY.

An Arabian Story for Canadian Children.

Asof loved his pony Selim very dearly. He used to whisper in his ear that when he grew to be a man he would buy him a string of the loveliest pearls to hang around his neck and feed him on rose sugar drops. One day Asof's uncle came to see Asof and brought him a box of sweetmeats of most beautiful colors and shapes, 25 in all.

"Have a good time with these candies," said he. He knew his little nephew had a sweet tooth, and the sugar roses, violets and lilies were made of the purest creamed sugar.

Asof nodded his head.

"I will have the best of times," said he. "I will eat five candies myself and feed the rest to Selim."

"To Selim!" echoed his uncle.

"Yes, to Selim!" merrily laughed Asof, and off he scampered to have a good time with his pony.

AN AFTER SUPPER THUNDER "STORM."

Here's some homemade, individually applied thunder that will outthunder old Vulcan himself. You can produce it on nights when there isn't a cloud in the sky—right in the house, and only one person at a time will hear it.

Place a piece of string around the other fellow's head, taking care that his hands cover his ears. Then cause the string to vibrate by drawing the moistened finger and thumb along the string.

The effect will be that of a rolling peal of thunder, audible only to the person operated upon.

INSECTS TOOLS.

There is a little fly called a sawfly, because it has a saw to work with. The fly uses it to make places where the eggs will be safe. What is more strange it has a sort of home-made glue which fastens them where they are laid.

Some insects have cutting instruments that work just as scissors do. The poppy-bee is one of them, whose work is wonderful. This bee has a boring-tool, too. Its nest is usually made in old wood. This borer cleans out the nest for use. When all is ready, the insect cuts out pieces of leaves to line the nest and to make the cells. These linings are cut in the shape of the cells. You would be surprised to see the care taken to have every piece just the right size.

FUN FOR FRIVOLOUS FROLICS.

Seated in a circle you begin to count, passing rapidly from one to the next but instead of saying "seven" the player says "Buz" which must be repeated at 14, 21 and each multiple of seven; also instead of five or any multiple of five, take 10, 15, etc., the player must say "Bang." A forfeit must be paid each time one fails to "Buz" or "Bang" at the right time.

Through the repeal of the manning order, the 60,000 dogs of Greater Berlin went unmuzzled on May 1st, for the first time in many years.

SOME REMARKABLE INSURANCE.

Lloyds Underwriters Will Take All Kinds of Risks.

Some remarkable underwriting business in fancy risks have been done by Lloyd's in connection with the coronation. Large insurances have been effected by traders whose interests are bound up with the coronation, and ten per cent has been paid to cover a claim should the ceremony not take place before the end of the year. In one or two cases policies have been taken out on the joint lives of the King and Queen until the end of the year, at the rate of four guineas per cent, whilst a "Royal Family" risk has been negotiated, insuring the lives of the King and the Queen and their children for the same period, the premium in this instance being ten guineas per cent. A possible change of route for the coronation procession has also come within the speculative scope, though the premiums are small.

To pay a loss if there is a general election before March 31, 1912, twenty-five guineas per cent is quoted, and five per cent has been accepted to cover the payment of a claim should Mr. Lloyd George become prime minister on or before December 31 next. This risk has been written several times, but the amounts involved are not large.

The next budget has also been the basis of speculative business of this nature at Lloyd's.

The last rate quoted to pay a loss in the event of the duty on sugar being abolished was twenty guineas per cent, whilst several policies to cover a reduction in the tea duty have been taken out at twenty-five guineas per cent, the equivalent premium for coffee and cocoa being thirty-five guineas per cent. The possibility of an increase in the cost of licenses is apparently considered remote, seeing that a policy for this risk can be got at twenty per cent.

By far the largest amount of speculation has, however, been done in connection with the income tax, and a rate as high as fifty guineas per cent has been charged on a policy to pay a total loss only in the event of no alteration being made in the present charges.

THE CHOICE OF DEATH.

Condemned Murderers Prefer Shooting to Hanging.

Why do condemned murderers prefer shooting in preference to hanging? Since the State of Utah passed a law giving convicts this choice, Arthur Pratt, warden of the Utah State prison, has not had one who would go to the gallows. On one occasion a murderer refused to make a choice, and the judge sentenced him to be hanged.

"Utah has a law which allows a condemned murderer to choose either hanging or shooting as a mode of dying," said Warden Pratt. "This work is done by the sheriffs of each county, but in the penitentiary yard. So far we have not had a man who has chosen hanging. Once a murderer refused to make a choice, and the judge sentenced him to be hanged. Shooting is the more humane. It is painless and instantaneous. The condemned man is led to the prison yard, seated on a chair, and, if he desires, is blindfolded. Five men armed with rifles are then marched to within ten paces of the man. Four of the rifles contain ball cartridges. The fifth has a blank shell. A target is pinned over the heart of the condemned man, all five guards take careful aim, and at a signal the volley is fired. The ordeal is over in a few moments, whereas in hanging the suspense and suffering last for many minutes."

THE VAGRANTS' HOME.

Windows Used by Loafers to Help Them Out.

"Got any home?" said the judge to a man who had been brought in on the charge of vagrancy.

"Sure I have."

"Where is it?"

The man named a street and number.

"Your Honour," volunteered a clerk, "that ain't a house; it's a mission."

"Well, call them up, anyway," said the judge, "and see if they know anything about him."

They did not know anything, but the missionary said he would come right down and see what could be done.

"It is not an unusual case," he said. "Our mission is 'home' to many a man whom we never even heard of until he gets arrested. If a man who has been sent to us a hopeless derelict can mention some address which he can call home his sentence is apt to be lighter. Lots of outcasts have been on the tramp so long that it is hard for them to think of any place they are intimate enough with to call it home, but through an occasional friend in hope they remember the number and brazenly sing it out. Courtroom attendants communicate with us and ask our advice. Naturally we recommend even though the men are perfect strangers. Some of them seem hopeless wrecks, but now and then we discover a man who has good stuff in him still and is capable of developing into a useful citizen."

MIGHT BE CAPT. COOK.

Young Borup Writes a Book in Slang.

When Commander Peary took George Borup, a graduate of Yale, on his last polar trip, he added a live one to his party. Young Borup, only twenty-three years old, was the handicapper of the crew. Members of the expedition say that no night was too dark for Borup fun-making.

Since his return to America, Borup has written a book entitled "A Tenderfoot With Peary." He writes mostly in slang, but his story is perhaps the most interesting, popularly, that has ever been written of the arctic regions. Whatever young Borup had to do he did in a spirit of fun.

For instance, when Commander Peary set him to work at photography, Borup made his work doubly interesting by applying a spirit of humor.

SISTERS OF ST. ANNE WILL BE PROSECUTED.

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 23.—The Provincial Board of Health announced this morning that they had decided to prosecute the Sisters of St. Anne, of St. Jerome Convent, who allowed forty three pupils to depart for their homes after a case of smallpox had been discovered in the convent and they learning had been placed under quarantine. Over one hundred cases of smallpox of the severest type are now developed, and it is feared that the scattering of these pupils over the province will cause an epidemic throughout the Province.

WANTS $10,000 FOR A TIP.

For Giving Information About Big Property in Bronx.

Thirteen years ago, on a New York park bench, Thomas Corrigan told Patrick Goff about unclaimed property in the Bronx that belonged to a cousin, Henry Goff, who had been drowned leaving no immediate heirs.

On the strength of the tip, Goff got possession of property worth $200,000. Corrigan is now suing for $10,000, which he says Goff promised him. Goff says he never promised any such thing, but gave Corrigan $60.

REAL GOLD BRICKS.

Kiln Erected on Ancient Gold Mine in India.

Gold bricks, real ones, may be the means of restoring the ancient fame of Golconda, near Hyderabad, in southern India, once known all the world over for its gold mines, but now a decayed city. The natural pits from which many centuries ago the precious metal was extracted have in course of time filled up with water. A contractor recently obtained permission to make bricks near the place and ten kilns were erected. The first finished bricks assumed curiosity by their yellowish tint, and analysis proved that they contained gold dust. On the basis of the yield of the sample bricks, the ten kilns will aggregate in weight about 12,587 pounds of gold worth over $54,000,000. The site of the find belongs to the Nizam, or native ruler.

IF!

A credulous man was the census enumerator.

When Brawney the blacksmith declared he was 60, he believed him, despite the blacksmith's robust appearance, for robust blacksmiths seldom show their age.

When Susan the spinster declared she was 32, he believed her also, despite her crowsmarks and greying hairs(for spinsters do not care to show their age, either.

But when Isaac the Miet wrote the figures 120 under the heading "Father, if living," the Census enumerator rubbed his nose doubtfully, and thought this was a little too much.

"You don't mean to say," he exclaimed, "that your father is really 120 years old?"

"No o' course 'e ain't!" retorted Isaac complacently. "But 'e would 'a' been if livin'."

Her Habit.

"What do you think the young wife of old Moneybags has developed into? She is always crossing or recrossing the ocean. She certainly keeps the transatlantic line busy."

You know, she was formerly a telephone girl.

Swat That Fly.

The transmission of disease by the fly is no longer a mere theory, but is a truth that has been scientifically established.

Keep the flies out of your house. Get screens for the doors and the windows. Be on guard all the time.

Keep screens over articles of food. Don't let flies get near the pantry, kitchen or dining-room.

Be doubly careful about keeping flies out of the sick-room. They are likely not only to bring complications of new diseases, but to carry the invalid's disease to many others.

Those who put in their screens promptly will be taking the best precaution against having disease germs introduced into their homes by flies.

There is more health in a house well screened than in many a doctor's visit.

About 50 metals have been discovered in the last 200 years by chemist explorers, but most have been found for only a few of them.

Recent explorations indicate that China has coal fields containing more fuel than those of all other countries in the world combined.

BAN AGAINST LONG SKIRTS.

German Minister of Railways Forbids Women Wearing Them on Board Cars.

Berlin, June 20.—The Minister of Railways instructed all station masters and train guards to refuse permission for any woman whose fashion projects dangerously to board a train unless she removes the fashion. The order is part of a general campaign against the new silhouette now carried on here against the fashion peril. The directors of the Berlin street car and subway lines recently issued an order forbidding the wearing of long fashion to be conspicuously posted in every car.

SHOT A BEAR

Morrison's Good Aim While Riding on a Moose's Back

A man named Morrison who resides near Oyster River, N.B., declares that he shot a bear which was riding on the back of a moose. Whether the bear had deliberately attacked the moose, slipped from a tree by accident as the moose was passing underneath or jumped upon the animal in cheering the chase, the sportsman was unable to say, but he declares he shot the animal as the moose was carrying him across country at a thrash recently observed from the centre of the river. The shot was sufficient to kill the bear and the moose then galloped inside of a record circle.

QUEBEC IS FORTUNATE

Great G.T.P. Railway Shops to be Stationed There

The greatest railway workshops in Canada outside of Winnipeg will be erected within a few miles of Quebec city in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific, according to Mr. E. H. Parent, chairman of the Transcontinental Commission. The plans of the proposed workshops are now extensive. It was announced that tenders would be called for the grading of the new section of the Grand Trunk Pacific in Quebec at the end of May, and the tenders for the work should be called for as soon as details had been arranged.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said :

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-so-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

JERUSALEM'S PUBLIC OVENS.

One Cave-like Vaults Running Below Street Level.

There are public bakeries in Jerusalem. The dough is kneaded at home and carried in great lumps to the public ovens. These are to be found in almost every street. They are cave-like vaults, running down below the street level. At the back of each vault is the oven, with a sort of well before its open door. In the well stands the baker, with a long paddle in his hand, upon which he puts in and takes out the loaves.

The oven floor is marked out in blocks, so that the baking of each family is put on a separate block. The loaves, which are about an inch thick, are of the size of a tea plate and have a hole in the centre. The baker takes them from the dough, bakes them, and returns them hot from the oven to the customer. He receives two cents for each half dozen loaves, or he may instead take a toll of one loaf for each dozen. Before starting to bake he greases the floor of the oven with olive oil.

NEW PARAGRAPHS.

Electric carpets are the latest invention for the heating of rooms, the cost for one room being estimated at a halfpenny an hour.

In Corea marriage is even more important and essential for a man than it is for a woman, as, until a man be wed, he is a being of no account. If a father has not poisoned wives for his sons are they reach the age of twenty he is considered worthless and neglectful.

Mr. Elias Taylor, parish clerk of Halsted, has retired on reaching the age of ninety, after fifty-one years of service. During his term of office he daily ascended the church tower to wind the clock. He discharged that duty 18,500 times, and climbed 30 miles of stairs.

Although, no doubt, every railway company would gladly convey His Majesty and the Queen free of charge, our rulers pay exactly the same price as anybody else for a special train, in addition to the first-class fare of every passenger by whom they may be accompanied in their respective suites.

Mr. Grahame-White has undertaken to deliver cinematograph films of the Coronation by aeroplane to Birmingham, Bristol and Rugby. Immediately the pictures have been taken they will be developed and placed upon aeroplanes at Hendon, whence they will be transported by air to other destination.

CARUSO'S COLD COSTS DEAR.

It is announced that Signor Caruso will shortly leave for Italy, where he hopes to benefit by a complete rest and change of air, the physicians having forbidden him to sing this season. The loss sustained by the great tenor through what was in the first place regarded as an ordinary slight cold is estimated at about $16,000, as he has been compelled to refrain from singing for a period of twelve weeks.

TO STOP HAT LIFTING.

To put a stop to hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realizes that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at Lewes' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the case of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

As Bees in France.

"Some years ago," writes a well-known motorist, "I was being driven by a French friend of my acquaintance. He is as careful over his personal expenditure as he is reckless in his Panhard. I did not like the combination, but it is best to be tolerant to foreigners. Passing through a village near St. Albans we encountered a hen. She was stalking across the road like a conspirator one moment, and dead the next. She never knew what struck her. Adolphe, which is my friend's name, pulled up.

"'It is useless to go to her assistance,' said I.

"But Adolphe jumped out of the car and went. I thought it very kind of him. He picked up the dead bird and came running back.

"'Helas! she is not young,' he panted. 'But she will do well for au coup, au feuilleau de poulet, tres delicat.'

"'Good heavens, you're not going to take her home?'

"'Mais certainement! Here she would be wasted. It is as we do in France. Vive la chasse!'

"I had heard that motorists were not popular in the French villages. From that day I have understood."

Will Try Stepmother for Injuring Child.

Toronto, June 24.—That Lilly Hasenbury was tied by a tree in front of her home in Whitby for a day, and that her stepmother will be tried on a charge of inflicting bodily injury on the child, was a statement made this morning by Crown Attorney Farewell of Ontario County over long-distance telephone.

Lilly with two other small children ran away from her home in Whitby and came to Toronto, where she was found going the rounds of charitable societies and telling tales of ill-treatment. With her were two other smaller children. This morning Chief of Whitby Police Jamieson left for Toronto to take the girl back to give evidence against her stepmother.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been 35 years in Parliament. He first entered the Quebec Legislature in 1871, being returned from the constituency of Arthabasca. He was there re-elected in 1874. Three years later he entered the Cabinet, with the Portfolio of Inland Revenue, but was defeated by a small majority, upon presenting himself for re-election. Quebec East then returned him. This constituency has been Sir Wilfrid's ever since.

Upon the successive retirements of Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Edward Blake in 1887, our present Premier, became leader of the Liberal and then Opposition Party. When it came into power in 1896, he naturally became Prime Minister, which position he has so honorably held for such a long period.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was born on Nov. 20 at St. Lin in the county of Assomption. Here his father practiced his profession of land surveyor. His mother's maiden name was Marcelle Martineau. Sir Wilfrid being the only child. She died soon after his birth. In 1868 the Premier was married to Miss Zoe Lafontaine of Montreal.

As a man is the product of his education, let us consider what has aided in producing Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The motherless boy attended school in his native parish till the age of twelve. He was then sent to the Protestant School at New Glasgow for a year. Here he imbibed the first draughts of his splendid broadmindedness. From this school he went to L'Assomption College, remaining seven years. In 1861 he matriculated into McGill and graduated in law, being the valedictorian of his class.

No man in Canadian public life has received more attention at the hands of political calumniators. In forty years, however, no opponent has been so base as to utter a slander which touched his personal honor, the purity of his private life, or the righteousness of his character.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

CANADIANS AND THE STAGE.

Since the Governor-General instituted dramatic and musical competitions in this country, culture of the two great arts has made great strides and there is no doubt but that in the near future stars will arise to do credit to Canada, but our great actress, Margaret Anglin, was born before the days of inducement. This great exponent of the drama was born in that centre of political strife—the House of Commons—when her father was speaker in 1876. After a good education in Toronto and Montreal she entered the School of Dramatic Acting, of New York, making her professional debut at the early age of eighteen. Since then she has had many triumphs taking leading parts with E. H. Southern, Richard Mansfield and Henry Miller.

Are You Using An Oily Liniment?

Beware of Any Thick, Greasy Liniment That Contains Acids and Strong Ammonia.

No doctor would think of prescribing a greasy, thick, ammonia liniment—they can't penetrate and in consequence are unable to reach the source of pain. The best liniment for general household use is "Nerviline," which is sold under positive guarantee to cure pain.

Nerviline is sure to cure pain because it is immensely stronger than other liniments, because it is more penetrating, because it relieves the congested condition that excites pain, because it restores circulation of the part. Now you understand why one person in three throughout the Dominion of Canada uses Nerviline. These people have tested it. They know how good it is, because in the hundred and one minor ailments that afflict us at all times they found Nerviline always cured. Nerviline is an absolute antidote to pain, powerful, sopthing, and certain in its action.

Nerviline is inestimably the finest remedy for pain found in the world. Not an ache or pain anywhere that Nerviline does not cure.

Try Nerviline for Neuralgia, headache, sciatica, lumbago, stiffness, rheumatism—wherever there is a soreness or pain, rub on Nerviline and you'll be cured. Refuse anything offered you instead of Nerviline, large 25c bottles, five for $1.00. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of every ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WHY GO TO ALASKA TO INVEST IN OIL?

During the past month we have been presenting to the readers of The Morning Times, and the public in general, an offer which for SAFETY and CERTAINTY OF RESULTS in the form of DIVIDENDS and ENORMOUS PROFITS is well nigh UNPRECEDENTED.

In Southwest Colorado, in Montezuma County, near Mancos, nature has placed RICH OIL FIELDS which promise to be the cause of the MOST STUPENDOUS BOOM COLORADO HAS HAD SINCE THE EARLY GOLD DAYS.

We own and control 8,500 acres of land in this section which experts assure us are positively gusher producing properties,

We have bought and paid for all the machinery necessary for drilling. We do not owe one cent. If you invest with us you have behind your investment not only enormous land values but machinery the value of which is fully $8,000.

For the ordinary investor this would be security enough but we have made the safest investment proposition that ever was offered, for, besides these rich Mancos Oil Fields we also own 2,560 acres in the proven oil field of San Juan, Utah; also 1,920 acres in the Great Montezuma District of Colorado, and fifty acres of rich mining ground in the La Plata District, for which we have been offered Ten Thousand Dollars spot cash.

Investments in the stock of our Company participate in the profits of all these properties. The Mancos Oil and Development Company promises to and will give the public a "square deal." Every acre of oil land and mining property which it owns or will acquire belongs to its stockholders.

MR. BURT H. MASON, the president and organizer of the Company, is a mining engineer of enviable reputation the officers of the Company are well-known business men and bankers of Southwestern Colorado. If any misrepresentation has been made we guarantee to return every dollar you pay us and all expenses to which you may have been put for investigation.

The price of stock is Twenty-five Cents a share, which can be paid on monthly instalments if desired. If further information be desired it will be cheerfully given.

Our reference is The First National Bank of Mancos, Colorado. Address and make checks payable, CATCH BASIN WANTED.

Ald. Bradburn offered that were a catch basin constructed on George street in front of Ohe's store, the overflow of surface water at the corner of George and Simcoe streets would be eliminated. Yesterday afternoon the sidewalk at this corner was flooded level with the collar of Payne's drug store, and was only relieved in the nick of time.

Ald. Metheral replied that the trouble lay in the catch basin available being clogged, and when same was raised the water found egress into the sewer.

Ald. Bradburn—"That's all right, but supposing a storm occurs in the middle of the night, when no one is around to raise the catch basin? In such an event Payne's cellar would be flooded and the city would be up against a suit for damages. I think another catch basin would relieve the situation."

THE CITY CLOCK STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

During yesterday afternoon's severe thunderstorm a streak of lightning was attracted to the town clock and the four uprights which hold up the canopy over the clock suffered the most. Two of these were badly splintered while a third suffered a slight displacement. The report of the collision could be heard very distinctly, the noise being that of a ripping or cracking sound, which followed immediately after the lightning was seen. Several pieces of something were found over the sidewalk and road as evidence of the force of the [illegible].

Several trees on telegraph poles were also struck by the lightning. At the [illegible] time as the city clock was struck transformers in front of White and Gillespie's grocery store were damaged. A five-inch piece of porcelain was blown out and smashed on the pavement below.

Lightning also struck the residence of Mrs. Quinn, on Burnham street, putting a hole through the roof and shattering the chimney.

MR. WEST'S OPINION.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The only decree the Pope can ever make that will place his name on the list of world peace makers, is the decree that all priests must marry. They should a splendid body of men [illegible] condemned to live a life of celibacy, [illegible] banished from the love of a good woman and loving children—in a word [illegible] banished from society!. With all its pomp and show, their life is a miserable one, according to the opinion of Dr. Laithamond, the great physician. He says that [illegible] over lived a life of celibacy was by nature incomplete. He also says, all men that try to [illegible] get weak-minded. A proof [illegible] is a look at our gaols and asylums. They are full of [illegible]—a class of men that have [illegible] or a woman or children. They [illegible] than beasts. [illegible] commit crime to please their own selfish side of life. I am sure every right thinking man has sympathy for the men that have to live a life of celebacy. The time has come when the law of every civilized country should compel every priest and person to be married men. That would end all trouble about mixed marriages and all bitter feelings over religion.

EFFECT OF "HIGHER CRITICISM"
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Sixteen Protestant converts were received into the Roman Catholic Church here by Bishop O'Connor last Sunday. This is but the beginning. It is the same everywhere. Do not we realize that Protestantism is going down in numbers, not up, and that this every-man-his-own-prophet style of interpreting the Bible is driving those who want a sure and certain hope as a basis of religious belief, away from their various churches? The present day was well chosen by the Church of Rome for its new decree against free Protestantism. It looks as if the great fabric of Protestantism was about to collapse and there's no good in ignoring plain and admitted facts and statistics. ? Ge: busy. From a religious point of view the sects had at least a sure foundation in an infallible Book, but now they have kicked that away from under them and it looks as if they were to be left hanging to the beam in the barn. It was one thing to proclaim to listening congregations that the Book said so-and-so, but it is another thing to contradict that Book in its plain meaning. We charge Catholics with credulity, but Higher Criticism looks as if it thought Protestants were credulous also. The shadow of an eclipse in its first stage—Watch it as it travels across the face of the religious world.

FISK PAID THE DEATH PENALTY

Calgary, June 27.—Protesting his innocence to the last, John Fisk was hanged at the Mounted Police Barracks here at four minutes past six this morning for the murder of Tucker Pooch, a rancher of Okotoks, May 16th, 1910. T. M. Robertson, whose confession implicated Fisk, will hang July 20th. The murder was traced by some cotton batting in the head of the victim which was found in the Bow River. Fisk came here from Bruce County, Ontario.

Fined $5 or Ten Days.

Fred Manning was fined $5 in the Police Court yesterday for flourishing a revolver in a hotel last night. It appears that Manning, who was on the blacklist, went into a hotel and asked for some liquor and upon being refused drew a revolver and flourished it in the air, and ordered up his drink. He was arrested and brought to the Police Station. He was fined $5 or ten days in jail. He had not the filthy lucre, so he climbed the hill.

F. D. KERR NOMINATED FOR EAST PETERBORO

Mr. E. Hawthorne, of Dunnger, to Run for the Local Legislature

The East Peterborough Liberal Convention took place at Norwood, yesterday, there being about 150 delegates present. The chair was occupied by Mr. Wm. Beck, president of the association.

After routine business, nominations for candidates for the House of Commons took place. The following gentlemen were nominated:

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.
Wm. Beck, Norwood.
F. D. Kerr, Peterborough.
R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., Peterborough.

Messrs. Stratton and Beck retired, and a ballot was taken between Messrs. Kerr and Hall, as follows:

Mr. Kerr	104
Mr. Hall	97

Mr. Kerr's nomination was then made unanimous, and that gentleman accepted the honor conferred on him in a short speech.

Short addresses were also made by the other nominees.

The nomination of Mr. Kerr came as a surprise to the general public, who assumed that Mr. Hall would be chosen.

It appears that objection is likely to be taken into the way the votes were counted. Mr. John Lush, ex-M.P., entered them the delegates represented, claiming the credentials were not presented. Otonabee, for instance was entitled to 26 delegates, only eight of whom were present. This was agreed to with the above result. The friends of Mr. Hall, therefore, are demanding another convention, and threaten to bolt if this is not arranged. It is therefore, not unlikely that the nomination may be reconsidered on the ground that it does not represent the feelings or intentions of the majority of the delegates.

Mr. E. Hawthorne was nominated as the party's candidate for the local Legislature.

Lima, O., June 27.—A duel in the air between aviator rivals for a girl's hand will be the feature of the one-day aviation meet here to-day.

Two of the aviators, Jack Bachelor and Bert Chambers, have been laying seige to the heart of Miss Dorothy Dale of Tiffin, O.

Miss Dale refused to choose between them and at a recent meet in that city made a trip into the clouds with both. Now she has promised to make her decision here and intimates that she will accept the one that makes the highest altitude record during the day.

FIRE CHIEF MUST CONSULT F. W. AND L. COM. BEFORE ENGAGING AND DISCHARGING MEN

BY-LAW TO THAT EFFECT WAS PASSED LAST NIGHT.

The City Fathers, However, Set on the Narrow Edge of Repealing the Measure Immediately After Its Passage. The Mayor, Ald. Bradburn and Anderson Say the Action is a Great Mistake.

A by-law to govern the Fire Department, prepared by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, was submitted to the Council last night by Ald. Morgan, and passed as read.

One clause, however, provides that before discharging or engaging men, the Chief must first get the approval of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and although the measure passed, the Council was why, for that the principle established in this clause is wrong and liable to create considerable friction. In fact, it looked at one time as though the by-law would be repealed immediately after its adoption. All the committee, even the "Czar"—judging from their countenances took very seriously, His Worship's earnest warning that they had committed a grave mistake.

The clause practically taking away from the Fire Chief the control of his men, reads, "The Chief will have authority, with the approval of the Fire, Water and Light Committee first obtained to employ and discharge any member of the department." This was taken exception to by the Mayor, Ald. Anderson and Bradburn with Aldermen Brown and Duncan sitting on the fence.

His Worship, Aldermen Anderson and Bradburn contended that the Chief should have absolute power in the way of discharging and employing men, otherwise he would lose control of the department.

Ald. Bradburn offered that were the clause in question to carry, any man could defy the Chief and acknowledge no authority but that of the committee, with whom he might have a "pull." This would demoralize the brigade.

Ald. Brown did not like the idea of endangering the Chief's full authority in his department; still he wished some words inserted in the clause that would bring the committee and Chief together on the questions of engaging and discharging men.

Ald. Duncan endorsed these sentiments.

Moved by Ald. Anderson, seconded by Ald. Bradburn.—That the words, "with the approval of the Fire, Water and Light Committee first obtained," be struck out.

In the course of renewed discussion on this question Ald. Morgan remarked that the Committee's object was to bring the Chief and themselves together on a better footing in the future than perhaps they had been in the past.

The Mayor replied that the clause would have a contrary effect.

Ald. Graham thought the clause necessary, as two many men had been engaged in and discharged from the fire hall. The Committee should have some control.

The Mayor pointed out that the Council had always authority over the department. They could demand the discharge of any undesirable man as evidenced by recent action. Then the city is paying better wages now and a better class of men is being secured.

Ald. Metheral did not like the principle involved in the clause; but some new policy was imperative as men were walking in and out of the hall like children at school.

Ald. Morgan offered that the by-law would be found to work satisfactorily, both to the Chief and the Council. Following clauses provided for that.

Ald. Duncan asked that the clause in question be laid over until the whole measure had been read. Accepting Ald. Morgan's advice, following clauses might justify him in voting for the clause under debate. At present, however, he felt like supporting Ald. Anderson's motion.

Ald. Brown wanted the by-law referred back to the committee.

Ald. Anderson here pressed his motion, and it was defeated, being supported only by the Mayor, Ald. Anderson, and Bradburn.

The by-law was here read throughout and adopted, the clause in discussion remaining as read.

The Mayor here reiterated his unqualified opinion that the taking away from the Chief absolute authority in engaging and dismissing was a deplorable mistake. "If you have not confidence in the Chief dismiss him, but the Chief, whoever he may be, should be allowed full control over his department. I don't think you could get a good man to take charge of the fire department controlled by such a by-law."

Ald. Duncan—"I would not myself, unless I had absolute control."

Ald. Brown—"Nor I."

The Mayor—"You both voted for the measure."

Ald. Duncan—"The vote would have been different had the objectionable clause been held over till the whole by-law had been voted, as I wanted."

Ald. Brown—"I asked that the by-law be referred back to committee."

The Mayor—"Well, you can repeal the by-law."

Everyone here looked serious—very much so.

The Mayor—"Well, what is your pleasure."

Ald. Morgan—"Let it stand a week or two and you'll find it works out all right."

His Worship here waited a few moments, and then declared the by-law carried.

A funny part of the proceedings was that Ald. Anderson, in a fit of meditation—perhaps on the park question for East Peterborough—voted for the by-law in its third reading.

6,000 GUESTS AT GARDEN PARTY

Largest Function of the Kind Ever Held in the Buckingham Palace Grounds—Dainty Summer Costumes.

London, June 27.—"The King's afternoon party," as the Coronation garden party at Buckingham Palace this afternoon is officially designated, was the largest affair of the kind ever held in the spacious grounds of their Majesties' London residence.

No less than 6,000 guests had been summoned and all the women were in the daintiest of summer costumes, the gardens of the fifty acres presented a charming picture. A bright sun favored the festival and the great groves and the multi-colored flower beds with a large lake in the centre looked their best.

INSPECTED THE GROUNDS.

Brightly painted barges, manned by the King's boatmen in scarlet gold liveries lent a touch of earlier days to the scene. Temporary structures had been erected on the lawns and bands of music were stationed through the gardens.

King George and Queen Mary with their Royal guests and escorted by great officers of State toured the grounds in procession during the afternoon, the other guests forming avenues as the Imperial party approached.

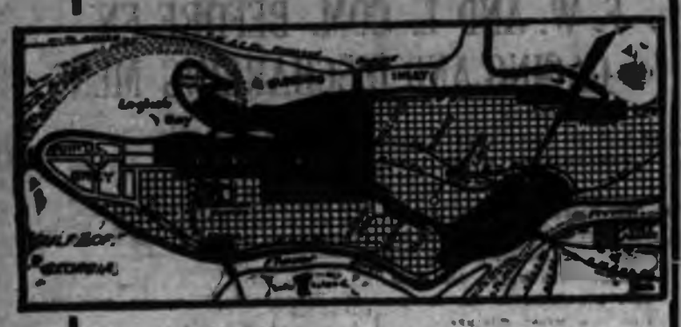
Note the Peninsula Upon Which the Cities of Vancouver and New Westminster are Being Built



No other place compares so nearly with Manhattan Island upon which the City of New York is situated, the highest priced real estate in the world.

With the sea on the Vancouver side and the Fraser River on the other, the two cities are not spreading out in all directions, but are growing towards each other several times faster on that account.

Because it is possible to work or do business in either city, this is where the greatest growth is taking place and this is where values are advancing most rapidly.

Vancouver's city limits have now been extended out to Central Park. The distance between the two city limits is about 4 miles but the building outline between the two is only about 3 miles and even this is being rapidly filled up with homes.

It is estimated that 300 new residents arrive daily and that at least 50 new houses must be erected daily to fill the demand.

Last year the actual increase in the assessed value of property on this peninsula was over fifty million dollars. This year it will be much more because almost double the amount is being expended in development.

We do not believe there is any other real estate in Canada which will make as much for the investor and be continually advancing in value.

Our property is situated directly in the course of fastest growth between the cities where arrow points.

One and a half million dollars has been raised for streets, sidewalks, waterworks, etc., in this immediate vicinity.

We guarantee every lot we sell to be on high level ground. Most of it on main car lines.

We guarantee an indefeasible title direct from the British Columbia Government.

THE LOVER IN THE AIR

By Desmond Meehan

I.

Miss May Pemlton was pursuing her career. The career was art, and at the moment it consisted of earnest attempts to render the sunlight blazing on the downs. There was no particular reason why May should pursue anything in the form of a career, beyond the fact that she was a typical modern young woman, who believed that members of her own sex ought to be capable of doing, and that she, a particularly bright member of it, had a destiny larger than being a mere social lilier, with yearnings at the door of the Academy. The career, therefore, was painting, and the results justified the choice, for the picture on the easel, unfinished as it was, betrayed considerable knowledge of technique and what some garrulous artists call "feeling."

She had chosen to cycle five miles to the house she was industriously trying to reproduce, and, for the purpose of making the day longer by being independent of such country places of refreshment as were available on her route, had brought her luncheon, daintily packed in a neat basket. May was having a delightful morning, uninterrupted, in a congenial task, and miles away from anyone, when two things happened.

A gipsy woman appeared, apparently from nowhere. She was dark-skinned, bold-eyed, and had the bronze splendour which some gipsy women still possess—the splendour who are nearly vagrants and exist by hawking trifles and telling fortunes while their men folk idle about small racecourses, or commit petty larceny.

"Cross my hand with a piece of silver, pretty lady, and I will tell you about the husband waiting for you—the handsome, fair man with the blue eyes. I can see him," the woman with the bold black eyes said, mystically—"I can see him in the skies."

It was on the tip of May's tongue to say "Nonsense!" But after all she was distinctly feminine, and at least it promised to be an adventure.

She opened a well-filled purse and passed a shilling across the gipsy woman's palm. The dark woman's fingers closed on the coin, and her eager eyes lit up as they lingered, for a second, on the contents of the purse.

Following the usual mechanism of fortune and prediction, the gipsy droned the fortune out, mechanically: "I can see the life of a pretty girl who is generous, high-minded, and clever. She is not appreciated." May smiled, unconvinced. "She has had her troubles, but they are over. There are two men—one is dark. She must beware of him—he wants her money. Another is fair, with blue eyes; a brave, fearless gentleman. The lady will marry the fair gentleman with the blue eyes; but not before she has trouble with the dark man." And so on.

At first it amused May. But the gipsy wanted her hand crossed with silver again. May tendered another shilling, but this did not suffice. The gipsy departed from her method of fawning flattery, and became rude. May told her very pointedly that the incident had ceased to be a jest.

"If you do not go on at once," she said, stamping her foot, "I'll mount my bicycle and bring the police."

"Not so fast, my pretty lady," said the gipsy woman, with a sneer. "You are a good way from the police, and if you will not cross my hand with more silver, I'll do it for myself."

The gipsy woman's brown hand clutched at May's white hand which held the purse. May struck at her feebly with a light and inadequate paint-brush.

The gipsy laughed. "'Erb!" she cried.

'Erb appeared—he had apparently been concealed in some bushes near by. He was a monstrously big, dark-skinned gipsy, in velvet and corduroy. His movements were slow and lazy. His face was sullen, and his eyes were shifty.

"What's the rumpus?" he growled.

"This bossy has let me tell her fortune and won't pay, and she has struck me. I'm going to help myself."

"That's all right," growled 'Erb. He clutched at May's elbows from the back, and she gave a frightened scream. As she stood there, fixed and frightened, the gipsy woman seized the purse.

"Hurry up, old girl," 'Erb said; "I can hear a noise like a motor."

A voice at the back of the tree startled them. "If I were you," it said, in the clean-cut, even tones of an English public school man, "I should do three things—I mean you two gipsy rascals."

'Erb freed the girl's elbows, and they all turned round to inspect the newcomer. He was a big, upstanding Englishman, dressed in tweeds, and without a hat. His hair was fair, and there was a smile on his lean face, while his blue eyes mocked the gipsy's glowering glances.

"What would you do if you were us?" the gipsy growled, rudely.

"One of the three things you have already done by unhanding the lady. The other duty is to give her back her purse. The last duty is to apologise humbly and get out."

The nonchalant, careless air of the new-comer cowed the gipsies. May, on looking at this six feet of confident manhood, not only recovered from her brief fright, but began to enjoy the situation.

"Suppose we don't?" said 'Erb, truculently.

"There is no supposing," the fair man answered. "This is not a children's game. You just do it now, or——"

"Or what?" 'Erb growled.

"I'll give you the biggest hiding you have ever deserved, you brown-skinned lily, and I'll have you and that bloated fury in the hands of the police before—hates, or my name's not Rupert for nothing!"

'Erb roared at the laughing man facing him. It was the mistake of his life. Rupert handed both his hands up as he came on, with the practised ease of a professional boxer, caught the gipsy a heavy blow in the solar plexus, which sent his head forward, and then had the head beat with a second blow which toppled the giant on to the long grass.

"I'll explain where I was brought up," Rupert began, turning to the woman—"the habit is nothing to my credit."

The gipsy woman cried with the whimpering timidity of the intimidated, and handed May the purse.

"It was only a little pick-nicking," she said.

"Yes," said Rupert, "a pick-pocking with a genial cage-bird and a second-hand globe fortune-teller to it. Anyway, to business. [illegible] Bundle!" It is only fair to say, in connection with the following parcel, that really all [illegible] the hire."

He offered the fair vellum with the gilt. "Let up had my you're sorry," Rupert commanded.

The gipsy rose slowly. "I'm sorry," he growled at May.

"Don't mention it, Mr. 'Erb," she replied.

"Is that enough?—curse you!" 'Erb asked, surlily, turning to Rupert.

"Quite. Take him away before I hurt him," Rupert replied, looking at the Gipsy woman.

They both began to shamble away in the direction of the road.

May picked up her paints and turned to her picture, and, though her hand trembled, Rupert admiringly noted that she was under superb control, and did not show a hint of her recent fright.

II.

After a pause May spoke. "It was very kind of you to get me out of such a difficulty," she began, absent-mindedly painting in a patch of cloud.

"Most opportune," he admitted. She had quite orthodox ideas that girls must faint, and curtain, so to speak, with the villain dismissed in ignominy. Still, jesting apart, I'm glad to have been of use."

"Where did you enter?" May asked, curiously. "I thought we had the stage to ourselves, and certainly you were not in the wings."

"I came from the clouds," he answered, airily.

She started. "How, that's really strange," she began, and laughed merrily.

"There is nothing strange about it," he answered.

"There is," she said.

"Well, yes, he admitted; "if you say so, there is. You might tell me."

"That hold-faced gipsy virago wheedled me into having my fortune told."

His eyes gleamed. "Oh, I know," he answered, readily. "Lovers by the dozen—I'll cut 'em all down," he began, giddy melodramatic. "Trouble with Italian gentleman—I'll smash him. You are going to travel—I'll follow you. You are going to be as rich as Carnegie—I'll step and share it. But beware of the——"

She put up her hand to stop him. "How absurdly you ramble. But she said my lover was in the clouds—she could see him there."

He stopped his laughing banter.

"She said I should have trouble with a dark man, and I had, immediately, from her bully of a companion."

He smiled, in spite of himself. "Ah! she knew that—the black-eyed minx!"

"Yes, but she described you—a fair man, with blue eyes. Now, isn't it odd that it should literally happen almost three minutes after she had spoken?"

"She was inspired—the jade! But how could she know I was in the clouds?" he asked.

May laughed in turn. "She was not quite right, though. She said you were a handsome man. I'm afraid you are not the right one," she suggested slyly.

He pretended to be very angry.

"At all events, you turned up at the right moment," she said, relenting. "Do you happen to have had lunch?"

"No," he responded, promptly. "The fact of the matter is that I am here for lunch, and I'm as hungry as a lean wolf."

"Then mine shall be the Spartan woman's mission—to feed the warrior." She brought out the neat luncheon basket as she spoke.

Together they sat over an impromptu picnic, and Rupert astonished the girl by the vigor of his appetite.

They made a hilarious hour of it.

"I must be going," she said at length. "I have to get back to Saddleborough."

"What! Five miles!" he asked. "How will you do it?"

"On my bicycle," she replied. "How do you get back?"

"Oh, I shall fly there," he said, in his mock heroic manner. "I shall go wafted on the wings of love—the fair man with the blue eyes riding the gipsy's cloud."

She laughed. "Well, if you haven't a car of a bicycle, you'll be a long time. I wish I could give you a share of my bicycle."

"Oh, I shall be there before you," he replied.

"Impossible—on foot! The nearest station is two miles."

"Yes, but I'm a wizard. Where do you go in Saddleborough, may I ask?"

"To the Oaks," she answered.

"I know—Dr. Ellimore's place. He's an old friend of mine. We were at Oxford together."

"He is my uncle," she explained. "I am staying there for the summer."

"Well, I'll make a sporting bet with you. I'll give you ten minutes on my bicycle, and undertake to be there first. If I am, you owe me six kisses; if I am not, I'll owe you a dozen pairs of gloves."

She looked around the empty horizon. She remembered the long road to the nearest station, and she was convinced. "It's a bet," she answered.

He helped to pack the easel and paints, and waved his hand as she mounted her machine.

"You are a very reckless man," she suggested.

"I give you ten clear minutes," he answered. "I shall kiss you six times during the day, or you'll be owing them to me."

"I don't know how you are going to do it, but"—her eyes shot a swift challenge—"I'll pay if I lose."

"Well, good-bye."

"No motor-car and no bicycle—remember."

"Honest injun," he answered, and waved his hand as he saw her push on, rapidly, along the nearly white highway.

III.

May laughed to herself as she steadily drove the bicycle along the road to Saddleborough.

"It was really astonishing that he should turn up with his blue eyes and fair hair. I begin to believe in gipsies. And he really has a nice smile. Yes, and there's some good in a man after all, when he plies such a—what do the sporting papers call it?—such a straight left. But I shall win my dozen of gloves. I don't think he can possibly arrive. He certainly cannot run there faster than I can cycle, with ten minutes' start. And I know there is no train until nearly six.

She was musing thus as she sped speedily on the way to Saddleborough. She did not lose any time, because she was not quite sure of her knight of the silhouette. He had a whimsical, laughing face, but he seemed to be extraordinarily able to take care of himself, and to be an unlikely man to make rash bets, which would result in his humiliation before her uncle, the Squire, and herself.

She remembered also the final assurance that he would claim the kisses. Women-like, she did not wish to see him win, and yet half hoped he would.

She had eaten up a good three miles of the journey—the road winding past her like a river of white ribbon—when the sound of something like a motor horn made the girl start.

"Impossible!" she thought, but instinctively she quickened the pace with her cycles. "I am sure he would not break the conditions." She turned her head at the thought of it. "Any way I shall not owe

The noise behind her increased, but she did not look round. It was different from any motor she had ever heard. The rhythmic beat of the engine was the same, but there was no noise of wheels on the road, and the sound seemed high above her.

Her doubt was soon removed. The noise behind was rapidly overhauling her. It was practically upon May, but she would not stay her course and turn round. In some instinctive way she associated the sound with Rupert.

Her instinct was right. A voice challenged her. "Hullo! Hullo! Hullo!" it sang out—overhead.

Something dark flew above her, and ahead, in the air, about a hundred yards high. She recognized it at a glance as a very up-to-date form of the biplane. She could see its driver perched on a precarious seat under the big wings. And she would have recognized him, if she had not already recognized his voice. The great fabric dipped a little and swung round. Its driver waved his hand as he circled about her. She could hear the whirr of the engine, and above it all, as the biplane resumed its direction, the sound of his voice.

"Six kisses at six," he was shouting, in a triumphant song.

She stopped her machine and dismounted.

"Bounder!" she cried, half in laughter, half in earnest, and waved her hand menacingly.

He swept round once more, and again, over the whirr of the machinery, she could hear his voice, still singing a sort of chant: "See you at six! Six kisses at six!" Then, with a final wave of his hand, the driver of the biplane turned towards Saddleborough, and the big white wings, gleaming in the sun, quickly drew away until they receded to the size of a seagull, and finally vanished altogether.

May did not hurry to her uncle's home. She was feeling, again, the temporary weakness of her sex and the crushing capability of the male. And she was also busily employed on possibilities of evading the prize. It was just about 5.30 when she reached the Oaks at Saddleborough. She pushed her bicycle blindly into the coach-house, and went towards the hall.

Her uncle, Dr. Ellimore, sat under a shady tree and in a big cane chair on the lawn. He was fanning and sighing to another man, who sat lazily stretched in another cane chair. As she drew near to him, her instinctive sense of the identity of the stranger was right.

"My niece, Miss Pemlton," Dr. Ellimore exclaimed impressively. "An old friend of mine, Rupert [illegible]. He has just brought in his biplane."

Rupert waved, and she blushed—of Harpies. He always was a high flier, and now he has taken to it seriously," the doctor explained.

May quickly pointed out to her uncle that she had seen Rupert before, and detailed the adventure with the gipsy.

"I was delighted to be of use," Rupert added. "Saw them from above, just as I was coming down to tighten a stay, and got there at the psychological moment. It was quite melodramatic, wasn't it?"

"Very," she said, grudgingly.

A maid brought tea, and May was busily engaged in serving it out. "There's a serious question I would like to ask you, uncle," she began at length.

"Delighted! I am the human encyclopaedia for Saddleborough," he answered.

"Do you know anything about machinery?" she asked.

"Almost everything," he said. "It is my consuming hobby when I am not filling up Saddleborough with pills and powders."

"Well, you might give me your personal opinion, and give it carefully." She looked at Rupert. "Would you consider that motor-car described a biplane?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

Rupert hung on his answer.

"Good heavens, no!" Dr. Ellimore answered. "No more than I should consider the word duck described a swallow."

"Then I'll pay," she said, demurely, looking across at their guest.

Rupert kissed her six times, and she was unreasoning. As he did so, Dr. Saddleborough clock struck six.

"Hang it, sir!" began the doctor. "What's the meaning of this osculatory outrage? Has the world gone mad?"

"Fortune of war, uncle," she explained, adding the details.

May Dering's career now is not art. It is often spent in wondering, with a certain amount of sporting pride and conjugal foreboding, whether her husband, Rupert, will arrive home safely after his latest exploit in the air; but, as he says, he has all the luck, and she adds under her breath a share of the pluck as well.

NOVEL ATHLETIC MACHINE.

New Invention to Test Runners as They Run Around the Track.

A novel invention in the shape of an apparatus for automatically taking measurements of the work of track athletes at all points in a race has just been installed on the running track in the Robinson gymnasium, Kansas University.

The machine, which is the first of its kind, and the invention of Dr. Naismith, director of physical culture, consists of small bamboo sticks, located along the track so as to divide the course into quarters.

The sticks project over the track and are touched by the breast of the runner as he passes. The bamboos are connected to a make-and-break electrical machine, which transmits the touch of the runner to a kymograph, which holds a lampblacked paper on which marks are made. A clock is used in connection with the kymograph for purposes of timing.

THE FIRST MENU CARD.

Started By a Duke in Brunswick in 1841.

At a dinner given by Duke Henry of Brunswick in 1841 he was seen to every now and then consult a long slip of paper, which reposed at the side of his plate. One of the duke's guests asked what the paper was for. He explained that it was a sort of a programme or catalogue of the dishes he had commanded from the cook. "To the infant that if some delicacy which especially appealed to his appetite were marked for a later stage in the repast, he might carefully reserve his appetite for it." The simplicity and utility of the idea at once took the fancy of the duke and the menu card from that moment became an institution. The new fashion was so much admired it travelled far and near, and was adopted in England and France at once.

For the first time in history a joint stamp, bearing the legends both of France and Britain, has been issued in the New Hebrides Islands, which are jointly administered by the two countries.

The Lindsay Power By-law has been withdrawn until September, when it is proposed to submit it with some changes.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Breakwater at Bare Point, Port Arthur, Ont." will be received at this office until 4 p. m., Wednesday, July 5, 1911, for the construction of a Breakwater at Bare Point, Port Arthur, Electoral District of Thunder Bay and Rainy River, Ont.

Plans, specifications and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, and at the offices of E. B. Temple, Esq., District Engineer, Port Arthur, Ont.; J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; H. J. Lamb, Esq., District Engineer, London, Ont.; and J. L. Michaud, Esq., District Engineer, Merchants' Bank Building, St. James St., Montreal, Que.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

OUR CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

THE JOLLY OLD CROW.

On the limb on an oak sat a jolly old crow,
And chattered away with glee, with glee,
And he saw the old farmer go out to sow,
And he cried, "It's all for me, for me!

"Look, look, how he scatters his seeds around;
He is wonderful kind to the poor, the poor;
If he'd empty it down in a pile on the ground
I could find it much better ,I'm sure, I'm sure!

"I've learned all the tricks of this wonderful man,
Who has such a regard for the crow, the crow,
That he lays out his grounds in a regular plan,
And covers his corn in a row, a row!

"He must have a very great fancy for me;
He tries to entrap me enough, enough;
But I measure his distances as well as he,
And when he comes near, I'm off, I'm off."

A WAX MOULD.

This is a little mold of wax to go in somebody's work basket. Any girl or boy can make one by melting some beeswax over a fire and then pouring it into a thimble to harden. However, the thimble must first have been greased on the inside so that the wax will not stick to it.

WAX MOLD.

Take a little piece of baby ribbon and dip the two ends of it into the melted wax after it has been poured into the thimble. When the wax hardens, the little ribbon will be left fast, and will make a handle to hold the mold up by.

TEMPER.

"I know I have a temper," I heard a girl say the other day; "but, at any rate, I'm not sulky." And from the tone in which she said it, one would have thought that a temper was something to be proud of, so long as it wasn't a sulky one.

As temper ages people, and leaves more lines on the face than almost any other thing, it isn't very wise to indulge in it at all. And there is another side of the picture, too. The people we live with have to be considered to some extent, and if we could only realise all the pain we give those near and dear to us when we indulge in fits of temper, we should surely try to get out of this bad habit. Life is too short to spend in wounding people unnecessarily, so the sooner we give up doing it, the better.

ABOUT COREA.

Corea is the land of queer customs. One is that the children in school use sand boxes instead of slates. They use the difficult Chinese characters and have to learn them as early in life as we do the alphabet. They make the character in the sand with a stick and then shuffle the box and make another.

There are many "little mothers" in Corea, for babies are mostly given over to older girls to be cared for. A broad sash or strip of cloth is tied around the waist of the little mother, and the baby is tucked snugly within its folds. It keeps its place during all the games of the children and seems as contented and happy as possible.

EXPERT LITTLE CHICKEN RAISERS.

A great many little girls and boys help their parents care for the chickens. They attend to the feeding, see that there is plenty of green grass cut for the chickens to eat, for, you know, chickens when they are penned up in what are called "runs" need some green stuff to eat. Then they can gather the eggs, and keep the water pans filled with fresh clean water.

MAYBE THE MERMAIDS RIDE A SEA HORSE.

A sea horse is a most peculiar fish. Its scientific name is "hippocampus," but to most people it is known as the sea horse, because its head resembles in no little degree that of the horse which we all know so well. What look like ears are really little fins, sticking out of the top of the head. The sea horse is like a monkey in one respect, and that is the use it makes of its tail.

Failed to Cure Rheumatism.

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure with "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

RESPONSIBILITY FOR SLAVERY.

In an interview with the Vancouver World, a certain Colonel Harris of Oklahoma, son of a former slave-owner in Kentucky, is reported as saying that he will bring 5,000 "niggahs" into Canada this summer; also that the British people started the slave-owning business by bringing slaves into America, and should be held responsible for the consequences.

It is doubtless true that slaves were brought into the American colonies while they were British colonies Many things were tolerated in England in the eighteenth century that would not be tolerated to-day. The American colonies broke away from Great Britain in the name of freedom and it was then that they should have abolished slavery. Instead of that, they allowed it to strengthen its hold until the civil war, while the British Empire the growing love of freedom compelled the abolition of slave-trading and slave-holding.

In neither case, however, is it fair to blame a whole nation for the wrongdoing of a part of the nation. The Americans, for any wrong they did, were severely punished by the civil war. The selfish and tyrannical desire to use fellow-men's labor for the accumulation of wealth and for luxury and ostentation is, unfortunately, not confined to any one nation. The love of freedom and justice, and the reverence for man as man, are also to be found everywhere, and the hope of humility lies in the ultimate triumph of these principles.

PREMIER ASQUITH'S NINE-YEAR OLD SON FIRED IT.

Street Illuminations Raised a Glare Seen for Miles—Police Precautions Were Admirable.

London, June 23.—The police arrangements for the coronation day, which had been so strongly condemned beforehand, worked admirably today. Notwithstanding the myriads of people in the streets the casualties were happily few. All vehicular traffic along the line of the Royal route was suspended before nightfall, and crowds bent on viewing the illuminations were kept moving in two constant streams. Drizzling rain had no adverse effect on the extraordinarily brilliant display. The electric devices on the principal buildings of the city, and in the west end, and the central space at the Bank of England shone with something like solar radiance, and the homes of ornamental commerce seemed transformed into fairy palaces. Within a small area were twenty thousand electric lights, and they cast a reflection into the sky that must have been seen for many miles. On the Bank alone were five thousand lights. White lights blended by pink cups predominated, but there were many magnificent devices, principally huge gold laural wreaths, containing the Royal monogram and surmounted by multi-colored crowns.

PICADILLY WELL ILLUMINATED.

Piccadilly presented the finest spectacle. The street was illuminated in one harmonious design, but through the region where clubs, hotels, and embassies most abound there were innumerable examples of costly and elaborate and sometimes ingenious illumination and decoration that arrested the attention and compelled the admiration of the perambulating multitude.

LIGHTED TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND BONFIRES.

Not London only, but the whole country joined in the celebration. Two thousand five hundred bonfires were lighted simultaneously throughout the kingdom. The signal for lighting the chain of bonfires was the firing of a rocket at Crystal Palace. This was done by Anthony Asquith, the Premier's nine-year-old son. He said: "I hope the rocket fired tonight will not only light the Coronation beacons throughout the land, but will kindle afresh the fires of love and devotion to the king and empire in the hearts of every one of you."

One of the grandest displays in the west end was at Dorchester House, the home of the American ambassador and Burdett Coutts' mansion occupied by John Hays Hammond was also effectively lighted. Another striking feature of the illuminations was the lighting of the campanile or bell tower of Westminster Cathedral.

There is one medicine that every should be provided with and especially during the summer months; viz, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed. It costs but a quarter. Can you afford to be without it? For sale by all dealers.

TALK ABOUT THE PERILS TO THEIR NATIONALITY ON JEAN BAPTISTE DAY.

Montreal, June 26.—The celebration of St. Jean Baptiste here terminated with the holding of a large banquet, at which prominent French-Canadians from all over Canada and the United States were present.

Mr. Justice Constantineau, of Ontario, drew a contrast between conditions prevailing in this province and in the Province of Ontario. Here the minority lived in peace with the majority, because justice was given all around. In Ontario, the French-Canadian minority lived in peace, a species of armed peace it was.

SWAMPING THEM OUT.

Armande Lavergne, M.L.A., opened with an attack upon the policy of immigration now being oursued. This was threatening to swamp French-Canadians.

Oliver Asselin, in taking up the situation in Maine, declared that matters were critical there for French-Canadians.

Henry Bourassa was then called upon. Mr. Bourassa launched himself into a review of the situation in Canada as far as French and English speaking Canadians were concerned. French-Canadians should encourage their own national institutions and occupy themselves with the welfare of their compatriots in this country. They should also look after the interests of their people settled in Maine and other parts of the continent.

WHY ARE THE LARGE INVESTORS ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES BUYING MONTREAL REAL ESTATE?

If Western land or speculative stocks were considered better,--is it reasonable to suppose that these careful financiers whose knowledge of Canadian conditions is beyond a doubt-would buy Montreal Real Estate?

YOU KNOW Montreal is the largest city in the Dominion.

YOU KNOW that the population is increasing yearly at the rate of about 50,000.

YOU KNOW these people have to have homes.

Taking the above facts into consideration, what do you consider, looking in the most conservative way possible, ANGUS PARK LOTS will be worth in four years' time?

Taking the past advances in MONTREAL REAL ESTATE as an example, these lots will be worth over a hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) more in that time.

We have a limited number of lots situated on ANGUS PARK BOULEVARD, which we can offer you at to-day's low prices, and on terms that will not cripple your finances, and by the time your lots are fully paid for you will have saved not only the cost of the land but the increase in value, thereby making your investment many hundred per cent. (100 per cent.) better than a Savings Bank account and much safer.

Do not delay till this opportunity has escaped you, but call in and see us, or drop us a line and we will send you full particulars together with our application forms. The prices range from $100 per lot upwards and the terms 10 per cent. cash, and the balance 10 per cent. every three months without interest.

IS YOUR MONEY IDLE?

Dormant Wealth is useless. Gold hidden in the corner cupboard is WASTING ITS TIME, just as surely as the sluggard is wasting his life. In these strenuous days of commercial activity every dollar should be made to work. ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING ALL THE TIME?

Of course YOU have no lazy money. But have you a bank balance that is just vegetating, making a paltry three cents interest on the dollar once in twelve months, three dollars on the hundred, thirty on the thousand?

Don't let your money ape the sluggard. Make it WORK. Opportunity is knocking at your door right now, and I am guiding Opportunity. It is worth your while reading this advertisement carefully. You cannot lose by it; you stand to gain a just deal.

Fruit Farms in British Columbia are my specialty. I have devoted many years to a close study of the soil and the climatic conditions of the Fraser River Valley. I will not handle property that is not ABSOLUTELY A 1., no matter what the inducement may be. When you deal with W. J. KERR, LTD., you deal with a reliable firm.

If you have never been to British Columbia, you can have but a slight idea of the wonderful and steady increase in land values. The price of yesterday is doubled to-day, to-day's price will quadrupted to-morrow, for the upward movement has only just commenced. The wealth of a province is behind this steady movement.

Six years ago I sold land on the Westminster-Vancouver electric car line for $100 per acre. To-day it sells for from $2000 to $6000 an acre.

Two years ago I sold land in Peachgrove for $100 an acre. You could not buy that same land to-day for less than $2000 per acre.

I have just picked these two instances at random, but they will suffice to show you the enormous increase in values in the past. THE PROFITS OF THE PAST WILL NOT BE A CIRCUMSTANCE TO THE PROFITS OF THE FUTURE. Do you wish to share in these profits? Of course you do.

Investment in good real estate is as safe as a deposit in the Bank of England. There is no better real estate than in the Fraser River Valley.

I have the biggest list of properties in this district, and the prices at which I offer these is always a little lower than the other fellow. That is how I gained my reputation.

I am now placing a Fruit Land Subdivision on the market. This is parcelled into five-acre tracts, close to two railway lines and with splendid roads leading to the property. The Water Supply gushes up in a never-lessening stream from a well 320 feet deep, and can be piped to every house in the subdivision.

This Fruit Land is only a few miles from the city of Westminster, which boasts the greatest farmers' market in Western Canada. Here all products of the soil command a quick and remunerative sale. There is no over-supply; the coast cities are growing fast and consume a great deal more than the surrounding country now produces.

The figure at which I am placing this on the market will increase tremendously in the next few years, and in the meantime the land will pay for itself over and over again with the bumper crops it will produce. Let me send you full details of this remarkable offer. Drop me a line to-day—right now while the matter is fresh in your mind.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntted to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and verdant conditions that will make you a 100 per cent. on your investment in 90 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross proceeds will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 82 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

CAKED UDDER.

Neglected Too Often the Cause, Says Expert.

The usefulness of thousands of milch cows is damaged every year by caked udder. Prompt treatment will generally avert serious trouble, but cases of long standing are very difficult to handle. Many factors act to cause caked udder. It is commonest in heavy milkers at calving time. At that time the udder is naturally swollen and inflamed, and if it is exposed to a cold draft or bruised in any way serious trouble is likely to follow. Although commencement early in the lactation period, caked udder may occur at any time, being due to lying on cold, hard, damp ground, to bruises, to incomplete milking, to exposure to cold, occasionally to changes in food, and sometimes being due to an infectious form of the disease.

There are many forms of udder trouble, which are variously known as garget, mammitis and caked udder. In the most severe forms there is a chill, followed by a fever, and the udder becomes much swollen, red and tender; the milk decomposes into whey and bloody curd; pus forms, and the udder mortifies; it may be completely lost.

TURNING OUT COWS.

Grass Increases Milk Supply But Not Quality.

When the grass begins to grow sufficiently for the cows to graze they thrive anew, as the change is highly beneficial to their health, but it has a tendency to weaken the milk. As a rule the constant supply of grass will increase the milk supply, but the quality does not rise proportionately. On the contrary, it generally drops, and attention should be given to this to prevent too much degeneration; but a good deal depends on the pastures. Where these are rich, and the supply ample, there will be no reduction of quality. Unfortunately such pastures are not the rule. Plenty are not only poor naturally, and from neglect, but grass is scant. The weather, of course, has an influence on this, and when general the supply may keep up the demands, at first there may be plenty, but it is apt to become scarce, and it is most necessary to watch the milk yield at this time.

NEW LEADER IN CLYDESDALE.

Scotland Produces a New Sire Horse.

The show season has come round once more and three important fixtures have been held in as many weeks. In the West of Scotland the season proper opens with Kilmarnock—noted for its display of Ayrshire cattle and Clydesdale horses — then comes the Ayr event which is followed by the Glasgow Agricultural Society's show. At the last named one finds a good turn out of horses, both light and heavy breeds being well represented, and while there is always a good display of Ayrshires, the other breeds, such as Shorthorns and Aberdeen Angus are also to the fore. The early shows have brought out a lot of promising young stock, but nothing really sensational has yet been seen. In the Clydesdale section one of the outstanding features has been the great success of the "get" of the noted sire Baron of Buchlyvie. This horse stands absolutely without a rival as a breeding horse, and, although a young sire, his stock are coming to the front in a truly remarkable manner. Got by that grand old horse, Baron's Pride, he bids fair to rival his sire as a breeder.

TENT CATERPILLARS.

One often finds in May or June, on the limbs of apple and wild cherry trees, compact, silken nests, or tents, containing a large number of handsome caterpillars. These are the insects which have been known for many years as tent caterpillars.

The eggs are deposited during July in compact masses around the twigs. After they are laid the parent moth secretes a viscid liquid which hardens over the eggs as a protection. The insects remain in this state until the following spring, when they hatch into young caterpillars.

These insects feed on the foliage for about six weeks, until they become fully developed, when they leave the tree and seek some place to pupate in. Two or three weeks later the moths appear, and in a short time deposit the eggs, after which they soon die. Thus there is but one brood each season.

THE GOOD DAIRY COW.

The dairy cow possesses a long face, thin, slender neck, a sharp, projecting shoulder. She is not very wide in the chest, but her capacity of chest is due to her depth, which is greater in proportion to her size than you will find in the beef animal. She possesses large barrel, which indicates a good capacity for digesting her food. Her depth here should exceed her depth in any other portion of the body. A dairy cow should have a good width at the hips. Her thighs should be lean and free from muscling. She should be open between her thighs.

FRUIT GROWERS' ORGANIZE.

A meeting of interested fruit-growers of the Newcastle, Ont., District was held last week for the purpose of forming a Co-operative Fruit-growers' Association. Mr. P. J. Carey, Dominion Fruit Inspector, gave a helpfull address. The chair was occupied by Mr. R. S. Duncan of the Department of Agriculture.

The organization came to be known as the Durham Co-operative Fruit-growers' Association. It was decided to admit no members who would not take good care of their orchards.

SPORTING COLUMN.

CANADA'S BEST ATHLETE.

Lukeman is Winning Everything Before Him.

Clocked in 9 4-5 seconds for the 100 yards sprint and holder of three Canadian championships, Frank Lukeman, the Ottawa Amateur Athletic association star, should be a finder path sensation this summer.

But 24, Lukeman has competed for years and is now reaching his best form. His experience enabled him to capture the Canadian all round championship against the pick of American athletes and he will invade the United States to try and win the American all around title.

Big, rangy, with plenty of weight, Lukeman is the ideal sprinter and jumper. He has won the 100, 220, 440-yard sprints, the hurdle events and the jumps in an afternoon.

WHERE THE "BOOB" DID ITS PART.

Old Baseball Players Give Their Experiences.

"Benchend Barry!" That's what they usually say of a player when he accidentally or otherwise permits himself to be hit on the "dome" by a batted or pitched ball. While some of these plays have been anything but pleasant to the man hit, there's no question but most of them prove humorous to the fans, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

I have seen many players hit on the head with batted or thrown balls," said Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Cardinals, "but the funniest play of this kind happened when I was with the Giants. "Jack" Dunn was playing third base at the time and a foul fly was sent up near third base.

"I was catching and started after the ball until he shouted 'I've got it.' He seemed to be camped under it all right until the sun got in his eyes and he lost the ball. It came and hit him on the top of the head. The ball knocked 'Jacks' cap off, and, as he was as bald as a doorknob and very sensitive about his slick dome, he made a wild scramble to recover the top-piece."

"A play which seems almost an impossibility, but one that is an actual fact, was performed by Ben Koehler and Emil Frisk, two former St. Louis outfielders," said Secretary Lloyd H. Richart, of the Browns.

"In a game several years ago a ball was hit midway between center and right. Koehler and Frisk started for it. Koehler, the usually reliable, called that he had the ball. But he began dancing around and finally lost in the sun. He 'ducked' to avoid being struck, but the ball came down, hit him on the head, bounded up, and Frisk, the uncertain, caught it for the out."

MUSCULAR CHRISTIANITY.

Teaches Bible Sunday Boxes Monday.

Although he parts his name in the middle, the man who would "kid" A. J. Drexel-Biddle upon the fact are few and far between.

Biddle is so complex a character as you will find in "Who's Who." He preaches, encourages and teaches boxing and instructs the largest and one of the most successful bible classes in Philadelphia.

"Anthony J." to the members of the fashionable set, he is "Tony" to a host of young athletes who have found in him a friend, time and again. His private gymnasium has permitted many young hovers to train who otherwise would not have been able to do so.

Biddle is an unique character in the religious world and the success which has attended his work proves that his theories are sound, even if a radical departure from accepted ideals.

SISTERS OF ST. [illegible] WILL BE PROSECUTED.

Montreal, Quebec, June 28.—The Provincial Board of Health announced this morning that they had decided to prosecute the Sisters of St. Anne, of the Jacques Cartier, who allowed forty three people to depart for their home after a case of smallpox had been discovered in the convent and the building had been placed under quarantine. One case typhoid is the result of the convent has since developed, and it is feared that the sanitary conditions [illegible] may cause an epidemic throughout the Province.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

SERVANTS IN NORWAY.

A Place Where They Have Solved the Servant Problem.

In Norway they appear to have solved the servant problem to the satisfaction of both mistress and maid.

In such places as Bergen, Christiania and other large cities the municipal government takes entire charge of the matter. There is a central employment bureau under municipal control and twice a year—once in summer and once in winter dissatisfied servants can look out for new masters and mistresses, and dissatisfied employers can seek to improve their service. The mistress who wants a maid can go to it, fill in a form stating her requirements and the wages she is willing to pay and then leave all the rest to the bureau.

Her card is placed on file and the position she offers is posted in a conspicuous place on a blackboard. Men and women servants in want of work examine these cards, and, when they decide upon applying for any position, submit their recommendations to the bureau for examination. If these are satisfactory, the applicant receives a card to the prospective employer, available for one day only.

Should the lady hire the servant, she fills up the card with a list of the duties, wages and terms of service agreed upon and returns it to the bureau, where it is carefully filed for future reference if necessary.

If the applicant does not suit, the card is returned with "not satisfactory," which indicates that other applicants may be sent.

NO HATPINS NEEDED.

Hatpins are not required for several of the new types of toques. Instead, the drapery trimming of the toques is wound rather tightly around the head and lower part of the toque body in a manner which reminds one of the cloths women wind around their heads as a dust protector when cleaning house. The free end of the drapery is fastened by means of hooks and eyes after being wound.

TIT BIT KNOWLEDGE.

Sleeves are short in all save the strictly tailored garments, and by short is meant a termination of the sleeve just at or an inch or more above the elbow.

Sashes are worn a great deal with afternoon toilets.

It is going to be a great cotton season, and cottons are going to be tolerated where formerly they have been prohibited.

To be really fashionable this season one must be slender. Its silhouette is the rule of the day, a rule modish women are trying religiously to follow.

If a net blouse is to be laundered it should be ironed on the wrong side while it is quite damp with a clean and moderately hot iron. This causes the new fabric to stiffen. Lace may be treated in the same way.

Keep next Thursday evening open in order to hear the great English preacher, Rev. Dr. Clifford, who is to deliver an address in the Opera House.

SHOT A BEAR

Sportsman's Good Aim While Riding on a Moose's Back

A man named Morrison who resides near Oyster River, N.B., declares that he shot a bear which was riding on the back of a moose. Whether the bear had deliberately attacked the moose, slipped from a tree by accident as the moose was passing underneath or adopted that method of crossing the river, the sportsman was unable to say, but he declares he shot the bear and as the moose was carrying him across country at a rapid rate emerged from the water of the river. One shot was sufficient to kill the bear and the moose was released made off at a rapid rate.

QUEBEC IS FORTUNATE

Great G.T.P. Railway Shops to be Stationed There

Parent, chairman of the Transcontinental Commission. The plant of the proposed workshops are enormous. It was announced that tenders would be called for the erection of the new station of the Grand Trunk Pacific in Quebec at the end of May, and the tenders for the workshops would be called for as soon as details had been arranged.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said :

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-so-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge home file, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

FARM AND FIELD

STOCK RAISING IN SIBERIA.

The Mongols Make the Best of Land Horse in Siberia.

The most important occupation in the Province of Transbaikal is stock raising. Cattle, horses and sheep predominate, altho a limited number of camels, deer, goats and swine are raised. The horses average between twelve and thirteen hands high, and can draw a load of over one thousand pounds, and if driven in a troioka (three horses harnessed abreast) they can cover thirty to forty miles a day. Journeys of thousands of miles at an average rate of forty miles a day have been made by riding these animals. The horses are kept in the open throughout the year, and in winter find their food under the snow. Some improvement has been made in breeding these horses, and only recently Arab blood was introduced.

The cattle are of Mongolian origin and are inferior and very small. They live in the same manner as the horses, and it is remarkable how they can withstand the severe climate and lack of food. Experiments have been made to improve the stock, but the results are noticed only in the first and second generation, the probable reason being that they are given so little care. These cattle produce little milk or beef. The camel is also of Mongolian origin, and the sheep are a little over two feet in height, the tail varying in weight from two to ten pounds. The wool is coarse, thick and of medium length.

BEE HIVES.

Successful Farmers Have Their Section Boxes Ready for Swarming.

The wide-awake farmer does not wait until his bees have swarmed and are clustered on a treetop before he thinks of preparing a hive for them. All preparatory work, such as making and painting hives, wiring brood frames and getting the section boxes ready for the anticipated honey crop, should be done at leisure times during winter and early spring, before the rush of other work takes place. How easy it will be to manage a dozen or more colonies of bees next summer if everything is set in readiness now. For instance, if a swarm issues it will only be the work of a few minutes to take a hive from the barn and hive the swarm into it. If a honey flow bursts forth suddenly, what satisfaction it will give you to know that you have on hand a few hundred section boxes ready to set on the hives at once. If this work is put off until summer time, it is more than probable it will not be done at all. When feeding the bees be careful and not spill any of the sweets about the apiary, for robbing is often started in this way.

HOW SWINE CAN PAY.

Raising of Pigs Neglected in Canada.

First choose your breed. When your choice is made, purchase pure-bred brood sows. If you cannot afford to buy many, buy one good one, and by saving all the desirable females you will, in the course of a few years, have a good-sized herd. Do not spare a few dollars or a long drive to get a good boar.

The vigor of the constitution of the offspring depends on the dam, but the outward form and limbs depend more on the boar. The boar should be wide between the fore legs, with large girth behind them, that denotes active heart and limbs. Straight, strong limbs and erect hoofs indicate solidity of animal framework. Smooth skin and soft hair denote active liver and general health. Do not trade a long body for a short nose. These same qualities should be found in the female.

During the pregnancy of the sow, she should be allowed plenty of exercise and proper food, and there will be little trouble in giving birth to her offspring. A sow carrying pigs is engaged in a work which demands a full supply of tissue-making foods. Clover, wheat, bran and linseed meal and such foods, rich in protein, should be furnished her. There is a great mistake made by many hog raisers who give their brood sows corn and water for a diet; they think because they look well that such foods are all right, but they wonder why their sows have trouble giving birth to their offspring and many times eat them.

When the pigs are a few weeks old they should be given a creep where they can help themselves to grain. The males should be castrated when about two months old and while they are still with their mothers.

MANITOBA FOR GOOD ROADS.

Representatives of Manitoba Good Roads Association and Manitoba Union of Municipalities met last week in Winnipeg, and after considerable discussion on the financing of road work throughout the province, passed a resolution to the effect that the government be asked to guarantee the bonds of the municipalities. It was proposed that the redemption of bonds be extended over a period of twenty to thirty years and further, that the amount of money to be raised do not exceed four per cent of the total assessment of the municipality.

To Prevent Mistakes.

From Lantigo Blaster.

The owner of a factory is showing a friend about the premises. The friend is surprised at the automatic fire extinguisher in all parts of the building.

"What are all these things?" he asks.

"The insurance people are so fussy!" said the owner. "They make us furnish these things. Guess I was burned out once."

"What is there in 'em?"

"I don't know what there was originally in them—there's benzine in 'em now!"

CAMERON HIGHLANDERS.

The Sergeant's Story.

The Cameron Highlanders fought at Waterloo throughout the three glorious days of June, and they were "particularly mentioned" by Wellington in his famous despatch of June 19, addressed to Lord Bathurst. Fortunate in their opportunities, they have been fortunate also in winning the praise of poets. Byron, in "Childe Harold," has consecrated their immortality in a famous stanza:—

Here sounds the high note of romance, and bravely the Highlanders could echo it. But war does not always rest at the lofty plane of glory, and we can sometimes realise it most clearly in homelier touches.

After the battle it is said that the 79th stripped the cuirasses off the dead Frenchmen and used them for cooking its rations. They were good enough frying-pans, though the bullet-holes let something escape. But some Belgian soldiers who passed by while the cooking was in progress, and seeing the cuirasses, went off with the legend that the Highlanders were cannibals, and no doubt the legend, which it is a pity to disturb, is repeated unto this day.

One other point of dignity is worth remembrance. When the allied armies were in Paris Sergeant Campbell of the 79th was taken with others to the Elysee to be shown to the Emperor Alexander, and it is thus that he tells the tale himself. "The Emperor made a very minute inspection of us," he writes, "and his curiosity led him to call upon me, as being the most robust of the party, to step to the front. . . . As soon as I stepped to the front I was surrounded by the astonished nobility, and the emperor commenced his inspection and questions as follows:—First, he examined my appointments and drew my sword. . . . Second, he examined my hose, gaiters, legs, and pinched my skin, thinking I were something under my kilt, and had the curiosity to lift my kilt up to my navel, so that he might not be deceived. The questions were:—If I was present at the actions of June 16, 17, and 18? How many officers and men the regiment lost? . . . Whether I was in Egypt? If I wore the kilt in winter, or if I did not feel cold in that season? If I was married? If my parents were alive?" Thus it was that the Highlanders seemed beyond the general experience of mankind.

MIRIAM WATCHES OVER BABY MOSES.

Once upon a time there lived a little girl named Mariam. The bible does not tell us how old she was when she watched over her baby brother, Moses, but tradition says she was less than ten. When the mother of Moses heard that Pharaoh would kill all the little boys of the Israelites, she made a little boat of a basket and placed the baby therein and permitted it to float down the Nile among the reeds near the edge of the river.

And his sister, the bible says, stood afar off to see what would be done to him.

And so little Miriam ran along the river bank as her baby brother floated along the stream. She was on hand as though by mere accident when the king's daughter discovered the boat and the tiny sailor.

Miriam asked the princess: "Shall I go and and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?"

The princess agreed and Miriam brought her own mother.

By and by Miriam grew to young womanhood. Her brother had become the leader, the emancipator of his people and following the destruction of Pharaoh's mighty host in the Red Sea, with timbrel in hand, she led the jubilant women of Israel in song and dance.

Mr. Waring and go to live with your mother."

"Leave Mr. Waring! Are you mad, John?"

"Sweetheart"—she spoke to Bubbins—"will you run into the garden and see if you can find me some white roses? You know the ones I love."

As the little girl flew off in delight, Mrs. Chalmers faced her husband.

"You mean to say you think I have been living with Hugh Waring since I left you?"

He took a step forward and caught roughly at her hand.

"Isn't it true?" he demanded.

"How dare you ask me such a question?" she answered proudly. "Do you suppose that, even had I loved him, Hugh would ever have wronged me? Can you believe that I would ever wrong Bubbins?"

"Beatrice!"

She uttered to find her husband kneeling at her side. Before she could speak he had taken her hands in his with remorseful tenderness.

"Oh, my darling! What a brute I have been! What a fool, from the very beginning! Pity and forgive—forgive, Beatrice. I am sorry, little girl, sorry with all my soul. I have never ceased to love you in spite of all I believed to be true. Come back to me."

She looked down at him with sad, tender eyes. Then, rising, put her hands in his and drew him to his feet.

"You will—you will come back?" passionately. "Dear, my dear, I want you so," and he folded her unresisting form in his arms.

• • • • •

"Mumty," came a little voice, five minutes later, "there's the white woman. Why, you're laughin' again. How quick Daddy's made you well. I knowed he could."

"Good bless you, Bubbins," said Daddy.

Sour Risings From Stomach

Those Who Experience Fullness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Gawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But some things went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fullness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well — no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Rev. Mr. Coon and Family Remembered.

Representatives of the quarterly and trustee boards of the Mark street Methodist Church, presented Mr. C. H. Coon on Monday evening, with spoons of gold, as a token of their appreciation and good will. Mrs. Coon was also remembered by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church and presented with an address accompanied by a set of dishes. In addition to the above presentations, members of Mr. Coon's family have been the recipients of valuable tokens of friendship and esteem, accompanied by addresses, among them being a gold locket to Miss Myrtle, by some companions, and a gift case to Master Willard, by some of his chums also accompanied by an address. Rev. Mr. Coon and family leave this week for their new home in Lakefield, where Mr. Coon will become the pastor of the Methodist church in that village. The Times joins in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

Bad for Shoe Trade.

A man called on Mr. John Kylie, the Hunter street boot and shoe merchant, yesterday and purchased a pair of boots. He was 97 years of age, and had on his feet a pair (the last he bought) purchased from a Mr. White, of Lindsay, over 20 years ago. One pair every twenty years is not likely to greatly encourage the boot and shoe trade. He incidentally informed Mr. Kylie, if the new pair which he had just purchased proved satisfactory, he would give him his future patronage. On hearing this, Mr. Kylie was forced to retire to hide his emotions.

Saturday the Holiday.

A letter appeared in The Times on Monday, suggesting that Monday be observed as Dominion Day, instead of Saturday. Mr. Jas. Girvin, our efficient market clerk, when he read the letter, called at this office to say that he had notified the farmers and others who are in the habit of attending the market, that Friday would be observed as our regular weekly market day, instead of Saturday. So that it is now too late to have the date changed as proposed.

Our New Serial Story.

Watch for the opening chapters of our new continued story, entitled "The Standing Abbi of H. Stanislaus Storms." It is intensely interesting. Will begin Saturday, July 1st.

Persian Cat Lost.

A beautiful Persian cat, handsomely marked, black and grey, taken from the vicinity of the George street church a couple of weeks ago. Any information that will lead to its recovery will be liberally rewarded by leaving word at The Times Bookstore.

After Thirty Years.

Mr. James Elliott, formerly of Smith, but now a resident of Dallas, Oregon, is spending a few days amongst his old friends in Smith, after an absence of 30 years. Mr. Elliott contested West Peterborough against the late W. H. Scott, in the Liberal interests, but was defeated. He soon after left for Oregon, where he has since resided.

Local Matter Held Over.

Several letters and other local matter is unavoidably held over until to-morrow for want of space.

Delegates Returning.

A number of delegates from the northern portion of the County were in town last night on their way home from the Liberal convention at Norwood yesterday, and gave The Times a friendly call. They were: Mr. David Campbell, president of the Liberal Association of Chandos; Mr. Duncan Brown, president of the L.A. of Burleigh and Anstruther; Mr. Geo. A. Ballied, Chandos and Mr. Isaac Lane, Burleigh.

VOL XXXIV NO. 148 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY JUNE 29 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

CANADA'S POPULATION IS NEARLY TWICE AUSTRALIA'S

Melbourne, Australia, June 27.—The new census gives the Commonwealth of Australia a population of 4,449,495.

According to the Statesman's Year Book, the population of the Commonwealth of Australia, consisting of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, West Australia, and Tasmania, in the census of 1901 was 3, 773,801. The increase in 10 years therefore, would be 675,694.

Canada is growing much faster than Australia. At the last census she had a population of 5,371,315, and the census this year is expected to show about eight million people.

The increase during the previous decade was slow, totalling only 689,076. The last decade will probably show an increase of well on to two millions.

DISLIKES NEW POSTAGE STAMP

London, June 28.—The new postage stamps which have been in circulation since the Coronation Day are not meeting with popular favor. The poverty of the design and the mediocrity of the engraving are criticized and the Postmaster-General will be asked in Parliament if he will consider the advisability of withdrawing the stamps and having a fresh issue designed with a portrait of King George that shall be an actual miniature likeness of his Majesty.

HER TIME HAD COME

Lansing, Mich., June 28.—"Well, I guess my time has come," said Mrs. Latchia Williams, aged 108, as she stood in the doorway of the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ellen Bannister talking to a neighbor yesterday.

With that remark, she went inside, and lying down on a couch, passed quietly away.

Mrs. Williams celebrated her 108th anniversary on New Year's Day.

7 SACKS FULL OF PETITIONS

Sir Allen Aylesworth Promises Careful and Serious Consideration—Woman Still in Doubt.

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., June 28.—The last hope that Angelina Napolitano, under sentence of death here, will know her fate before the delivery of her child, was shattered this morning by a message from the Minister of Justice, who, though he stated that the case would receive his "careful and anxious" consideration, also said that the case could not be investigated for some time yet, as there were several capital cases for his consideration where the date of execution was set for dates prior to August 9th, the day on which Mrs. Napolitano is to hang.

The petitions are having their effect, for the Minister states in his letter to Attorney McFadden that seven sacks of mail have already been delivered at the department and that every mail brought hundreds more petitions.

It is likely that the woman will be removed to the General Hospital in the early part of next week.

A Constant Difficulty.

"You have made some fine speeches to your constituents." "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "but I am never able to be sure whether my audience is being instructed and persuaded or merely entertained."—Washington Star.

CONSERVATION OF THE WATER

There is now between Fenelon Falls and Hastings 110,000 horse power. That electrical power saves us sending out of the country at $20 per horse power at least $2,200,000 for coal. We must give Mr. McClellan credit for developing this power; also the Hon. Geo. P. Graham deserves the gratitude of the people along the Trent Valley waterway in pushing the conservation of the water, and thereby placing all the villages, towns and cities along the route in the position of having a regular supply of water for power purposes. We also must congratulate the Hon. Minister that during his term of office, he has converted the Trent Canal along the route, from an eye-sore into one of the most beautiful waterways in the world—every dock and bridge painted and the grounds a flower bed. This is a policy that meets with the approval of the people, with Liberal and Conservative.

BEACHY'S WRECKLESS AEROPLANE FLIGHT

Right Under the Arch Bridge Machine Came Into a Vacuum and it Dropped Many Feet Making Engine Skip—A Course Filled With Dangers.

Niagara Falls, June 28.—Circling like a great hawk, Lincoln Beachy yesterday evening crept down from a great height to the lowest levels, until the mist of the great Horseshoe Fall brushed his face and cut out the view. Emerging into sunlight again he crept lower and lower into the gorge and then darted under the great arch bridge.

It was a moment of supreme suspense and thousands of people could feel their hearts throbbing. Under the bridge the aeroplane dropped suddenly and the people gasped. But the aviator recovered from the momentary jar caused by the vacuum and went on through the gorge. Beachy nosed up the machine gradually rose, little by little, until when half a hundred feet over the banks he circled out over Canadian territory.

"I have made the trip; that is sufficient," said Beachy to a correspondent last night.

MACHINE TOTTERED IN AIR.

"I was never in such treacherous air currents. You cannot imagine what it means to have a machine totter as mine did, unless you have been in one. Right under the bridge the machine came into a vacuum and dropped so fast that it stopped the flow of the gasoline into the carburetter and the engine skipped. I have had that happen before but never in such a ticklish place. I thought for a minute that I was going to fall into the water. I would rather do that than hit the bridge though, for there would be some chance for me there.

FLIGHT FILLED WITH DANGER.

"I am glad I was successful in my first attempt. This trip has been my ambition since the suggestion was first made to me and I visited the Falls three weeks ago. However, I believe that I would succeed if I made another attempt, but it is a flight that is filled with more dangers than you can begin to imagine."

SAYS PROTESTANTS TRIED TO CONTROL INDIGNATION

Winnipeg, June 28.—The annual address of Grand Master Sproule to the Orangemen of British North America, read to the Grand Lodge to-day, expresses pleasure that so many Protestant Ministers are joining the Order.

Dr. Sproule emphasized the fact that Romanism was gaining ground in America, while losing ground in Europe. After referring to the Eucharistic Congress and the obsequiousness of State officials, he said:

"That, coupled with the issuing of the No Temere decree, and the invasion of the home and interference with the sacred rite of marriage, and the ruthless breaking up of families and inhuman conduct toward defenceless women and children, and disregard of the State's authorities, arouses and indignation in the minds of Protestants which is difficult to control. The authority of the State is challenged and the civil rights of the people trampled upon and disregarded as never before.

"Where will all this end? is the question many are seriously enquiring Protestant churches are taking it up with an earnestness which indicates that the grievance must be redressed and the decree abandoned."

BILINGUAL SCHOOLS.

The bi-lingual school question was passed over, pending the enquiries of the Government commission, "but unless this serious evil is redressed, those responsible for its continuance will be held to account for it."

The convention is the 62nd annual meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge. About four hundred visitors are in Winnipeg attending the different degrees.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST DECREE.

It is said that a movement will be started by which in every village and town and county throughout the Dominion meetings will be simultaneously held to petition the Dominion Government to pass a uniform law concerning marriage, which will invalidate the No Temere decree in the Dominion.

Officers will be elected to-night.

Ottawa, June 28.—Manufacture of the new Canadian silver dollar at the mint here will start shortly.

All that the mint is now awaiting is the arrival of the dies necessary for the production of the impression on the new coin. The special machinery has been installed, the press being a very large one, capable of striking a blow of 120 tons.

MAN IN BARREL WAS HELD IN WHIRLPOOL

BOBBY LEACH TOSSED HIGH IN AIR BY THE ROCK SPLIT WAVES.

Sucked Under the Water—Was Rescued Nearly Dead, Bleeding, Bruised and Almost Suffocated.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., June 28.—Bobby Leach of Niagara Falls, Ont., this afternoon nearly lost his life in the Whirlpool, after making a sensational trip in a barrel through the Whirlpool rapids.

For two hours he remained in the [illegible] middle of the pool, tumbling and tossed about in his steel barrel, which much of the time was submerged in the vortex.

When taken from the barrel he was bleeding badly and almost suffocated.

He made his start just before noon from the old Maid of the Mist landing on the American side. Caught by the swift Drift, the barrel was rushed through the rapids several times being shot clear of the stream by the force of the rock split waves, the barrel was swept and there upended, it was sucked down time and again. The air vent admitted water that was knee deep when the barrel came through to the shore to be [illegible] men.

SAVED AS BY A MIRACLE

Ironworker Toppled Off Twentieth Storey and Man on Storey Below Grabbed Him.

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—One of the human flies whose agility and lack of nerves makes sky scrappers possible lost his balance yesterday, and toppled from the twentieth storey of the new Heisen building.

Ordinarily the foregoing statement would complete the story, but not so in the case of Patrick Eustice, for there was a hero at hand in the person of John Murray. Eustice will probably be at work again in a day or two.

Eustice topoled from a beam, just as scores of other structural iron workers, and some of his companions did not even turn their heads to see the mangled form which their minds conjured up as lying on the pavement below.

Murray was working on the nineteenth floor, and saw Eustice fall. He reached far out, and grasped the falling man by his tough workingman's blouse. He was not able to hold the weight, but he gave the descending body a swing inward, and the latter landed on the eighteenth floor, on a pair of cross beams. He was bruised, but that was all. Murray looked down, saw that all was well, and resumed rivetting.

HICKS ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Said to Have Given False Evidence at Brimacombe Murder Trial.

Colborne, June 28.—The adjourned hearing of the case of Henry Hicks, the well-known auctioneer, charged with perjury in connection with the Matthews trial in Cobourg last April was resumed before Mr. John Miller, J.P., here yesterday morning.

Seven Crown witnesses were called and cross-examined. John G. Raycroft testified that Hicks had told him during the Matthew's trial that he (Hicks) knew nothing about the Brimacombe girl's case.

H. J. Morden, of Colborne, told of his conversation with Hicks in Colborne the night of the murder in the Hotel Bristol, Dec. 17, and said Hicks was very much intoxicated that night. He also met Hicks on the train going from Cobourg to Colborne on the night during the Matthew's trial, and said Hicks told him that Matthews would get clear, but there was no doubt about his guilt. Hicks, he said, told him they were spending thousands of dollars trying to clear Matthews, and that they had the whole thing bought up.

CONTRADICTS HICKS.

Morden said he made allowance for Hick's intoxicated condition the night they met on the train and for the loquaciousness of his advanced years.

Herbert Rogers swore he did not see Hicks in the Hotel Bristol at all during the night the murder took place. This is an important point in the Crown's testimony, for Hicks is charged with perjuring himself at the Matthews trial, by swearing that he was in the Hotel on the night of the murder, and further swore that he saw the Brimacombe girl about an hour after she was supposed to have been murdered.

The hearing was adjourned until next Monday afternoon, July 3, at 2 o'clock.

An Electric Pocket Lamp Useful for Travellers.

For a gift of "bon voyage" nothing could be more acceptable than a pocket electric light. In a case less than three inches long and one and a half wide, these pocket lights are to be bought for under $1.00, containing bulb, battery and all. Should the lights suddenly go out in a boat or train the horror of the sudden darkness is at once dispelled by this little light.

These small lamps are to be had in both nickel and silver. In the latter case one will make a charming addition to the travelling bag replete with silver fittings. A plain nickel case can be made most attractive, however, with a cover of silk, ribbon or chintz, with long loop handles, by which to hang the light on a nail by the bedside—a much more convenient place than under the pillow. This cord may be made of twisted ribbon or braid tied at each end. The case may be glued on to the metal or else made like a bag tied in with drawing strings at the top.

SHE WAS TOO GOOD FOR HIM.

"Do you really mean it, Mr. Spooner, when you say I am the best girl in the world?" asked a young lady of an ardent admirer.

"Indeed I do, Dora," responded the young man. "I say it again—you are the best girl in the world."

"And the loveliest, I thank you said?"

"The loveliest without doubt."

"I think you said something about my accomplishments, too?"

"I did. I said they excelled those of any other girl."

"I believe you called me sweet?"

"A sweeter woman never breathed," quoted the ardent lover.

"You used the word 'perfect,' too, did you not?"

"I did. I look upon you as the pink of perfection, propriety and modesty, the empress of my heart, the peerless one among the beauteous creatures of your sex, a maiden adorable, enchanting, and worthy of the hand of the best man on earth. Say the word that will make me the happiest man on earth, my own Dora."

"Before I give you an answer, Mr. Spooner, I should like to ask you one question."

"A dozen if you like."

"One will be enough. Don't you think you have a great deal of assurance to expect a woman with all those excellent qualities to marry such an ordinary man as you?"

Mr. Spooner is still a bachelor.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE

The Capital City of the Islands

THE LAST WEST

The only town on Graham Island that has a monthly pay roll, and the only sawmill shipping lumber to foreign ports.

The only town having a railway gauntlet to its very doors on the island.

The only city on Graham Island having electric light, city water, miles of sidewalks, churches, school, hospital, postoffice, first-class drug store billiard hall, city hall, hotels, boarding house, barber shop and other general stores, and the only newspaper published on the Island, the Queen Charlotte News.

We are positively the centre of all the vast wealth of the entire Islands, including farm lands, timber lands, coal and metalliferous mines. These products must come out at Queen Charlotte City, through the Honna River Valley, and through which the Island Railway must run according to charters already granted.

A fine water power from the Honna River, good drainage and the best harbor on the entire Islands.

Our lots are all 50 feet by 120 feet, ranging in price from $150 to $300; one-third cash, balance on time at 6 per cent., or deeds can be had at once if desired.

Fully 200,000 acres of farm lands, suitable for mixed farming, only await the hand of man, a large portion of which is already located.

The verdure clad mountains are vast treasure vaults of gold, copper, silver and other precious metals, while our valleys are underlaid with a wealth of the finest coal and covered with a vast forest of spruce, hemlock and yellow cedar. These, coupled with our fisheries, are at the very doors and within sight of Queen Charlotte City.

Taking all these facts into consideration, and with the present progress being made in developing our resources, which are at the gateways of transportation both by water and railway, with the advent of the completion of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Queen Charlotte City is destined to be one of the province's most prosperous cities.

It is owned largely by the wealthiest and most honorable men of our province, who would not be a party in misrepresenting facts and are prepared to endorse every statement herein made.

The townsite company are now offering a further 75 lots on Second avenue at a very low price and on easy terms, if taken at once, and under conditions that will enhance a 100 per cent. profit within 90 days, for 30 per cent. of the gross [illegible] will be used by letting a contract for the clearing and grading of Second avenue from Third street west. The company guarantees to advance the remaining 75 unsold lots on Second avenue from $150 to $225 as soon as the first 75 have been sold. The company is making this effort in order to join with the government in making Second avenue the trunk road through the townsite from the Wilson-Robinson coal fields, Honna River Valley, Lawn Hill and Miller Creek districts. Now you can secure any unsold lot on Second avenue, including fourteen in Keith's addition, to-day for $150, except corners, on easy terms, 1-4 cash, balance 6, 12 and 18 months at 6 per cent. This will positively be your last chance for a cheap lot in Queen Charlotte City, for every lot in the townsite will surely go from $500 to $1000 when the public realize that in the Island River railroad from Queen Charlotte to the head of Massett Inlet is to be started this summer, in addition to the present work already outlined, thus giving work to an army of men. There are at least 5000 citizens of Vancouver who have invested in the various resources of the islands. Conclusive evidence of these facts, a landscape drawing of the townsite and a portion of Graham Island coupled with an illustrated edition of the resources of the islands can be seen at the office of J. J. Miller, 32 Hastings street, Vancouver, B. C., Agent for Vancouver, and plans at office of "Times", Peterboro'.

NOVEL ATHLETIC MACHINE.

New Invention to Test Runners as They Run Around the Track.

A novel invention in the shape of an apparatus for automatically taking measurements of the work of track athletes at all points in a race has just been installed on the running track in the Robinson gymnasium, Kansas University.

The machine, which is the first of its kind, and the invention of Dr. Naismith, director of physical culture, consists of small bamboo sticks, located along the track so as to divide the course into quarters.

The sticks project over the track and are touched by the breast of the runner as he passes. The bamboos are connected to a make-and-break electrical machine, which transmits the touch of the runner to a kymograph, which holds a lampblacked paper on which marks are made. A clock is used in connection with the kymograph for purposes of timing.

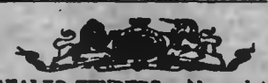
THE FIRST MENU CARD.

Started By a Duke in Brunswick in 1561.

At a dinner given by Duke Henry of Brunswick in 1541 he was seen to every now and then consult a long slip of paper, which reposed at the side of his plate. One of the duke's guests asked what the paper was for. He explained that it was a sort of a programme or catalogue of the dishes he had commanded from the cook. "To the intent that if some delicacy which especially appealed to his appetite were marked for a later stage in the repast, he might carefully reserve his appetite for it." The simplicity and utility of the idea at once took the fancy of the duke and the menu card from that moment became an institution. The new fashion was so much admired it travelled far and near, and was adopted in England and France at once.

For the first time in history a joint stamp, bearing the legends both of France and Britain, has been issued in the New Hebrides Islands, which are jointly administered by the two countries.

The Lindsay Power By-law has been withdrawn until September, when it is proposed to submit it with some changes.



SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Breakwater at Bare Point, Port Arthur, Ont." will be received at this office until 4 p. m., Wednesday, July 5, 1911, for the construction of a Breakwater at Bare Point, Port Arthur, Electoral District of Thunder Bay and Rainy River, Ont.

TEMPER.

"I know I have a temper," I heard a girl say the other day; "but, at any rate, I'm not sulky." And from the tone in which she said it, one would have thought that a temper was something to be proud of, so long as it wasn't a sulky one.

As temper ages people, and leaves more lines on the face than almost any other thing, it isn't very wise to indulge in it at all. And there is another side of the picture, too. The people we live with have to be considered to some extent, and if we could only realize all the pain we give those near and dear to us when we indulge in fits of temper, we should surely try to get out of this bad habit. Life is too short to spend in wounding people unnecessarily, so the sooner we give up doing it, the better.

ABOUT COREA.

Corea is the land of queer customs. One is that the children in school use sand boxes instead of slates. They use the difficult Chinese characters and have to learn them as early in life as we do the alphabet. They make the character in the sand with a stick and then shuffle the box and make another.

There are many "little mothers" in Corea, for babies are mostly given over to older girls to be cared for. A broad sash or strip of cloth is tied around the waist of the little mother, and the baby is tucked snugly within its folds. It keeps its place during all the games of the children and seems as contented and happy as possible.

Saturday the Holiday.

A letter appeared in The Times on Monday, suggesting that Monday be observed as Dominion Day, instead of Saturday. Mr. Jas. Girvin, our efficient market clerk, when he read the letter, called at this office to say that he had notified the farmers and others who are in the habit of attending the market, that Friday would be observed as our regular weekly market day, instead of Saturday. So that it is now too late to have the date changed as proposed.

A fight occurred on Charlotte street on Monday evening, in which some heavy blows were struck and considerable blood spilled. The police will probably make some arrests in a day or two in connection with the fracas.

THE VAGRANTS' HOME.

"Got any home?" said the judge to a man who had been brought in on the charge of vagrancy.

"Sure I have."

"Where is it?"

The man named a street and number.

"Your Honour," volunteered a clerk, "that ain't a house; it's a mission."

"Well, call them up, anyway," said the judge, "and see if they know anything about him."

They did not know anything, but the missionary said he would come right down and see what could be done.
